BARNEY GALLAGHER INVICTIMIZED
BY HIS OWN FOLLY.

Special to the Express.]

FORT STOCKTON, Oct. 11th, 1876.

Barney Gallagher was shot by some of John Slougher's men, at Chiam's ranch,
New Mexico, on Sept. 23rd. Tobin and three other men were attacked by Gallagher, who rode up to make fight, but which resulted in Gallagher's getting shot
four times in the breast.

He lived ten hours after being shot.
During the time he lived, he sent for Mr.
Slougher, and explained all the acts perpetrated heretofore by him and his party.

He said that he prayed fervently before his death.

All the parties are stock men.

FASHION NOTES.

FLASHES AND FOR TAILORING HATS.

Street dresses are to be worn quite short.

Frings are very fashionable this season.

New-made silk stockings are made of mother.

Velvet is in great demand for dress trimmings.

Tartans made entirely of feathers are very fashionable.

New lace starts are of cardinal red, and other colors.

Few felt hats seem to be worn. Velvet or silk are preferred.

Long cloaks or dolmans are the favorite trappings this season.

The dress-shorts are made even more short than last year.

Couch-shell lingerie is exceedingly pretty and fashionable.

The square neck, netted silk tulle at the shoulders, and the

hand-sleeves and slippers are not so much in demand this fall!

Only a little lace, which must be very fine, is used on dress-hats.

Red flannel blouses, trimmed with black velvet, are very

Ribbons with colored edges are only to be worn for morning wear.

Broad lace, with a large silver steel, or jet buckles still continue in favor.

All pincushions are made very small, showing only 1/2 to 1/4 inch square.

Hill-side, or Ridge-side, is one of the new shades of greenish cream colors.

TEXAS—FACTS AND FANCIES.

Hon. John Hancock speaks at the Dallas fair on the twenty-third instant.

Dick Allen, convicted at Lookhart of murder in the first degree, gained a new trial.

If Spotted-tail could wag it, shouldn't Morton have him to carry around the interesting garment?

Mr. Clark, of the Kaufman Star, the Lawrence Times says, has organized a circus and will go through the state.

W.A.F. Fleetwood has joined Peter Cooper and become an independent candidate for the presidency. He makes speeches everywhere about Kanan and Lawrence.

The Collin county commissioners have a farm of paupers to cultivate, and where the helpless, homeless and infirm may be cared for at public cost. Those commissioners are wise and good men.

A McKinney girl, aged fourteen, had picked enough cotton at one dollar per hundred pounds to buy her new carpet. She picked 250 pounds per day before she quit, and will pick up some fellow worthy of her, we would wish hope.

The Lawrence Times is published at the flourishing town founded by an enterprising citizen of Austin and named in his honor. It is in the midst of a most productive country, and having good schools and churches and a capital newspaper, the place must prosper.

Balls are nuisances, especially big balls; but people have a mania for them, and McKinney town has bought one weighing nearly 1000 pounds, and the people boast about it. It is only fun and very tiresome when headache and fatigue and want of repose overcome listeners.

The Republican candidate for Congress in the Dallas district is J. C. Bigger, but only nominally. In very truth he is the smallest in the lot; and Throckmorton, if this Radical were ten times bigger, will never hear that he is a candidate till he reads about it in the Statesman.

HAD BEEN THERE.

Yesterday, as a pale-faced, hollowned man was walking along Woodward Avenue, using a cane to support his feeble steps, a pedestrian halted him, reaching out a hand and said:

"Why, Tom, is this you?"

"Yes, it's me," was the mournful reply.

"And what's the matter?"

"I'm all down, and I've lost my place."

"Lost it? How? I've discharged?"

"Yes," sadly replied the poor man.

"I'm looking for a job now."

"I know of a coal-dealer who wants a driver," suggested the friend.

"No good—no good," with a mournful shake of the head. "I've been to two or three, and as soon as they found that my weight was down to one hundred and twenty pounds they turned right away from me."

"Coal is down, you know, and they have to make it up in the weight of the driver."—Detroit Free Press.

The man who loves children, and whom children instinctively love, is a man with a heart good and pure and sympathetic.

ALL SORTS.

It was a drunken carpenter who said he could not carry his spirit level.

A Londoner gasps: "November may bring fog, but the oyster lines them with silver."

The Chesapeake (Md.) Chesapeake is a new paper. Here is the editor's salutation: "What I have to say to this community will be said gradually."

In 1860 the population of the United States and Territories was as follows: White, 26,973,843; free colored, 437,970; slaves, 3,953,760, making a total of 31,415,573.

A New Orleans man announces a circular that having returned from a scientific trip through Europe, he is now better prepared than ever for cleaning clothes and carpets.

The following excellent advice is given by Bacon: "Read not to contradict and confute, nor to believe and take for granted, nor to find talk and discourses, but to weigh and consider."

An applicant for the position of penman, when asked for a specimen of his skill, wrote in most elegant style this sentence: "Sorry don't folks as fast as green guineas bury."

Every New York daily paper gives its readers directions as to the preparation of food for the table. If some journal will only tell its readers how to secure the food there'll be a subscription for you!

Character may be defined as the sum of those qualities which distinguish one thing or person from another. The term applies to force of will, energy, and in fact all those qualities, good or bad, which are considered as belonging to a particular person or class.

George Washington's retirement from public life embraces the period extending from the 4th of March, 1797, the date of the expiration of his second Presidential term, to the 14th of December, 1799, the date of his death, a period amounting to two years, nine months, and ten days.

The following admirable sentiment is attributed to Socrates as his dying language: "A man who has spent his life in the study of philosophy ought to take courage in his death, and be full of hope that he is about to possess the greatest good that can be obtained, which will be in his possession as soon as he dies."

In one of his works, "Oaks," the learned commentator on English law, gives to students the following excellent advice regarding the virtue of perseverance: "Albeit the student shall not at any one day, do what he can, reach to the full meaning of all that is here laid down, yet let him in no way discourage himself, but proceed; for on some other day, in some other place, (or perhaps on a second perusal of the same,) his doubts will be probably removed."

A Laborer of Hibernian extraction was not long since lamenting the hard times, and drawing for a contrast a bright picture of his home in the old country. "Ah," said he, finally, "ay I was only back again in my father's pallis." A jolly fellow workman squinted his eye and replied: "Shure an' av you were there ye might stan' on the ground an' reach ye han' down the chimney an' open the door ay it."

SILIGHTLY MIXED.

[From the Louisiana (Mo.) Press.]

Col. Thomas L. Anderson came to town last Wednesday, and his friends implored him to speak on the issues of the day. He consented, and a crier was sent abroad with a bell, to proclaim the tidings. The crier was Johnny Becker, a colored youth. He was told to proclaim that Col. Thomas L. Anderson of Palmyra, would speak on the "Greenback and Peter Cooper question." He got it all right the first time, but the next time he mixed it up as follows:

Peter Anderson, of Palmyra, will speak on the Thomas L. Cooper question right away!"

He thought there was something wrong about this, and when he got about two squares he rubbed his wool depot against an awning post and yelled:

"Oh, yes! Thomas Cooperback will speak on the Green Peter question right away!"

"You damn nigger, what are you trying to get through you?" exclaimed a voice in a second-story window, and the young African made a final effort, as follows:

"Whoop-a-lah! Green Paterson will speak on the Cooper question, at Thomas Hall, right away!" and then he added: "Dab, now, if you white folks know more 'bout ringin' dig bell than I does, just take hold of it."
