Tractors Producing Many Farm Injuries

Each year, tractors continue to be involved in injury-producing accidents, points out Spencer Tanksley, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. This is especially true during the busy spring farm and ranch season.

According to Tanksley, more than 1,800 disabling injuries and about 25 fatalities related to tractors occur each year to Texas farmers and ranchers.

Shelly Dunham Breaks Record Of School, Meet

Shelly Dunham set a new meet record and broke her own school record in the discus at the track meet in Tulia last Friday. Her new distance in the discus was 129 feet, two inches, which surpassed her former school record of 124, six inches.

She was also first in the shot put with 38 feet, seven and three-eighths inches.

In the competition, the Mullettes came home with a fourth place win and 39 points.

The 800-meter relay race came in third place with a time of 1:50.4 and members of the team included Shelly Dunham, Sandra Graves, Nettie Coleman and Lupe Pacheco.

In fourth place was Lupe Pacheco in the 400 meter race with a time of 63.8. Nettie Ruth Coleman had a time of 27.8 in the 200 meter race to place fifth.

Saturday, April 12, the 3AA District Girl's Track Meet will be at Olton. Competing will be varsity, and seventh and eighth grade girls for the district title.

More than half of all tractor fatalities result from overturns. Other deaths result from falls from the tractor, tractor accidents on highways, and victims being caught in the power-take-off (PTO) shaft.

All of these tractor accidents can be prevented, points out the county agent.

When stuck in hole or soft spot, a tractor can easily be upset backwards as the driver attempts to drive forward. The safest way to get out is to back out, if possible. If not, have someone pull you out.

A tractor may tip backwards or sideways when crossing a ditch. Therefore, avoid steep banks and cross ditches where banks have gradual slopes, advises Tanksley. Watch for sudden obstructions or

Few 'Turn Out' Last Saturday For Elections

A very light voter turnout was recorded for both the city council and the school board elections, with both incumbents for the city and both for the school waging uncontested races.

Largest voter turnout was in the school board election, where 241 persons voted. R.D. 'Tub' Angeley received 206 votes, and Ronnie Holt received 204 votes. Also with 47 write-in votes was Marcia Henry.

In the city election, incumbents Bob Finney and A.V. Wood were re-elected with a total of 105 voters making the visit to the Muleshoe City Hall to cast their ballot. Finney received 104 votes and Wood got 100 votes in the election.

Lack Of Moisture Hindering Farmers

Wind and sand weary residents braced through another Monday onslaught of blistering and scratching sand and watched the wind slam through this entire area Monday afternoon with speeds surpassing 50 miles per hour at times.

Windows rattled and trees swayed in the latest dry, cold front to whistle through the Muleshoe and surrounding vicinity. However, the residents counted themselves somewhat fortunate as they considered the damage from high wind in the northern Panhandle.

In Gray and Ochiltree Counties, the wind speed was estimated to be around 100 miles per hour. Trees and roofs were reported to have received the major damage in North Texas.

A clear, bright day greeted Muleshoe area residents Tuesday and many people took advantage of the improved weather to work outside.

Northwesterly winds took the cold front quickly through the North Texas and South Plains into eastern Texas where major storms and some tornadoes developed, killing at least one man near Austin, and causing a tornado and severe thunderstorm watch to be posted for 44 East Texas and South Texas counties.

With the approach of springtime weather, the tornado storm season has arrived. Most people don't know what to call them, but West Texans can feel the 'drylines' that weathermen believe important in forecasting severe storms.

Because drylines are particularly prevalent in the Lubbock area, atmospheric scientists at Texas Tech University have designed a geographical honeycomb of 17 weather shelters, housing special instruments to continuously measure temperature, pressure, relative humidity and wind within a 1,000 square mile area.

Dr. Richard E. Peterson of Texas Tech's atmospheric sciences group said the shelters will be placed in the Lubbock area. Data

Study Club

The Muleshoe Study Club met, Thursday March 27, in the home of Mrs. Thurman White.

Members answering the roll call with their favorite antique, were Mrs. J.G. Arnn, Mrs. Betty Carpenter, Mrs. Joe Costen, Mrs. Elmo Stevens, Mrs. A.C. Neely, Mrs. Doyle Turner, Mrs. Walter Bartholf, Mrs. Charles Shain and a visitor, Mrs. Charles Lenau, and the hostess Mrs. Thurman White. Mrs. Lenau brought the program, on antiques and Discussed each piece the the members had brought. She told the club that more and more young people were becoming interested in antiques. As the older people travel, they watch for antiques and collector items.

To be an antique, an item has to be 100 years old, and this is the reason for collectors items being so popular. Some of the better pieces of furniture have doubled in price since 1974.

Oriental objects have become hunted items and have also increased in value.

Cowboy gear has become sought after as antiques. In buying glassware, special attention should be given for there are so many reproductions and they are hard to detect.

The saying about antiques or old collector pieces is that they are old and increased in value, where as something new can be used and shortly become second hand.

Refreshments of chocolate cream puffs, fruits, coffee and tea were served to each attending.

The Muleshoe Study Club will meet Thursday, April 10, in the meeting room at Muleshoe State Bank, with a program on drug abuse brought by, Wayne Holmes.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I was in Lubbock, Tex. Tuesday, April 1st and Wednesday, April 2nd. Reason: to shop while my sister-in-law, Bonnie Carpenter from Muleshoe, Tex. served on Grand Jury at the District Court.

I live in the southwest corner of Bailey Co., one and one-half miles from the N. Mex. line. Some years ago when the Government closed the smaller post offices, we were "blessed" with being put on the mail route out of Portales, N. Mex. It is very hard for some people without the problem to understand how you can live in Texas and have a N. Mexico address. (My first problem was with my driver's license. They said I must move back to Texas within 90 days or get New Mexico license. Second: my husband is 100 percent disabled. His V.A. records were promptly sent from Austin, Tex. to Santa Fe, N.M. and would remain there until we "moved again," when we had not moved - just our mail route had changed. This was just the beginning of lots of headaches with our new mail route.

The maddest I have ever been was in Lubbock Wednesday. I had shopped on Tuesday several places, then started out again Wednesday a.m. My checks have never been a problem in Lubbock with proper I.D., driver's license, a credit card and about five minutes of explaining why my address is in one state while I live and bank in another state, blah, blah, blah.

Then I went into K-Mart on 34th and Avenue Q. I spent approximately an hour selecting books for an art class I intend to teach. Then went over to get my check approved. The little girl did her job - first thumbing through their file of hot checks. She couldn't find one on me because I don't give those - Then she called her manager to approve my check. (I bank with First National Bank - Muleshoe) He just glanced at it and said, "I'm sorry, you are not in our trade area! You are from Portales, N.M. I said, "No, I'm not, I live in Bailey Co., Tex." and tried to explain. He didn't bother to listen. He just said, "Well, your address is Portales and you bank there." And I said "No, I don't, I bank in Muleshoe." And he said, "Well, you are still out of our trade area."

I just thought you Muleshoe and Portales people might like to know our business is no good in K-Mart on Avenue Q and 34th in Lubbock. However, it is good at the other K-Marts in Lubbock. There's one on 19th and one on 50th.

And, to you, Mr. K-Mart Manager, the new pickup we bought recently in Lubbock had taxes on it that went into Lubbock Co. Also, Mr. Manager, if we are out of your trade area - why was my sister-in-law serving on jury in Lubbock.

Last, but most important, why Mr. Manager, on my way home did I see two huge pipelines being buried to carry water to your home from MULESHOE. And, I suppose you won't use any of that water in your precious store, either, in Lubbock, since I'm not in your trade area.

Sincerely,
Barbara Carpenter

Expert cites aerobic benefits

COLLEGE STATION — To many a beginning runner, the pain and agony often obscures the benefits of a new exercise program.

One of the main advantages of aerobic exercise, such as running, jogging or cycling, is the effect it has on cardiovascular fitness, says a Texas A&M University physical fitness expert.

The fit body gained from sustained exercise, as in running, increases the lungs' capacity to deliver and utilize oxygen and the heart's capacity to pump blood, says Dr. John Chevrette, a Texas A&M health and physical education professor and co-author of "Running for Fun and Fitness," a handbook for the beginning runner.

Chevrette also cites reduction and prevention of hypertension, reduction of cholesterol in the bloodstream and weight control as additional running benefits.

Storm...

gathered from the instruments will be analyzed in an attempt to find patterns conducive to outbreaks of severe weather. Of special interest are the form and movement of drylines.

These lines develop as a sharp boundary between very moist air moving up from the gulf of Mexico and very dry air moving in from the West. The boundary between the two may be less than a mile wide, he said.

Tractors...

ground depressions that might cause the tractor to tip sideways. Also, stay clear of banks that could cave in.

Tractors are less stable when operating on a slope. Keep wheels spread as wide as possible and drive slowly, with no sudden turns. On steep slopes, drive up in a reverse and drive down forward. Keep mounted equipment on the uphill side if possible.

Tanksley points out that hitching mistakes can also cause overturn. Pulling heavy loads and hitching above the normal drawbar height may raise the front wheels off the ground and cause a backward overturn.

And, don't think you can reach to prevent an overturn once it starts, cautioned the county agent. After the wheels begin to rise, even on level ground, the operator has less than a second to realize what's happening. Thus, the best preventative measure is safe operation from the start, concluded Tanksley.

Gilbreath...

On December 24, 1961, he was married to the former Fern Cunningham LaFon at Lubbock. Survivors include his wife, Fern; one son, John Charles Gilbreath, San Diego, Calif.; four daughters, Mrs. Doris Ann Eubanks, DeKalb; Mrs. Drucilla Glass, Chattanooga, Tex.; Mrs. Joyce Chisum, Lubbock and Mrs. LaNell Ethridge, Bryan; one sister, Mrs. Blanche Miller, Ft. Worth; one brother, Hubert Gilbreath, Brady and 10 grandchildren.

On the day of the Lubbock tornado of 1970, a dryline was perceived moving through the city before the storm. After it had passed, it was believed that the threat of severe weather had passed. The dryline, however, backed up and atmospheric scientists believe this contributed to the severe storm development.

Peterson said that before tornadoes struck Vernon and Wichita Falls last year, a dryline was noted moving through Lubbock about 1 p.m. The storm struck Wichita Falls about 6 p.m.

The most numerous passages of these lines occur across this area in April and May, Peterson said. Storms appear to develop just ahead of the drylines.

One clear evidence of the occurrence, he said, is the dew point. That can be 60 degrees Fahrenheit in the moisture-laden Gulf air and drop to 20 degrees as the dryline passes.

If results obtained in April and May this year indicate that sharp transition zones between dry and moist air are important measurements needed to forecast severe storms, efforts will be made to continue the research.

Ancient grain could decrease modern food shortages

COLLEGE STATION — A 2,000-year-old staple of the Inca empire described by Texas A&M University scientists as an "almost ideal food protein" could provide an ancient answer to modern food shortages.

The grain, quinoa (key-no-ah), is a cereal with a protein rating of about 16 percent, compared to a skimpy 6 percent in most American wheat products. This makes quinoa far superior to most cereal grains.

Quinoa is only under experimental testing in the United States at Texas A&M test plots, but researchers agree quinoa could be adapted to American high technology agricultural production methods, particularly in the dry Texas High Plains.

This hybrid's record for consistency has made it one of the most popular hybrids on the High Plains. In 77 comparisons over the last four years against competitive hybrids, 3184 has shown an average yield of 183.7 bu./A. with a yield advantage of 14.3 bu./A. over competitors. Bred with outstanding drought tolerance, 3184 can adjust ear size and kernel depth to match growing conditions. And strong stalks keep 3184 standing straight for speedy harvest. It's just what High Plains farmers need in a dependable, high-yielding corn hybrid. And its maturity makes it a good companion for 3183.

Push this one for highest yields! In 43 comparisons on the High Plains in 1979, this hybrid averaged 192.1 bu./A. A sampling of yields from 1979 includes 216 bu./A. for Sheldon Rapp at Hooker, Oklahoma . . . 210.4 bu./A. for Larry Kemp of Muleshoe . . . and 196.7 bu./A. for Doyle Underwood at Dimmitt, Texas. 3183 has demonstrated very good standability and ear retention in this area. # Mexico Increases '80 Grain Orders

Mexico will continue to be a major buyer of U.S. grain in the foreseeable future, according to GSPA Executive Director Elbert Harp. Sales of more than 60 million bushels of grain sorghum have been registered since October 1, 1979. Harp said, "Our neighbor to the south has become the second largest buyer of our grain sorghum. They are exceeded only by Japan."

Harp was in Mexico City March 19-21 with a trade led by Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown and Texas Agricultural Products Marketing Director Ben Baisdon. The purpose of the trip was to express appreciation to the Mexican officials for their purchases and to discuss some problems which are limiting sales.

The group had conferences with the top officials of Mexico's Department of Commerce and Industry; the national railroad; and CONASUPO, the agency which licenses and regulates grain imports. The team also met with major grain importers and officials of the U.S. Embassy in Mexico.

Mexico suffered a severe drought in 1979 and their crops were seriously reduced. Currently, irrigation reservoirs are nearly empty. Another short crop is predicted unless unusually good rains fall during the spring and summer. Even with the large imports of this year, Mexican poultry producers are complaining of short grain supplies.

The logistics of moving such large quantities of grain is a problem. At the present time, 40 percent of the imported grain moves into Mexico by rail with some unit trains being run. The rest of the grain goes by ship. New Orleans, Houston and Brownsville are major ports for these shipments.

The Mexican officials assured the team that at least 90 percent of their grain purchases would be from the U.S.. They expect to buy 1.75 million tons of sorghum, 2.3 million tons of corn, 1.2 million tons of wheat and over a million tons of soybeans. Much of the corn imported is for human food. The Mexicans claim to consume nine million tons of tortillas each year.

The Mexican government is determined to be self-sufficient in grain production. However, few observers believe their expansion can keep pace with the increased demand for meat, milk and eggs.

Other members of the team were: Don Ator, Director, Seed Division, Texas Department of Agriculture; Jack Courtney, Grain Marketing and Transportation Specialist, Texas Department of Agriculture; Ernesto Deleon, Marketing Specialist, Texas Department of Agriculture; Lindell Coan, Chairman, Texas Peanut Producers Board; Jim Allison, Executive Assistant, Texas Wheat Producers Board; Berwin Tilson, Executive Director, Texas Soybeans Producers Board; Othal Neeley, Texas Certified Seed Producers, Inc.; Carl King, President, Texas Corn Growers Association; and Fred Bruegel, President, Texas Grain & Feed Association.

The problem of living is to find time for the things we would like to do.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Texas and Mexico ended a chapter of frustration last week: Mexican technologists finally capped the runaway Ixtoc 1 oil well in the Gulf of Mexico.

The well has spilled 130 million barrels of oil into the Gulf since it went out of control ten months ago. Coast Guard observers reported last week all signs indicate the flow has ceased, good news for residents and businessmen along the lower Texas coast.

Without fixing the blame for the spill, the Texas House Environmental Affairs Committee recommended creation of a special fund to help coastal businesses which suffered from the oil spill.

The committee also backed Attorney General Mark White's lawsuit to collect damages from the Mexican drilling company Pemargo and from SEDCO, Inc., the Dallas oil drilling company founded by Gov. Bill Clements.

A staunch defender of Mexico throughout the oil spill crisis, Clements received return praise last week when visiting Gov. Enrique Cardenas Gonzalez of Tamaulipas, Mexico thanked the Texan for his support.

Mexican Produce Pact
Clements and Gonzalez formally finalized an agreement to exchange programs involving college students, teachers, and agricultural and cattle products.

Clements said Mexico will export significantly more amounts of fruits and vegetables to the United States, from broccoli to strawberries.

The Governor said he would be unwilling to impose restrictions on the imported products which would raise their price to par with Texas-grown goods, and he did not see a potential for "dumping" which would subvert Texas growers.

"Texas 150"
Looking to 1986, Clements gave the go-ahead to his new state agency to plan and coordinate celebrations of the 150th anniversary of Texas Independence from Mexico.

The new Texas Sesquicentennial Commission chairman Rep. Chris Semos of Dallas said he favored a decentralized celebration with events scheduled in several cities throughout the year.

The 1936 Centennial celebration cost taxpayers only $25 million.

Presidential Politics
Former Texas Gov. John Connally accompanied Republican presidential contender Ronald Reagan on his brief campaign jaunt through the state last week.

Connally, who dropped out of the race three weeks ago, has endorsed the former California governor and climbed "on board" Reagan's campaign. The pair made stops at Dallas and Longview, where Reagan said Connally was not being considered as a running mate.

Of his support, Connally said, "I come wanting nothing."
Clements avoided endorsing anyone for president, but he predicted Reagan's popularity will increase in Texas while President Jimmy Carter's will sink. The Governor, thought by some to be a potential vice presidential choice, speculated that Reagan and Carter were presently about even in the eyes of Texas voters.

DES AGAIN
BOSTON — Women whose mothers took the drug DES in hopes of preventing miscarriage face an unusually high risk of losing their own babies to miscarriage, stillbirth or other complications, a study indicates. The study of 1,236 women was written by Dr. Ann B. Barnes at Massachusetts General Hospital, and published in the New England Journal of Medicine.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—Last month the Sunset Advisory Commission met in Austin to hear staff reports on five state agencies which are under review this biennium. These agencies are among the 29 agencies which will automatically cease to exist on September 1, 1981, unless the legislature votes to allow them to continue to operate.

The staff of the commission made the following observations and recommendations regarding the five agencies:

Continued regulation of plumbers is necessary to protect the public health. Regulation could continue through the present six-member Board of Plumbing Examiners with certain modifications aimed at improving public accountability and fiscal responsibility, or through the Department of Health.

The Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz Museum in Fredericksburg is the only museum in Texas operated through an independent commission. State universities, historical commissions, or agencies involved in natural resources have traditionally operated such museums. The staff recommended that the board that operates the Nimitz museum be abolished and its functions be transferred to the Texas Historical Commission or the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission.

The State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers which currently licenses 35,000 engineers, should continue to license and regulate engineers because of the expanded use of engineering services and the increasingly complex nature of such services. Suggested modifications include public members on the board and elimination of rules restricting advertising and competitive bidding.

Continuation of the Texas Veterans Affairs Commission is essential to help veterans, their dependents and survivors in collecting federal benefits.

The need for the Texas Aeronautics Commission continues to exist due to increases in the number of Texans relying on aviation as a means of transportation. The staff also recommended that the legislature remove the $100,000 ceiling on airport grants to Texas cities and towns.

The Sunset process is continuing to work for Texans by ensuring that our state agencies work for the public's benefit in an economical, efficient, and responsive manner.

Use Of Medic Alert Could Save Many Lives

During the summer of 1953 in Turlock, California, a high school sophomore named Linda Collins cut herself slightly while playing with an air rifle. Her father, a physician, and mother were away from home attending a medical meeting so a neighbor took Linda to a doctor who treated the wound. The doctor gave Linda a sensitivity test to tetanus antitoxin in case she was allergic to the injection. Unfortunately, Linda was highly allergic to the drug... the scratch test almost killed her. Linda was in a coma for three medic alert continued days. Her father, Dr. Marion C. Collins, was determined to prevent this from ever happening again. He designed a slender silver bracelet for his daughter bearing the insignia of the medical profession on the front in red along with the words Medic Alert. On the back was engraved this warning: "Allergic to Horse Serum," the liquid vehicle used at that time for tetanus antitoxin.

Convinced that bracelets like Linda's, or necklace emblems, with vital messages could save countless lives, Dr. Collins investigated the feasibility of establishing a nonprofit, charitable organization to provide a lifeline to those who might be unable to ask for help in critical situations. He surmised that not only persons, suffering from drug allergies, but diabetics, epileptics, hemophiliacs, and myriad others with hidden medical problems could find themselves in situations where improper diagnosis and treatment might cost them their lives.

After years of planning and consulting with fellow physicians, nurses, law enforcement agencies, and national leaders, he established the Medic Alert Foundation International in April, 1956. Unlike many nonprofit, charitable organizations though, Medic Alert has not received any federal or state funds. It is maintained by enrollment of new members and by grants and contributions from individuals, corporations, and other foundations.

Since its birth in 1956, Medic Alert has experienced phenomenal growth over 1.4 million members in the 14 affiliated foundations internationally. More than 7,000 new members join Medic Alert Foundation estimates that one out of five Americans has a hidden medical condition. Medic Alert Foundation International is a total 24-hour emergency medical identification system. The emblem is backed up with an annually issued wallet card that carries additional medical and personal information. Both emblem and card carry the emergency telephone number of Medic Alert's central file which contains all the information the member and physician believe necessary in an emergency. This information is available within seconds to emergency personnel via a collect telephone call. To keep information current, each member receives a print-out of his total file each year and is asked to make any necessary changes.

Cankercworms Hetting Trees Again This Spring

Remember the tiny little worms that devoured the leaves of oaks, elms and other trees early last spring over much of Texas? Well, they are back again this spring. Adult moths of the tiny worms have been found in parts of South Central Texas and other locations. This is a signal of infestations by the leaf-eating worms this spring and should warn us to be on the lookout and to take action if necessary, points out Dr. Phil Hamman, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Cankercworms are about an inch long and are slender. They vary in color from light brown to nearly black and from green to brown. The worms feed on buds and unfolding leaves. Cankercworms are also called inchworms or measuring worms because of their spanning or measuring action as they move about. They move from branch to branch or drop from trees on silken threads, explains Hamman. When disturbed, they may stand nearly erect and remain motionless, resembling small twigs. What can be done to control this cantakerous pest? One method of control is to band tree trunks with a sticky material such as tanglefoot since female moths must climb tree trunks to lay their eggs. This might be effective in northern areas of the state where egg-laying has not yet started. Place a 3-to-4-inch wide strip around the trunk about 4 feet from the ground, suggests the entomologist. While this method offers some control, spraying a tree with a residual insecticide soon after worms become active is the surest control practice, points out Hamman. He recommends spraying only those trees where foliage damage is evident and worms are present. Give particular attention to newly transplanted trees, special landscape trees and fruit or nut trees. Insecticides registered for controlling cankerworms include malathion, carbaryl (Sevin), Orthene and methoxychlor. A biological insecticide called Bacillus thuringiensis (Dipel, Bactur) is also effective and is non-toxic to humans, pets or wildlife. After using a biological insecticide, worms should stop feeding on foliage immediately but will live for about three days. A key to whether or not to spray for cankerworms is the condition of the trees involved, emphasizes Hamman.

UT leaders

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Top positions in leading national organizations of forestry and law have been taken over by University of Texas professors. Dr. Stephen H. Spurr, professor in the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs and in the Department of Botany, has become president of the Society of American Foresters, a 23,000-member group of professional foresters. Jerre S. Williams, who holds the John B. Connally Chair of Civil Jurisprudence in the Law School, is new president of the Association of American Law Schools. Its membership is made up of the more than 130 law schools in the U.S.

Import practices

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — A University of Texas study shows not all U.S. companies would be affected the same if a foreign country were to restrict its crude oil exports to America. That is because the importing practices of the major U.S. oil companies vary widely. UT Austin's Institute for Constructive Capitalism reports, for example, that Occidental and Amerada Hess import more than 75 per cent of their crude, while Standard of Ohio imports none. Nor does the imported crude come from one place. Phillips Petroleum, for example, draws 70.8 per cent of its imports from Nigeria; Exxon, 40.1 per cent from Saudi Arabia.

SAYS NO

The Carter administration has refused to give Congress internal details of the United States' switch on a United Nations resolution condemning Israeli settlements in occupied Arab territories. Assistant Secretary of State J. Brian Atwood said a public inquiry into the March 1 vote in the U.N. Security Council could hurt Mideast peace negotiations.

TO RECEIVE AWARD

KANSAS CITY, MO. — W. Averell Harriman, a longtime U.S. diplomat and former New York governor, will be awarded the 1980 Harry S. Truman Good Neighbor Award. The Truman award will be presented to Harriman on May 8 during the annual birthday luncheon honoring the former president.

DPS Issues New Warning To Speeders

"Warning!!! If you are a driver who is violating the 55 MPH speed law, you may be caught and required to appear in court," stated Major C.W. Bell, Commanding Officer of Region 5 of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Major Bell announced today that an active enforcement program is being directed at the deliberate and determined law violator who seeks to defeat the enforcement efforts of the 55 MPH speed law by employing police scanners, radar detectors and CB radios.

Major Bell said, "Our troopers are going to be aggressive and will work radar in unmarked vehicles as well as black and white." He stated that all legal means available will be used to make the use of the radar unit more effective.

He stated that there are several reasons for the special effort. One reason he gave was the 4,000 plus deaths which occurred on Texas Streets and Highways last year. He said,

"The thought of over 20,000 accidents and over 1,000 deaths involving speeding over the limit last year should be cause for every Texas motorist to slow down and observe the speed limit."

He added, "Another reason, in addition to saving the lives of many Texans, is that many disabling injuries can be prevented. Also, achieving a greater compliance will have a beneficial effect on gasoline conservation."

The Federal Surface Transportation Act of 1978 established national levels of compliance that each state must meet or face sanctions. For instance, had we not met 30 percent compliance with the 55 MPH speed limit by September of 1979 Texas could have lost 8 million dollars. By September of 1980 40 percent of Texas Drivers must be in compliance or we will be subject to similar sanctions.

Major Bell said, "We hope that by providing this special effort we can save precious lives, conserve fuel and comply with the 40 percent mandate.

Sevine Outlook To Be Traced At Shortcourse

An economist whose outlook projections on livestock are used by many regional and national publications will present his estimates for the changing swine industry at a short-course for pork producers at Plainview, Wednesday, April 9.

Glenn Grimes, livestock marketing specialist with the Missouri Extension Service, is one of the featured speakers for the annual Texas A&M University Swine Short-course. He will project outlooks for hog and feed prices and hog numbers.

The program at the Hale County Agricultural Center south of the city will begin at 8 a.m. and end at 4:05 p.m. The latest trends and developments in production, management and marketing will be traced by animal scientists and producers from Texas, Missouri, Kansas and Kentucky.

The course is organized and sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, with support, from the animal science department at A&M., the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Pork Producers Assn., and Texas Pork Producers staff.

His outlook releases are regularly featured by many state, regional and national publications and he is in demand as a speaker for producer and industry meetings and courses such as this one.
