A convoy of Swiss security vehicles and airport fire trucks follow the hijacked Iberian Airlines 727 as it taxis for takeoff from Zurich Tuesday. An Italian mechanic, Luciano Porcari, commandeered the plane Monday and forced it on a continent-hopping odyssey.

Some 26 minutes after the takeoff, however, the plane returned to Zurich.

Committee approves White

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texan John White won unanimous approval for the post of deputy secretary of agriculture from the Senate

Agriculture Committee today. The unanimous vote apparently indicated easy confirmation for White by the full Senate. No one asked for an opportunity to speak against him before the committee.

The confirmation hearing was amiable and friendly, starting with personal endorsements delivered for White by Sens. Lloyd Bentsen and John Tower. Four Texas House members also showed up to endorse White, who has served for the past 26 years as Texas commissioner of agriculture.

The questioning was never rugged, and the closest it got to an examination of White's personal affairs was a question from Sen. Bob

"Do you own property that might lead to a conflict of interest?" Dole

"Just some cattle, and I've told them I'd be glad to divest myself of those. I've stood about as much as I can stand of that," White said. His jocular reference to the financial problems of beef producers drew laughter from the committee.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., was typical when his turn to question White came up.

"There is not one state commissioner more highly regarded by his peers than John White. This is as close as the administration could come to an ideal appointment. I really have no questions other than to recommend his confirmation, McGovern said.

White had laid the groundwork for the hearing last week by attempting to visit each member of the committee personally. When it was over. he laughed. "This is easier than some I've had at home," he said.

Hijacked 727 leaves Zurich, returns again

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) - An armed Italian hijacker, who toasted his hostages with champagne but was described by one of them as "a dangerous man," arrived today in Zurich aboard a Spanish airliner he has taken on a five-country odyssey to gain possession of his two daughters.

The Boeing 727, which arrived here from Turin, Italy with 29 hostages including seven crewmen, remained on the ground for about 90 minutes, then took off in the direction of France after four hostages were released. But the plane returned to the airport here about a half hour later, apparently because it was running low

Police said one of the freed hostages was taken to a hospital but there was no word on his condition.

With the release of the four, the hijacker was still holding 25 hostages including the crew.

The hijacker, 36-year-old Luciano Porcari, seized the Iberia Airlines jet on a domestic flight Monday. After a refueling stop in Algeria, he ordered it to the Ivory Coast capital of Abidjan, where he picked up his 3-year-old daughter by an Ivory Coast woman and $140,000 ransom paid by officials of the West African country., After a refueling stop in Sevilla. Spain, he ordered the plane to Turin, where he released seven of the 29 passengers and tried unsuccessfully to pick up his other daughter, a 5-year-old by his estranged Italian wife. Airline officials said he passed around 12 bottles of champagne and some of the ransom money among the passengers on the flight from the Ivory Coast.

Swiss police said the plane radioed for food, fuel and an ambulance to be ready at Zurich. Police spokesman Claude Baumann said the Italian consul general in Zurich was talking to Porcari over a two-way radio when "suddenly, he got nervous and said let's get going again." The plane left without taking on fuel or food, he added. It returned a short time later.

Before leaving Turin, Porcari radioed the control tower that he was leaving because he feared police action and that authorities should send his child to the next stop.

But his estranged wife told reporters she had no intention of handing over the girl, named Consuelo, to Porcari.

"I cannot trust him," she said. "I cannot leave my daughter in the hands of a man who can commit terrible things.

Police quoted the freed hostages as saying they were not mistreated by Porcari and that their chief concern was that police might try to storm the

Also aboard the plane were seven crew members.

Accountant blames board ex-boss for MCAA woes

By JUDY JOHNSTON

All of the serious problems with the Midland Community Action Agency financial records can be traced to a failure of the board of directors to assert control and to abuse of power by the former executive director, an Austin certified public accountant said Monday night

The man, Russell Horn, is working to set the books in order so that they may be audited, hopefully by the March 31 deadline set by the federal Community Service Administration (CSA). The books have not been audited since March 1975, and the CSA recently notified the agency that the books must be audited by March 31 or the agency would not be refunded.

Horn said the CSA had hired him "to protect their interest" in the funds already allocated to the Midland Community Action Agency.

The CSA is only one of many state and federal sources of funding for the agency. Horn said he found for period from April 1, 1975 to March 31, 1976 that the $33,000 allocated by the CSA and the $10,000 in supplemental funds were virtually the only funds which were mismanaged.

The $33,000 was the original funding, designated mainly for administrative functions, he said. The other $10,000 is what the agency asked for and received during this period when it appeared additional funds would be needed, he said.

Horn was hired not only to set the books straight but also work out a financial records procedure under which the agency can operate if funding is resumed after the audit.

By W. DALE NELSON

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration wants to abolish federal penalties for possession of small amounts of marijuana, but it says states should decide for themselves whether to decriminalize their own marijuana laws.

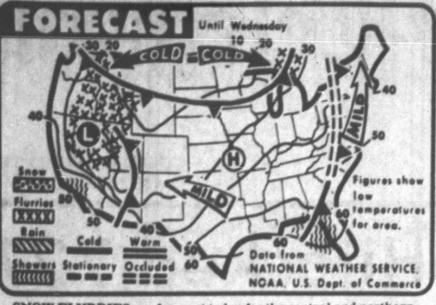

Dr. Peter G. Bourne, Carter's choice to direct the Office of Drug Abuse Policy, said Monday the administration "will continue to discourage marijuana use, but we feel criminal penalties that brand otherwise law-abiding people for life are neither an effective nor an appropriate deterrent."

hearings today on the issue. The administration feels the federal government "should not seek in any way to influence" states' decisions on decriminalizing laws against possessing small amounts of marijuana, he said.

The existing federal law on simple possession is now "rarely enforced" and should be dropped along the lines suggested in the bill recently submitted to the Congress, he

Los Angeles Police Chief Edward Davis attacked the administration's stand, arguing that no one "from the President down through the lowest bureaucrat should in any way attempt to act as a huckster for the decriminalization of marijuana ....

MCAA woes blamed on board, ex-boss

The expenditures he had listed were questionable, Horn said, either because the board had not approved them at the time of the expense or because they were without documentation.

In outlining the board's responsibility as to the CSA administrative fund, Horn recommended that one of the board's committees should have financial control and be aware of the uses which may be made of the fund.

He then reviewed basic budgeting methods and suggested the board approve all budget items in advance and approve any expenses over the amounts allocated in the budget.

Further, he suggested that at least one board member sign all checks and never sign until documentation shows the expenditure is related to operation of the agency's business.

Horn then presented his list of questionable expenditures he found in his survey of the books. The situation is complicated by the fact that the agency bookkeeper, Dollie Ball, cannot find the budget for this period, so no one knows just how much was allocated originally.

Among questionable items were a $9,986 salary for Carol Burns (her highest authorized salary had been about $6,600, chairman Charlie Welch

Unemployment up in Midland

Unemployment in Midland rose by nearly 13 per cent in January, to 2.9 per cent of the civilian labor force.

It was still the lowest unem-ployment rate in Texas, the Texas Employment Commission reported. TEC said the civilian labor force grew .4 per cent in January compared to December, and April forecasts indicate a steady upward climb in employment. There were 35,300 persons employed in Midland in January, TEC added.

Of those applying for work through the Midland TEC office, 39 per cent were women, 38.8 per cent were minorities, and 32 per cent were under 22 years old. Most areas of non-manufacturing had small gains in January em-ployment, but construction and transportation declined slightly in said); several checks signed by Burns to Gibson Discount Center for "merchandise," without any other substantiation; and bills for a number of "meals," which by CSA rules are not a legitimate expense.

The board disapproved these expenditures and a number of others. Also under suspicion were a number of unauthorized long distance telephone calls and several unsubstantiated bills from a Midland travel agency. A committee of the board will meet today to study invoices for both these matters to determine whether or not they were legitimate agency business.

Horn said the CSA had told him that they would hold off on their ultimatum to the agency until they receive Horn's report. Horn said he would make his report as soon as the board committee had finished studying the questionable invoices and the board had decided whether or not to approve the expenditures.

Although he placed the blame for the agency's financial problems on the board's lack of control and on power abuse by Burns, Horn said the latter situation no longer exists. Carol Burns was fired in August 1976.

He also said he believed after speaking to the board and defining their responsibility that the former situation was partially remedied and probably would get better.

Who will audit the books after Horn finishes his survey and report is not known yet. Horn said he would do the audit if the CSA requests him to.
In other action Monday night, the board authorized a personnel com-mittee to hire an eastside director and a bus driver for the agency.

Space search at courthouse tops commissioners' agenda

By JUDY JOHNSTON

The search for more space at the Midland County Courthouse continued Monday as county commissioners met with three officials whose offices might be displaced when the 238th District Court becomes effective April 1.

The problem arose again when commissioners learned recently that a proposed sublease of certain rooms on the second floor of the Metro Building had to be approved by the building's owners in Florida. The commissioners said they had no idea how long such approval would take and decided to pursue original plans of finding space in the courthouse.

Domestic Relations Judge Joseph Mims said he could live with one alternative which the commissioners proposed to him. The plan would be to move Mims into the office now occupied by Constable Jack Merritt. Mims' court reporter would be placed where the Justice of the Peace secretaries now are located.

Then, the Justices of the Peace would remain in their offices but would enter from the east side (the tax office side of their offices) rather than through the west side as they do now. Justice of the Peace Robert Pine said the plan would be agreeable to

Mims said the idea of placing his office in the Metro Building had been "impracticable" but that he "could live with" the plan to move him into the Constable's office.

District Court Clerk Madge Wallis also said the plan was agreeable to her, but asked the commissioners for additional employes and equipment for office in preparation for the start of the new court.

Commissioners authorized the hiring of one court reporter, one bookkeeper and one clerk before the new court starts, with the option to hire more if the need arises. They also authorized the purchase of another desk and chair for Mrs. Wallis' office as well as some additional roll shelving.

In another matter, the commissioners awarded contracts for a front end loader and a steel wheel roller for the road and bridge

Tilson-Godsey, Inc. of Odessa was low bidder and received the contract for the front end loader with a bid of $28,000 and 60 days delivery time.

Other bidders were Consolidated Equipment Sales with a bid of $34,290 and 30 days; Dozier Tractor and Implement, $30,505 and 60 to 90 days; Feldman Ford Tractor, $32,147 and 30 days; Plains Machinery Co., $34,500 and immediate delivery; and Treanor Equipment Co., $34,975 and 10 working days.

Nichols Machinery Co. was awarded the contract on the steel wheel roller with their alternate bid of $24,663 and 30 days delivery.

Nichols' other bid was $30,815. Treanor Equipment Co. also bid

$23,236 with delivery in 15 days. . In addition, the commissioners approved a plat of Westview addition. provided the developers clear a 45 foot right of way to the west of the addition. The road would not be maintained by the county. The 45 foot right of way, an exception from the normal 60 foot, was granted to prevent the creation of dead-end streets. The addition is west of High Sky Girls' Ranch and north of the Midland Air Park.

In other action Monday afternoon. the commissioners took the following

Senate set to adopt chrome ban

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate is prepared to follow the House in repealing the Byrd amendment, which for six years has allowed U.S. companies to buy chrome from Rhodesia despite a United Nations

The House voted 250-145 Monday to adopt the repeal measure, which has strong backing from the Carter administration as a means of encouraging the African nation to accept black majority rule.

In previous years the House had been the obstacle to repeal of the amendment while the Senate was far more receptive.

The Senate provided strong evidence Monday it is again ready to vote for repeal as it easily defeated three attempts to weaken or shelve the legislation. A final vote was expected today.

The 1971 amendment to ignore the U.N. sanctions was authored by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Ind-Va., who argued Monday that repeal would make the United States dependent on the Soviet Union for its chrome But Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa, floor manager of the repeal effort, said the United States now has a completely adequate 20-year reserve of the strategic mineral.

The original sponsor of the House repeal bill was former Rep. Andrew Young, D-Ga., now the U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations. Young was on the House floor Monday for the debate.

Rep. Stephen J. Solarz, DN.Y., called repeal of the Byrd amendment 'the litmus test" of U.S. committment to majority rule in Africa.

"Africans will view failure of Congress to repeal the Byrd amendment as an act of national hypocrisy," warned Solarz, who said repeal was

They said it was hypocritical to punish Rhodesia for alleged human rights violations while taking no action against the Soviet Union and South Africa, the world's two other major chrome producers who also have been accused of violating human rights.

By a 233 to 166 vote, the House rejected an amendment by Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., to bar chrome imports from all nations that violate human rights, including Russia and South Africa.

River flows won't stop drought

WASHINGTON (AP) - A severe drought in many parts of the United States is likely to linger despite indications that the flow of water in the nation's five biggest rivers increased significantly last week.

The U. S. Geological Survey said Monday that the higher water levels it found in the Mississippi, St. Lawrence, Columbia, Ohio and Missouri Rivers still were below normal. It said the rivers averaged 220 billion gallons a day below normal in Meanwhile, a California congressman urged the House Budget Committee to appropriate up to $400 million more for use in areas hard hit by the dry spell.

The Geological Survey report said the increased water flow "probably represented a temporary boost from the spring breakup in the Northeast and Southeast ..." The Ohio and Mississippi, it said, probably will begin dropping again soon unless there is some significant precipita-

The report followed an announcement by the Commerce Department that the light winter snowfall "almost assures the lowest water supplies in recorded history this summer for parts of the West Coast."

Amid predictions of a lengthy drought, Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., told the House panel the need for federal disaster help has been seriously underestimated by the Carter administration.

Leggett, a member of the Budget Committee, said "glaring deficien-cies exist in the President's revised budget request" totaling $457 million for various forms of disaster relief. The money is to be spent during the year beginning Oct. 1.

He said the figure for disaster relief to be administered directly by the President is only $150 million, onethird the amount estimated to be

Mrs. Kay Thompson stands outside her Clinton, Mass., home after learning that President Carter will spend the night in the house when he visits this town of 13,500 March 16-17 in his first "meet-thepeople" visit.

'Average American family' prepares for special visitor

CLINTON, Mass. (AP) - Edward Thompson's wife and eight children here in this small New England mill town call themselves the "average American family."

The household will lose some of its averageness Wednesday night when President Carter drops by to spend the night in the Thompsons' 100-yearold, five-bedroom home.

The Thompsons will be hosts to Carter on St. Patrick's Day eve during his first "meet the people"

They are avowedly average and, little involved in politics.

"He's so busy at work, my husband has no time for political or social activities," Kay Thompson said, protesting politely that she had little time to talk on the phone because she wanted to get the house ready for her guest.

"I'm not a fund raiser," said Thompson, office manager for a beer distributor. "That's what did it."

That's precisely the type of family that was needed to settle a political tempest which arose with the announcement on March 1 that Carter would spend the night with Democratic worker Eva Hester.

Life-long residents of Clinton, a town of 13,500 mostly Irish Democrats for a meet-the-people visit.

She ran in the 1974 primary for lieutenant governor against the eventual winner, Thomas P. O'Neill III, son of Speaker of the House "Tip" O'Neill, is active in state Democratic politics, and holds a job with the state egislature.

Thompson, 56, and his 55-year-old wife were notified by the White House on Sunday that they would be hosts to the President.

The Thompsons have five grandchildren. Four of their children still live at home. Three others are married, and the eighth, Patrick, is a junior at the University of Indiana.

Mrs. Thompson said that since hearing the news that she was going to have a house guest, she has been "stunned, amazed and honored."

Asked about sleeping arrangements, she said: "I haven't given it much thought. I've just been busy tidying up for a guest. And believe it or not, he's the President.

"I'm just preparing for him as I would any guest. I'm the typical housewife, I do the dusting first, then think of the meals. I have no help, and I like to cook as a matter of choice and necessity."

Braniff sues LTV Corp.

DALLAS (AP) — Braniff Airways Inc. is seeking punitive damages and compensation for the loss of investment tax credits in a $13.8 million suit against LTV Corp., which formerly held control of the airline company.

Braniff claimed in the suit filed

Monday that LTV breached its relationship of trust by taking $4.6 million of Braniff's investment tax credits and utilizing them to LTV's benefit for the 1967-68 tax years.

In 1968, LTV owned 80 per cent of Greatamerica Corp., which held 80 per cent of Braniff stock.

LTV divested its interest in Braniff in the early 1970s, a Braniff spokesman said Monday night.

Braniff claims in its suit that LTV promised to compensate Braniff in cash equivalent to the tax investments but has refused to do so.

In addition to the $4.6 million in ac-tual damages, Braniff seeks $9.2 million in punative damages.

Jimmy wants you!

By JAMES GER-STENZANG

WASHINGTON (AP) -Alienated? Got the bluecollar blues? Fed up with the government? Well, Jimmy Carter may have a mission for you.

The President wants to put the disenchanted on some of the boards and commissions that offer the government advice on such issues as lowincome housing, trading commodity futures and rural telephone service.

"Just because you work for a living does not mean you shouldn't be heard," said Jim King. director of the White House personnel office.

King said that in the next six months, after he completes the Carter administration's talent hunt for new managers for the federal bureaucracy, he wants to tap working men and women on assembly lines, at construction sites or perhaps behind the wheel of a taxicab for the advisory boards and commissions.

Carter promised as much during his cam-paign, said King. "I'm taking him at his word. He's aware of what I'm planning to do and he doesn't have any reservations about it. It's making government accessible," said King. "What I'd like to do is hit some of the people who feel most alienated from government."

Many of these boards are filled with high-paid business executives whose companies are willing to pay them when they take off to attend meetings in Washington periodically, King observed.

"WXE COULD AP-PROACH A COMpany and say we want your $500-a-day consultant and nobody would blink. But we can't get a $50-a-day worker," King lamented. Among the problems he must solve before putting the plan into effect will be how to pay the new board members for their time and for their travel expenses, King noted. The future of some commissions actually is in doubt because Carter has asked his Cabinet members to see which can be eliminated or curtailed. But many boards are likely to survive the weeding out.

King, a Bostonian who recalls fondly time spent in taverns drinking beer and listening to just the sort of people he would like to see on the panels, observed: "There's a hell of a talent bank that people don't hear."

Some "view government as an alien entity," he added. "We're going to have to go out and deal with people who feel government no longer cares about them."

Uganda's Amin picks son, 11, to be his successor

NAIROBI - President Idi Amin of Uganda has told confidants that he has chosen a successor - his 11-yearold son, Mwanga, who, like his father, carries a gun, wears a chestful of medals and dresses in camouflage fatigues.

Western intelligence sources who have been in Kampala, Uganda, recently and two senior government officials who fled the country to Kenya said that Amin already is preparing the youngster for his future responsibilities. Mwanga, Amin has said, will make Uganda as prosperous as America, Japan or West Germany.

Amin reportedly told several confidants last month, "Please trust him. Please protect him. Otherwise, when I am in the other world, my hand will be on your shoulder."

The sources noted that Mwanga is the only one of Amin's 30 or so children to have been seen at his father's side at recent important events. He was with Amin last July at Entebbe Airport when Palestinian terrorists held a hijacked Air France jet. At that time he wore a miniature version of his father's uniform and

He was at Amin's side again last Jan. 25 to celebrate the sixth anniversary of his coup. On that occasion he carried a Soviet rifle with a bayonet.

East African observers wonder if the choice of Mwanga indicates that one of Amin's dreams is about to be fulfilled. In 1972, Amin spent 30 minutes on national television telling Ugandans that when he was a corporal 20 years earlier he had dreamed how and when he would die.

Amin has never revealed publicly the how or when of his dream but he apparently remains firmly convinced that his future is predetermined.

He has given businesses to some of his inlaws and has insured that the dozen or so children who live with him are well attended by an army sergeant.

Mwanga was named after an Ugandan king who in the late 1800s committed numerous atrocities against Christians.

Observers note that from time to time Amin has elevated other sons to positions of favoritism only to have them fall into disgrace long before it became time to name a successor. One of those sons, Moses, is in reform school and, at last report, had presented his father with a pair of homemade handcuffs as a sign of his rehabilitation.

Whatever Mwanga's eventual destiny in Uganda may be, it can be safely said that being a relative to Amin does not guarantee success or even survival.

Ridgely received the Interior Department grant money from the Smithsonian in May, 1974, just as Ridgely was receiving his master's degree in zoology from Duke University. In response to a written inquiry from The Washington Post, the Smithsonian said that "Secretry Ripley was neither aware of, nor did he participate in, the negotiations which led to the award of the research contract to Mr. Ridgely.

One official at the World Wildlife Fund said Ridgely was an extremely competent ornithologist. Ridgely's book, "A Guide to the Birds of Panama." has received a number of commplimentary reviews.

But in 1974, he was virtually unknown. It was impossible to determine how Ridgely came to the attention of the Smithsonian because. in response to an inquiry, the Smithsonian failed to explain the exact procedures that led to Ridgely's selection three years ago.

Ripley at first agreed - and then refused - to be interviewed on this subject by The Post.

Sanjay Gandhi escapes assassination attempt

NEW DELHI, (AP) - Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's controversial son Sanjay escaped unharmed when shots were reported fired at his jeep at the close of his first campaign for a seat in the Indian parliament. "I don't know if they were trying to kill me or scare me," said 30-year-old Sanjay, who took over the youth wing of his mother's Congress party during the state of emergency she ordered 20 months ago. Opponents of Mrs. Gandhi charge that he is being groomed to succeed her, continuing the family hold on power begun 30 years ago by her father, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Voting in India's first parliamen-tary election since 1971 begins Wednesday and ends Sunday. Most neutral observers thought the challenge by Mrs. Gandhi's opponents was too strong for them to predict whether she would extend her 11-year hold on the reins of government.

The national news agency Samachar said five shots were fired at Sanjay Gandhi's jeep Monday night from a jeep that waited around a bend in the road for him in the rural district of Amethi, where he was campaigning 300 miles southeast of New Delhi.

The report said Sanjay's bodyguard fired back, but the attackers escaped in the dark.

Sanjay Gandhi

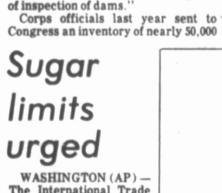

Gandhi's jeep roared ahead to his campaign office in the small town of Guriganj, about 20 minutes away. He told a European correspondent one bullet hit the front seat he was occupying but missed him because he was leaning back talking to two aides in the back of the jeep. The 59-year-old prime minister, campaigning in Bihar state for other members of the Congress party, said, "Violence should be condemned whosoever might be involved."

She told a campaign rally shortly before the attack that her opponents were conducting a 'filthy propaganda" campaign by charging that she was establishing a political

The International Trade Commission has recommended that President Carter limit imports of sugar to 4,275,000 tons a year for a five-year period.

Sugar imports last year totaled about 4.7 million

The commission suggested Monday restricting cheaper imports to protect domestic producers from prices they say have fallen below production costs.

A group of sugar refiners opposed to the quotas contend that an annual quota of 4.2 million tons could increase the retail price of refined sugar to at least $16 per U.S. family a They said the total impact on the economy would be more than $1 billion. U.S. sugar prices climed to more than 64

Comparing life to queen's proves upsetting

By ERMA BOMBECK

We were born just ten months apart, Queen Elizabeth and I - which is probably why my mother has always paralleled our lives.

You'll probably find this hard to believe, but even as children we had very little in common. My mother refused to believe this. "Why can't you be neat like Elizabeth? Look at her - her little anklets folded down neatly, her ruffles standing up and her little hair ribbon nestled under Later it was, "So, why don't you meet a nice, tall man like Elizabeth did and settle down? Look at him. He worships the Commonwealth that girl walks upon. You know your trouble? You stick to domestic brands. It would pay you to shop other countries instead of settling for those creeps who sit out front and lay on the horn.'

Predictably, she pushed for children. "I see where Elizabeth has three children already and you have zilch. What are you waiting for? Trading stamps? Or are you going to get a friend to carry it around for you for nine months?"

When Elizabeth ascended to the throne in 1952, there was no living with Mother. "What I wouldn't give for you to have a steady job like that. So, you give up wearing teased hair the rest of your life. Is that so impor-After awhile, you stop laughing at it."

Periodically, there have been reminders of "Elizabeth just raised her mother's allowance. It took an act of Parliament to do it, but she figures her mother is worth it." The other day a headline caught both of our eyes. Elizabeth II is beginning her second 25 years on the throne and a biographer was granted a rare moment with her

"She's always had great skin," said Mother wistfully.

"People always say that when you're chunky, have prominent teeth, ordinary hair, and talk through your nose. It's like saying, 'The veins in your nose match your convertible.' "Why don't you like Elizabeth?"

"I've always liked Elizabeth," I said irritably. "I voted for her twice." "There you go. You're jealous because she has a daughter who is

"Mother! I'm also beginning my second 25 years on the throne. My husband is employed. My kids are well. The freezer is paid for. I had no cavities last month. The car is running. My checkbook balanced. The cat isn't pregnant." 'You've got nice skin,'' said

Mother. She never gives up.

with pareaus

PAPEETE, Tahiti - French designers may call the fashion shots throughout the rest of the world, but here in the heart of French Polynesia no one could care less. In fact, if you drank one of their rum punches too many - or even if you didn't - you might think that you were seeing a Gauguin painting come to life.

Pareus, the Tahitian versions of the sarong, are seen everywhere, and on nearly everyone, just as they were in Gauguin's time. The only difference in the garment today is that it nearly always extends above the waist. Starting with a 71-by-35-inch piece of ordinary imported material, the islanders wrap it into everything from tropical overcoats to blouses, skirts, even shorts for surfers.

While stateside women are looking at $80 to $100 swimsuits, these simple bits of cloth are the tahitians' lovely answer to the strapless fashions that are sweeping all the less lovely beaches of the world. Even as Paris flirts with a revived mini-look, Tahitians, the world's best-known beach people, still stick with the beautiful wraparound that so capitvated the stockbrokerturned-painter Gauguin.

And, as always, it's a surprise garment: 'A nnee-covering skirt can become a thighrevealing dress when the top ends are tied over the bosom, over one shoulder, or around the neck in a halter style. The rest of the fabric is allowed to move freely in the breeze - but always, it is hoped, with enough spare material to withstand any sudden gusts of tropical wind. A short version is favored by the Polynesians themselves and, of course, by the tourists who go completely native for 10 days before the charter takes them back to the cold realities of the rest of the world. In true Colonial style, the French who live here favor the ankle-length pareu, custom-made and leaving little skin exposed.

In the countryside, the short version is worn by both men and women. In the capital city, women wear them shopping riding motorcycles and even clambering aboard local buses, open-air vehicles whose five benches are always filled. Men wear the pareu as a skirt or tied into a type of shorts resembling a lopsided diaper.

QUESTION: DO PRO-LIFERS ADMIT WOMAN HAS THE RIGHT TO CONTROL HER OWN BODY AND YET DENY HER THE RIGHT TO AN ABORTION?

ANSWER: Yes. Not only do they admit woman has a right to control over her own body; they would to God she would use it. Man and woman's self control is the only adequate moral means of dissipating the abortion

A woman has a right to control her body, but not the right to use it for any purpose whatever, and not the right to refuse its use without consulting her responsibilities. The same applies to a man and his body.

A woman's body belongs in varying degrees to her God, her husband, her child, her nation, her reason.

To God: God holds Author's rights over the body. He has expressed the basics in the Ten Commandments. He also teaches the Christian: "You are not your own; you were bought with a price. So glorify God in your body" (1 Cor. 6:19). We give that glory by using our bodies respon-

To her husband: All peoples recognize that by marriage a woman shares with her husband the right to use her body, as he shares with her the right to use his. All married lovers accept the words of Paul: 'The husband should give to his wife her conjugal rights, and likewise the wife to the husband. The wife has not authority over her body, but the husband; the husband likewise has not authority over his body, but the wife" (1 Cor. 7:3-4). Attacking this truth attacks marriage. The attack has been launched and many marriages are wounded and dying.

To her child: Nature and nature's God have made the natural use of sex simultaneously love-giving and lifegiving. Responsible use of sex means taking responsibility for the new human life generated. The man who fathers a child owes it protection with his presence and support with his labor. The woman who conceives a child owes it the natural use of her body to nurture it and bear it.

To her fellow citizens and her nation: A nation is organized for the common good. It should never legalize any use of the body that destroys the rights and the bodies of others.

Further, a nation requires for its security that a soldier expose his body to danger and often to death. Cowardice and treason are punished by disgrace and even by death. If we demand manly duty of men, why not demand womanly duty of women? Abortion is a kind of treason to

To her reason: Reason sees the foregoing truths. Rights and obligations are partners. Our right to the use of our bodies is limited by the effects our actions have on ourselves and on others. To deny same limits is to expouse lawlessness. It is even a form of insanity.

The question of abortion is not a question of women but of mothers and babies. The mother who procures an abortion arrogates control not over her body only but over her baby's body. She sacrifices his life to her concerns. That goes beyond the rights God exercises over men. Human sacrifice is a horror to Him. Should it not be to a mother? # 'Super narc' wears variety of disguises

ADDISON, Tex. (AP) - Bill Beaty's work at the Addison Airport north of Dallas is appreciated even if the airport manager doesn't know exactly what his duties are.

What Beaty does is keep an eye out for smuggling activities at the airport. The facility has been plagued with thefts of airplanes for use in drug smuggling from Mexico.

While denying that he is an "undercover" officer, Beaty's appearance can't be catalogued

"Some days I come out and I'm dressed in an Exxon suit with combat boots," Beaty said. "The next day I may be driving a Cadillac and wearing a $100 suit.

Beaty works under a grant of $30,000 to the City of Addison from the Texas Criminal Justice Council. He reports only to police Lt. Jim Gould and works no set hours.

Routine police work is performed independently. "If it's drugs or smuggling, I call the office and tell them what's going on," Beaty Kenneth Kilgore is the airport manager, and said although doesn't know what Beaty does all day, they've met and conferred several times.

Beaty said wearing a uniform would hinder his work. Dressing the way he does, "I can pull up in the parking lot, sit here, read a magazine, light up a cigarette...and they (would-be smugglers) will do it right in front of me," he said.

TWO POINTS South overlooked two important pints. First, postponing the spade esse didn't guarantee the contract. Second, if West had the king of spades as well as the K-Q of clubs and the een of hearts, he could not also hold the ace of diamonds (in view of his original pass). Hence South would be safe even if the spade finesse lost.

After drawing trumps, declarer should enter dummy with a trump to try a finesse with the jack of spades. When this succeeds, he leads the ace of spades. The king fails to fall, but

West is stripped of his spades.

The time has come to lead a club. West must win and return a club or a diamond. In either case South can limit the diamond loss to one trick.

Panel approves 20 per cent hike for tariff on imported TV sets

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - The International Trade Commission voted Monday to raise the tariff on imported television sets from the current 5 per cent to 25 per cent for the next two years to aid the domestic television

If President Carter approves the commission's decision, the higher tariff could add between $200 million and $300 million to the $2 billion American consumers spent last year for color set alone.

Labor unions and television makers united to press the case for relief from foreign competition. The coalition of workers and manufacturers in the television industry is the latest in a series of similar alliances in industries hard hit by imports.

Last year, specialty steelmakers and the United Steel Workers joined forces to obtain temporary quotas on the import of stainless and tool steels. Last month the trade commission, a six-member agency that recommends trade policy of options to the President, urged relief for shoe workers and manufacturers.

Steel makers have a separate petition pending before the President's Special Trade Representative to reduce competition.

The President will be forced to balance the increasingly protectionist demands of many of his labor union backers against the threat of retaliation against United States products by foreign countries.

The world's major trading nations are meeting in Geneva now trying to negotite reductions in both tariff and non-tariff trade barriers. According to an analyst for the White House inflation-monitoring agency, the council on Wage and Price Stability, the average wholesale price of an imported color television before tariffs is $280, with a 5 per cent tariff that price rises to $294. At the 25 per cent level recommended by the commission for the next two years, the wholesale price would rise to $350. The commission voted to lower the tariff to 20 per cent for the following two years and to 15 per cent for a fifth year before the tariff would revert back to the 5 per cent level.

President Carter has 60 days to accept, reject or modify the commission recommendations. If he changes them in any way, Congress then has 90 days to override him.

Before he must act on teleivison sets, however, the President must decide what to do about a commission recommendation last month that the government impose a combination of tariffs and quotas to protect American shoe makers from foreign competititon.

The trade commission estimated that the proposed systems of shoe tariffs and quotas would cost consumers about $190 million a year, but private analyses say the nation's total

But with so many other prices rising, shoppers may not go along with higher beef prices, some analysts believe - especially now that pork and poultry supplies are more plentiful than a year ago.

It was the beef boycott of three years ago that started the beef cattle industry on a reaction which has been reducing the population of the feeding pens this year, according to Fran Simpson Jr., manager-secretary of the California's Cattle Feeders Assn.

Prices have since slipped sharply in the supermarkets. Ground beef, for instance, was $1.20 a pound in 1973, compared with 59 to 69 cents now.

U.S. cattle feeding industry has had a financial bloodletting," Simpson said. 'Livestock men got the message the consumer was not willing to pay more. But this is not like General Motors — we can't just shut the plant down for a while. Cattle eat seven days a week.

Most imported television sets come from Japan, although Taiwan and South Korea are also significant importers to the United States. Unions and some manufacturers

The American Retail Federation, an organization of retail stores, called the decision "another protectionist move at great cost to the American consumer and the retail industry."

The average American-made color set costs about $30 more than the average foreign set, according to a trade commission economist.

Rise in beef prices forecast

By JOHN A. JONES The Los Angeles Times

This could be a good time to stock up on steaks and hamburger, if you

Beef prices are likely to rise later this year or early next, according to are giving indications of higher beef prices, starting this summer.

"But from mid-1973 until now, the

tion, calving, growing and fattening,

he said, it takes two to two-and-a-half years for the cattle industry to carry out a decision to increase or reduce supplies. Now the cutback is starting to show, after a period in which cattle were rushed to market because farmers and feeders were squeezed by rising costs and falling prices.

In 1972 to 1973 there were 14 million cattle fattening in feed lots throughout the United States. In California, one of the big seven cattlefeeding states, the population was about 1 million. At the start of this year, Simpson said, the nationwide total was down to 8 million or less, and California's feeding pens held about 750,000. Now the state's total is about 640,000, Simpson estimated.

Prices have been going down because the heavy slaughter caused an oversupply, Simpson said, "but the numbers are down now, and prices are going to turn around.

Another reason why more animals were rushed to market this winter is the dry conditions on the range, market analysts said.

"Half of the cattle being sold in Kansas City now wouldn't have been sold if the farmers had confidence it was going to rain," said Dan Amstutz, president of Cargill Investors Services of Chicago. "If the grazing conditions improve, more animals will be kept on the range and then the turnaround in price will come sooner.'

Weather conditions have changed in the past couple of weeks, although California remains dry. "Since the last week of February

there has been increasing moisture, said Charles K. Levitt, livestock and meat analyst at Shearson Hayden

Stone Inc.'s Chicago office. "The trend of the weather has definitely changed, with heavy snows over the Rockies and rains in Colorado, and this has changed the psychology of the market."

The latest Department of Agriculture national census of cattle on farms and in feedlots found more animals than expected on Feb. 2, Levitt said, but heavy marketing since then probably has reduced the total. If wet weather improves the range conditions and more cattle are kept to graze, he added, "you could expect to see some improvement in

"But the improvement may not be as significant as some of the cattle producers would like," he added, because we have an expanding supply of competitive meat supplies. Pork production this spring should be at least 15 per cent greater than a year ago, and poultry production should be at least 2 per cent higher than last year's all-time record. If the futures markets are any guide, however, cattle prices are heading higher.

Live beef cattle for delivery in April closed at 38.97 cents a pound in Chicago Friday, only 2 cents above the season's low and still nearly 10 cents from the high of 47.20 last June. But the futures price was 2 cents higher than the Midwest cash price, Levitt said, and the August contract closed 5 cents above the current cash price.

When futures prices are at a premium to the cash market, he said, this usually is a sign of higher cash prices to come.

breath-taking contest in the second half. Trailing by 14 points at intermis-sion, the Redbirds rallied behind brawny Jeff Wilkins and finally caught up with Houston on Ron Jones' two free throws with one second left in THAT TIED the score 81-81 and set up a pulsating overtime period during which the teams never were more than four points apart. Joe Galvin's field goal with 15 seconds left provided Illinois State with a 90-89 edge before Birdsong scored his gamewinner. His 30 points matched his

"That," said Finley, "is a continuation of Bowie Kuhn's personal "We knew we had to stop Rose and we didn't do it," said Jones. "We knew he was a heck of a shooter." Finley charged that the agenda of a special joint meeting of the major leagues scheduled for March 24 at Wilkins wound up with 28 points for the Redbirds before fouling out with three minutes left in regulation time. The Alabama-Virginia Tech game was almost as exciting. The Crimson Tide, which had beaten the Gobblers by 30 points earlier in the season, had a more difficult time putting them away this time. In fact, Alabama trailed by 10 points at one juncture and was losing 45-40 at intermission. BUT THEN Reggie King triggered a 17-3 burst midway through the second half, starting the Crimson Tide to victory.

"They were a more physical than the first time we played them," Alabama's Anthony Murray said of Virginia Tech. "We tried to go physical against them, figuring we could run them out of the place. But it

PECOS — Second baseman Craig Van Horn singled in Mike Richard in the top of the eighth inning to pace the Robert E. Lee Ree Rebels to a 6-5 baseball victory over the Class AAA Pecos Eagles Monday night.
Richard had led things off with a double and Van Horn followed with he his two-bagger that won the game, giving Lee an 8-3 record going into today's game with Lubbock Monterey at the Lee diamond.

The Rebels had a 5-0 lead going into the bottom of the sixth inning when the Eagles scored three runs off starter Mike Stanford and then added a pair of runs in the bottom of the seventh to send the game into extra innings.

Lee went in front in the third inning on a double by Robby Roberson and base hit by John Hopkins. Then in the fifth, the Clasa AAAA Rebs scored a run without benefit of a hit on an error and three walks. Lee added three more runs in the top of the sixth inning and looked to be in great shape with a 5-0 lead. With two out, David Pitts walked and Richard also was UU issued a walk. Van Horn doubled in the two runners and scored on a aingle by Brad Wright for a 5-0 advantage

Walton returns

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Bill Walton was expected to return to action tonight when the struggling Portland Trail Blazers play the New Orleans Jazz in a National Basketball Association game.

"Bill ran pretty well today," Portland Coach Jack Ramsay said Monday. "I would hope he will be able to play some Tuesday. If he can play just as he did today, that would be a help to Walton has missed five games because of a sprained left ankle. He practiced with the team Sunday and Monday and the results were encouraging, Ramsay said. Walton returned from a month-long absence caused by an inflamed Achilles tendon when he suffered a sprained ankle.

"He still has some soreness in the ankle and his timing is not what it Chris Bordeleau, Q Marc Tardif, Que Rich Leduc, Cin Ulf Nüssen, Wpg should be, but that is to be expected," Ramsay said.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - Shortstop Dave Concepcion, one of the most complete baseball players produced in South America since Luis Aparicio, agreed Monday to the longest contract awarded in Cincinnati Reds' history, a five-year package.

The 28-year-old Venezuelan received an estimated $1 million to keep the heart of the World Champions' defense intact.

The unprecedented contract surpassed by two years the previous best multi-year pacts, given last month to second baseman Joe Morgan, and outfielders Ken Griffey and George Foster.

Concepcion's agent, Jerry Kapstein, called the settlement "an outstanding contract" for "one of the finest shortstops of this generation."

The signing came three days after the Reds automatically renewed the contracts of Concepcion and four other holdouts. Still unsigned are 10time All-Star Pete Rose and pitchers Gary Nolan, Rawly Eastwick and Pat Darcy. All but Rose are Kapstein clients.

Wagner, Reds general Dick manager, said he was "real pleased" to reach terms with the slick-fielding infielder. Wagner said both sides preferred a long-term deal. 'We had our differences and we narrowed them down," said Kapstein, a Providence, R.I. attorney who has signed more than 30 baseball players. He added that Concepcion "never really seriously" considered leaving the Reds.

The two-time All-Star shortstop hit .281 last year, six points shy of his career best, and drove in 69 runs. Concepcion led the Reds in game-

Municipal courses add plusses to community

By REX WORRELL What is a municipal golf course?

Municipal golf courses are facilities constructed and operated by a taxsupported agency, such as a state, county, township or city. Their chief goal is to provide golfing facilities to the greatest number of citizens at the most reasonable cost to the tax payer.

The Whys of a municipal golf course: 1. Community asset, both tangible and intangible. 2. Provides for a city's youth program. 3. Attracts tourists and conventions. 4. Provides adult recreation facilities. 5. Center for civic, community and industrial events. 6. Source of employment. 7. Source of revenue.

SOME PARTICULARS of Midland's Hogan Park Golf Course. 1. Community asset...increased property values and affords open space, beautified with trees, grass, water etc. Golf courses increase in value as they increase in age. 2. Provides for city youth program... Hogan Park's junior program with approximately 100 youths between eight and 17 years of age participate in five instructional clinics, five weelky tournaments and a year-end championship. Hogan Park hosts a WT-PGA Junior Tournament which attracts over 100 junior golfers. Sixty high school golfers participate in four school programs. Midland College

3. Attracts tourists and conventions... Hogan Park hosts several tournaments throughout the year that bring visitors to Midland. For has approximately 20 golfers in its example, this year's AGT Tour tournament will bring about 200 visitors to Midland for a five-day stay.

A golf course is almost a must in planning for a convention, trade show, business or industrial meeting. The dollars brought into a city by such conventions will be spread over all segments of the city's economy.

4. Provides adult recreational facilities...Over 65,000 rounds of golf were played at Hogan Park last year. This is an average of 180 rounds of golf per day or, broken down, this is 720 man hours of recreation per day.

Center for community, industrial and civic events... Approximately 80 of this type tournament was hosted at Hogan last year.

6. Source of employment...A golf course provides work for people. Every city is interested in the payroll potential of a new industry. A golf course provides work for people from construction phase to completed operations. Large businesses seeking locations for new plants look for a city with a good recreation program and adequate facilities. Hogan Park employs 16 people at the present time.

7. Source of revenue... A golf course is one form of public recreation that can pay its own way. Golf revenues can go a long way toward providing free recreation facilities for cities. In the case of the public course, charges are established which result in revenue that exceeds actual costs.

Hogan's expense budget for this year is approximately $161,000 with anticipated income of $163,000. This takes into consideration the proposed rate increases. An additional ninehole facility should reflect an increase in expenses of 18 per cent and an increase in revenue of 33 per cent.

THE VALUE of golf as a good outdoor participant's game has been proved over and over. It provides wholesome outdoor sport and exercise. People of all ages can find challenging and healthful recreation on a public course. Golf is the game of a lifetime, played by people from nine

WE ARE extremely proud of our golf course and staff and the services they provide. At present, HPGC is being used to the extent that we turn people away almost every Saturday, Sunday and holiday and limit the number of students allowed to use the golf course in school programs.

The Hogan Park Women's Golf

Association held an Odd and Even Tournament last week with the following results: 18-hole division winners were Florence Mailey and Wilma Cox with a net 79, second place went to Della Olson and Gene Velten with an 80.

For the nine-hole division, Margaret Moore and Peggy Parkins took top honors with a net 34 and Annelle Mack and Rita Boe were second with 34 1/2.

A business meeting is scheduled at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at the golf shop and ladies will make their own pairings for combined low putts following the meeting.

The Ringer begins Thursday, so be sure to sign up for it. There will be a board meeting Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Dorothy Melzer.

Dodgers toss Rice bait

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers reportedly have offered 21-game winner Don Sutton to the Boston Red Sox for slugging outfielder Jim Rice, as baseball's interleague trading deadline neared at midnight tonight.

Sutton, who will be 32 on April 2, is unhappy with the Dodgers. Rice, 24, is happy with the Red Sox.

Los Angeles appears to be bidding unsuccessfully for Rice. The 6-foot-2 right-handed hitter is made to order for the Red Sox, who brought him up carefully through the system.

The Red Sox though, need some more solid pitching, particularly if right-handed ace Luis Tiant remains adamant in his demands for a two- average in 11 major league seasons.

year extension, plus a no-cut clause, in his contract and stays home this Tiant, who will be 37 in November according to his listed age in baseball files, is threatening to quit his $180,000-a-year job unless his demands are met. The Red Sox are concerned that there is not that much dollar value left in his arm that has won 100 games since being rescued from baseball's scrap heap in 1971.

The Dodgers, aware of Tiant's refusal to fulfill his 1977 contract and veteran southpaw Bill Lee's arm trouble in 1976, reportedly have offered Sutton, who has won 176 games while posting a 3.03 earned run goalie Rogie Vachon had 32 saves.

However, the Red Sox have insisted that Rice is not available at any price. In just 321 major league games, he has hit 48 homers, driven in 200 runs and batted .294.

According to Red Sox' brass, Rice will be with the team for many years. That would leave the Dodgers still dangling Sutton as trade bait. The Red Sox, like several other clubs, would like to have him. However, Rice is not available as far as the Boston organization is concerned.

Any other late trade talks between the Dodgers and the Red Sox might include Boston right fielder Dwight Evans, whose name pops up in many proposed deals. Evans, 25, is an outstanding fielder with a powerful arm. He also has good hitting power.

Green light goes out to Rangers' Beniquez

FT. MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Manager Frank Lucchesi's message still must be ringing in Juan Beniquez' ears. The young Puerto Rican has been a pleasant surprise in the Texas Rangers' spring camp and is being given a green light to run .. and run.

All Lucchesi did was issue a public reprimand to Beniquez late last season. In answer, Beniquez raised his batting average by 20 points in his last 62 games.

"We had been using the gentle approach," Lucchesi said. "Then we started taking a little harder line."

Lucchesi says he is giving the Ranger centerfielder a green light this year to run because "I want him to show us what he can do. I don't care if we're behind by six runs.' The Rangers were five runs behind

Sunday when Beniquez singled against the Kansas City Royals, went on to steal second and score, and ignited a three-run rally. Beniquez later tried to steal second and was picked off by pitcher Steve Mingori as the Rangers fell 8-7, but neither Beniquez nor Lucchesi appeared to be worried.

"I want to see how the pitcher moves, how far I can go on this pitcher. I run on my own, each time," Beniquez said.

Beniquez and Roy Howell lead the Rangers in hits with five each. "I think I can keep it up," he said. "I am swinging the bat real good now. The Rangers plan to use a lot of speed this season to compensate for the lack of home run power. Other Rangers had mixed performances. Adrian Devine, the third Texas pitcher, struck out five of the first six outs he recorded, but he also gave up five hits and three runs.

But Lucchesi gave Devine passing grades considering it was the righthander's first time out. "I threw mostly fast balls," Devine said. "Next time I'll mix in a few more breaking pitches." The Rangers' top rookie, Bump Stadium debate that seemed settled last month has surfaced again. As a result, the New York Jets may be on their way to the New Jersey Meadowlands sports complex after

The New York Mets, Shea's baseball tenants, refused to sign an amended lease, claiming that the written version of the agreement differed from the verbal one reached in February. The Jets and the city say there were no substantial differences in the contract and a spokesman for the football team said the situation was now "in limbo.

"It won't stay there for long if the Jets have their way. They are pressing for a quick resolution and said if no agreement is reached within the next day or two, they will have to resume plans to move across the Hudson River to the Meadowlands.

delayed?" asked Ron Maiorana, a spokesman for the Jets. "Schedules have to be finalized. Season tickets have to be sold."

According to Maiorana, the Mets' reluctance to sign the amended lease stemmed from the absense of a key clause. That clause would have voided the lease if the Jets made any other demands beyond terms of the agreement.

Suppose the Jets went to the city. which is the landlord at Shea, and asked for seat repairs," said Majorana. "According to what the Mets want, that action would make the lease null and void."

Under the circumstances, Majorana said the Jets would have to consider two earlier alternatives. One is a plan which would have them play three games in the Meadowlands and the remainder of their schedule at Shea, and the other which would move them to the Meadowlands altogether.

Just for a paddling!

It's a doggone shame that an elementary school principal has to stand the humiliation of being arrested, finger-printed and booked like a common criminal for paddling a 10-year old boy who reportedly had been misbehaving.

Yet this is exactly what happened a few days ago at Mathis, Tex., and it is likely that most of the residents of that city are not too happy about it either.

Principal Bill Fricks was arrested and booked on charges of simple assault after a complaint was filed by the paddled student's father, who happens to be a former city councilman.

Fricks said he "paddled" the boy three times, giving him the same punishment two other boys received at the same time and in the presence of a teacher, which is the required procedure in such cases.

The principal said the teacher who witnessed the spankings, had brought the boys to him for discipline. He noted that the boy in question had been brought to the office for "fighting and sticking his finger in another boy's eye."

The 30-year teacher and principal said he felt humiliated at being treated like a common criminal. And it is no wonder.

The police chief who made the arrest said he had examined the lad and "... it was all red and he couldn't sit down." He said it appeared the boy had been paddled more than three or four times.

Fricks, however, insists it was "just a normal paddling."

The principal was released from custody on personal recognizance following his arrest. The Mathis school board, after investigating the incident, found that Fricks had followed procedure and policy in administering the punishment. It is encouraging that the board also decided to provide legal defense for Fricks in the case. This is nothing but just and proper. Teachers and principals involved in such incidents merit support from school authorities and the community at large, if they are to do the jobs expected of them in the field of student discipline. Otherwise, their hands are tied and discipline and characterbuilding go out the window, while the dedicated school personnel stand by in disgust.

It should be noted also that the boy's father reportedly had complained earlier in the year when his son was spanked. Fricks said the boy had been disciplined several times in the past. What effect will this action have on the boy now and in the future? You can take it from there.

Many readers undoubtedly can and will recall that it wasn't too many years ago that when a boy got a paddling in school, he most likely didn't go home and tell his parents about it - and you know why he didn't.

Challenge, indeed!

Changing the law which now virtually rules out sea duty for women in the Navy looks like an idea whose time has come.

The support of Navy Secretary W. Graham Claytor - plus a lawsuit raising the discrimination issue - should be enough for the Navy to batten down for a buffeting from the winds of change.

Needless to say, this will be a trying time for old Navy hands whose ships have been an exclusive male domain. Some Navy women are not enthused about the idea even if they can't argue with the principle behind it. And Navy wives are not exactly cheering either.

Phasing women into ships' crews will be a challenge, especially if the idea prevails that women should not serve on combat missions. However, the rule limiting women to the crews of hospital ships and transports is clearly a vestige of the past. We would hesitate to say in what capacities and in what numbers Navy women will be going to sea. but go they will.

ART BUCHWALD Politburo confirms V. Warnikovitch

WASHINGTON - Whether we like it or not "disarmament" is a dirty word for the military-industrial complexes of every country. No one paid any attention to disarmament in the past, but when the nomination of Paul Warnke as arms control chief came up, the halls of the Senate resounded with charges that Mr. Warnke might actually fulfill his function and come up with some kind of a disarmament treaty. The thrust of the anti-Warnke debate was that the head of the disarmament talks has no business discussing methods of stopping the arms race.

Somewhere in the Kremlin is Mr. Warnke's counterpart, who is also looked upon with suspicion and contempt by Soviet military leaders and party hawks. His name is Vladimir Warnikovitch and he's been getting heat from all sides.

Probe of CIA 'tricks' urged

By JACK ANDERSON and LES

WASHINGTON - Sen. George McGovern, D.-S.D., has dispatched a secret letter to the Senate Intelligence Committee urging an investigation of "unresolved questions" about CIA dirty tricks in support of the now-fallen Greek dictatorship.

Such a probe could spark more fireworks in the already volatile U.S.-Greek-Turkish situation. It could also prompt official interrogation of such former Washington stalwarts as President Richard Nixon, Vice President Spiro Agnew, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, and CIA director William Colby. Millionaire oil man Thomas Pappas, a former Nixon fundraiser, might also be queried.

McGovern quoted Kissinger, Colby and former CIA special counsel Mitchell Rogovin es saying that "our covert involvement in Greece was substantial enough to endanger our present relations with the restored democratic government of Greece."

Moreover, wrote McGovern, Spiro Agnew offered to testify in 1975 before the Church committee on charges that he changed his position from one of 'neutrality' toward the Greek military dictatorship in 1968 to support for the junta."

But the reason for the switch "has never been investigated" by U.S. officials, said McGovern. For a while, wrote the senator, the Greek government had planned to study the junta's ties with the CIA but had dropped the idea "at the request of the CIA station chief in Athens.'

An investigation is also needed. claimed McGovern, to determine the truth concerning charges that CIA funds were sent to Greece and then funneled ... back to the U.S. for use in the 1968 presidential campaign." In addition, "the extensive and longstanding ties of (Thomas) Pappas to the Greek junta ... and the intelligence community ... indicates a need for a thorough investigation of his activities. The wealthy Greek-American businessman, McGovern pointed out, 'was the first person named by President Nixon in the White House tapes as the man to be approached for money to satisfy the demands of Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt."

Although there is no evidence Pappas provided the hush money, he was a prominent Nixon contributor and also served on President Ford's Finance Committee

McGovern also charged that Greek exile journalist Elias Demetracopoulos, one of the dictators' most effective enemies, was harassed by the Justice Dept., the FBI and CIA.

Demetracopoulos, wrote the senator, was threatened with deportation by John Mitchell: his Wall Street employers were visited by FBI agents; "slanderous raw material and disinformation from CIA operatives ... was given to reporters and freelance writers like Russell Howe and Sarah Trott" for their book "The Power Peddlers": and a plot by Greece to kidnap him and take him back to Athens was hatched with possible CIA collusion.

HOSPITAL HUSTLE - A lucrative franchise scheme is milking millions from taxpayers and insurance companies by legally exploiting visits to hospital emergency rooms.

The franchises resemble fast-food chains, except that instead of hamburgers and french fries, they dispense sutures, X-ray spills. But unlike food franchise operations, the U.S. Treasury pays the bills. It works this way:

Nonprofit and moneymaking hospitals have always had difficulty staffing emergency rooms, which are filled around the clock with grisly sights of auto wreck victims, burst appendices and hypochondriacs looking for a sympathetic medical

To overcome the problem, hospitals are increasingly turning to franchise operators to supply doctors eager to pick up extra dollers for part-time or even full-time assignments.

According to a study done by Dr. Eugene Schoenfeld, head of the Hermes Foundation, which distributes medical data and does onthe-spot emergency room investigations, the medicalmercenaries by and large perform

But they often charge what the traffic will bear, and most emergency room visitors are Medicaid patients for whon the taxpayer foots the bills. The hospitals and patients, therefore, care little about the costs. Insurance firms who should be griping usually prefer to avoid squabbles with hospitals by simply raising premium

Jeopardies of casualness, as practiced by Carter

WASHINGTON - There is a sloppiness about the Carter Administration which most people here have allowed to get by without marked criticism. But now, Mr. Carter's time for enjoying goodwill from the press, public and Congress comes to an end. Hard looks are required. His handling of foreign relations invites special

The flap over American delegate Brady Tyson's apology at a U.N. Human Rights Commission conference in Geneva for U.S. actions in Chile is the latest blunder in a series committed by the Carter Administra-

Tyson offered "our profoundest regrets for the role some government officials, agencies and private groups played in the subversion" of the late President Salvadore Allende's Communist government. Tyson's mea culpa seemed to be a pandering gesture to the U.N. delegates at the conference and made the United States appear to be a simpering weakling, indeed.

But why should the Carter Administration be blamed for the mistake one diplomat made in expressing his, and not the govern-

Well, to begin with, it was candidate Carter (is the President still carrying on like a candidate?) who, in the second debate with President Ford (Oct. 6), charged that the Republican administration "overthrew an elected government and helped establish a military dictatorship" in Chile.

In his press conference last Wednesday, President Carter declared that "the Church committee in the Senate has not found any evidence that the United States was involved in the overthrow of the Allende government in Chile."

Nick Thimmesch

Surely, Mr. Carter knew of the Church committee report when he made his accusation against the "Republican administration" in his debate last October. Is this the man who repeatedly said, "I will not lie to Next, who put the earnest Mr. Tyson on the U.S. delegation to the Geneva conference, and who was responsible for his statements? Well, it was U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young, the same man who once said he would support the destruction of Western civilization if it would bring about peace and brotherhood in the Third World.

Now Tyson is saying that he thought his "personal statement" of opinion was "in the spirit of the Carter government foreign policy as I understand it.

Now if Tyson is taking his cues from Ambassador Young, we do indeed have a problem. It was Young who declared, contrary to State Department policy, that the United States should provide aid to the Vietnamese Communist government, one which still violates "human rights" by keeping 200,000 political prisoners in concentration camps. It was Young who spoke of Cuban troops in Angola as a stabilizing" force, thus approving their presence. And it was Young who more recently, and still in his offhand manner, said that U.S. soldiers could be part of a U.N. peacekeeping force in Rhodesia. Mr. Carter's reaction to all this?

Well, he usually defends his old buddy, "Andy," as being misunderstood, though the White House covered the U.S. troops in Rhodesia statement by saying it was about a "hypothetical situation." President Carter did describe Tyson's apology as "inappropriate," and now Tyson is being summoned home by the State Department for instructions in diplomatic procedure.

Meanwhile, there are rumblings in the diplomatic community in Washington and elsewhere about confusion in the Carter Administration. In Geneva, a delegate of a Western ally of the United States was quoted as saying, "We are not here to listen to each other's personal views. We are here to express the views of our government." He went on to say that Tyson's statement "not only undermines the credibility of the delegation, but of U.S. foreign policy."

Mr. Carter's folksy "human rights" approach to foreign policy might win him popularity points in the polls, the kind he got in his radio act last week, but it doesn't necessarily do the United States any good in the world.

In giving a Soviet dissident a pat on the back through a personal letter, Mr. Carter can say it is only his own view, but the Soviets see it as White House policy. And having his secretary of state ask Congress to cut aid funds to some countries but not to others because they aren't up to Mr. Carter's standards on human rights is sheer hypocrisy, and the world knows

The President's offhandedness is not restricted to foreign policy. I still don't understand why Mr. Carter phoned that gunman in Ohio who had taken a police captain hostage, if he had admitted that his action was "a dangerous precedent." If it was that, why set it? AUSTIN (AP) - Texas' average calendar day oil allowable is 3,630,238 barrels, a decrease of 11,738 from March 1, the Texas Railroad Commission reported Monday.

Andrus orders strict production schedule

WASHINGTON - Interior Secretary Cecil D. Andrus is ordering oil and gas companies to agree to strict production schedules or face the unprecedented penalty of losing their leases on offshore drilling sites.

Andrus has told one company to begin using natural gas from its Gulf Coast site by the fall of 1978 or forfeit its lease with the federal government. When the lease-holder, Aminoil Oil Co. Winston-Salem, N.C., asked for a 6-month extension in order to locate a drilling rig, Andrus gave it only four days. The company promptly located a rig.

The Interior secretary has scheduled a review of 60 other leases in the Gulf which are not producing oil or gas and are scheduled to expire in the next few months. In each case, he could refuse to extend the lease unless its holder agrees to a fixed date for production.

(See more oil Page 8C)

Normally, the extension of a lease is a virtually automatic decision made by a regional supervison of the U.S. Geological Survey. No Gulf Coast lease has been canceled since drilling on federal offshore property began there in 1954. Andrus has ordered a review of all 60 by a departmental task force and has served notice he will make the final decision on renewing or canceling each lease.

His action is part of an overall Interior Department plan to press oil and gas compainies for increased production in the Gulf.

Last month, he ordered an investigation of the Gulf's natural gas fields to determine whether companies are deliberately holding back gas and contributing to this winter's shortage. A preliminary inquiry, he said, showed that some fields had shut down production for no clear reason and that a total of 188 reservoirs with 767 billion cubic feet of natural gas were not producing.

Some critics have maintained gas producers are deliberately holding back their gas while awaiting deregulation on the assumption that prices would then rise. Andrus has not said he believes that and the producers have denied it.

According of Interior, there are about 1,700 offshore oil and gas leases in the Gulf but only about 800 of them are in production. Over the years, many leases have been abandoned by the industry when they proved unproductive but none has been cancelled by the U.S.

The companies pay large bonus prices for the leases, giving them the right to explore for gas or oil for five years. Many are extended year by year at a price of three dollars per acre - about $15,000 for a tract of average size.

This past week, our guys were super busy! Last Monday, we played Pecos, and Tuesday we played a losers 8-3 today among New York Stock Exchange-listed double-header against Lubbock Coronado. We won all of the games. We went into the tournament with the record of 6-0. Friday and Saturday, we helped host the Tournament of Champions. Duncanville, Moore, Montere, Midland High and Lee all participated. Duncanville took the tournament cup and our guys finished with a 7-3 season record. Our baseball guys had a hard fall during the tourney when they lost three of the four games that they played. But there will be more games for the Rebs to come back on top. To start off this week they played Pecos Monday at Pecos. Today, our guys will tackle the market upswing was a Lubbock Montery here at 4 p.m. So, everyone come on out to support our team. This Saturday they will play their last pre-season game before district when they take on Andrews here at 1 p.m. This will be a double-header, so we're counting on you to help the baseball sport!

Last weekend both the Midland Lee and Midland High tennis teams hosted the Midland Invitational tennis tournament. Congratulations go to Jeff Egar for capturing the first place title in the B division of boy's singles. Way to smash 'em, Jeff! # Warnke, Vance to go to Moscow for arms talks

By RICHARD E. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, vowing to support human rights despite a warning that it could hurt arms talks, is sending negotiator Paul Warnke and Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance to Moscow with a "fairly final" strategic arms limitation proposal.

Carter, who pledged through his spokesman not to stop his human rights activities, said at Warnke's oath-taking ceremony Monday the new director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency will accompany Vance to the Soviet Union on March 28.

Warnke took the oath of office in the White House Rose Garden. He won Senate approval as chief arms negotiator last week by a vote of 58 to 40 - less than the two thirds needed to approve any new Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT). However, the Senate voted 70 to 29 to approve him for his second job as director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. Carter told the swearing-in ceremony: "I thought and I prayed a lot about who ought to be chosen. There is no doubt Paul Warnke is the best man .... It's going to take a man with a genuine desire for a reduction in weapons - which is what Paul Warnke wants." The President said Warnke and

Vance will bring the Russians "a fairly final position" on SALT, Carter said details of the position were being prepared by the National Security Council. Vance will meet with Carter later this week for final instructions. In Moscow, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said Sunday that Carter's support for human rights could damage the atmosphere surrounding any future SALT talks. The protest was the latest against Carter's support for Soviet dissidents and human rights.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell declared: "I think our position on human rights is clear, and we will continue, as we said at the outset, to are going forward without any delay for the Vance trip." The press secretary said anew that the administration does not link human rights or support for Russian dissidents with the strategic arms talks.

-Economic adviser Charles L. Schultze relinquished his position as co-chairman of the Economic Policy Group. Powell said Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal would become the sole chairman of the group, which is the conduit for policy options going to Carter.

search for candidates to head the embattled Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. University of Wisconsin law professor Jim Jones has turned the job down. "A very intensive, across-the-board search is underway," an aide said.

-Declaring "no end in sight" to drug abuse, Carter established an office of Drug Abuse Policy and charged it with recommending improvements in federal drug abuse prevention and control. The President named special assistant Peter G. Bourne director

Gas, oil discoveries assured in WT areas

M. Brad Bennett, Inc., Robert K. Hillin and N of Midland have announced that gas and oil discoveries have been assured in Concho and Menard counties.

'The operators' No. 1-101 Jacoby Menard County wildcat, assured production with the flowing of gas at the rate of 2,950 million cubic feet per day for an unreported time on a 34inch choke and through perforations at 3,046.5-3,049.5 feet.

Operator set 51/2-inch casing at 3,050 feet at the project which spots 1,750 feet from north and 1,472 feet from west lines of Hooper & Wade survey 101, about 15 miles northwest of Menard townsite.

Shutdown gets okay

Railroad Commission Monday authorized Chevron, U.S.A. to shut down its Sivells Bend gas plant in Cooke County. The plant produces liquefied petroleum gas.

The uncontested action was based on declining volumes of available casinghead gas needed for processing and increasing volume of supplemental gas required for plant and lease operation.

No. 1-106 Jacoby, also 15 miles production from an unidentified zone with the flowing of oil at the daily rate at 3,238.5-3,245 feet, after acidizing with 400 gallons and fracturing with 8,000 gallons and 10,000 pounds of sand.

The well has 41/2-inch casing set at 3,252 feet, and is plugged back to 3,293

It is 990 feet from south and east lines of Hooper & Wade survey 106, in Menard County

The Concho County operation, No. 114 Norman, swabbed eight barrels of oil and 32 barrels of water in 11/2 hours, through King sand perforations at 2,046-2,047.5 feet.

Fines levied in liquor cases

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) - A federal judge has levied $27,500 in fines against five of eight defendants who pleaded no contest to charges that they fixed prices on liquor sold in some wet areas of Lubbock

One defendant also received a one-year probated sentence Monday from U.S. District Court Judge Halbert O. Woodward.

Prosecutors said two more one-year probated sentences, two 30-day jail terms and another $2,000 in fines have been offered in plea bargaining arrangements for the other three defendants. Prosecutors added that they believe it would be the first time in Texas that jail sentences have been handed out in an antitrust case. Defendants pleading nolo contendre were:

The Lubbock County Beverage Association; Cecil's Inc. of Lubbock; Crossed Keys Package Store of Lubbock; Pinkie's Inc. of Odessa; the All Star Company, Inc. of Lubbock; Bob J. Grimes, Lubbock manager of Pinkie's Inc.; Hubert Odom, president and general manager of Cecil's, Inc.; and Kenneth Odom, secretary-treasurer and manager in charge of operations at Cecil's.

Of the corporate defendants, Pinkie's was assessed a $15,000 fine while Cecil's was fined $10,000. The beverage association was fined $5,000 and the All Star organization $2,500. Grimes was fined $5,000 and assessed a one-year probated sentence. Not sentenced officially were the Crossed Keys store and the two Odoms.

The Odoms were offered $1,000 fines, one-year probated sentences and 30-day jail terms, but Hubert Odom's lawyer said he wishes to oppose the confinement portion of the proposed sentence.

The U.S. Justice Department still has a civil suit pending against the corporate defendants. The department contends the groups had been selling liquor, beer and wine at noncompetitive prices in Lubbock County since 1968. The city of Lubbock is

Odessan defends blue law bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Texas hypocritically forbids sale of certain items on consecutive Saturdays and Sundays unless the items are considered in the tourist trade, says Rep. John Hoestenbach, D-Odessa.

Hoestenbach told the House Business and Industry Committee Monday a merchant can sell a 29-cent plastic dart gun if it is encased in plastic on a board and carries the name Yosemite Sam on both weekend

The packaging and name make it a novelty tourist item, he said. Without that packaging and name, the same 29-cent toy cannot be sold on consecutive weekend days.

"You can buy a six-pack or a case of beer on the Sabbath but you cannot buy a baby diaper on the Sabbath. That's not right," Hoestenbach said.

Angrily and emotionally, Hoestenbach testified in support of his bill which would allow the voters of each county to decide if they want the weekend closing law to apply to their Hoestenbach's bill and a bill by Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, that would repeal the weekend closing law were referred to a subcommittee. "I know it won't do a bit of good,"

Hoestenbach said after referring to a similar bill he introduced in 1975. But later he pleaded with the committee "to give the bill a chance" and not let it die in subcommittee.

The weekend closing laws forbids the sale of certain items on consecutive Saturdays and Sundays.

The law does not affect his district, Hoestenbach said, because it is ignored. Odessa juries will not convict a store owner for selling those items on both weekend days, he said.

He said it was absurd that he could buy a bottle of wine but not a corkscrew in an Austin supermarket on Sunday.

Italian hijacker commandeers jet to Zurich

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) - An armed Italian hijacker, who toasted his hostages with champagne and passed around ransom money during a five-country odyssey in search of his two daughters, arrived today in Zurich aboard the Spanish airliner he commandeered Monday.

Armed policemen surrounded the Boeing 727 after it landed here from Turin, Italy, with 29 hostages, including seven crewmen. It was the plane's fifth stop since the hijacking began near Barcelona Monday after-

The hijacker, 36-year-old Luciano Porcari, seized the Iberia Airlines jet on a domestic flight and after a refueling stop in Algeria, ordered it to the Ivory Coast capital of Abidjan, where he picked up his 3-year-old daughter by an Ivory Coast woman and

After another refueling stop in Sevilla, Spain, he ordered the plane to Turin, where he released seven of the 29 other passengers and demanded custody of the other daughter, a 5year-old by his Italian wife.

Porcari said he would release more hostages in exchange for his daughter and the refueling of the plane. But his estranged wife refused to let him have the child. Before leaving, he radioed the Turin control tower that he was leav-ing the northern Italian city because he feared police action and that authorities should send his child to the next stop.

Police quoted the freed hostages as saying they were not mistreated by Porcari and that their chief concern was that police might try to storm the

Also aboard the plane were seven crew members. All 29 of the remaining hostages were reported unhurt.

The passengers released included two children, their mother, two old people, and a man and a woman. Several hundred police surrounded the jetliner as officials tried to talk the jettiner as officials tried to talk the hijacker into surrendering.

Armed with a pistol and a rifle, Porcari took control of the plane Monday shortly after it took off from Barcelona on a 25-minute flight to Palma de Mallorca, in the Balearic islands.

The pilot flew first to Algiers to refuel and then to Abidjan, on the under side of the West African bulge.

Porcari and his wife, Bella Zavoli, had lived there, and it was there that she left him in 1972. When she and their child went to the airport to leave the country, he followed her with a rifle, got into a gunfight with troops at the field, and Mrs. Porcari and two soldiers were wounded

The woman and the haby escaped to Italy, and Porcari was jailed to await deportation.

Accountant blames board, ex-boss for MCAA woes

By JUDY JOHNSTON

All of the serious problems with the Midland Community Action Agency financial records can be traced to a failure of the board of directors to assert control and to abuse of power by the former executive director, an Austin certified public accountant said Monday night.

The man, Russell Horn, is working to set the books in order so that they may be audited, hopefully by the March 31 deadline set by the federal Community Service Administration (CSA). The books have not been audited since March 1975, and the CSA recently notified the agency that the books must be audited by March 31 or the agency would not be

Horn said the CSA had hired him "to protect their interest" in the funds already allocated to the Midland Community Action Agency.

The CSA is only one of many state and federal sources of funding for the agency. Horn said he found for period from April 1, 1975 to March 31, 1976 that the $33,000 allocated by the CSA and the $10,000 in supplemental funds were virtually the only funds which were mismanaged.

The $33,000 was the original fun-

Reports linking U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., his brother Robert and a close friend to mob figures in Arizona have spawned new controversy, with both Goldwaters attacking the stories.

The senator said Monday that what he had seen of the stories was "totally false," libelous and was "rather shabby, rather dishonest reporting." His brother called the report "pop-

A spokesman for the Investigative Reporters and Editors, Inc., which produced the series of stories in question, said the group would stand by its work. A 36-member team of journalists from 23 newspapers and broadcast outlets went to Arizona six months ago to investigate organized crime. The group said the aim of the effort was to continue the investigative work of reporter Don Bolles of the Arizona Republic who was murdered last June. One man has pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the case; two are awaiting trial.

Sen. Goldwater said Monday that he believed the reporters had gone to Arizona "hoping to solve the Bolles murder." When they found they could not solve the murder, he said, "they set out to do a job on Arizona." He conceded that organized crime does exist in Arizona, "particularly in the field of land sales."

By W. DALE NELSON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration wants to abolish federal penalties for possession of small amounts of marijuana, but it says states should decide for themselves whether to decriminalize their own marijuana laws.

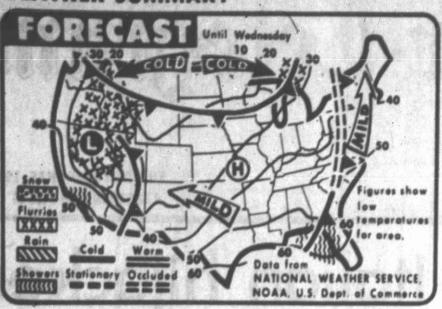

Dr. Peter G. Bourne, Carter's choice to direct the Office of Drug Abuse Policy, said Monday the administration "will continue to discourage marijuana use, but we feel criminal penalties that brand otherwise law-abiding people for life are neither an effective nor

hearings today on the issue. The administration feels the federal government "should not seek in any way to influence" states' decisions on decriminalizing laws against possessing small amounts of marijuana, he said.

The existing federal law on simple possession is now "rarely enforced" and should be dropped along the lines suggested in the bill recently submitted to the Congress, he

Los Angeles Police Chief Edward Davis attacked the administration's stand, arguing that no one "from the President down through the lowest bureaucrat should in any way attempt to act as a huckster for the decriminalization of marijuana ...

MCAA woes blamed on board, ex-boss

The expenditures he had listed were questionable, Horn said, either because the board had not approved them at the time of the expense or because they were without documentation.

In outlining the board's respon-sibility as to the CSA administrative fund, Horn recommended that one of the board's committees should have financial control and be aware of the uses which may be made of the fund.

He then reviewed basic budgeting methods and suggested the board approve all budget items in advance and approve any expenses over the amounts allocated in the budget.

Further, he suggested that at least one board member sign all checks and never sign until documentation shows the expenditure is related to operation of the agency's business.

Horn then presented his list of questionable expenditures he found in his survey of the books.

The situation is complicated by the fact that the agency bookkeeper, Dollie Ball, cannot find the budget for this period, so no one knows just how much was allocated originally.

Among questionable items were a $9,986 salary for Carol Burns (her highest authorized salary had been

Policeman injured

BIG SPRING — A Big Spring police officer was injured Monday night when he lost control of a police motorcycle he was riding in pursuit of a motorcyclist who allegedly was speeding. Big Spring police said traffic sergeant Jimmy Wallace pursued the motorcyclist about 6:30 p.m. through the city. When he came to a bridge over a railroad track, Wallace lost control and went into a sand ditch, police said.

Wallace suffered a broken collarbone and shoulder and other possible injuries. He was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital, where he was listed in good condition, police said. The motorcycle was totally destroyed.

Big Spring police are still looking for the motorcyclist Wallace was pursuing.

about $6,600, chairman Charlie Welch said); several checks signed by Burns to Gibson Discount Center for "merchandise," without any other substantiation; and bills for a number of "meals," which by CSA rules is not a legitimate expense.

The board disapproved these expenditures and a number of others. Also under suspicion were a number of unauthorized long distance telephone calls and several unsubstantiated bills from a Midland travel agency. A committee of the board will meet today to study invoices for both these matters to determine whether or not they were legitimate agency business.

Horn said the CSA had told him that they would hold off on their ultimatum to the agency until they receive Horn's report. Horn said he would make his report as soon as the board committee had finished studying the questionable invoices and the board had decided whether or not to approve the expenditures.

Although he placed the blame for the agency's financial problems on the board's lack of control and on power abuse by Burns, Horn said the latter situation no longer exists. Carol Burns was fired in August 1976.

He also said he believed after speaking to the board and defining their responsibility that the former situation was partially remedied and probably would get better. Who will audit the books after Horn finishes his survey and report is not. known yet. Horn said he would do the audit if the CSA requests him to. In other action Monday night, the board authorized a personnel com-mittee to hire an eastside director and a bus driver for the agency.

Forecast calls for fair skies

Fair skies were forecast for Wednesday and Wednesday's high is expected to reach the low 70s in Midland, the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Air Terminal reported. The weatherman said the thermometer should drop to the upper 30s tonight. This will be a little bit cooler than Monday's high temperature of 83 degress. Throughout Monday afternoon the temperature remained in the upper 70s or warmer.

Space search at courthouse tops commissioners' agenda

By JUDY JOHNSTON

The search for more space at the Midland County Courthouse continued Monday as county com-missioners met with three officials whose offices might be displaced when the 238th District Court becomes effective April 1.

The problem arose again when commissioners learned recently that a proposed sublease of certain rooms on the second floor of the Metro Building had to be approved by the building's owners in Florida. The commissioners said they had no idea how long such approval would take and decided to pursue original plans of finding space in the courthouse.

Domestic Relations Judge Joseph Mims said he could live with one alternative which the commissioners proposed to him. The plan would be to move Mims into the office now occupied by Constable Jack Merritt. Mims' court reporter would be placed secretaries now are located.

Then, the Justices of the Peace would remain in their offices but would enter from the east side (the tax office side of their offices) rather than through the west side as they do now. Justice of the Peace Robert Pine said the plan would be agreeable to

Mims said the idea of placing his office in the Metro Building had been "impracticable" but that he "could live with" the plan to move him into the Constable's office. District Court Clerk Madge Wallis also said the plan was agreeable to her, but asked the commissioners for additional employes and equipment for office in preparation for the start of the new court. Commissioners authorized the hiring of one court reporter, one bookkeeper and one clerk before the new court starts, with the option to hire more if the need arises. They also authorized the purchase of another desk and chair for Mrs. Wallis' office as well as some additional roll shelving

In another matter, the commissioners awarded contracts for a front end loader and a steel wheel roller for the road and bridge department.

Tilson-Godsey, Inc. of Odessa was low bidder and received the contract for the front end loader with a bid of $28,000 and 60 days delivery time. Other bidders were Consolidated

Equipment Sales with a bid of $34,290 and 30 days; Dozier Tractor and Implement, $30,505 and 60 to 90 days; Feldman Ford Tractor, $32,147 and 30 days; Plains Machinery Co., $34,500 and immediate delivery; and Treanor Equipment Co., $34,975 and 10 working days. Nichols Machinery Co. was awarded the contract on the steel wheel roller with their alternate bid of $24,663 and 30 days delivery.

Nichols' other bid was $30,815. Treanor Equipment Co. also bid

$23,236 with delivery in 15 days.

In addition, the commissioners approved a plat of Westview addition, provided the developers clear a 45 foot right of way to the west of the addition. The road would not be maintained by the county. The 45 foot right of way, an exception from the normal 60 foot, was granted to prevent the creation of dead-end streets. The addition is west of High Sky Girls' Ranch and north of the Midland Air Park.

In other action Monday afternoon, the commissioners took the following

- Approved the use of the county voting machines by the city for the bond election April 2; - Approved travel for county tax assessor-collector Elmo Linebarger and four of his workers to attend a state conference May 7 to 10.; - Scheduled the board of equalization on real and personal property June 20 and on oil and gas

Republican chairman. Both Robert Goldwater, who heads the family business, and Rosenzweig, a jeweler, were interviewed by IRE members with their attorneys present. Barry Goldwater was not. He said he was forced to cancel one appointment with the group because of family obligations; a spokesman for the IRE said he had canceled two appointments.

Robert and Barry issued statements Monday on the IRE report. Rosenzweig was unavailable for comment. A woman who answered the telephone at his home said he was at his store; a secretary at the store said he would not be in. Mrs. Rosenzweig, reached at home Sunday night, said of the series: "We installment said that Rosenzweig, 1975 Phoenix Man of the Year, "has nurtured prostitution and gambling" in the Arizona city for years. The stories on the IRE reports said Rosenzweig "had documented ties with mob-connected bookmakers and syndicate hoodlums" instrumental in building up Las Vegas "as the gambling capital of the nation." They also said Rosenzweig denied influence in gambling rackets and saying his only connection with prostitution was "maybe twice" recommending prostitutes to friends as an accomoda-Sen. The senator also said that he once gave Bioff and his wife a ride in his plane from Las Vegas to Phoenix after there was a problem with the Bioffs' commercial flight. He said the whole story had been reported by columnist Westbrook Pegler about 20

Dr. Robert Young of Cincinnati, an energy conservation specialist for Federation Department Stores, said stores use 13 per cent more electricity when they stay open a seventh day. He noted Texas generates 95 per cent of its electricity with natural gas.

Carmen Delgado, a retail clerk from Weimar, said she gets Wednesdays and Sundays off, while her husband gets Saturdays and Sundays off. Sunday is the only day they can be together, she said, and repeal of the weekend closing law likely would change that.

RENO, Nev. (AP)-A fishing industry in the Nevada desert?

Scientists at the university of Nevada at Reno are trying to find out if it is possible to raise giant prawns in thousands of gallons of warm water coming from an electric power plant 30 miles east of Carson City.

Giant prawns, according to the scientist, grow best in water 80 to 85 degrees. The water coming from the power plant is between 86 and 101 degrees

'Super narc' wears variety of disguises

ADDISON, Tex. (AP) — Bill Beaty's work at the Addison Airport north of Dallas is ap-preciated even if the airport manager doesn't know exactly what his duties are.

What Beaty does is keep an eye out for smuggling activities at the airport. The facility has been plagued with thefts of airplanes for use in drug smuggling from Mexico.

While denying that he is an "undercover" officer, Beaty's appearance can't be catalogued

'Some days I come out and I'm dressed in an Exxon suit with combat boots," Beaty said. "The next day I may be driving a Cadillac and wearing a $100 suit."

Beaty works under a grant of $30,000 to the City of Addison from the Texas Criminal Justice Council. He reports only to police Lt. Jim Gould and works no set hours. Routine police work is performed independently. "If it's drugs or smuggling, I call the office and tell them what's going on," Beaty Kenneth Kilgore is the airport manager, and said although doesn't know what Beaty does all day, they've met and conferred several times.

Beaty said wearing a uniform would hinder his work. Dressing the way he does, "I can pull up in the parking lot, sit here, read a magazine, light up a cigarette...and they (would-be smugglers) will do it right in front of me," he said.

Sometimes, Beaty's anonymity is also a hin-

He surveyed the area to be flooded and produced the first topographical map of apologize for his role as defender of the lives of deadly poisonous snakes. His business is saving animals the region. He recruited Indians from the Kuna, a tribe that exists solely by hunting. Walsh, 35, is field project director for Operation They formed the nucleus of his rescue team.

He contacted another tribe - the Chocoe whose home for centuries has been the swamps of the Darien Gap. Their knowledge of dug-out canoes - or piraguas - provided Walsh with his boatmen.

He negotiated with the Chocoe for the construction - at $200 each - of 12 large piraguas, the only boats strong enough for his purpose. They were all painted shocking pink; "that way it gave the guys status and it will also prevent the boats from being stolen."

When the dam was closed, the water began to rise very rapidly and forced the animals, both land and tree-dwelling, onto the higher ground.

Onetime hills became islands, and trees began to fered to supply us with gasoline," said Walsh. "But die as their roots were starved of oxygen. As the trees died, so did the animals' sustenance. at least the government gives a high priority to the protection of wildlife unlike many of the more

To date, Walsh has saved over 2,000 animals; only 54 have been found dead. He reckons that there are still another 4,000 surviving on the islands, and these will have to be captured before the lake waters reach their final depth in April. Whether these can be saved it from school children. "It's the $1 and $3 contriburemains to be seen; at least another $10,000 is required to complete Operation Noah.

TWO POINTS

South overlooked two important points. First, postponing the spade finesse didn't guarantee the contract. Second, if West had the king of spades as well as the K-Q of clubs and the queen of hearts, he could not also hold the ace of diamonds (in view of his original pass). Hence South would be safe even if the spade finesse lost.

After drawing trumps, declarer should enter dummy with a trump to try a finesse with the jack of spades. When this succeeds, he leads the ace of spades. The king fails to fall, but West is stripped of his spades.

The time has come to lead a club.

West must win and return a club or a diamond. In either case South can limit the diamond loss to one trick.

Panel approves 20 per cent hike for tariff on imported TV sets

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - The International Trade Commission voted Monday to raise the tariff on imported television sets from the current 5 per cent to 25 per cent for the next two years to aid the domestic television

If President Carter approves the commission's decision, the higher tariff could add between $200 million and $300 million to the $2 billion American consumers spent last year for color set alone.

Labor unions and television makers united to press the case for relief from foreign competition. The coalition of workers and manufacturers in the television industry is the latest in a series of similar alliances in industries hard hit by imports.

Last year, specialty steelmakers and the United Steel Workers joined forces to obtain temporary quotas on the import of stainless and tool steels. Last month the trade commission, a six-member agency that recommends trade policy of options to the President, urged relief for shoe workers and manufacturers.

Steel makers have a separate petition pending before the President's Special Trade Representative to reduce competition.

The President will be forced to balance the increasingly protectionist demands of many of his labor union backers against the threat of retaliation against United States products by foreign countries. The world's major trading nations are meeting in Geneva now trying to negotite reductions in both tariff and non-tariff trade barriers. According to an analyst for the White House inflation-monitoring agency, the council on Wage and

Price Stability, the average wholesale price of an imported color television before tariffs is $280, with a 5 per cent tariff that price rises to $294. At the 25 per cent level recommended by the commission for the next two years, the wholesale price would rise to $350. The commission voted to lower the tariff to 20 per cent for the following two years and to 15 per cent for a fifth year before the tariff would revert back to the 5 per President Carter has 60 days to accept, reject or modify the commission recommendations. If he changes them in any way, Congress then has 90 days to override him.

Before he must act on teleivison sets, however, the President must decide what to do about a commission recommendation last month that the government impose a combination of tariffs and quotas to protect American shoe makers from foreign competititon.

The trade commission estimated that the proposed systems of shoe tariffs and quotas would cost consumers about $190 million a year, but private analyses say the nation's total years ago that started the beef cattle industry on a reaction which has been reducing the population of the feeding pens this year, according to Fran Simpson Jr., manager-secretary of the California's Cattle Feeders Assn. Prices have since slipped sharply in the supermarkets. Ground beef, for instance, was $1.20 a pound in 1973, compared with 59 to 69 cents now. "But from mid-1973 until now, the

U.S. cattle feeding industry has had a financial bloodletting," Simpson said. "Livestock men got the message the consumer was not willing to pay more. But this is not like General Motors - we can't just shut the plant down for a while. Cattle eat seven Allowing for the full cycle of gesta-

Most imported television sets come from Japan, although Taiwan and South Korea are also significant importers to the United States.

Unions and some manufacturers had advocated a quota that would place a limit on the number of foreign televisions that could be sent to the A coalition of 11 labor unions and

The American Retail Federation, an organization of retail stores, called the decision "another protectionist move at great cost to the American consumer and the retail industry.

The average American-made color set costs about $30 more than the average foreign set, according to a trade commission economist.

Rise in beef prices torecast

This could be a good time to stock up on steaks and hamburger, if you have a freezer. Beef prices are likely to rise later this year or early next, according to The Chicago futures markets also he said, it takes two to two-and-a-half years for the cattle industry to carry out a decision to increase or reduce supplies. Now the cutback is starting to show, after a period in which cattle were rushed to market because farmers and feeders were squeezed by rising costs and falling prices.

In 1972 to 1973 there were 14 million cattle fattening in feed lots throughout the United States. In California, one of the big seven cattlefeeding states, the population was about 1 million. At the start of this year, Simpson said, the nationwide total was down to 8 million or less, and California's feeding pens held about 750,000. Now the state's total is about 640,000, Simpson estimated.

Prices have been going down because the heavy slaughter caused an oversupply, Simpson said, "but the numbers are down now, and prices are going to turn around.

Another reason why more animals were rushed to market this winter is the dry conditions on the range, market analysts said.

"Half of the cattle being sold in Kansas City now wouldn't have been sold if the farmers had confidence it was going to rain," sald Dan Amstutz. president of Cargill Investors Services of Chicago. "If the grazing conditions improve, more animals will be kept on the range and then the turnaround in price will come sooner."

Weather conditions have changed in the past couple of weeks, although California remains dry. "Since the last week of February

there has been increasing moisture, said Charles K. Levitt, livestock and meat analyst at Shearson Hayden Stone Inc.'s Chicago office. "The trend of the weather has definitely changed, with heavy snows over the Rockies and rains in Colorado, and this has changed the psychology of the market.

The latest Department of Agriculture national census of cattle on farms and in feedlots found more animals than expected on Feb. 2, Levitt said, but heavy marketing since then probably has reduced the total. If wet weather improves the range conditions and more cattle are kept to graze, he added, "you could expect to see some improvement in price.

"But the improvement may not be as significant as some of the cattle producers would like," he added, because we have an expanding supply of competitive meat supplies. Pork production this spring should be at least 15 per cent greater than a year ago, and poultry production should be at least 2 per cent higher than last year's all-time record.

If the futures markets are any guide, however, cattle prices are heading higher.

Live beef cattle for delivery in April closed at 38.97 cents a pound in Chicago Friday, only 2 cents above the season's low and still nearly 10 cents from the high of 47.20 last June. But the futures price was 2 cents higher than the Midwest cash price. Levitt said, and the August contract closed 5 cents above the current cash

Lobbyist likes bill package

AUSTIN (AP) - The biggest oil and gas lobbyist in the state says four bills produced by environmentalists and industry representatives on coastal zone management are good bills.

Bill Abington, representing Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, told the House State Affairs Committee Monday night that industry was apprehensive when Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and others began the study that produced the Industry feared the two-tier concept in which a band of counties two deep along the coast would be affected, he said. It feared limitation of multiple uses of land. It feared zoning. It feared creation of a super agency.

None of those concepts are in the package, Abington said.

Armstrong told the committee that industry backs the coastal zone management package because it looks for fairness and consistency in government. Too often in Texas and other states the rules of the game are changed abruptly, disrupting carefully studied plans, he said.

"If you set up your guidelines, then industry can come in and be a good neighbor," Armstrong said. "And you can protect your renewable resour-

"It's not a no-growth program. It's a how-we're-going-to grow program" Armstrong said.

There is no new authority in the package, he said. Existing authority is coordinated, and responsibility is focused at the policy-making level of the state agencies involved, he said.

It is not land use management, as some have feared, Armstrong said. Only in instances where proposed projects would adversely affect the wetlands will the land be subject to condemnation and purchase by the

Andrus orders strict production schedule

WASHINGTON — Interior Secretary Cecil D. Andrus is ordering oil and gas companies to agree to strict production schedules or face the unprecedented penalty of losing their leases on offshore drilling sites.

Andrus has told one company to begin using natural gas from its Gulf Coast site by the fall of 1978 or forfeit its lease with the federal government. When the lease-holder, Aminoil Oil Co. Winston-Salem, N.C., asked for a 6-month extension in order to locate a

arig.
The Interior secretary has scheduled a review of 60 other leases in the Gulf which are not producing oil or gas and are scheduled to expire in the next few months. In each case, he could refuse to extend the lease unless its holder agrees to a fixed date for

Normally, the extension of a lease is a virtually automatic decision made by a regional supervison of the U.S. Geological Survey. No Gulf Coast lease has been canceled since drilling on federal offshore property began there in 1954. Andrus has ordered a review of all 60 by a departmental task force and has served notice he will make the final decision on renewing or canceling each lease.

His action is part of an overall Interior Department plan to press oil and gas compainies for increased production in the Gulf.

Last month, he ordered an investigation of the Gulf's natural gas fields to determine whether companies are deliberately holding back gas and contributing to this winter's shortage. A preliminary inquiry, he

Bruton to locate in industrial park

LAMESA - Bruton Manufacturing Co., which specializes in making airflow systems for the cotton industry. will become the first company to build in the Lamesa Industrial Park. Bruton's new plant, a 20,000-square foot steel building, will be constructed on a 4 -acre site on the northeast corner of industrial park. The park takes in 55 acres. The plant will be an expansion of the current Bruton facility at North Seventh and Lynn streets. The expanded plant is needed due to the increased industrial sheet metal work - such as that for cotton gins and cottonseed oil mills. 'We're extremely pleased that a local industry will become the first to locate in the industrial park," said foundation president LeRoy Olsak. The Bruton company, founded by the late Charlie Bruton in Hobart, Okla., in 1952, was moved to Lamesa said, showed that some fields had shut down production for no clear reason and that a total of 188 reservoirs with 767 billion cubic feet of natural gas were not producing.

The company, which now has a 17-strong work force, is owned by Richard Gentry; a registered professional engineer.

Some critics have maintained gas producers are deliberately holding back their gas while awaiting deregulation on the assumption that prices would then rise. Andrus has not said he believes that and the producers have denied it.

According of Interior, there are about 1,700 offshore oil and gas leases in the Gulf but only about 800 of them are in production. Over the years, many leases have been abandoned by the industry when they proved un-productive but none has been can-celled by the U.S.

The companies pay large bonus prices for the leases, giving them the right to explore for gas or oil for five years. Many are extended year by year at a price of three dollars per acre - about $15,000 for a tract of average size.

Aminoil, a subsidiary of RJR Industries, Inc., had paid $3.8 million for its lease in 1971 and had obtained a one-year extension which expired early last month. In drilling six exploratory holes, two of which promised to yield gas, the company estimated that it had located 21 billion cubic feet of natural gas and hoped to discover an additional 10 billion cubic feet. Without the additional discovery, it had contended, commercial production would not be profitable.

The agreement that Andrus reached early this month with Aminoil required the company to drill igs seventh hole and decide whether it wants to keep the lease. If it decides to keep it, Aminoil must commit itself by July 20 to construction of an oil-rig platform, which requires an in-

Finally, the agreement requires that production of natural gas from the site must begin by August 1978.

The oil and gas industry's response to Andrus's new policy so far has been muted. American Petroleum Institute President Frank Ikard said Monday he "would like to see how the policy evolves" before making a judgment

A spokesman for Aminoil said the company did not consider the pressure by Andrus to be unfair. "We had very good negotiations with him," the spokesman said.

Test yields gas, fluid

Maralo, Inc., Midland, No. 1 Chavelea-Carson, Chaves County, N.M., deep venture, 11 miles nor-thwest of Caprock, flowed gas and reversed out condensate on a second consecutive drillstem test.

Tool was open one hour on the test taken from 10,225-10,320 feet. Gas surfaced in 10 minutes on a 44-inch choke, flowing to pits for one hour at the estimated, daily rate of 1.6 million cubic feet per day, and increasing to 1.9 million cubic feet per day for 11/2 hours. Reversed out of the test tool was five barrels of condensate. The sampler contained 14.5 cubic feet of gas with a trace of condensate and plugged.

DEEHONA WISE OUCH!!! Yes, that's what you will be saying Thursday if you don't wear green, because Thursday is St. Patrick's Day. So wear the traditional green and join in the fun.

The Rebelette Banquet is April 28 at the Midland Woman's Club at Hogan Park. If you plan to go, stop by the library and sign your name, and whether you are coming with a date or not. Squad meetings are at 7:45, except Honor Squad and they know what they are suppose to be doing. If you haven't heard who the OUTSTANDING SENIORS of the Rebelettes are, here's the list: Sara Alexander, Bonnie Atwater, Stephanie Adams, Kathy Booth, Brenda Cary, Tonna Hanzel, Linda Jeary, Sharon Josephy, Jane Kauff-man, Lischen Kreuz, Judi Ottman, Nina Starck and Cathy Terrell. Way to go, girls! All that hard work finally paid off.

This past week, our guys were super busy! Last Monday, we played Pecos, and Tuesday we played a double-header against Lubbock Coronado. We won all of the games. We went into the tournament with the record of 6-0. Friday and Saturday, we helped host the Tournament of Champions. Duncanville, Moore, Montere, Midland High and Lee all participated. Duncanville took the tournament cup and our guys finished with a 7-3 season record. Our baseball guys had a hard fall during the tourney when they lost three of the four games that they played. But there will be more games for the Rebs to come back on top. To start off this week they played Pecos Monday at Pecos. Today, our guys will tackle Lubbock Montery here at 4 p.m. So, everyone come on out to support our team. This Saturday they will play their last pre-season game before district when they take on Andrews here at 1 p.m. This will be a double-header, so we're counting on you to help the baseball sport!

Last weekend both the Midland Lee and Midland High tennis teams hosted the Midland Invitational tennis tournament. Congratulations go to Jeff Egar for capturing the first place title in the B division of boy's singles. Way to smash 'em, Jeff! This weekend, our netters will be traveling to Lubbock to compete in the Lubbock Invitational. Good luck and ACES AWAY!

Eleven junior and senior members of the speech and drama squads went to the National Forensic League District Tournament at McMurry College at Abilene last weekend. This tourney is one of two opportunities the Rebels have to qualify for National NFL tournament. In debate, Steve Mullins and James Snell tied for fourth place; in oratory, Laura Snell placed fourth; boys extemp. speaking-James Snell placed fourth, and in girls extemp., Pat Harris

Saturday at Cooper High at Woodrow the all day UIL warm-up tournament was held. Lee entered students in all the UIL events. The business, math, science, English, speech and drama departments took part. The Rebels won sweepstakes in the overall competition. In informative speaking-Steven Stovall placed first; persuasive speaking—Mike Shaunessy, first and Jim Reiter, fourth; poetry interpretation—Vicki Ballew, fifth; number sense—Amy Bechtel placed first and George Slover, sixth; science contest (novice division), Clay Hunn-third and Jack Tomlinson-fifth; (veteran's division) Wayne Downs-fifth; spelling, Janet Hilliard-first and Margaret Stricklin-second; shorthand, Jeri Lin Reinli-first and Salena Kelly-second; typing, Karen Cherryholmes-first and Martha Morales-second; ready writing, Clay Hunn-first; journalism editorials, Terrie Rice-first and Janet Hilliardsecond; headline writing, Janet Hilliard-third with the score of 273. We are proud of you, Rebs, say we are pround of you!!! This weekend the speech and debate teams will travel to San Antonio for NFL district congress.

The Lee Boy's golf team captured the title Saturday at the Midland Invitational high school golf tournament at Hogan Park, with the score 614. Billy Sitton tied Midland High's Kelly Eng for medalist honors with scores of 147. But Billy Sitton went on to the playoff on the third hole. Steve Wise was the 1st day's medalist with a score of 75. Our girls' team also had a good weekend as it started off district play by winning first against Big Spring. Then the team traveled to San Marcos where it came in second. They will be going to Kerville Thursday, so wish the some of the Rebel luck!

Lee finished sixth in the AAAA Division. The individual results were: In the 880, David Skinner placed third, Author Pertile-fourth, and Charles Hamilton-sixth; in the 440, Jamie Berry-fourth; and in the pole vault, Jody Sessom came in fifth. This Friday both girls and boys' track teams will run in the Tall City Relays. Keep on trackin' and relay some victories back to us!!!

The Midland Memorial Hospital women's auxilary is giving two nursing scholarships of $1,000 each. Forms are available in the counselors' offices. Last year, Lee was honored because two students received these scholarships. If you are interested in nursing, be sure and apply as soon as possible.

Don't forget that Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass will be here March 28. Buy your tickets NOW so you won't miss one of the greatest shows on earth!
Competing for Lee High in the State Distributive Education contest last week in Dallas were: Trina Lewis, food service; Rhonda Jernigan, sales demonstration; Wendi Stovall, sales demonstration; Melinda Wilson, window display; Marion Scott, food market; Kenn Watson, public speaking, and Wade Wiliamson, petroleum sales.

Lots of luck to those Rebel swimmers going to the state meet in Austin this weekend. Splash past 'em, Congratulations are in store for Lyn Daniels who won a $4,000 music scholarship. To win this scholarship, she took part in the Eva Browining Piano Scholarship competition on the Texas Tech campus.

An old saying and Bible verse which can never be repeated enough: The Golden Rule, "Do unto others, as you would have them do unto you."

Your Roving Rebel Reporters. Mica, Janis, and Deehona P.S. Rhonda Caldwell, please hurry up and get better! We missed our vice president at the Junior Council meeting last Thursday. P.S.S. (But Important) The FHA Dance - Friday night was well attended with about 500 from El Paso, Lubbock, San Angelo in attendance. Thanks to those 4 or 5 sophomores for helping on Saturday and Sunday. Dad says "THANKS to Greg Collins for your you!" P.S.S.S. Tonight, the Aviation Explorers meet at Airpark (Basin's office) at 6:30. Thanks, Diane Freshour, for your help and interest in rounding up

Warnke, Vance to go to Moscow for arms talks

By RICHARD E. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, vowing to support human rights despite a warning that it could hurt arms talks, is sending negotiator Paul Warnke and Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance to Moscow with a "fairly final" strategic arms limitation proposal.

Carter, who pledged through his spokesman not to stop his human rights activities, said at Warnke's oath-taking ceremony Monday the new director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency will accompany Vance to the Soviet Union on Warnke took the oath of office in the White House Rose Garden. He won Senate approval as chief arms negotiator last week by a vote of 58 to 40 - less than the two thirds needed to approve any new Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT).

However, the Senate voted 70 to 29 to approve him for his second job as director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. Carter told the swearing-in ceremony: "I thought and I prayed a lot about who ought to be chosen. There is no doubt Paul Warnke is the best man.... It's going to take a man with a genuine desire for a reduction in weapons - which is what Paul Warnke wants." The President said Warnke and Vance will bring the Russians "a fairly final position" on SALT. Carter said details of the position were being prepared by the National Security Council. Vance will meet with Carter later this week for final instructions. In Moscow, the Communist party newspaper Prayda said Sunday that could damage the atmosphere surrounding any future SALT talks. The protest was the latest against Carter's support for Soviet dissidents and human rights.

Asked about the Pravda statement, White House Press Secretary Jody Powell declared: "I think our position on human rights is clear, and we will continue, as we said at the outset, to act according to our best judgment in support of this end."

Powell added that "preparations are going forward without any delay for the Vance trip." The press secretary said anew that the administration does not link human rights or support for Russian dissidents with the strategic arms

In other developments: -Economic adviser Charles L. Schultze relinquished his position as co-chairman of the Economic Policy Group. Powell said Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal would become the sole chairman of the group, which is the conduit for policy options going to Carter.

-The administration widened its search for candidates to head the embattled Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. University of Wisconsin law professor Jim Jones has turned the job down. "A very intensive, across-the-board search is underway," an aide said.

-Declaring "no end in sight" to drug abuse, Carter established an office of Drug Abuse Policy and charged it with recommending improvements in federal drug abuse prevention and control. The President named special assistant Peter G

Manges to sell land at courthouse auction

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP) - Unable to-"cash a check or get credit with any bank" controversial South Texan Clinton Manges will sell part of his vast landholdings at a public auction on the Duval County Courthouse steps.

A notice of trustees' sale was posted on the courthouse bulletin board Monday declaring Manges' Duval County Ranch Co. had defaulted on an $8.6 million loan from the Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. of Bloomfield, Conn.

The property, which includes Manges' 100,000-acre Duval County Ranch Co. plus 18,000 of ranchland in Starr and Jim Hogg counties, will go to the highest bidders and for cash.

The auction was set for April 5. The principal sum still owed on the overdue note was listed as $7,203,632 plus interest, late charges and attorney fees.

"They will do anything to get me," fumed Manges in a telephone interview from the Connecticut General office in Dallas.

"I can't have a checking account even at my own bank in San Antonio (Groos National Bank). There isn't a bank in the state that will do business with me," he said.

Manges claimed "they" are federal and state law enforcement officers and banking officials inspired by former Texas Gov. John Connally to "destroy me."

The secretive South Texan began complaining about official attacks on his enterprises shortly before his bank in Rio Grande City, the First State Bank, was closed by the State Banking Commission last November.

Currently, 15 lawsuits against Manges or his ranch company are pending in state district courts. The plaintiffs are seeking more than $700,000, mostly for oil field services or equipment. The suits also include one filed by an Alice lumber company for more than $381,000 arising from the construction of Manges' ranch

The Ranch Co. allegedly owes around $700,000 in delinquent taxes for the years 1971 through 1976.

In January, Manges was indicted by a Duval County grand jury on charges of theft of service involving an alleged worthless $57,000 check issued to an oil field firm.

Meanwhile, in Houston, two oil companies filed a state court suit Monday alleging Manges has not paid them $219,277 for drilling equipment and services.

Brown Oil Tools Inc. alleges an unpaid bill of $58,832, while Brown Equipment & Services Inc. seeks $160,445.

The suit claims the companies furnished material, machinery, equipment, supplies and services for Manges for oil and gas wells in Zapata

Fines levied in liquor cases

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) - A federal judge has levied $27,500 in fines against five of eight defendants who pleaded no contest to charges that they fixed prices on liquor sold in some wet areas of Lubbock

One defendant also received a one-year probated sentence Monday from U.S. District Court Judge Halbert O. Woodward. Prosecutors said two more one-year probated sentences, two 30-day jail terms and another $2,000 in fines have been offered in plea bargaining arrangements for the other three defendants.

Prosecutors added that they believe it would be the first time in Texas that jail sentences have been handed out in an antitrust case. Defendants pleading nolo contendre were:

The Lubbock County Beverage Association; Cecil's Inc. of Lubbock; Crossed Keys Package Store of Lubbock; Pinkie's Inc. of Odessa; the All Star Company, Inc. of Lubbock; Bob J. Grimes, Lubbock manager of Pinkie's Inc.; Hubert Odom, president and general manager of Cecil's, Inc.; and Kenneth Odom, secretary-treasurer and manager in charge of operations at Cecil's.

Of the corporate defendants, Pinkie's was assessed a $15,000 fine while Cecil's was fined $10,000. The beverage association was fined $5,000 and the All Star organization $2,500.

Grimes was fined $5,000 and assessed a one-year. probated sentence. Not sentenced officially were the Crossed Keys store and the two Odoms. The Odoms were offered $1,000 fines, one-year probated sentences and 30-day jail terms, but Hubert Odom's lawyer said he wishes to oppose the confinement portion of the proposed sentence. The U.S. Justice Department still has a civil suit pending against the corporate defendants. The department contends the groups had been selling liquor, beer and wine at noncompetitive prices in Lubbock County since 1968. The city of Lubbock is
