Fine Arts Boosters Set Dinner Theatre

For an evening of dramatic entertainment, you will miss what will perhaps be the 'Event of the Year' if you fail to attend the Fine Arts Booster Club's dinner theatre in Muleshoe Saturday night.

'Mother Courage,' a tale of 'Mother Courage and Her Children' and encompasses a portion of the 30 year war in Europe from 1624-1636.

'Mother Courage' is strongly played by Lauri Burgess, who lends a realism to the lead character of the play. Although unable to speak, Frantonya Berryhill as Katrina more than capably conveys her part through gestures and facial expressions. She plays the daughter of Mother Courage.

Providing the backup cast are Mother Courage's two sons, George Vela, Eiliff and Michael Isaac, Swiss Cheese; also, Lori Butler, Yvette; Rodney Unrein, narrator, Chaplain/pastor/priest; Jesse Silguero, cook/soldier; Carla Shafer, peasant woman; Jeff Combs, soldier/peasant; Kevin Robison, soldier; Manuel Garcia, soldier; Marlin Bynum, soldier and stage crewmembers, Lynette Shafer, Sheri Ellard, Dusty Puckett, Freddie Vela and Dana Brewer.

The production will be staged at 8:15 p.m. in the Muleshoe High School auditorium. Preceding the play will be the dinner in the Muleshoe High School cafeteria, 6:30-8 p.m.

Tickets are now on sale at $5 each for adults and $2.50 for children, with tickets available from any member of the Fine Arts Booster Club or may be purchased at the door.

Kerry Moore, director of the MHS Speech Department has put together another outstanding production, and it was presented in UIL competition on Tuesday.

Money overshadows her children and she loses all three to the war. People must decide which is more important, money, life, religion, sin, death, etc.

Don't miss it!

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said late last week that city sales tax rebates for the first quarter of 1980 grew substantially compared to the first quarter of 1979 but the increase don't fare as well under close inspection.

The apparent increases are partly offset by the fact that during the first quarter of 1979, city sales tax allocations were down due to late filings and a backlog of 2,400 returns in the agency's accounting system, Bullock concludes.

He added that system improvements have eliminated the backlog and strengthened the agency's ability to quickly handle returns and put more money into the system for rebates.

Bullock said 1980 rebate payments to cities from the first of the year total $138.7 million, compared to 1979 payments of $100 million over the same period, an increase of about 38 percent. He said 924 Texas cities will share $78.6 million in sales tax rebates during March, compared to $56.6 million in March of last year.

Guy Austin explained that there is still limited time for persons interested to sign up as members of the High Plains GPI Co-op, with a deadline set for membership of May 1.

"At the time, May 1, we will close the cooperative and whatever size plant we have the people to build on that date, is just what size plant we will build," he commented Monday.

At least two representatives of the Arthur D. Little Inc. research group from Cambridge, Mass. will be in Muleshoe to present the feasibility study, and make their recommendations.

Arthur D. Little Inc. is one of the largest, oldest and most diversified research and consulting firms in the world. It has been in business since 1889. The company has offices in 25 countries and 100 cities. It is a member of the American Consulting Engineers Council and the International Council of Scientific and Industrial Consultants.

A 38 percent growth at first blush seems astonishing, but my current revenue estimate projects that sales tax revenue would grow 26.5 percent during the current budget period and we've got 17 more months before we'll close the books." Bullock added.

Muleshoe's February rebate was up considerably over the same period last year, with a rebate check of $27,674.57. This compares with the $15,385.27 received during the same period last year for a 40 percent increase.

Accident Report Has Proven - Females Are Better Drivers

Last year, a total of 251 drivers of vehicles were involved in accidents in the city limits of Muleshoe, resulting in 44 injuries, and 207 incidents of property damage, including to the vehicles.

Male drivers accounted for most of the accidents with males leading in all age categories. For the 15 and under age group, it was even, at two each; for the 16 year olds, it was seven males to six females and in the 17 year old age group, it was 16 male drivers involved to six females.

From 18-19 year old group, it was 13 male drivers to nine female drivers and 21 males to six females in the 20-24 year age group.

From 25-34, it was 22 males to nine females and it evened up again in the 35-44 year old age group at 13 each. Again, the males led in the 45-54 age group at 10 to seven; and it was seven to four in the 55-64 year old group.

For drivers 65-74, it was 10 males and six female drivers and in the 75 and over group, it was nine males to five females.

However, no fatalities were reported within the city limits. Of this total, you were more likely to have been involved in an accident if you were a high school student. Seventeen percent of the vehicles driven were by high school students, and they accounted for 11 percent of the total injuries.

However, 15 percent of the business and professional people in Muleshoe were involved in accidents resulting in 20 percent of the injuries to drivers and/or passengers.

Laborers accounted for 14 percent of the accidents and housewives had the next largest percentage of accidents with 11 percent. Housewives and laborers in accidents accounted for 11 percent each in injuries. Also at eleven percent of the injuries were the four percent farmer-drivers who had accidents.

Gene Campbell, Public Information Officer for the Department of Energy in Dallas recently sent a press release to The Journal.

Monday, the following release was mailed by Campbell, apparently to clarify the previous release.

Campbell said, "The Department of Energy reported taking legal action against 35 stations in the West Texas area for charging prices in excess of that allowed by Federal regulations during December 1979 and January 1980.

"Four of the 35 stations did not exceed prices allowed by Federal regulations. These four stations were cited for not properly posting the maximum lawful price or certification. Station operators have the option of posting the maximum legal selling price on the pump or posting a sign declaring the prices to be within the maximum. This sign must be in a location visible from the pumps.

He concluded, "Below is a listing of the four stations:

Summar Rites Held Thursday.

Funeral services for W.G. Summar were conducted Thursday, March 13, with burial in the Lazbuddie cemetery following a service in the Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home Chapel.

Mr. Summar died at his home on Tuesday morning of an apparent heart attack. ECA'S from Lazbuddie were called to the home, but were not in time to help him.

He is survived by his wife and children.

"Your community has much to be proud of; keep up the good work," was the comment by Judge Fred Stockdale as the 43 member Lazbuddie High Longhorn Band made a Second Division in the UIL concert contest, Wednesday at Plainview.

It was the first time the band had ever competed in UIL and it is the fifth year of the band's existence.

Director Carl Wilke was pleased with the results, commenting that several older bands had gotten lower ratings. Sudan made a Division I in class B, and Smyer, also a class B band, made a III.

Of the three judges comments, almost all of the criticism was good and very helpful. Most of the playing problems were attributed to the youngness of the band.

In UIL, a band may be rated from One to Five, one being superior, two being excellent, three being good or average, four being fair, and five being poor.

For their efforts, the Longhorn Band received a very nice plaque.

ECA Instructors Test To Be Given

Any interested persons who completed and passed the Emergency Care Attendant course which was offered in Lazbuddie in January, may be eligible to take the ECA instructor's course in Canyon on March 29.

All interested ECA'S should write to Canyon at least a week in advance and make arrangements with the Region I office of the Texas Dept. of Health to take the tests. The address is: Texas Dept. of Health, Public Health Region 1, 300 Victory Drive, P.O. Box 968, West Texas State University, Canyon, TX., 79016.

Janet Wilke, one of the persons who recently became a certified ECA, has satisfactorily completed an Instructor's course in CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) which was administered in Bovina on Saturday and Sunday, in conjunction with retesting prospective ECA's and EMT'S.

This qualifies her to teach CPR to any person who might be interested in learning the procedure. She is also qualified to re-test those who are already skilled in CPR techniques who need to be recertified.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—Flooding is a massive problem which affects all Texans. Many Texans have been forced to rebuild their material assets time and time again because of flood devastation.

In this age of modern technology, all Texans should be able to live in any city without fear of losing their homes and automobiles to flood waters. To help achieve this goal, Lt. Gov.

Bill Hobby and I have appointed a Regional Citizens Task Force on Flooding which has already begun its work.

The committee, chaired by Senator Gene Jones and Rep. Bill Caraway of Houston, is composed of 31 elected officials, civic leaders, private citizens and drainage experts from Harris, Galveston, Brazoria, Fort Bend and Montgomery counties. Its purpose is to examine the flooding problems in Houston in hopes of finding solutions of benefit to the entire State of Texas.

The possibility of creating a single regional flood authority for these five counties has been widely discussed. If accepted by the committee and the 67th Texas Legislature, this authority would have the necessary jurisdiction to coordinate a flood abatement program in Houston.

Creating a regional flood authority may prove to be a viable solution to Houston's flooding problems. Many believe that it would solidify the numerous agencies which currently have various responsibilities in the area of flooding control.

However, flooding is a serious and complex problem which cannot be dealt with overnight. No simple solutions exist for Houston or Kerrville or any other town in Texas where flooding is a chronic problem.

Yet it is my sincere hope that all Texans will soon be freed from the worry of flooding and I feel confident that the progress being made by the Regional Citizens Task Force will shed some new light on this age-old problem.

Philip M. Klutznick, Commerce Department Secretary:

"I believe the President and this administration have done a very essential job at a very critical time in our country's history."

Edward Kennedy, Senator (D-Mass):

"I think that what is very clear is that an embargo is going to hurt the taxpayer and hurt the farmer and is not going to halt Russian transgression."

The Muleshoe Study Club met March 13, in the Tri County Community Room, with Mrs. Betty Jo Carpenter as hostess.

Members answering the roll call with their favorite bird were: Mrs. Wilma Thompson, Mrs. J.G. Arnn, Mrs. Charles Shain, Mrs. A.C. Neely, Mrs. Mervin Wilterding, Mrs. Ed Johnson, Mrs. Wilson Witherspoon, Mrs. Doyle Turner, Mrs. Thurman White, Mrs. John Agee, Mrs. Joe Costen, and one visitor Mrs. Bill Barker and the hostess Mrs. Carpenter.

Also the club planned refreshments for the senior citizens meeting for March 24th, as that is the day the club had selected to serve.

The program for the day was given by Mrs. John Agee. She chose the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge as her theme.

Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge is located 20 miles south of Muleshoe and is the oldest in the state of Texas. It was established in 1935, and covers 5709 acres, it has three large sink type lakes. These lakes are formed between caliche out-croppings, with draws running into them furnishing the most of the water. There are over 5000 acres, of grass land and mesquite which is under a managed grazing program.

There are 247 species of birds that have been seen on the refuge. Sandhill Cranes, by the thousands; ducks of several different kinds; swallows, owls, wrens, blue jays, hawks, crows and a few eagles. Also numerous other species have been sighted. There are skunks, rabbits, coyotes, badgers, prairie dogs, and ground hogs that live here also.

To finish up the program, Mrs. Agee gave the Legend of the Sand Hills south of town.

The Study Club will be meeting March 27, in Mrs. Thurman White's home.

'FACES' The Face Of An Unhappy Marriage

A lonely man finds excuses to work late or to be out of town a great deal to keep from being home and facing a marriage that seems worn out. At his home a lonely woman drops into bed, worn out from the responsibility of the children, only to find she cannot sleep, and in the darkness tears roll down her cheeks.

What can be said that could generate a spark of hope in a man and a woman who have vowed "for better or for worse.. till death do us part" but have found they are unable to communicate and unable to love?

A rebellious adolescent, a bed-wetting child, a bitter woman, and a distraught, frustrated man vividly portray an unhappy marriage that affects the whole family. The serious side effect of an unhappy marriage is children with no direction and no inner feeling that someone is in control. These children grow up and act out these hopeless feelings with a family of their own who will be headed in the same destructive direction. If this were the whole story the situation would be hopeless. But there is more that needs to be told. How little we hear about broken marriages that are made whole!

The word "hope" seems to have disappeared from the hearts of men and women who think the choice is to "go on living like this" or "get a divorce". Most couples with serious marital problems believe that when they no longer feel love for each other the marriage is without hope.

NO marriage is without hope as long as both partners, or sometimes even one, will hope and work. The problems that ruin marriages go beyond money, sex, personality clashes, interfering relatives, or even unfaithfulness. These disruptions are symptoms of the real problem rooted deep within the person.

The marriage of two people breaks down when the people break down. A marriage is meaningless when the partners have lost or have never found the true meaning of life. Marriages are mended when a man and a woman learn the secret of living beyond themselves, when each can project himself to meet the needs of the other. This takes deep commitment (a word too often omitted when talking about love and marriage), thought, confrontation, honesty, humility, all of the depth of attributes that dwell inside a persons but which too often lie dormant under the self life of rejection, manipulation, pride, and self gradification.

If you have a bad marriage it is really up to you to be honest enough to face yourself first or have your marriage and family become another statistic.

Telephone Problems Posed; Five Area Offering Solutions

by Deana Banda
 When it rains or snows
 Even if the wind blows
 Don't call Lazbuddie!!
 Lazbuddie Farmer: Who invented the telephone?
 Average American: Alexander Graham Bell
 LF: How does it work?
 AA: Sound is converted into electrical impulses for transmission by wire so that the sound is reproduced at a distance.
 LF: That means you pick up the phone and dial someone that's not within shout-in distance and if they're home, they answer, and you can talk to them as if you was there, right?
 AA: Right.
 LF: And you say this guy Bell did that?
 AA: Yeah.
 LF: Too bad he wasn't from around these parts, instead of that guy General that came up with our phone.
 It's a cold crisp morning, as he reaches for the phone to make some early morning business calls. As he dials the first two digits he gets a busy signal, he hangs up. He tries a few more times, decides he better go through the operator even though they are only local calls. He dials the operator but she's not home at the moment. Finally he gives up and tries the phone company. Oh what fortune he has this morning, the phone company answers! He asks them to please send him a wet blanket and some green logs, he feels he'll get better results by sending up smoke signals!

 One Lazbuddie resident suggested this method. If you live in the Lazbuddie rural area, you too probably have been in similar predicaments. Lazbuddie residents were asked to describe their phone service and these are some of the common responses they gave: "inconsistent," "undependable," "irritating at best," "very inadequate," "not very satisfactory," "terrible," "partially adequate," "lousy," "not very good," and "very poor."
 It is obvious Lazbuddies don't feel their phones work too well. What are some of the specific problems they have? These were the most common problems cited: "not being able to get through even on local calls," "dialing the phone and dialing the phone and getting nothing but dead silence," "Getting an 'I'm sorry this number is not in-service' or 'this number has been disconnected' when you just called it five minutes before," "you pick it up and hear people talking,"

"no dial tone," "get a busy signal after you've dialed the first digit," "the number reached will be one digit off the number you dial," "can't dial direct," "people will tell us they called and we didn't answer, but it never rang here," "Have trouble hearing people when they call," "it makes noises," "can't get an operator," and "half the time it doesn't work at all."
 When asked their biggest complaint about the service would be, most residents said they just wished the phone would work most of the time. Some said they would like to be able to get through on local calls, or use direct dialing, or be able to call long distance. Many expressed the desire that if they couldn't get any better phone service, they wished it wouldn't cost so much. As one woman expressed, "the price we have to pay to have a phone in our home and the service it renders is out of proportion."
 Residents commended the phone company on the quick, prompt service received when their phones had to be fixed. Most of them said someone came out within the same day they reported trouble. Some said it was only a matter of a few hours and others said between two to three days. No one had any real complaints about the repair service.

 What about weather? Under what weather conditions does the phone generally stop working?
 "When it rains, there are noises and static on the line and it occasionally goes out."
 "When its wet, especially on long distance dialing."
 "Cool and damp, that's a majority of the problem."
 "When the weather's bad you have alot of trouble, either it rings or it makes a buzzing sound."
 "If there's a storm or anything we don't have a phone."
 "Ice, snow or rain."
 "Wet or windy."
 Well, have Lazbuddie's phones always been this bad? Are they better than they used to be or are they worse? Some residents said they were about the same as always. Many though, said that the last two to three years their phones have been worse. Those who have been around awhile said the problems began when they went from a party line to a private line. Others said that things got worse after direct dialing. A few who have underground wires, which are supposed to help, said they had only increased their problems. Only one businessman said that there had been a slight improvement in at least one thing. "When they first started direct dialing, about every other call you would get a wrong number. And at first I don't think they realized it was their equipment. The operators would get pretty nasty and say 'don't you people know how to dial.' But now that is not as bad as it was, although it still happens."

 How would you like to run a business with this type of phone system? Lazbuddie businesses expressed their views on how the phone service affected the operation of their business.
 "When my phones aren't working my business has problems. I do 75 percent of my business over the phone."
 "It wastes my time. It makes the business loose money."
 "My husband is a carpenter, he goes to use the phones in the evenings and - no phones."
 "We use our phones alot. We can usually get through by calling the operator, but sometimes people can't call us. The biggest disservice is, that it wastes our time!"
 "We're not super-dependent on the phone but its pretty bad when someone hears a ring and we can't answer it. I don't know what we would do if we were really dependent on the phone - it would be terrible."

 "Normally we finally get through but people always tell us 'don't ya'll ever answer your phones?' We have two lines and an automatic switch-over, when one's busy it's supposed to switch to the other one. But it doesn't work alot of the times, we tie up one line and we get alot of complaints because of it."
 If you've been trying to get in touch with a Lazbuddie business, be patient! The're probably is someone there even if they don't answer the phone and the busy signal may or may not mean someone is using the phone.
 Have you tried jiggling the wires on the pole to get a dial tone? Flip-flopping the receiver? Or perhaps spraying the wires with hair spray? Lazbuddies admit these tactics are not fool-proof and add that they may even be coincidental, but at least they sometimes work.

 One of Lazbuddie's biggest complaints is what their phones cost. When asked the question: Do you feel you get what you pay for? The answer was a unanimous "no!" "For the amount of money we pay we ought to at least get dependable service," said one resident. Most people's feelings could be summed up in one woman's words, "We pay quite a bit out here, I'm sure the phone company does what they can, but I wish we had better service." Some residents have suggested to the phone company that they should be able to subtract from their bill the money they pay for times their phone is not working.
 How often are the Lazbuddie phones in good working condition? Most residents claimed 50 percent. A few said more often, 62 percent, or 85 percent. Some said less often, such as 20 percent, 1/4 of the time, or one phone call in ten. One person said, "My phone hasn't been in good working order for the past six months."
 Is this bleak account of the phone problems in Lazbuddie the end of the story? We hope not. J.T. Ross, manager of Five Area Telephone Cooperative Inc. believes very definitely not. He said that the phone company really Lazbuddie has problems and they are in the process of doing something about that. He explained how Lazbuddie phones got into the mess they are in today.

 The phone system that Lazbuddie has is a carrier system that was applied to the already existing party line system about seven years ago. The party line system consisted of two wires that stretched to the houses using the service. The carrier system was applied to the two wires to enable it to give up to six parties, private lines, with each party on a different frequency, like a radio. In this way all six parties could talk at the same time. "The carrier system was not the right application," manager Ross said. The telephone company did not have a choice. "From what I understand from the people who were

This hybrid's record for consistency has made it one of the most popular hybrids on the High Plains. In 77 comparisons over the last four years against competitive hybrids, 3184 has shown an average yield of 183.7 bu./A. with a yield advantage of 14.3 bu./A. over competitors. Bred with outstanding drought tolerance, 3184 can adjust ear size and kernel depth to match growing conditions. And strong stalks keep 3184 standing straight for speedy harvest. It's just what High Plains farmers need in a dependable, high-yielding corn hybrid. And its maturity makes it a good companion for 3183.

Push this one for highest yields! In 43 comparisons on the High Plains in 1979, this hybrid averaged 192.1 bu./A. A sampling of yields from 1979 includes 216 bu./A. for Sheldon Rapp at Hooker, Oklahoma . . . 210.4 bu./A. for Larry Kemp of Muleshoe . . . and 196.7 bu./A. for Doyle Underwood at Dimmitt, Texas. 3183 has demonstrated very good standability and ear retention in this area. Excellent drought tolerance helps 3183 maintain outstanding consistency year after year. And it has been especially impressive on gray soils. Plant 3183 along with 3184. Spread genetic risks and get top performance, too.

here then, they had to take that system in order to get the government funding for a private line system. That carrier system should have never been applied to open wire. With the dry windy climates, the power influence from the electric lines is induced into out cables. The carrier system should have separate sets of wires for each line and they should be underground. The voltage is higher on the carrier system than it would be if each line had separate wires, this makes it more susceptible to electrical interference. The aerial lines and the high voltage makes the system more susceptible to weather conditions also.

Some of the buried cables are still affected by moisture too because they are air-core cables, as opposed to a jelly-filled cable that would not let moisture in. Ross said the service problems were "built into the system by engineering." "Given proper maintenance and proper training we can provide service as good as General or Bell, but it's got to be put in the ground right."

Ross said that Five Area had received a loan from Washington to make the "necessary improvements" to the Lazbuddie system. "Right now we are evaluating that system and are in the planning stages."

Ross said they will bury the aerial wires and replace faulty air-core cable with jelly-filled cable. Some of the money has been used to send repairmen to school to learn more about how to properly service the new equipment as well as the already existing equipment. He said they are being sent to more schools that cover the areas of maintenance training needed, and that an on-the-job training program is now provided for the servicemen.

Ross said that they had a new engineer that is improving their service. "We have a different program from a year ago. We are a five-million dollar company now and we have a five-million dollar loan, but some specifications weren't completely followed in the past and it can't be changed overnight." Ross encouraged customers to call in, because the company does not know when something is wrong with you phone. He said,

"I know for some in Lazbuddie, that would mean calling in everyday but it will help us to improve the system if we are kept informed of what's wrong." If a carrier-system is down, one person calling in, could fix six people's phones.

Most Lazbuddie residents have heard of the changes in the system and some have been told that it will improve their phone service. Some of them said they wished the change would be to a different telephone company but they would be satisfied if the present system would just work.

Five Area Telephone Cooperative Inc. is part of the Littlefield exchange which contracts their operators from General Telephone. Ross said he realized that operators were sometimes hard to get, and that at times they have been rude. He said he wished the customers would be sure and "let us know when service is rude or hard to get, because we pay for that service." He also said that sometimes when operators couldn't be reached, it was because of problems in the phone, familiar to Lazbuddites; although you may hear it ringing, the operator may not.

Many Lazbuddie residents say that their rates are higher than other surrounding rural areas. Ross said that Five Area Telephone does not set the rates. The Public Utilities Commission sets the rates. The commission figures the rates on the amount of the investment and the fair rate of return (fair profit). Since Lazbuddie has such a low population density it is more expensive to provide services; the investment is higher. Ross said however, the company is in "much better financial condition, and I couldn't say for sure but we don't foresee any rate increases possibly within the next five years, and there is even a possibility of a rate reduction." Ross said another reason why Lazbuddie's rates were higher was because of the number of places they can call without being charged for long distance. Ross said in comparing rates, you must remember that you could be comparing different telephone co-operations such as Southwestern Bell and General.

Ross concluded that most of Lazbuddie's problems come from the carrier-system and the way it was installed, and it has just deteriorated over the years. And that Five Area is connected with General Telephone which doesn't always provide the services needed, and doesn't have enough service people. He feels however that, "If our customers will bear with us, we believe they will be able to see improvements within a year to 18 months." Every dollar we spend goes to the best benefit it can. Those people deserve it, they've had a hard time."

Check Planting Temperature

COLLEGE STATION --In many cases the early bird does get the worm. But when it comes to spring planting, farmers may want to use a little restraint and take a look at soil temperatures before cranking up their planters.

"One of the keys to getting spring crops off to a good start is to heed soil temperatures," says Keith Hayes, agricultural meteorologist with the National Weather Service at Texas A&M University.

"Soil temperatures have been shown to have an important effect on how well seed germinate," explains Hayes. "Planting in cool soils often leads to poor seed germination and poor crop stands. Plants that do come up often lack vigor for early growth. And this opens the door to early season disease and insect attacks."

Based on recommendations by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, Hayes advises farmers to begin planting only after the danger of late frost is past and the soil has warmed to temperatures favorable to the intended crop.

"Farmers also need to keep attuned to weather forecasts prior to planting," notes the meteorologists. "A sudden change in weather conditions following planting can be detrimental to the crop, particularly a cool, wet spell that can lower soil temperatures drastically."

Just when it is safe to plant what crop?

According to Extension Service recommendations, average minimum temperatures (at the four-inch depth) for planting are as follows: corn, 50 degrees; sorghum, 55 degrees; cotton, 65 degrees; and soybeans, 70 degrees. "Minimum" rather than "average" temperatures should be used for rice and peanuts, with rice being 60 degrees and peanuts, 70 degrees.

An honest man, after reviewing his own life, will be inclined to let youth chart its own course.

Hardy vegetables such as onions, cabbage and potatoes can be planted once soil temperatures range between 45 and 50 degrees while warm-season vegetables such as tomatoes, melons, beans and peppers need soil that has warmed into the 60s.

"With early season planting, particularly when soil temperatures are still marginal, farmers need to pay particular attention to using high quality seed, fungicides and other seed protectants, and adjusting seeding rates," notes Hayes.

"County Extension agents can offer specific recommendations."

How do farmers keep abreast of changing soil temperatures?

Hayes points out that daily readings are taken at various locations through the cooperation of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. For example, regional temperature readings for North and East Texas are based on temperatures at Lavon-Dam Northwest of Dallas, McGregor, Longview, Stephenville and Throckmorton. Regional readings also medium and High Plains, Trans-Pecos area, Coastal Plains, South Texas and the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

As temperatures are collected, they are included in daily agricultural advisories issued by the NWS for each of the regions. The advisories are fed into the NOAA (National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration; weather wire by teletype to be received by the NWS radio network as well as radio and television stations.

"Keeping tabs on the weather and soil conditions can help farmers get off to a good start with spring planting," believes Hayes. "With the high cost of farm inputs, it's information that should be put to good use."
