The hunters followed their trail many days, and although their provisions gave out, they still pursued them, living on what they could kill on the trail.

At length they came upon an Indian village containing a number of lodges, on the bank of a small stream. Although they had been without food two days, they attacked the Indians under cover of the banks of the stream.

The fight continued several hours, and was only stopped by darkness. During the night the Indians struck their lodges, took their women and children and killed and wounded and fled. SOUTH AFRICAN DIAMONDS. A Brillant Leture by Dr. W. J. Mor-Dr. William J. Morton, of Boston, u yard." hief Justice Daly presiding, upon the subject of the South African the mines, the whole being illustra. there were two sister repubthe Orange Tree State" and the FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. "Orange Tree State" and the "Wansyaal," the lecturer gathered from Europe, tarried awhile at the islands of Maderia, Ascension and Helena and landed them safely t the Cape of Good Hope, after at the Cape of Good Hope, after surver coin.

I wenty six days passage, He showed them Cape Town, with its 30,000 for colorant Ecchange with the constants, and told them there are the colorants to the colorant colorants.

Most for the color of the colo them Cape Town, with its 30,000 inhabitants, and told them there were three routes from the African coast to the diamond mines-the coast to the diamond mines—the shortest from Natal, the second from Port Elizabeth, the third from Cape Town direct to the mines across the Karoo and Gouff deserts. He showed the latter to be a thing of the past. The mode of transit was amusing, but not important, as we amusing, but not important, as we had similar illustrations in the have had similar illustrations in the early experience of our pioneers to Light grubby, 7 to 20 p. California across the plains. The Damaged, Calves and Public Dev and Goat. lecturer took iris hearers up the Deer and Drackenberg Mountains through Middling the tamous Bain's Kloot, very steep and torturous, down in the desert where there were whitened skeletons of oxen and mules. He makes his auditors cross the Blood River, the Weykel and the Bitter Water, and Northern Cole. finally lands them at Hoperown and the rolling food of the nighty transpersion of the nighty transpersion.

THE DIAMOND FIELDS.

Soon he passes them over the barrier be tween the diamond fields and the world, and, to be brief, exhibits to them the position of the Orange Tree State, the small western angle of which constitutes the Diamond Gasplane of Constant of the Constant of of which constitutes the Diamond Star, 12, 14 and 16 oz., 2 box, 40 % 2 b Fields of western Africa. Across a said 13 fead 16 oz., 2 box, 16 is phox, 16 is mission 'map of this very tract, printed in 1850, is written. 'Here be diamonds.' The natives had long used the diamond mechanically for boring other stones and made ly for boring other stones and made periodical visits hither to procure their supply: But their modern discontinuous forms and their supply: But their modern discontinuous forms for the supply forms for the supply for the supply forms for the supply for the sup covery came about in this way: -A certain John O'Riley, trader and certain John O'Riley, trader and hoster, on his way from the interior, reached the junction of the rivers (Vaal and Orange) and stopped at the farm of a Dutch farmer named Van Niekerk. The childern were playing on the earth floor taken and the playing on the earth floor taken while taken while taken taken while taken tak with some pretty pebbles they had found long before in the river. One Apples of these pebbles attracted O'Riley's attention. He said, picking it up, that might be a diamond. Nikerk laughed, and said he could have it. Almonds. After smider in shaps, O'Riley got breat Nus. it to Cape Town, it was ascertained to be a diamond of twenty-two and Beans, white a half carats. It was sold for $3,000. Subsequently Nikerk bought from a native for some sheep a diamond which he sold for $56,000. This was the famous "Star of South Afric." he ratives new crasted over the ground and found many more. The excitement grew and be-came intense. By 1869 parties in ox wagons had worked their way over the weary plains to the Vant River. Like the creation of a dream a tented city of ten thousand ann more grew at Pruel and Kilpdrift, on the banks of the Vaal. Diamonds, were found plentifully and of excellent quality by sorting over the bowlder drift of the banks. Discoveries continued until 1870 and 1871. Crowds of people gathered at Gong Gong, Union Kopje, Colesberg Kopje, Delport's Hope, Blue Jacket, Forlare Hope, Walden's Plant, Larkin's Plat, Nie-Colesberg Kopje, Delport's Hope, last multiplying the expenses of working. Small proprietorships are becoming merged into large ag gregations of claims, and the next phase of diamond mining opera-6 s. m. tions must be that of several large and competing companies, or per-whole mine.

The political history of the country furnished a theme of comment for the lecturer, and, after a vote of the lecturer, and, after a vote of thanks, offered by Professor Hitch Tageors in Barns cock, the audience retired, many of them, no doubt, to dream of dia-monds and brilliants and whole stomachers of gems.

Wade Hampton Going to Marry.

A private letter received from South Carolina gives the information that Gov. Hampton is to marry the widow of the late Gov. Pickens, of the same State. She was the second wife of her late husband, and was much his junior. She was a noted beauty, and created a great-sensation in St. Petersburg, whither Gov. Pickens took her as a bride when he was sent thither as Minis. Fig.

Her eyes glistened with emotion and her whole face was expressive of admiration and excitement. When the pianist had finished, the gentleman who was with this sweet ittle creature, turned to her and said: How beaufful! To which the replied: 'Yes indeed doesn't it fit her exquisitely in the back? How much do you suppose it cost
