DISTRICT COURT

THE BOYET MURDER CASE PURILY CON-SIDERED

to the jury yesterday afternoon.

This case has created a great deal of interest, both in and out of Court. The prosecution was ably managed and con ducted by the County Attorney, M. G. Anderson, assisted by N.O. Green and Judge Wesley Ogden, and the defense by T. T. Teel alone.

The testimony showed conclusively that Boyet and Colbaith were, both present at the killing of Supplington, and that Co!baith fired the fatal shot,"

It appeared that Sappington and a party of colored friends were out taking plesenre ride, and while returning to town in their carriage, met the defendant and Colbaith on horseback. The point of meeting was up Plores street, where it king regular trips, and are receiving is cut off by the San Pedro. Here as alterestion took place between them, growing out of an inquiry by Boyet, and what was considered an effensive reply by Sappington. But the carriage left the San Pedro, and passed on. After having proceeded about two hundred pards, the negroes in the carriage were followed and overtaken by Boyet and Colbaith, and the controversy being renewed, Sappington was shot by Colbaith, who was some time Store, open their doors to the public this ago tried for the act, and convicted of morang. They are energetic young men murder in the first degree.

It was contended on the part of the State that Boyet acted with, and nided and commeled Colbatth in the commission of the murder. The defense set up was that the defendant, though he was present and took part in the dispute, had no knowledge nor supposition of Colbaith's intention to shoot and kill Sappington, and was therefore not guilty as charged.

Editor Express: Believing that a spirit of emulation, properly conducted in a school, is conleive of good results, we have adopted a uniform system of keeping a record of each pupil, both as to scholarship and deportment; which at the end of each month, we propose to register, and the names of those who have merited the distinction, will be placed upon the 'Roll of Honor' and published in the EXPRESS, or some other paper.

Therefore, in accordance with the above plan, you will confer a favor upon myself and students by giving space in our valuable paper to the names and tanding of the following students:

Miss Sallie Harkness, 90; Miss Victory Owings, 90; Miss Sallie Slaughter, 90; Miss Nettie Slaughter, 85; Miss Amanda Slaughter, 85; Miss Mary Little, 84; Miss Fannie Cox, 84; Miss Dorah Hiler,

We have received from the publishers Jones Brothers & Co., Cincinnati, "A Popular History of the United States." The author in the preface says: "This book is intended for the average American," and that his endeavor will be "to avoid all Partiality, Partizanships and Prejudice, as things dangerous, baneful, and wicked." We have looked over this history and are tree to say its author is not unmindful of the promises made n his preface.

Though not aiming at any high place n literature, it will fill a place in many households where there is no time to give to a larger and more detailed account of their country's history. Its author-John C. Ridpath, A. M., Professor of Belles Lettres and History in Indiana Ashbury University, has wisely steered clear of the rock of sectionalism. We nctice, he gives the credit of the discovery of America to that somewhat mythical personage Lief Erickson, and credits the great Columbus with only first carrying this news to the European nations. We have always thought Columbus was badly treated in not gaining the renown each recitation, showing the standing of bestowed upon Americus Vespucius and we are not inclined to listen to the claims of any fur clad leelander of the eleventh century.
