FRIDAY MORNING, August 4, 1876.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

AUSTIN, JULY 31, 1876.

At ten o'clock Saturday night Mr. Campbell sent up a resolution which he termed privileged, reciting that the two Houses had adopted a concurrent resolution to adjourn on the 31st inst., and that, as there was not time enough during the rest of the session to transact necessary business, therefore the resolution to adjourn on the 31st be recinded, and that the 15th of August be fixed as the day of final adjournment.

Mr. Barziza made the point of order that the above resolution was the same as that pending, on which the House was under call, and, therefore, the resolution was out of order.

The Speaker ruled that while the resolution was not literally the same as the original resolution, it was substantially the same as that on which the House was under call, and therefore ruled that the resolution was out of order.

Mr. Campbell appealed from the decision of the chair and the appeal was seconded by Mr. Cochran.

Various points were made that Mr. Campbell was not entitled to the same as he had on his appeal, that the call was in order, etc.

The Speaker decided that the call was not in order, and that Mr. Campbell was entitled to the floor.

Mr. Denman wanted to know how long Mr. Campbell would keep the floor—he could stand there all night and keep the opposition shut.

The Speaker ruled that Campbell was entitled to the floor.

Mr. Denman said he asked only what was right, what was just, and what was fair.

Contenting to speak, the Speaker declared him out of order.

Mr. Campbell reiterated his appeal from the decision of the chair, and, speaking very rapidly, moved the previous question on his appeal.

Simultaneously Mr. Coleman moved a call of the House.

ALL OF THE MEMBERS ROSE TOGETHER, and an indescribable scene of confusion ensued, members shouting loudly and gesticulating wildly, the House for the time being transformed into a very pandemonium.

Mr. Thompson made the point that Mr. Campbell was out of order in moving the previous question, and, that Mr. Coleman was out of order in making the motion for a call.

The Speaker ruled that when motions for the previous question and for call of the House were made simultaneously the latter had precedence.

Mr. Down repeated the same old fact of rising to a point of order, and then moving the previous question. He was thwarted in the usual manner by call of the House.

These tactics were repeated time after time, and thwarted by call of the House.

Mr. Campbell insisted that he was entitled to the floor until it was decided whether his motion was seconded.

The Speaker stated that he had decided, and would address to his ruling, when the previous question and call of the House were made simultaneously, he would not entertain either.

At 11:30 p. m., by a resolution, offered by Mr. Martin, declaring that Mr. Hunter be in contempt of the House and should be expelled by declaring his seat vacant.

Mr. Barziza's denunciation of the arbitrary manner of expelling a member without a hearing, the House being in ignorance of the reasons of his absence, not knowing whether he was dead or alive, killed the proposition, and it was abandoned.

depends upon the vote of the House. (Applause.) Mr. Kessler makes a point that, the House having adopted a resolution to adjourn sine die at 12, a resolution to adjourn at a later hour would not hold good.

(Applause and derisive laughter from the majority.) Mr. Barziza—Then, sir, we are bound hand and foot to a railroad monopoly. (Great confusion.)

Mr. Barziza appeals from the decision of the chair. The Speaker rules that no appeal can be taken. Call of the House made and overruled.

Messrs. Barziza and Denman demand that his ruling be entered on the journal. The Speaker said it should be done.

Mr. Jones (of McLennan) makes the same point as Kessler. Overruled.

Mr. Barziza rises and commences to enter his protest, and is ordered to take his seat by the Speaker. He refuses until compelled to do so by the Sergeant at arms. The Speaker orders the Sergeant to make him take his seat and he does so.

The Speaker orders the roll to be called. It is done amid great confusion and constantly interrupted from members who arise to give their reasons for voting.

Mr. Barziza attempted to enter his protest, but was not allowed to do so. He exclaimed that he wanted to tender his resignation as a member of the House.

Call of the roll proceeded, with several members announcing that they would not be present at half past three o'clock. Others attempted to give reasons for voting aye or no, but could hardly be heard for the sound of gavel.

Mr. Barziza appealed from the decision of the chair, but was ruled down. The Speaker declared the House adjourned until 3 p. m.

Mr. Kessler demanded that the Speaker renege his chair until 12 o'clock.

THE GOVERNOR INTERFERES. At 3:30 p. m. the majority of the House re-assembled. The roll was called and thirty-four members were found absent—fifty-four present, being eight less than a quorum.

The lobby and galleries were crowded with interested spectators. A message from the Governor was announced and read, dated 3:30 p. m., stating that he had signed the resolution.

The Pentecostary bill, one of great importance to the people of the State; the Educational bill, involving the dearest interests of the children of the State; the Appropriation bill, without the passage of which the wheels of the government were stopped; all were postponed to take up this railroad bill.

Mr. Campbell offered a resolution reciting that a number of members were absent for the purpose of breaking a quorum, and thereby preventing legislation, and that the action of the majority in refusing to adjourn sine die was in strict conformity to parliamentary law.

the majority to do so was revolutionary and a blow at liberty.

Mr. Jones (of McLennan) said that when the Speaker decided to say that the House could do indirectly what it could not do directly, he had resigned his former position. SINGL ESPEECH SMYTH.

A NEW PARLIAMENTARY HERO AMONG THE HOME RULERS.

[London correspondence of N. Y. World.]

An event which does not often happen in these days occurred since I last wrote to you. An unknown man has jumped at once to fame and honor, and that by a single speech of about half an hour's length. His name is J. P. Smyth, he comes from Ireland, and he is a member of the House of Commons. There was a debate on Home Rule, dull and stupid, when this Mr. Smyth stands up from a back seat and speaks his "little piece." Before he gets half way through the Prime Minister has turned to him with an attention he rarely seems to bestow on any member. The whole House is silent and astonished, and when the speaker sits down general and prolonged cheers break forth, and the orator finds himself the lion of the moment. Did he, then, speak as an Irishman in favor of English rule? Far from it; he denounced Home Rule only because it did not go far enough for him, and demanded the absolute separation of Ireland from England. Surely, it must be admitted, that an English audience will give a man fair play when even what would be deemed a half-dressed sort of speech is received with an applause which evidently starts the speaker, and lifts him at once from obscurity to fame. The Times declares that the speech recalls the "palmist days of Irish oratory." Everybody says the same. It is to be hoped that some of the English members of the House will now study the style of this Irish gentleman, and then perhaps it may be possible to understand what they say. What with the affections of the present day, and the drawing and mauling and chopping of r's and g's (to say nothing of h's) which go on, the English language as spoken in England is fast becoming unintelligible. The women are the worst; they try to outvie each other in affected pronunciation, as they do in pulling back their dresses. Let us hope that Mr. Smyth will help to banish all this disgusting humbug from the House of Commons. Of course, there will be great curiosity to hear him again. He has been five years in the House, but never distinguished himself before. His manner, I am told—for I did not have the luck to hear the speech—was far from good, and he was very nervous. Yet he carried everything before him. It is the old story—a man who has any message to deliver to the world, and can deliver it with earnestness and force, is sure to command a hearing. He has only to bide his time. Mr. Smyth has now the ball at his feet, and it will be interesting to see what he does with it.

A SINGULAR STORY ABOUT MRS. VICTORIA WOOD.

HULL.

[From the Cincinnati Enquirer.]

Among those who in a great city, crave for notoriety, and who will have it at any cost, none who ever equalled in daring the woman known to the world as Victoria C. Woodhull. She is now, to use her own language, "in a mind, sick in body, and sick in heart." Through her misdirected energy she has nearly worn out her life, and her sister, Tennessee, is likewise almost exhausted through her labors. Woodhull and Claflin were the two who talk when they come to New York about six years ago. They smilingly and courageously brushed into wall street. Lying with one James H. Blood, who was recognized as her husband, she gained an opportunity to be heralded as a literary woman. It is a notorious fact among her immediate acquaintances that she is scarcely able to write a grammatical sentence, and that she never attempted so to do. The writings that have gone forth over her signature were all written for her. The maternal Claflin for years has been trying to "kick Blood out of the family." At length she has succeeded, and Blood is, as it were, an outcast. Victoria's mind was so worked upon by her mother that recently she bade the "Colonel" depart forever from her house. She accused him of robbing her, and she is now about to obtain a divorce "without publicity." The "Colonel" is depending upon his brother George, and is much distressed in mind. Victoria is "at sea." She is heartily sick of her rupture with Blood, but as she is in the light she is determined to undo the knots of matrimony. She has worked perseveringly to keep the facts out of the newspapers, and none of the dailies have been informed of them. Her Woodhull & Claflin's Weekly has disappeared.

DAILY EXPRESS CITY NEWS

FRIDAY MORNING, August 4, 1876.

CITY AND COUNTRY DOTS.

Delightful morning.

Our peach crop this year is very poor.

The Seguin people have "made up" with Col. Piggie.

Chloric's Wild Cherry and Squills cure cough every time.

Politics are again becoming the crowning theme of interest.

We are informed that the railroad men are buying lots near Seguin.

The stinks of morphine are properly appreciated this pleasant weather.

The mercury was not inclined to rise very high yesterday. It reached 89 and stopped.

We regret to learn that Constable Fred Baker was kicked, and painfully injured, by a horse, evening before last.

Yesterday evening afforded the ladies a fine occasion for shopping, and they appeared on the streets by the score.

This is considered an off-year with the peach crop, but still the limbs of the trees in many places are bending beneath large clusters of nuts.

"Mayer French to the hut"—take that one on the fly!—shouted an alderman the other evening as His Honor mounted a chair and with his walking stick began slaughtering the little chieftains as they darted about the room.

The country about Burn and Castroville has been made the resort for quite a number of our city people, who have gone thither to spend the "dry" summer hours.

There was a great deal of talk yesterday about a tornado in Eastern Texas. From what we learn, a heavy rain-storm passed over the eastern section of the State, reaching Galveston, and no particular damage was done.

There is a correspondence going on between parties in this city and a gentleman in one of the Northern States regarding our advantages as a manufacturing city. We shall probably learn something definite soon.

Transvaal.—We have a letter from Prof. C. F. Chocoma, so well known to our people as a dancing master, stating that he will be in San Antonio the present month to make preparations for opening his school in this city about the first of September.

Religious Items.—Under the head of "Houston Local Dem" the Galveston News of Wednesday has the following item of interest:—"A gentleman connected with the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio Railway says the cars will run into Negropolis Sunday."

A letter was received in the city yesterday from New Brannfels stating that Mr. Gleske, connected with the woolen goods factory at New Brannfels, while out riding, was run away with, and jumping from the buggy broke his leg. Mr. Gross discredits the report, but so says the letter.

We are requested to announce that there will be a protracted Methodist meeting held at Coler's School house commencing on Saturday before the fourth Sunday of the present month, in other terms, the 26th instant. There will also be a reunion of the Organizers of that locality at the same time and place. Members from the city are invited to attend.

Attention.—Mr. J. S. Hayes is now in the city with a view of establishing a "Mendicant Proventive Police," and will call upon our merchants and business men at the earliest moment. The idea is a good one, and supplies a want long felt. He comes well recommended, and we hope our citizens will give him sufficient encouragement to make the enterprise a success.

Military Matters.—First Lieutenant W. H. Beck, 10th Cavalry, having been relieved from duty as a member of the Board of Officers convened per paragraphs II, III, IV, Special Orders No. 71, paragraph II and III, Special Orders No. 76, paragraph II, Special Orders No. 92, and Special Orders No. 102, certain series, from Headquarters, will remain in this city until further orders.

Leave of absence for one month, with permission to apply to the Adjutant General of the Army for an extension of three months, is granted Second Lieutenant R. W. Hoyt, 11th Infantry, Fort Richardson, Texas.

A Newcomer.—We were among a number of music-loving persons who assembled at St. Mark's Episcopal Cathedral last evening to hear Prof. F. Ritter Behovits organ performance. The Professor began by rendering the celebrated Overture to Tannhauser, followed by a self-composition, then the "Fort Pianissimo," then "A-B-I-I have-bid-to-Red," from Trovatore, and an extemporary march. The Professor's effort was probably to bring his musical qualifications properly before our people, as he comes among us as a professional musician to make our city his home. In this respect, he certainly succeeded, especially in his display of his ability as an organist. He is perfectly at home with the instrument, and on this occasion entertained those present with such sweet and appreciative music as we have never before heard in this city. It is the pity for Trovatore, he made an impromptu use of the organ, imparting extra force and tone. To believe, we were charmed with the sweet melodies which the organ breathed forth under the touch of his skilled fingers, and should be delighted to hear him again, and upon other instruments, as we learn that he is a fine performer upon the violin and piano. The Professor will certainly make his profession profitable to our music-loving community.

WHAT WAS THE CAUSE OF IT?

A few weeks ago, the country about as was in a terrible condition: Murders, thefts, all manner of outrages, were rife, and this reporter found it an easy task to publish daily a fresh catalogue of crime. But things are mysteriously changed now, and peace, and safety for life and property are again restored.

The brief reign of disorders alluded to, was something uncommon for Western Texas. We were not used to robberies and murders. We had never before been troubled with neighborhood feuds and the defiance of our statutes by out-laws. But all at once, great and dangerous disorders, menacing our country to the world, and making good citizens ashamed of the location of their adopted homes.

A MISUNDERSTANDING.—There seems to have been a misunderstanding with our County Commissioners in electing Mr. Amos Jones to fill the vacancy occasioned by the disqualification of Capt. Prescott. By virtue of an act of the Fifteenth Legislature passed July 25th the power of filling any vacancy in the County Commissioners' Court is vested in the District Judge, The Secretary of State, DeBerry, having been tardy in furnishing the law to our County Judge, a common mode of procedure was had, but which is made null by the subsequent receipt of the law.

The Commissioners, therefore, have been compelled to undo and do over the business they had transacted while Mr. Jones was sitting as a member of the Court, and Mr. Jones, of course, had to resign. The election of County Physician will be had over again.

THE WAR, OVER.—Special to the Galveston News.

"War is over, the war is over, the war is over," the morning, having received favorable terms. Five of them, Messrs. Adams, Perrenot, Raat, Roberts (of Rio) and Von Biberstein, gave notice of their intention to resign in their resignation to the Governor, and vacate their seats. The remainder surrendered as gracefully as possible, under the circumstances, though several of the minority have as yet taken no action. Hunter is still under arrest. Some who espoused this afternoon speak of resigning, but there is no fear of breaking a quarrel. The majority are quietly jubilant, but make no demonstrations, nor indulge in language calculated to exasperate or wound the feelings of the vanquished. The minority seem to feel their position keenly, but express a determination to do their full duty in perfecting necessary matters of legislation. Their subdued viages give evidence of their modified feelings, but it is hoped all cases of unpleasantness are now removed and nothing will hereafter occur to mar the harmony that must exist to insure proper legislation.

FROM THE RIO GRANDE.—Special to the Galveston News.

Rio Grande City, Aug. 1. Passengers by the diligence from Monterey, which arrived at Carmargo last night, bring intelligence of an engagement between the government forces under Genl. Quiroga and the revolutionaries under Narvaez, Trevino and Falcon, 12 miles from Seralvo, on the Monclova road, resulting in the defeat of Quiroga, who is said to have lost two battalions and a lot of arms which he was taking to Monterey—the same cargo of arms that came up the river to Marfa a few weeks ago. Besides, two other battalions pronounced and joined Trevino. It is difficult to obtain reliable reports from Mexico, but the above is generally credited on the other side.

The country along the Rio Grande in Texas is unusually quiet. Thermometer to-day, 108.

ROBBERY OF A MAIL COACH.—Special Telegram to the Galveston News.

Waco, August 1, 1876. This morning about 11:20, Johnson's United States Mail coach, en route from Belton to Waco, was stopped by five armed highwaymen in Elm creek bottom, 22 miles this side of Belton. One of the gang entered the coach and drove the stage into the woods about 200 yards from the road. Here they stopped and ordered the driver and passengers to alight. Only two passengers were aboard, Mrs. W. A. Johnson, of Belton, and Mr. Witham, a printer from San Antonio. They took $25 from Witham, but afterwards gave $2.50 of it back to him, and also allowed him to retain his watch.

Nothing was taken from Mrs. Johnson, who had a gold watch, which the robbers did not seem to notice. The driver had only fifty cents, which they let him keep. The mail sacks were cut open and their contents gone through.

Ox things is patent in all this legislative row at Austin, and that is, that the State is disgraced. The Belknap case at Washington is a cross roads affair compared to the general corruption, rascality and imbecility at Austin. The people of Texas have no confidence whatever in the politicians who now have control of the State. There is only one way to get the State out of this terrible political, civil, and legal quagmire, and that is, to call another constitutional convention, make a resolute constitution, and let the next Legislature conform the laws of the State to its provisions. Furthermore, in all the coming elections, leave out the small fry politicians who have been disgracing the State for the last seven years, and choose for office only the first grade and the strongest character in the State for the convention, for the Legislature, for Governor and State officers and for Supreme and District Judges.
