Ice Breaks Lines, Cancels Activities

Wrestling Scheduled Here Saturday Night

All right, all you wrestling buffs. It's that time again, when Big-Time Wrestling returns to Muleshoe. Saturday night, February 2, several well-known wrestlers from the Amarillo area will be in Muleshoe for an evening of wrestling entertainment at the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum.

Adding Beck Gins' 5,544 bales for the 1979 ginning season to the 101,000 bales reported for Bailey County raised the total to more than 105,000 bales for the year in this county, and slightly ahead of last year.

Beck Gin reported their biggest year for the past 16 years of ginning in the West Camp community.

Members of the Muleshoe Area Youth Activities Committee Inc. will meet Monday, February 4 at 6:30 p.m. at the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum.

All persons interested in planned and chaperoned youth activities in this area are encouraged to attend the planning session.

Joe King of Western '66' Company of Muleshoe was elected to the board of directors of the Texas Plant Food Institute during the Organization's annual convention in Lubbock.

Texas Plant Food Institute (TPFI) is a trade association with over 400 members who manufacture, distribute and apply commercial fertilizer throughout the state.

Recent visitors in the home of Pete and Hazel Robinson included their son, C.F. Lorance of Mineola and a son-in-law, Charles Smith of Tyler, husband of the former Juanita Robinson.

Two students from Muleshoe were listed among the 982 students on the dean's list at Southwestern Oklahoma State University in Weatherford, Okla. for the fall semester.

The students are Stephen L. O'Grady and Lula D. Throckmorton.

Special guests at Rotary Tuesday were Rusty Williamson and Keith Hanson. They heard a classification talk presented by Randy Field. Rotarians were given work assignments for the Saturday night wrestling, and use of the new popcorn machine at the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum was discussed. It was decided to provide the machine and all the supplies, and charge the user five cents per bag.

The Muleshoe Rotary Club is bringing the wrestling to town, just as they have been doing for more than a year now. The popular spectator sport will get underway at 8:30 p.m.

On the line will be the Mexican Heavyweight Title, with well-known Ricky Romero of Amarillo taking on El Gran Marcus.

Featured for the evening will be the $2,000 battle royal. This 'Over The Top Rope' spectacular will see the wrestlers eliminated from the bout when they are tossed over the top rope.

All wrestlers on the card for the evening will participate in the Battle Royal, along with David San Martino.

Also scheduled for bouts in the Muleshoe appearance will be Gary Young, taking on Haystack Calhoun; Sivi Afi versus Bob

Burglary Duo Is Apprehended Inside Church

Unfortunately, most law enforcement officers are not trained to read minds, and that would have been a prerequisite for officers to predict the intention of an 18-year old who was apprehended inside a church shortly after midnight Saturday.

Following three recent burglaries of the Trinity Baptist Church on East Avenue B, officers were keeping a close eye on the church. City Patrolman Mike Shewmake found a screen off the window at the church and the window broken. He heard some movement inside the church and called for backup officers.

Arriving to assist Officer Shewmake in the search were Lt. Jerry Hicks, Sgt. Wayne Holmes and DPS Trooper Jim Dulin. They called the minister of the church, Rev. Gene Prevo. He unlocked the door and the search began.

In a backroom of the church, the officers found an 18-year old and a 13 year old juvenile girl. The 18-year old is currently on seven years probation on a previous burglary charge.

The duo was taken to the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center where they were booked on burglary charges.

However, Monday morning, the charge was filed on a reduced charge of Criminal Destruction of property. It was explained that the 'intent' of the duo in entering the church could not be proven as no church property was found on their person, according to what District Attorney Jack Young told Muleshoe City Police Chief Johnny ICY BEAUTY CREATING HAZARDS--Although everything outside has been coated with a thin sheet of ice, the frozen beauty of the world around the Muleshoe area also carries its hazards. Broken power lines and poles, and some minor vehicle accidents also accompany the latest ice storm to invade the South Plains.

Tax Rebate Check Shows Big Increase

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said last week that Texas cities would receive $23.4 million in rebates from the one-percent city sales tax during January.

The city sales tax allocation is about $5.2 million more than cities received in January of 1979, Bullock said.

He said the increase is due more to changes in bookkeeping systems and late sales tax returns from taxpayers than significant increases in sales in the state.

His office reported that a substantial number of taxpayers filed 1979 third quarter returns late and the rebates were included in this January's allocation instead of last December's figures.

Muleshoe's tax rebate check reflects a high 34 percent increase over figures of the same time last year.

For Muleshoe, the check was $6,510.86, compared to a check of $4,839.10 for the same period last year.

This was a 34 percent increase over the figures of a year ago.

At Morton, the tax rebate check for January

Controversial Road Hearing Set Next Week

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation will conduct a public meeting on February 6, 1980, at 1:30 p.m. in the District Court Room of the Bailey County Courthouse in Muleshoe for the purpose of discussing the construction of F.M. 3397 from F.M. 298 at Circle Back, south to F.M. 54, 1 mile west of Bula in Bailey County.

The proposed improvement will consist of the construction of a farm to market type pavement consistent with other farm to market highways in the area. Proposed right of way width will be 100 feet.

Maps and other drawings showing the proposed location will be displayed at the public meeting.

Personnel from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation and the Bailey County Commissioners' Court will be in attendance at this meeting to answer questions and give information concerning the design, the State's Relocation Assistance Program and right of way acquisition.

All interested citizens are invited to attend this public meeting.

Tourney Set In Volleyball For February

A spokesman said the tournament will be a double-elimination tourney with entry fee of $20 per team.

Entries, plus the check for entry may be mailed to Renee Barrett, Route Three, Muleshoe, Texas 79347.

Emergency Babe Ruth Meet Set

Tonight, Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. people are encouraged to attend a special meeting to help determine the future of the Junior Babe Ruth League. The league is in serious financial difficulty, and the Optimist Club of Muleshoe is considering taking over the league.

The special meeting is scheduled for the Corral Restaurant, and scheduled to be here to help with the decision are Wayne Jones, state Babe Ruth Commissioner from Pampa and K.Y. Givens, district Babe Ruth President, from Olton.

Jones will be presenting a film and will be answering questions concerning Junior Babe Ruth. Givens will also be available for questions and answers.

Buddy Blackman, president of the Optimist Club of Muleshoe, explained they will not assume responsibility for the Junior Babe Ruth League without an adequate response from area and local citizens.

So, if you are the parent of a Junior Babe Ruth boy, or a future Babe Ruth player, or just interested in baseball, you are encouraged to attend the meeting.

Senator Candidate McCathern Announces

Gerald McCathern, who announced his intentions to run for State Senator from District 31, on September 19, has now made it official by sending in his filing fee to the state Democratic headquarters.

McCathern, farmer and rancher, from Hereford, has been traveling extensively through the district since September, talking with people in all walks of life. "I am convinced," he said, "that the people of our district are as concerned as I am that our state government has not been responsive to the needs of our district and the needs of our people. Large special interest groups have been far too influential in securing legislation which is beneficial to those groups at the expense of small businesses, ranchers, farmers, and other working people. My platform will always be to act as a servant of the people and to protect their interests in all forms of governmental action."

"I can relate to these problems of our people," McCathern said, "because I grew up in the eastern part of our district during the depression years of the thirties. I have worked in the oil fields as a roughneck, roustabout, and welder. After service in the Aviation Engineers during World War II, I attended Texas Tech under the G.I. Bill and graduated with a degree in Petroleum Geology. I worked as a geologist in

Traffic Is Slowed; Firemen Are Impeded

Traffic was slowed to a crawl, but only two fender-benders were reported Tuesday after the latest ice storm sneaked into the Muleshoe area Monday night.

By nightfall Monday, ice was beginning to cling to all exposed surfaces outside, and by morning Tuesday, residents who park their vehicles outside found they had a lot of scraping to do before they could drive to work or school.

Around 6:30 a.m. Tuesday, members of the Muleshoe Fire Department found the driving 'rough' when they were summoned to a house fire at Progress.

Firemen found a bedroom blazing when they arrived at the fire. Although early reports said children were in the home, firemen found they had been removed from the house before the firemen arrived.

Cruz Villalobos resided in the home. The family lost children's clothing for their four year old son and three and one year old daughters. They also lost bedroom furniture and linens, as well as other personal items.

Contributions to the Villalobos family may be made by calling the Raymond Villalobos family at 272-3348.

Other incidents from the ice included the cancellation of Tuesday night's basketball in Muleshoe. Friona School Superintendent Tom Jarboe drove to Hub checking the highway, then elected to postpone the games. A new date for the district basketball games will be established at a later date.

Explosion Damages Company

Around 3 p.m. Tuesday afternoon, a sudden explosion did extensive damage to the Smith LP Gas Company on the Friona Highway.

John Smith explained that Eldridge Graves had pulled a pickup into the shop area of the company to repair a butane leak when the explosion occurred.

Force of the explosion blew Graves about five feet into a 10 x 10 door and the door was blown down from the building. Graves had no major injuries from the explosion.

A suspended ceiling in the office of the building fell on the three people in the office and the metal walls were expanded outward from the lower portion of the building, separating from the concrete slab they were bolted to.

Wednesday morning, Smith said he had not had estimates as yet as to the extent of damage to the metal building housing his LP Gas Company, but estimated that the metal would have to be removed from the concrete slab and re-bolted. In the meantime, it was business as usual at Smith LP Gas Company Wednesday morning.

The only fire from the explosion was in the pickup with the gas leak, and the pickup was not destroyed. It is at a garage for repair.

Staff, Nurses At Hospital To Give Prize

In an effort to obtain two microwave ovens, one for the nurses' station in the hospital and another for the nurses' station in the nursing home, the staff and employees of West Plains Medical Center have a project.

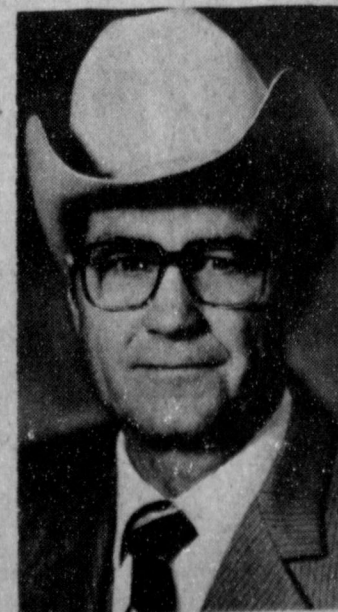

From now until February 29, they will be giving tickets for a $1 contribution to the hospital. Each ticket will entitle the donor to one chance to win a Mattie Hicks painting.

The painting, which is 18x24, is currently on display at West Plains Medical Center. A drawing for the winner of the painting will be at 10 a.m. on Friday, February 29, at the hospital.

Youth Skating Planned Here On Friday Night

Area youth will have the opportunity to enjoy skating on a Friday night, as tomorrow, Friday, skating will be conducted in the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum, sponsored by the Muleshoe Area Youth Activities Committee Inc.

Admission is 50 cents for the skating which will be 7-10 p.m. and a concession stand will be available.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek discusses gold and hogs this week, we believe.

Dear editor: People who've been buying gold should now have a much better understanding of farming.

In one day last week the price of gold dropped $143 an ounce, or $2288 a pound. Gold-buyers, especially those who had just paid over $700 an ounce for the stuff before it dropped, were panicky, acting, as the phrases goes, like a chicken with its head cut off.

So what? It happens all the time in farming. You never know from one day to the next what the market's going to do. The price of hogs or cattle or grain or whatever may drop today, go up a little tomorrow, slide the day after or recover, all within three days. What it'll be six months from now is a wild guess, with the buyers somehow always out-guessing the producers.

Now I don't know what causes the fluctuations in the price of gold, or the fluctuations in the price of farm products, but I can tell you why the fluctuations in farm products are rarely reflected in the supermarket.

It's because the middleman keeps up with the market reports only half the time. Hogs can drop $10 a hundred but the middleman, too busy that day to check the market, goes right on charging the same old price for bacon.

But let hog prices go up a little and up goes the price of bacon.

I don't know why middleman don't read the market reports every day.

As for the gold buyer, I can't figure them out. Regardless of how many sweets the kids of the world are eating, I don't believe the number of teeth needing gold caps in the next few years is going to increase astronomically enough to justify such a demand for the stuff. I believe hogs would be a more stable investment. You've never heard of the price of a hog dropping $143 an ounce in one day.

Yours faithfully
J.A.

Also, by the end of the day on Tuesday, only one injury had been reported from a person falling on the ice. A woman was treated at West Plains Medical Center after slipping on ice in the 300 block of West Second and splitting open the back of her head.

Bailey County Electric Company was reporting some trouble with broken electrical lines from the ice. The heavy laden lines were snapping in all parts of the county, along with eight poles which were broken by the weight of the ice on the highline wires.

Bailey County Electric Cooperative reported they had restored electrical service to all customers, but were keeping a wary eye on the lines and poles as the cold, icy weather continued into Tuesday night.

the Permian Basin before moving to Hereford and beginning business as a farmer and rancher.

The people of our district are well aware of the need for a senator who, first of all, is willing to devote 100 percent of his time to represent them, and secondly, that he should be well versed in all aspects of our districts' economy. I am well pleased with the reception and the support I have received in my travels, consequently today, I officially filed as a candidate."

Concerning his platform, McCathern said, "As a taxpayer and a businessman, I understand that profit is not a 'four letter word'. Our business people must be allowed to make a fair profit in order to generate the jobs needed by our laboring people. In the same sense, our working people must be allowed to receive a fair days' wage for a fair days' labor if they are to be able to carry their fair share of the tax burden and to buy back the goods and services offered by our business community."

"I believe that it is time to start seeking new methods of securing finances to support our educational system. We must maintain the best educational system possible for our youth, and to do so, we must be able to compete with other states and industries with equal salaries, equal facilities, and the latest teaching aids. However, we can't afford to bankrupt our property owners by continually increasing property taxes to finance our educational system. There are other means of financing available, and I feel we should immediately begin looking for an answer to this grave problem, whether it would be some form a sales tax where everyone would share in the burden of responsibility, or perhaps diverting more of the oil and gas royalties received by the state from wells on state-owned property to our primary and secondary educational program."

"I certainly feel that water will be one of the major problems for our district in the 1980's. Ground water is fast depleting, and if we are to keep our municipal needs supplied, our industrial areas growing, and our agricultural industry prospering, we are going to have to start a crash program to build water storage facilities in the form of small surface dams all over our district. We must pursue with greater effort our water importation program, and I am committed to this effort."

"Much can be done on a state level to encourage and expedite alternate energy production facilities, including alcohol, wind, and solar. I am committed to take a leadership role in seeing that the state of Texas would offer tax incentives, research programs, and less red tape to make these energy sources a reality."

"The most important aspect of my platform will be that I pledge to be an extension of the wishes of the people of our district. In order to stay close to the people and close to the problems, I will incorporate town hall meetings on a regular basis as well as to establish scheduled conference telephone calls with our county and city commissioners during the legislative session to keep them informed about pending legislation and to seek their advice concerning this legislation."

McCathern has worked extensively in his community, district, and state. He is past chairman of the Agriculture Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, voted outstanding farmer in Deaf Smith County in 1968 by the Lions Club, served as Vice-President

The young man entered a plea of guilty before Bailey County Judge Glen Williams on the Class A charge, and was assessed a fine of $40; $60 in court costs and a $35 restitution fee.

He was released after the assessed charges were paid to County Clerk Hazel Gilbreath.

Chief Richards said the case involving the 13 year old juvenile girl was given to the county attorney for disposition.

In other recent city police action, two local youths entered pleas of guilty to incidents at the Dairy Delite. They appeared before Municipal Judge Linda Huckaby and were assessed fines of $200 each and restitution of $30 each.

The incidents involved opening a window at the drive in restaurant and removing candy and other items from the building.

Commissioners Okay Contract For Ambulance

A new contract for 1980 was signed by Bailey County Commissioners Court Monday. The new contract was with Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home to provide ambulance service for the citizens of Bailey County for this year.

Prior to October, 1979, the city and county jointly subsidized the ambulance service, with Bailey County paying $1,050 per month, and the city paying $450 per month for a total of $1,500.

According to the contract, the county will pay the $1,500 subsidy. In return, the city will take the responsibility of providing firefighting services for the county. The county does provide space for fire trucks at the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum, and has further agreed to provide a water tank truck to take to rural fires.

The county also agrees to pay for the repairs and maintenance for the two county owned ambulances when the amount is above $400, and to pay the insurance for one of the ambulances. Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home mails statements for use of the ambulance, and keeps the funds received from billing the customers.

In other action, the commissioners finalized pay raises for county employees, with most of the employees receiving seven percent increases, and in some instances, salaries were raised to 10 percent to equalize the salary schedule.

The new revenue sharing program was approved and a full time deputy in the District Clerk's office was also approved.

Tarleton's horse management program grants first degree

STEPHENVILLE — A 34-year-old mother of three has become the first person to earn a degree in horse production and management from a Texas university, even though she can never ride a horse again.

Cyndi Fanning of Granbury has become a part of history at Tarleton State University where she recently received her degree.

Fanning plans to establish a Texas office for an Oklahoma publication on horse shows and rodeos and to freelance write, a use of journalism skills she learned while recovering from a 1978 traffic accident.

That accident left her unable to work directly with horses, said officials at Tarleton State, part of The Texas A&M University System.

Tarleton's horse program is the only professional management-type program in Texas and is one of a few nationwide. It was established in 1976 and now has about 80 students.

Association Retarded Persons

Like many other Austinites, Winifred Currens ends her work day as the sun slips down behind the oaktrees. She steps off the bus on the corner of Patterson and Sixth Street in an older established neighborhood just West of the downtown area and walks up and gently sloping street toward the large two story stone house at the top of the hill. Like most other people at this time of day, Winifred Currens is going home. Unlike most other people, Winifred shares her home with eight other women who, like herself, are mentally retarded. The large stone house at the top of the hill is Patterson House, a group home of mentally retarded women sponsored by the Austin-Travis County Mental Health-Mental Retardation Center.

Patterson House has been home to Winifred since it was founded in March, 1979. Prior to that date, she had been a resident of the Austin State School for over eight years.

Like all clients of Patterson House, Winifred is gainfully employed in the Austin Community. She works four days a week on a contract basis as a housekeeper in private residences in various parts of the city. Each morning at seven o'clock she boards the city bus which takes her to that days work site. She completes her varied housekeeping chores by mid afternoon, when she again catches the bus for the return trip to Patterson House. As a member of the Patterson House family, Winifred shares the responsibility for daily cooking and housekeeping chores at the facility. Following dinner and completion of these routine duties, Winifred and her friends watch television, play cards, or enjoy conversation about their day's activity. She and her housemates retire early to their bedrooms in preparation for the next days responsibilities.

In her leisure hours during the week and on weekends, Winifred and several of her fellow clients enjoy the shopping and recreational opportunities available to all Austinites. Using the city bus service, she and her friends go shopping at a local mall, take in a movie, or enjoy a leisurely lunch at a nearby cafeteria.

Winifred enjoys the freedom and opportunities that she finds in her life at Patterson House. Before she came to the group home, she was just one of the hundreds of residents on the Austin State School Campus. She had accustomed herself to conforming with the institutional regimines which often minimized the opportunities for personal growth and independence. Now, at Patterson House, Winifred is encouraged to exert her own independence, to try new things, to become involved in new experiences. She is her own person now; living, working, and enjoying recreation in the community alongside her non-handicapped peers.

But Patterson House is not the final stop in Winifred's journey toward independence. Patterson House is a "transitional" residential facility which encourages its clients to develop the skills and abilities necessary for fully independent life in the community. Winifred Currens shares a common dream with many of her fellow clients. She hopes one day to move into her own apartment where she can live on her own as a fully independent member of the Austin community.

Winifred's dream is shared by many of the 360,000 mentally retarded Texas citizens. Over 75 percent of all mentally retarded persons are capable of learning the skills necessary to enable themselves to live either semi- or fully independently in their own community. Facilities like Patterson House enable many retarded citizens to receive the experiences and training necessary to achieve their goals of more independent living.

Unfortunately, facilities like Patterson House are as yet unavailable to retarded persons in many areas of the state. One of the major goals of the Texas Association for Retarded Citizens is to promote the development of facilities similar to Patterson House in communities throughout the state. Says Mike Bright, Director of Residential Services for TARC, "our goal is to make available to retarded citizens a range of residential services and facilities, including long term and transitional group homes, which will enable those persons to remain in their own home towns in the mainstream of community life. Such services can mean the difference between a life of meaningful and productive independence and one of total dependence on publicly supported institutional services."

There are thousands of other people like Winifred

Southwestern Asking Rate Increase

Southwestern Public Service Company announced today that it needs to increase its retail rates by 14.78 percent to the customers in Texas served by the electric company.

Information outlining southwestern's needs is being presented to city officials in this area today. Formal filing with all regulatory bodies is pending.

Bert Ballengee, executive vice president of SPS, said the increase is needed for three primary reasons; inflation, the high cost of money and the cost of switching from gas to coal.

"Every one of us is affected by inflation including SPS," Ballengee said. "As our costs for making and delivering electricity continue to go up, the price must also go up."

"Every one of us is also affected by high money costs, including SPS. When we borrow money at today's record high interest rates, or sell stock, people are actually letting us use their savings to build new power plants and lines and to build new equipment. If we do not give them a reasonable return on their investment, the people will stop letting us use their money and our ability to deliver electricity to our customers will be limited."

"And every one of us is affected by the change in the way we make electricity. We must build coal-fired plants instead of the conventional gas-fired plants because of cost, supply and government regulation. Coal-fired plants cost almost twice as much but the electricity will still cost less than continuing to burn higher priced natural gas," Ballengee said.

Ballengee also said that based on existing rates being charged to all Texas retail customers, SPS projected revenues for 1979 will be less than the cost of service to those customers by $42,657,065.00.

The 14.78 percent increase is an average for all types or classes of customers. The increase will vary from one rate class to another. For example, the customer that uses 500 units of electrical energy per month would have an increase of $5.43 per month.

The increase in rates would not affect the rates charged to wholesale power customers, according to the SPS spokesman.

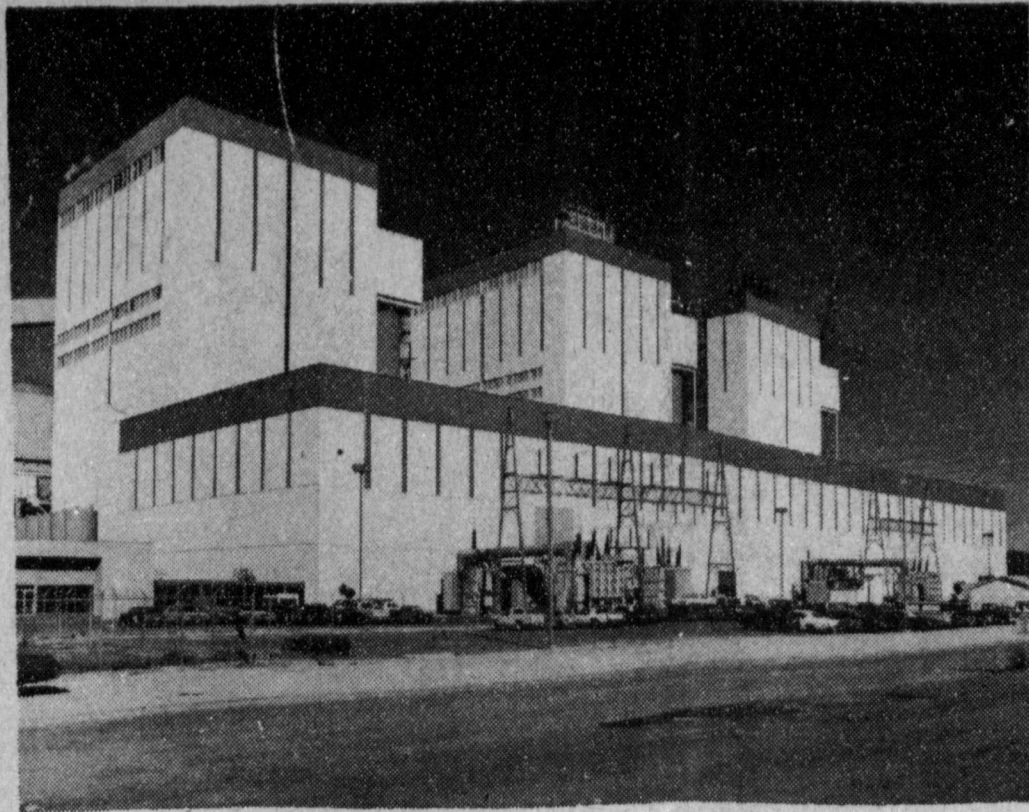

"The last base rate increase in Southwestern's rates for retail service was based on 1977 costs and went into effect in October 1978 and amounted to about 7 percent, well below the amount the company needed at that time," concluded Ballengee.

Woman calls tune

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — A woman has been named to call the tune in The University of Texas Music Department.

She is Dr. Fiora Contino, one of the most prominent women conductors in America, who will be music chairman after Sept. 1, 1979. She has taught at Johns Hopkins and Indiana Universities and is a noted opera, symphonic and choral conductor.

Dr. Contino is the seventh woman to head a UT department or school. Women are departmental chairmen in advertising, home economics, physical and health education, and speech communication; one is dean of the LBJ School of Public Affairs, and another is dean of the School of Nursing.

SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE PLANT NEARS COMPLETION--Harrington Station, Southwestern Public Service Company's coal-fired generating plant, is located northeast of Amarillo and has a generating capability of 720,000 kilowatts. A third generating unit will go on the line about June of this year, giving the plant a total capability of over one million kilowatts.

March 3, Farmers Tax Deadline

While most taxpayers have until April 15 to file 1979 income tax returns, farmers and ranchers face an earlier filing date--March 3.

The March 3 date stands for agricultural producers who did not file an estimate of their income taxes and pay these estimated taxes by January 15. Those who did file an estimate have until the April 15 deadline to file final returns.

For Texas farmers and ranchers preparing their 1979 income tax returns, Dr. Ashley Lovell of Bryan, area economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, offers several considerations.

Filing requirements for 1979 are changed from 1978. For example, an individual must file a return if his gross income is $3,300 or more and a married couple under 65 years of age must file if their joint income is more than $5,400. If both are 65 or older, they may make $6,400 before having to file a return.

For some businessmen, a more urgent deadline is January 31, the due date for Form 943 and Form W-2.

Form 943, "Employer's Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employees," must be filed if you were required to withhold and pay social security tax, or if you withheld income tax under voluntary withholding agreements on farm labor wages during 1979.

Form W-2, "Wage and Tax Statement," must be provided to each employee to whom you paid wages subject to social security taxes or from whose wages federal income tax was voluntarily withheld. Employees should receive Form W-2's by January 31.

For other changes and reporting requirements regarding 1979 income tax returns, Lovell suggests a copy of Internal Revenue Service Publication No. 17, "Your Federal Income Tax" (1980 edition).

Farmers and ranchers will want to get a copy of IRS Publication No. 225, "Farmers Tax Guide" (Revised October 1979).

RECIPE

By Sarah Anne Sheridan

Pork is considered a cold weather meat and can be prepared in many delicious ways. Always remember that pork must be cooked well done--never rare.

Tenderloin Hot-Pot

- 1 1/2 lbs. pork tenderloin
- 1 1/2 c sifted tomato pulp
- 1 chopped onion
- 6 mushrooms
- 1/2 green pepper chopped fine
- 1 t kitchen bouquet
- 1 t salt
- 1/2 t pepper
- potatoes
- turnips

Split the tenderloin in half or cut into slices. Grease lightly the bottom of a casserole and fit into it the pieces of meat. Brown on both sides over high heat, then add tomatoes, onions, pepper and kitchen bouquet. Cover and cook 3 to 4 hours. Fifteen minutes before removing from heat, add salt and pepper.

Serve on a large platter surrounded by a border of potatoes and turnips which have been mashed together in equal parts.

Anti-Freeze Threatens Children, Pets, Adults

Anti-freeze may keep the car radiator from freezing solid, but anti-freeze can also mean death to children and pets, according to the Texas Veterinary Medical Association (TVMA) and Texas Medical Association (TMA). A chemical in anti-freeze called ethylene glycol has a sweet taste, much like a soft drink, and children and pets are attracted to it.

Before the first freeze Texans will be draining their radiators to make way for the new anti-freeze. This is where the trouble begins. Many people collect the old fluid by placing a pan underneath the car radiator. Since it usually contains old anti-freeze or coolant substance, the pan left out or in the garage offers children and animals a tasty treat--but a deadly one. Frequently, people let the radiator drain onto the driveway and run down the street curbing. This still leaves the old fluid for pets to lap up or kids to splash or dip their hands into--ready for a little sip of this deadly drink.

Dr. David Bechtol, TVMA president, states that a dog need only lap up two to three cc's per pound of weight and a can even less for anti-freeze to bring about a painful death. Dr. Bechtol, a Canyon veterinarian, says the hard part about helping an animal that has ingested anti-freeze is that the owner doesn't realize what the pet has gotten into. The veterinarian then as to treat the symptoms without knowing what brought it on.

The ethylene glycol in the anti-freeze combines readily with the common minerals of human and animal bodies and results in kidney failure and death due to uremia. And a painful death, adds Dr. Mario Ramirez, TMA president. The same dangerous chemical is found in brake fluid, windshield de-icer/cleaner and wall-paper remover.

Anti-freeze poisoning account for about 15 percent of reported animal poisonings, but most are probably never reported, Dr. Bechtol says.

Sheriffs' Office Report

In recent activity by the Bailey County Sheriff's office, three women were arrested on charges of welfare theft. One charge was a felony theft and two were misdemeanor charges, according to arresting officer, Deputy Sheriff Bob Henderson.

Also apprehended was one person on a check law violation for Clovis, N.M. and another person apprehended on a check law violation in Bailey County.

Also apprehended was Antonio Zapata, who had been sought for bond forfeiture.

Sheriff's officers also jailed two persons for driving while intoxicated and one charged with being drunk in public.

Listed among the arrests was one person charged with driving while intoxicated, filed by DPS Trooper Jim Dulin.

Anti-freeze can be deadly for humans, too. Swallowing about one ounce can kill a child and about three ounces can kill an adult. In 1978 there were 239 human poisonings in the U.S. and the statistics this year seems to be increasing at an alarming rate, even before the real cold weather has arrived.

A human anti-freeze poisoning victim often appears drunk, has headaches and vomits, said Dr. Ramirez, a Rio Grande City family practitioner. A poisoning control center, hospital emergency room or physician should be called immediately if poisoning is suspected. Their advice could include making the victim vomit, if the person has not passed out, and getting professional medical help immediately.

Dr. Bechtol recommends that anti-freeze or coolant be flushed down the sewer system since it is biodegradable. Any spilled or drained onto the drive should be washed for 10 minutes toward the street drain. No puddles should be left for children or pets to get into. And no residue should be left behind since the dried crystals contain the poison. The drain pan should be washed thoroughly.

If you see your pet getting into anti-freeze you should rush it to the veterinarian immediately; treatment for anti-freeze poisoning can't wait, says Dr. Bechtol. The best medicine is to prevent it and you should encourage your neighbors to do the same, says Dr. Ramirez.

Stubble Management Adds To Efficiency

LUBBOCK -- Farmers know that inflation and rising energy costs have increased the need for efficient use of the organic matter in stubble, but some Texas Tech University agriculture faculty members are concerned that efficiency may be losing to tradition.

Stubble management depends on the kind of stubble, the kind of farming equipment and the total farming operation, but economics and efficiency, according to the Texas Tech faculty, should be the prime factor in using the organic matter from the previous year's crop residue.

Drs. C. Reed Richardson and William L. Mies, both animal scientists, and Dr. Richard E. Zartman, a plant and soil scientist, discussed the possible uses of stubble.

Stubble can be used to prevent erosion and incorporate organic matter in the soil, or it can be used as livestock feed.

The conventional system of shredding, plowing and discing the crop residue in several operations has become uneconomical because of energy and labor costs, according to Zartman.

"Estimates indicate that an average tillage operation could cost $3 or more per acre, and the conventional method uses anywhere between six and 20 operations," Zartman said.

Reducing the tillage operations can mean big savings in dollars and also can conserve moisture, reduce erosion, lead to better seedling survival, improve soil structure and provide food and cover for wildlife," he said.

"A key factor in implementing minimum tillage is equipment. Farmers should be looking at machinery that prepares a seed bed, plants, applies insecticides and herbicides and puts down fertilizers, all in one trip," he added.

Such equipment can either be purchased or farmers can modify existing machinery to perform the work.

In using stubble as feed, farmers have three basic alternatives. They are: to stock calves on the stubble for 60 to 70 days; graze one cow per two or three acres for 100 to 120 days; or mechanically harvest the stubble and transport it to cows.

Research conducted by Mies has shown that stocking calves on corn or sorghum stubble for 60 to 70 days, with supplemental protein and phosphor-ous, can result in gains of 1.5 to 1.7 pounds per head daily.

Richardson, who directs feed mill teaching and research at Texas Tech, said that corn and sorghum stubble has higher digestibility than gin trash.

Men, Women-- The Earnings Gap

Why do women earn less money than men?

Men's salaries have outstripped women's salaries by 70 percent since 1961.

This is an important issue to employed women, since most work out of financial necessity, says Cindy Wilson, a family life education specialist.

"Many factors contribute to the earnings gap between men and women, and though strides have been made, many changes are still needed to narrow the earnings gap," she says.

Mrs. Wilson is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Understanding some of

Challenge Of The 80s

Challenges facing county government in the 1980s will be the theme of the 22nd annual County Judges and Commissioners Conference here February 5-7.

Key county and state government officials will be on hand to address such issues as energy and transportation for the '80s, points out John Gilmartin, county officials program specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. More than 600 county officials from throughout Texas are expected to attend.

Governor Bill Clements will deliver the keynote address at the conference Thursday morning, February 7, at 9 o'clock.

Other featured speakers will include Attorney General Mark White and Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace, who will both speak the morning of Feb. 6, and Commissioner of Agriculture, Reagan Brown, who will conclude the Thursday morning session.

Extension Director Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel will deliver the welcome address at the first general session on Wednesday, February 6.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. the first day at the Ramada Inn, with concurrent sessions for county judges and commissioners beginning at 2 p.m. The judges session will deal with Texas commitment hearings while the session for commissioners will concern weed and brush control on county road rights-of-way.

Among discussions during general sessions of the conference will be state property taxes, jails, rural land values, rural fire districts and revenue sharing.

The conference is conducted annually by the Extension Service in cooperation with the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas. Current president of the association is McLennan County Commissioner Roy Nail.

ed by merely spraying a caustic soda solution on gin trash.

Mies said that the use of cows to graze corn and sorghum stover allows use of the forage and also leaves material in the field for organic matter.

"Research shows that a cow will harvest 25 to 30 percent of the stubble in a field, leaving a considerable amount for the soil," he added.

Irrigated sorghum leaves about four tons of stubble per acre and cattle will graze about a ton of that.

Mechanical harvesting will remove approximately twice as much as grazing, or 50 to 60 percent of the total forage in the field, at eight to 10 dollars per ton, Richardson said.

"But mechanical harvesting needs specialized machinery; and farmers who do not have a silage program may find that the cost of the equipment is prohibitive. Besides, mechanical harvesting will not do a good job of picking up fallen ears of corn or shattered milo heads between rows," Mies said.

"Thus, while the cow harvests less than the machine, she may be more efficient in what she harvests," he added.

Pregnant cows require low protein levels and their need for total digestible nutrients is about 50 percent, and corn and sorghum stubble can satisfy both requirements.

There are several options that are open to farmers in stubble management, but the choice can be reduced by considering only those that emphasize efficiency, the Texas Tech faculty said.

NEWS OF HEALTH

How To Care Better For Mind And Body

Do you know one thing that can probably do more to promote your good health and prevent disease than hospitals, doctors and medicine?

It's you as an individual, according to the U.S. Surgeon General's Report on Health Promotion and Disease Prevention, released after two and a half years of research.

Both the government and medical profession are urging Americans to make changes in their living habits that will promote a healthier existence, especially since the cost of health care is going up.

Staggering 1979 statistics show that the cost of living has risen 74 percent in 25 years, but medical care costs have soared 330 percent! Experts say the major causes of many expensive illnesses are habits over which people have a degree of control—alcohol abuse, smoking, overeating and chronic stress.

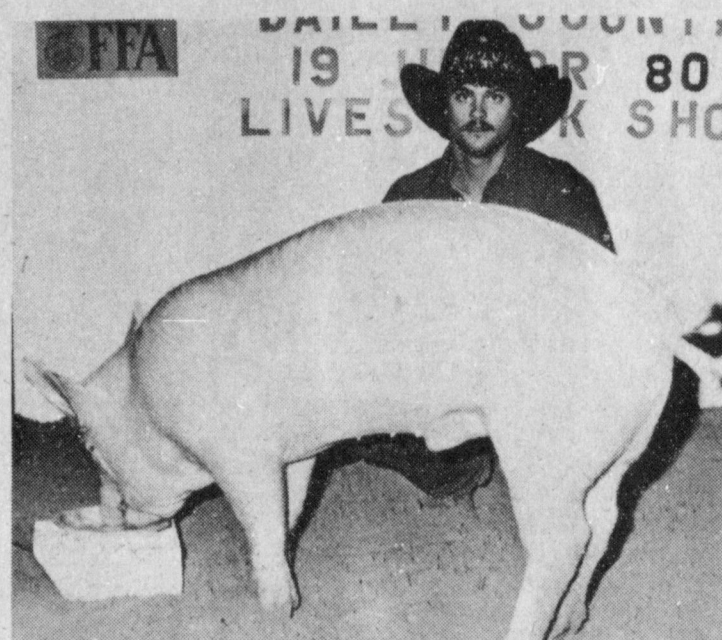

These and other facts about health are the theme of a new film, "The Wellness Revolution," commissioned by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. The 27-minute health film explores the care of body and mind through relaxation, exercise, stress management and nutrition.

Narrated by Dick Van Patten, star of the ABC-TV series "Eight Is Enough," the new movie features a cast of experts in various fields, such as stress researcher Dr. Hans Selye, founder of the International Institute of Stress at the University of Montreal, and Dr. Robert Arnot, sports medicine center director at Lake Placid for the 1980 Winter Olympics.

"The Wellness Revolution" is available on a free-loan basis through Modern Talking Picture Service, 5000 Park Street, N., St. Petersburg, FLA 33709. When ordering the film, refer to it as "Digest 11899."

Afghanistan In Prospective

In the current, painful and necessary reevaluation of unsuccessful U.S. foreign policies in the last three years, caused by recent events in the Middle East, a long-term prospective should be maintained. First, the importance of what regime rules in Afghanistan is of importance, but not of any special or paramount importance to the American people. What happened there, rather, signifies a new boldness in Moscow's tactics, not policy, and that is certainly important.

But even this is not totally clear. Afghanistan is on Russia's border. Since Russia has millions of Moslems in its southern regions, a religious awakening there, as has happened in Iran, could mean serious dissention among Moslems in southern Russia. That may be the main reason for Moscow's military intervention. If it is, that doesn't excuse it; but it does put in a more defensive light.

Secondly, wishful hopes that Afghanistan could become Russia's Vietnam are unrealistic. As stated, Afghanistan is a Russian border state. The Russian military can control most of the country with relative ease. There'll be no logistical problem, though die-hard rebels might hold out and fight on in the mountains for some time.

In the current tizzy, finally, it should be kept in mind that this outright aggression gives the West a major public relations and propaganda victory. It offers Washington a chance, which will not now be resented by other nations, to establish a strong military presence in the Persian Gulf area. It helps greatly to turn the Moslem world against Moscow--a world which has lately been very hostile to Washington.

In the long run, then, pluses may outweigh the minuses, especially if it finally has opened the eyes of President Carter, whose on-the-job foreign policy training has thus far been so costly to America.

Embargo Phosphate?

If the United States, in protest of Soviet aggression against Afghanistan, is to embargo shipments of grain to the Soviet Union, it should do no less in the matter of phosphate and phosphoric acid.

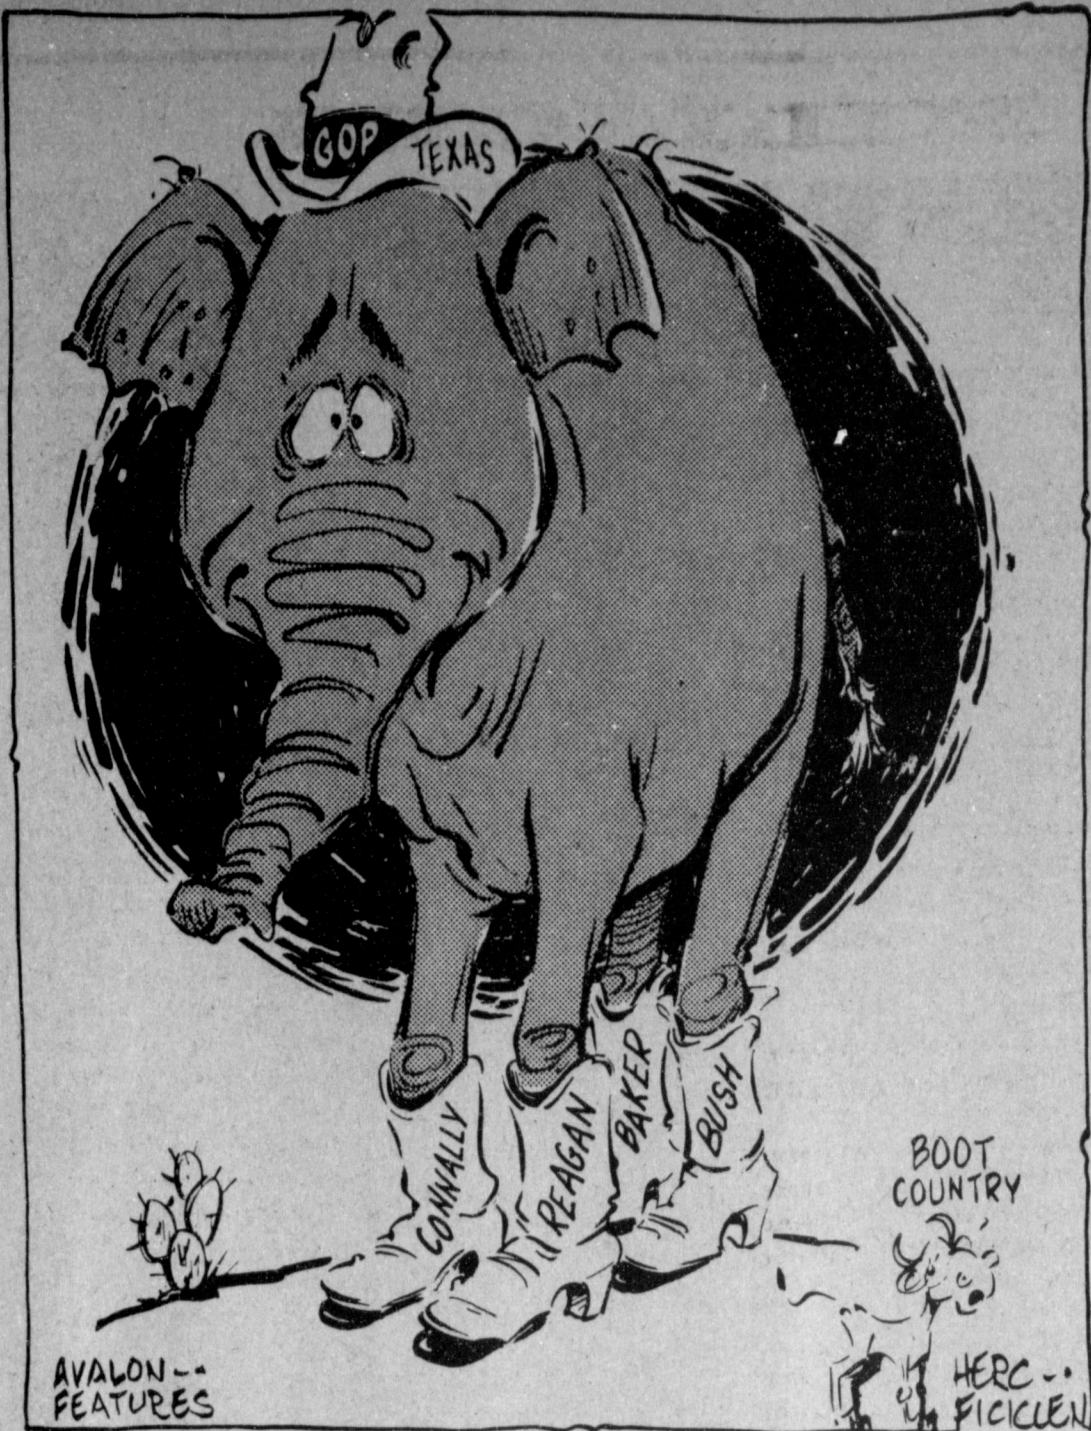

The need for phosphate fertilizers by the U.S.S.R. has been demonstrated (or it would not have tied itself to a 20-year deal) and, although it may somehow make up the loss of grain shipments from other sources, it's less likely to find available new phosphate sources.

The phosphate-for-unneded-ammonia swap negotiated by Occidental, a multinational chemical company operating in Florida, was apparently no bargain for the U.S.A. Ammonia we can always get, but there may be no more than a 20-year supply of phosphate left in this country, most of it in Florida. It will be direly needed by American farmers in the future.

Whether or not the federal government will feel obliged to make up the purchases it forbids the Kremlin--as in the case of grain--remains to be worked out. But there is probably no necessity for burdening the taxpayer with this one. Phosphate ore is not perishable. Unmined, it requires no costly storage and is only going to increase in value as global demand for this increasingly scarce and vital resource grows.

This step would land on Florida's doorstep like a blessing.

Because the stress put on central Florida by acid pollution, radioactivity, fresh water consumption and enormous demands for electric power and other energy by the phosphoric acid industry is so great, an embargo could strike at Russia and at the same time benefit Floridians.

The Speaker Reports

AUSTIN--The Committee on Higher Education Financing in Texas is conducting one of the most important studies of the interim at this time.

The Committee was formed by Senate Concurrent Resolution 101 of the 66th Legislature and is composed of three appointees of the Governor, three appointees of the Lieutenant Governor, and three appointees of the Speaker of the House with the Lieutenant Governor serving as chairman and the Speaker as vice-chairman.

The Committee is charged with the responsibility of investigating all aspects of funding the State's colleges and universities, specifically facility financing, tuition and fees, state funding, formulas, and other related matters.

SUGGESTS WAR

TEHRAN, IRAN -- Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini said recently that Iran's crisis with the United States, "a struggle between Islam and paganism," could "likely" turn into war. Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said all the hostages will be tried as spies if the United States imposes sanctions against Iran or if the United States attempts an economic blockade.

The Committee has obtained a large quantity of data dealing with enrollment projections, tuition policies, revenue needs, space utilization, and other trends. Decisions as to what is realistically needed for the future well-being of higher education must be made.

With limited revenue projections, the State must look at means of promoting the efficient operation of its colleges and universities. Cost controls must be emphasized, and a determination of how much construction is actually needed must be made.

It is my belief that a proper method of insuring adequate space and academic excellence is achievable without creating a burden on the taxpayers. With a redirection of funds and emphasis on efficiency, higher education should improve and serve the needs of the State for years to come.

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

New Carter? Facing Russia-Hawks' Fear-The Politics

WASHINGTON, D. C. -- The new Jimmy Carter foreign policy is worrying some militant hawks on Capitol Hill. It's not that they feel Carter isn't learning his lesson--at last. What they fear is a military disaster.

Hawks in the Senate and House who have publicly moaned loudest when Mr. Carter killed the B-1 bomber project (which the President would like very much to have alive now) and thereby threw away about two billions already invested, know better than most the military weakness of the U.S. today. And they know Soviet strength. It's formidable.

When Carter resisted the Hill hawks who tried valiantly to authorize another nuclear aircraft carrier in recent years, and build up the Navy, he helped insure the weakness of the U.S. Navy today. Many of the smaller ships proposed two or three years ago would be in operation today if Mr. Carter had not favored reducing the military. Remember that in his 1976 campaign he pleased many young and liberal Democrats by saying the biggest waste in the federal government was in appropriations for the Pentagon.

When Mr. Carter stopped production of certain missiles, shutting down one major production line, while the Russians continue to expand their missile strength, hawks on the Hill were appalled. They were aghast that he would talk of bringing U.S. troops home from Korea. After blunt remarks from top military men, some of whom were transferred or demoted for telling the truth about the dangers of Carter's short-sightedness, Mr. Carter then reversed himself.

With this background, the White House is nevertheless now dropping hints about a confrontation with Russia. Leaks from White House sources in recent days have alleged the nation would even consider nuclear war if the Russians move on Pakistan or Iran. Experts on defense at the Hill know America would be humiliated and soundly defeated if Mr. Carter goes off on an ill-advised tangent of toughness and confronts the Russians.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The Constitution requires the President each year to report to the Congress on the State of the Union. Unfortunately, this year all the Congress received was a self-serving dossier of alleged administration grand accomplishments -- a document more suited to a campaign stump than the State of the Union Message.

The 75-page document submitted to the Congress is nothing more than a collection of re-hashed programs and ideas, many of them already rejected or completely overtaken by events.

The most serious failing was in the area of national defense. Stepped-up Soviet aggression has made it crystal clear that the U.S. must act and act now to rebuild itself as a military power. Even the President has admitted Soviet adventurism in Afghanistan caused him to reassess his view of Russian intentions. But the State of the Union Message ignores any lessons that should have been learned.

For the Administration apparently to have concluded that its Five Year Defense Plan -- already woefully inadequate -- in any way would deter the Soviets from future aggression is patently ridiculous.

The Administration even has the audacity to claim to have reversed several years of reduced defense spending. That assertion ignores a history of cuts to defense budgets by a Democrat-controlled Congress, Carter's own campaign pledge to further reduce defense spending, and his reluctance even to meet his promise to our NATO allies for a 3 percent real growth in the budget.

The new 1981 defense budget and Five Year Defense Plan have been grudgingly drawn up by the Administration. Close examination of these proposals clearly shows that most of what is advertised as new additions is really only catch-up spending for long-underfunded programs. And that spending would be paid for largely by deferring other vital programs to the years beyond 1985 -- a classic example of robbing Peter to pay Paul.

Just as disturbing are the President's words of praise for the SALT II treaty. The Administration has ignored all objective analyses which reveal serious flaws in that treaty, including the report from the Senate Armed Services Committee that concluded the treaty is not in the best interests of our national defense.

As for the domestic policy aspects of the President's message, they reflect the Administration's continued dependence on unworkable ideas, and a tendency to believe spending money with or without having effective programs will solve any problem.

There is nothing of the shift in attitudes and direction that is required if we are to effectively address the problems of inflation and energy.

The Congress faces grave responsibilities this year. It would be easier for Congress to meet its challenges with wise and effective leadership from the Administration. But even if that leadership fails to appear, Congress has the power, and I hope the will, to take decisive action to improve the American position in the world, and to start on the road to solving our domestic problems.

Turkey popularity increases

COLLEGE STATION — Turkey meat isn't just consumed during the holidays anymore, according to a Texas A&M University poultry expert. Each American will eat more than 10 pounds of turkey meat throughout the next year.

says Dr. Bernard J. Marquez. Two major reasons contribute to the turkey's rising popularity. They're one of the most cost-efficient birds around, currently selling at an average of 69 cents a pound in Texas. Turkeys are also being used more extensively in processed meat products such as turkey ham, turkey wieners and turkey salami.

Beef Cattle Demand Is Softening

Cattlemen long have planned their business and based their hopes on the Law of Supply and Demand. Supply they could measure, because they could count their cattle and, with help from the USDA, they got monthly and annual counts on the total U.S. supply.

Cattlemen know that the supply of beef fluctuates significantly over a period of about 10 years—that's what they call the "cattle cycle." When cattle numbers are up, prices usually are down. When cattle numbers are down, prices usually are up. Cattlemen expect this, because they believe in "supply and demand," because they know numbers have fluctuated, and because they thought demand was remaining constant or growing.

Now comes the shocking word from Livestock Business Advisory Services (LBAS) of Kansas City that the demand for beef is not remaining constant; indeed, it may be softening.

Demand for beef is reflected in Percent of Disposable Income (PDI) spent on beef, according to LBAS. The USDA started reporting PDI spent on beef in 1949. From 1949 through 1964, it never was higher than 2.7 percent and never lower than 2.5 percent. From 1965 through 1978, it averaged 2.59 percent.

But in the last half of 1979, it slipped to 2.4 percent and is expected to soften further, to 2.37 percent in 1980.

These figures mean dollars to cattlemen. Because every 0.1 percent drop in Disposable Income spent for beef translates into a drop of about $3 per cwt. in the price of fed cattle. And that usually triggers an even bigger drop in the price of feeder calves.

The main factor causing the softening in demand for beef is inflation. Because the cost of energy and other essentials have increased rapidly, consumers are being forced to cut back on many luxuries and to economize on their preferred foods. Thus, the demand for beef has softened.

Unfortunately, the cost of energy and inflation are expected to continue soaring in the 1980's. Which will put still more pressure on Percent Disposable Income spent for beef. For example, Choice fed steer prices would have to be $106 per cwt. by 1985 (compared with about $70 now), just to keep up with an annual inflation rate of 8 percent. And who thinks inflation will be limited to 8 percent per year?

Another factor contributing to the slippage in PDI spent for beef is the claim by some consumer activists that beef is bad for your health. Although these claims are largely unproven (to the contrary, there is overwhelming evidence that beef is one of the best sources of protein, minerals, vitamin B-12 and other essential nutrients), many consumers believe the claims are switching to their foods.

Fortunately, there is something cattlemen can do, and are doing. For the past five years, cattle industry leaders have been developing a self-help program of nutrition research, consumer education and market development. And in the next few weeks, all cattlemen will have an opportunity to vote on whether they want such a self-help program.

If a majority of cattlemen voting favor the Beef Research and Information program -- "Beeferen-dum." The cattlemen call it-- a uniform 20 cent out of each $100 of value added to the animals will be deducted at scale time to support the program. This is calculated to raise $30 million to $40 million a year for beef research and market development.

Cattlemen, who long have supported the free enterprise system, who traditionally have fought to keep the government out of their business, are to be commended for this self-help program. If passed, it can make a difference in their future.
