A SAD AND FATAL MISFORTUNE.

Special to the Galveston News.

Grapeland, Aug. 17—A gloom was suddenly east over our community to-day by the death of T. J. Skidmore, a good citizon and promising young man. It seems that Skidmore and John Chapman, becomfriends, left town this morning to visit a friend, Mr. Steadman, for the purpose of indulging in a watermelon feast. After anjoying themselves thus for a short while they arose to return home. Skidmore handed Chapman his gun, which was discharged accidentally while Chapman was mounting his horse. Chapman thinks the hammer must have struck the pommel of his saddle. The barrel discharged contained seven back-shot, five of which entered Skidmore's skull and two glanced off. Skidmore's skull and two glanced off. Skidmore's skull and two glanced off, Skidmore's the wound. Chapman is nearly distracted over the misfortune. No blame is attached to him; on the cantrary, he has the sympathy of those familiar with the doceased as well as the vicinity. Special to the Galveston News.

THANK GOD, WE ARE HOPEFUL.

Regardless of party lines and political prejudices, it is the duty of the indepen-dent journals of this country to defend the rights of the party-oppressed. When we review the Ropublican newspapers that from day to day arrive with our exchanges, it makes our blood boil to realize the wilful misrepresentation of the South and the Southern people that so generally characterizes their writings. When we receive the proceedings of Congress and read the speeches of the Republican mem bers of that body, stigmatizing you and I, reader, with the Southern people in common, as fiends in human shape, incapable of self-government, it is enough to call for stern resentment.

The case stated properly, places us just in the position of a man at the mercy of a revengeful, angry mob. We are convicted without evidence or trial merely upon floating rumors. We are condemned to the most repulsive disgraces upon the feintest suspicion, itself fathered by pre-Jadice.

But the basis of all troubles in the South can easily be given. The origin of all the political quarrels in the South is in the undying efforts of an ignorant set of carpet-baggers, taking advantage of the alienated colored race, to force themselves inte power and rule this people, Civilized men, freemen, Americane, the Southern people, will assert their rights and demand the unrestrained privilege of exercising the full functions of a brave, independent and colightened people. Where do they desire to express themselves Most assuredly, at the ballot-box.

The Southern people have no desire to estrange themselves from their Northern brethern—they want peace, they want the bloody chasm covered over, they want the dearest bonds of sectional brotherhood to bind the North and South together, as a nation, embracing a Union of States, firm and impact in their common Ex-Minister Schenck and his daughters interests. But as constant as one efforts are at Long Branch. The Governors of are to heal up the breaches of dissention, unfruitful of good results by these unfair ccusations by the leading Republican men and press of the North, to a great extent encouraged by the cunningly corrupt and ambitious carpet-baggers swarming over our Southern domain. Any reader of the current news of the day well knows that in the Congressional broils concerning Southern outrages, the Republicans have been the aggressors. We will cite a recent instance, which is but one of a score we might recall. When the news of the Democratic victory in Alabama reached Congress, Mr. Eaton, of Connectiont, a Democrat, arose and made in substance this statement: "I had the pleasure of stating yesterday upon this floor that so far as heard from the election in the State of Alabams, exhibiting large Democratic gains, especially in the negro districts, had passed off in the most quiet received a telegram from the Chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee giving full assurances that my statement was correct, and that no force or intimidation had been exercised toward the freedmen." When Mr. Eaton, a natural-born Northern man, had finished, Spencer of Alabama, arose and made an unqualified statement to the effect that if the negroes in the districts spoken of had yoted with the Democrate, they had been forced to do so. Mr. Eaton made no reply to Spencer. So far, from all sources, the the negroes in the districts spoken of had-Mrs. O'Leary's cow tried that once, and forced to do so. Mr. Eaton made no reply to Spencer. AUSTRIA AND SILVER

The internal business of Austria is, like our own, on the paper money basis. Both gold and silver are practically demonetized, as in this country. The premium on gold was in the fore part of this year 18 to 20 per cent., on silver from 2 to 5. Her standard mouey is silver, and the interest on her public debt s payable in that. Her bonds are held a countries which have the gold standard. The decline in the price of silver has caused the dropping of so large a quantity of Austrian securities upon the market that they fell 13 per cent. in six weeks of last February and March, and are more depressed than any time since Austria's political disasters in 1859 and 1866. FACTS BY WHICH DECIDE

In those spacious but insignificant advertisements of C. Pratt & Co., they endeavor to convince the public that our STAR OIL and PERRLESS are identically the same, which they know, even better than we could over attempt to convince them, is NOT THE CASE. Peerless is by no means one of the inferior grades of cit; it is in every respect equal and fully up to the actual standard (not the advocated) of Astral, and is like the latter 12 degrees below the burning point of our STAR OIL. Now we propose to Farsish the Peerless, gearanteed equivalent in every respect to Astral, at One Pollar a case less than our STAR OIL, which we sell at the price of Astral, although our STAR QIL is 12 degrees better, hence aster, and consequently has the preference of the consuming public.

Our, certificates, formerly published, (originals of which can be seen at our office) from our local, disinterested chemists, Messrs, Geo. H. Kaiteyer, A. Nette and E. Dreiss, who tested both oils, and declare our Star Oil 12 degrees better than Astral. In Addition to the sertifical emist Theo. Odet.

At your request, I have tested the mamples of Star Oil taken from the store of George Dulinig, and find the flashing point at one hundred and thirty-three (133) degrees Fahrenheit, Astral oil, taken from the store of E. Kotula & Co., the flashing point at one hundred and twenty-one (121) degrees, and the birning point at one hundred and thirty-two degrees Fahrenheit. I am of the opinion that the Star Oil is by all means the best and safest oil.

A THRILLING SCENE.

ONE OF THE VICTIMS OF TURKISH BARBARITY TELLS HER STORY.

The Daily News correspondent at Prince Milan's headquarters, writing on the 20th, says 12 12 22 22 Every tongue is cliarged and every heart is full with authenticat. ed tidings of Turkish atrocities committed on the inoffensive peasobstinately determined to be cred.

Illust can question the truth of these statements. Officers and soldiers who came down from the front authenticate them with tales of burnt villages which they have seen, the mangled bodies of children lying in the gutters among the charred debris, headless trunks of Serbian soldiers in places where there has been fighting, men are in the up-country hospitals, with noses slit by knives as they lay helpless from their wounds. In the course of an afternoon's ride, I course of an afternoon's ride, I yesterday found my way into a little village on the hill slope, about the door of one of the houses in which there was a group of women and children, with here and there an old man all the able-hodied men are away to the war. On the settle, under the projecting caves, there sat a woman draggled, miserthere sat a woman draggled, miserable and forlows, with a boy about twelve years old standing by her side; and around them the people had formed a semi-circle, and were looking on with a strange concerned patience of silence. The woman, too, was silent; she sat there in an apathetic reverie of despondency, with her eyes on the ground, and one arm round the boy. One of the women whispered something to my companion, a Setbian officer, whose face blushed, and whose mouth set sternly at the low recital. Dismounting, he approached the woman, and speaking to her started her from her abstraction. As he spoke at first she was asleep,

Her cottage had been burnt before her eyes; of three children she had seen one, her baby, tossed about from soldier to soldier and then dung into the her baby, tossed about from soldier to soldier, and then flung into the flames; of the second she knew nothing; the third, the lad who was now with her, had made his escape timeously, and joined her, from out the cover of the wood, after she had been allowed to drag herself away from the scene of deviltry. Her relatives lived, she said, in one of the hamlets of the Golubinge upland, and she had tramped thus far on her way to shalter terred among them. Her husband had left for the army since the earliest days of the war,

It is not far from this section of the extreme southeastern corner of Serbia, where is, or rather was, the rillage of Lojun, of which Col. Prolich yesterday to ported from Alexintz that the church, school and houses had been burned. Boljana, another village in the same angle, is also reported by the same authority to have been desolated in a similar manner. Now, apart altogether from the mere atrocity of these catrages, they are curious illustrations of the exceptional character of this war. The villages thus desolated are inside the Serbian No. 43 Commerce Street, trontier. But the Serbian troops are in positions considerably out side the Serbian frontier in this same direction; so you have the Turks in detached parties, not only between the Serbian columns and their frontier line, but actually, after a fashion, reprisals in the shape of a mutual invasion. It is just as if, when the Germans were holding the country around Metz, bands of French soldiery had been desolating the German villages of Duttweller and Neuku-ches and the Cistrict generally

Mesers. J. McClure & Co., Druggista, cor. Elm and Prout Sts., Cincinnati, O., say:

The problems of similar testime-tics are using the Centaur Liniment. They problems it superior to anything they have ever used. We sell as high as four to five dozen bottles per month to these teamsters."
