REMEDY FOR TROUBLE.

Work is your true remedy. If misfortune hits you hard, you hit something else hard; pitch into something with a will.

There's nothing like good, solid, sheaperbing, exhausting work to cure trouble. If you have met with losses, you don't want to lie awake and shink about them. You want sleep,—cafn, sound sleep,—and to cet your dinner with appetite. But you can't, unless you work. If you may you don't feel like work, and go loading all day to tell Dick and Harry the story of your woes, you'll lie awake and keep your wife awake by your tossing, spoil your temper and your breakfast the next morning, and begin to morrow feeling ten times worse than you'd do to day.

There are some great troubles that only time worse than you'd do to day.

FACTS BY WHICH DECIDE.

In those spacious but insignificant advertisements of U. Fratt. & Co., they on deaver to convince the public that our STAR OIL and PERHLESS are identically the same, which they know, even better than we could ever attempt to convince them. IS NOT THE CASE. Peerless is by no means one of the inferior grades of oil; it is in every respect equal and fully up to the actual standard (not the advected) of Astral, and is like the latter 12 degrees below the burning point of our STAR OIL. New we propose to Furnish the Peerless, generated equivalent in every respect to Astral, at One Dollar a case less than our STAR OIL, which we sell at the price of Astral, although our STAR OIL is 12 degrees better, hence asier, and consequently has the preference of the consuming public.

Our, certificates, formerly published, (originals of which can be seen at ou office) from our local, disinterested chemists, Measrs, Geo. H. Kalteyer, A. Notte and E. Dreiss, who tested both oils, and declare our Star Oil

At your request, I have tested the samples of Star Oil taken from the store of George Dullnig, and find the flashing point at one hundred and thirty-three (133) degrees Fahrenheit, the burning point at one hundred and forty-four (144) degrees Fahrenheit. Astral oil, taken from the store of E. Kotela & Co., the flashing point at one hundred and twenty-one (Bil) degrees, and the burning point at one hundred and thirty-two degrees Pahrenheit. I am of the opinion that the Star Oil is by all means the best and asfest oil.

Kensett, Arkansas : Subjoined are the sickning details of one of the strangest and most extraordinary tragedies ever enacted in the his tory of the world. Before refer. ring to the murder a few curious facts by way of introduction are necessary. About two and onebalf miles south of Scarcy, the seat of White county, is a wild looking place known as Gum Spring, the residents of which are known as Cobbites, owing to the fact that an old man named Cobb, who claimed to be Christ, rales with an iron hand. His crazy followers claim to identify him by certain marks in the palm of his hands and he has during the past year made a greeable, and is substantially free from debt. The Cobbites then commenced to abber in their peculiar way at a furious rate. Mr. Black did everything in his power to calm them, without avail. The remainder—four with no good intent, and his possed fired, killing two men and wounding one. The remainder—four men, four women and two babies—were arrested and taken to jail. On Wednesday morning a preliminary examination was held, when they were all released and returned to Gum Spring. They talked incessantly about their religion and gesticulated constantly. There is no doubt that they are all crazy from the combined effects of relig-ion and starvation. Men, women and children are as gaunt as a pack of famished wolves. Since the above was written they have all quieted somewhat, and apparently begin to realize their situation. They decline to talk at all, and will not notice an outsider. This extraordinary affair created unprecedented excitement in this

During the past few days the attention of passers by has been laterated by strange noises, and this fact being conveyed to citizens of Scarcy, they determined to investigate the matter. NEEDED .- If there is one thing mor than another needed by our city, as well as by our county, it is some person qualified to superintend city and county improvements. Our attention has been called to this necessity upon more than one occasion, but now, particularly, should there be some one appointed to exercise a supervisory control over all public works or enterprises which call upon the public purse for means for their completion.
