Puzzle for Congress
Nelson Had Married
Pet. Tax on Crime
Barreling in a Storm

More than a thousand of war veterans in Washington now close to the Capitol, where congressmen can be seen. Five thousand more are on the way. And they say they "will be in Washington until 1945, if necessary, or until they get the bonus in full." Also some have said: "We are the young men of this country who fought for it, and we propose to stay in it."
This will add to the hard thinking of the state and house, now wondering how they can attend to the work on the budget, including a deficit of about two billion dollars.

It is not a pleasure trip for the veterans. They sleep in tents and the "rich country" spends six dollars a day on the food of each man, and meals at three cents apiece.

It has been announced that men graduating from the naval academy at Annapolis will be forbidden to marry within two years after leaving Annapolis, Congressman Cochran of Missouri will introduce a bill to prevent any such regulation.

Men in the army and navy are not to marry early because of the possibility of their being killed young in the war, and the desirability of their leaving descendants to fill the places.

It would have been a good thing if Nelson had married the young Canadian girl with whom he was so desirably in love, when he commanded theigate cruising off the Atlantic coast in our war with England. He had married that girl, from a fellow officers dragged him to help by force, he might have left him some interesting little Nelson and refrained from making such a fool of himself with Lady Hamilton.

The senate voted to tax 100 per cent all incomes earned through violations of state or federal laws.

This indicates the opinion that our government is more efficient collecting taxes than in stopping crime. And opinion is sound. We collect, we do not check crime.

With a one hundred per cent tax on beggars, racketeers and the army of crooked politicians will have nothing more to do with banks or safe deposits. Even the big tin box at the door will not be safe from a vigilant government prying.

It was a bad storm at sea, hearing the captain quarreling with the first mate and the second mate calling the captain an inefficient fool, passengers did not be happy.

In the present economic storm, men, hearing the principal officials of their government belittling each other, feel none too cheerful. Men are tired when they can think of nothing to do. It is a sad, annoying thought, but the people of the United States may be compelled to take a real interest in their government, and do some thinking for themselves.

Good times will come back. Thinking and planning and working will bring it back. Complaining will help nothing, although there will be plenty of it. Nobody is responsible for conditions, although general foolishness, carelessness and self-complacency are largely responsible.
The world is paying for the great error, and this nation, as usual, is the chief paymaster.

Mr. Charles Woerishoffer operated Wall Street, was a great man in that part of the country fifty years ago and accumulated millions. His son, who has just died, left more than ten millions, with more than two millions in government bonds.

This weakens the theory that women know nothing about business, although life insurance statistics show that it usually takes about three years for some man to get any money at a widow may inherit.

Germany, after maintaining a republic since the war, may try a dictator. Mr. Hitler, young Nazi leader, the German Mussolini.
Paris, much interested in the possibilities, will may be. Dictators often free, Mussolini gave a fine reception.

Perry Estep Dies From Pistol Shot

Perry Estep, Glasscock county ranchman, died last Saturday morning of a pistol wound in the head, said to have been self inflicted, at his home at Garden City.

He was buried at the Foster Cemetery, seven miles south of Sterling City on Sunday afternoon in the presence of a gathering of sorrowing friends.

On or about the 6th. of last May, deceased was found near the bridge across the North Concho on the Garden City road, suffering with a severe wound in the throat, said to have been self inflicted with a knife. He was brought here and was given medical attention, and after several days, he had so far recovered that he was taken home and was nearly well when his alleged second attempt at self destruction proved successful. It is said that an illness brought on the suicidal mania which proved his fatal ending.

Perry Estep was well and favorably known in ranch circles in this part of West Texas, and one and all regret his unfortunate passing. He once resided on a ranch near Sterling City, and while here, lost one of his children which was buried at the Foster cemetery.

Mrs. J. B. Atkinson Entertains

Mrs. Jim Atkinson entertained with bridge Wednesday afternoon honoring her guests, Mrs. R. Q. Mayhew of Brady, Mrs. Ira Shirley of Sonora, Mrs. Mildred Storey of San Marcos, and also the Friday Bridge Club. Five tables of players enjoyed the hostess' gracious hospitality. After the games a refreshing salad course was served the guests.

Democratic Executive Committee to Meet

The Sterling County Democratic Executive Committee is hereby called to meet at the courthouse in Sterling City at 2 p. m., June 20, 1932, to attend to various matters of business relating to the Primary Election.

Malcom Black,
County Chairman.

Hon. Lee Satterwhite Here

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Satterwhite of Odessa were welcomed callers at this office last Saturday morning.

Mr. Satterwhite is a candidate for the office of State Railroad Commissioner subject to the action of the Democratic Primary, July 23, 1932.

He has served fourteen years as a member of the Texas Legislature and was speaker of the House in the Thirty-Ninth Legislature.

During the fourteen years service in the legislature, this editor served with him the four years included in the 36th and 37th legislatures, and had ample opportunity to know him. In our humble opinion, Lee Satterwhite is as honest as the days are long. He is a man of keen perception and of broad mind. Having spent most of his life in West Texas, he has had great opportunity to learn the needs of this portion of the State, but he is big enough and broad enough to serve the needs of the whole State.

The fact that he is our personal friend, and is a West Texas man, is not going to keep us from voting our judgement when we mark our ballot. We shall vote the dictates of that judgement, and in doing so, we shall vote for Lee Satterwhite because we think that he is the best man for the place.

Mrs. Herman Everitt Entertains Club

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Herman Everitt was hostess to her bridge club at the W. B. Everitt home. Two tables of club members enjoyed the afternoon's diversion. At the close of a series of games a refreshing chicken salad course with iced tea was served. Those present were: Mesdames V. E. Davis, James McEntire, Sam Mahaffey, Oran Ballou, Templeton Foster, Pat Kellis, W. B. Everitt and Miss Ethel Foster.

Married

Mr. James Grace and Miss Gladys Edwards were married in Sterling City, on Wednesday, June 1, Dr. W. B. Everitt officiating.

Highway Workers Strike

A part of the construction crew on the work of paving of the west end of highway No. 9. is out on a strike. The men claim that they have not been getting their pay to meet the demands for payment of their food bills. Some allege that they have been paid off in worthless checks for their labor.

These men say that they have been working at reduced wages, and that they are not getting pay, and that they are quitting until such time as the contractors will pay them. They further say that they are ready to go back to their work if they are assured that they will be paid as per contract. The failure of the road contractors to pay these men is working a hardship, not only on the laborers, but on the business of the whole community.

Some of the men expressed a hope that everything will be adjusted soon and that work will be resumed in a few days.

Prohibition May Come Up in Primary

At a conference held by Governor Sterling, Dan Moody, Senator Walter Woodward, Thomas B. Love and other Democrats a few days ago, a strong sentiment was expressed in favor of a referendum at the coming primaries to determine the sentiment for or against the repeal of the 18th Amendment.

Thomas B. Love, leader of the bone dries, expressed himself as in favor of submitting the question to the Texas voters. Dan Moody expressed the same sentiment.

It is very likely that the people of Texas will have a chance of expressing their sentiment for or against the 18th Amendment on July 23. If the question comes up, there will be a record number of Democratic votes in the primary this year. The campaign will be short, but hot.

A phone call from Sterling to San Angelo used to cost 25 cents. Now it is 55 cents. Everybody in Sterling thinks the rate is too high.

John Hoffer Shot to Death

John Hoffer, aged 72, ex-ranger and former oil and gas inspector for the State Railroad Commission, died from a pistol wound in the head at San Angelo last Wednesday afternoon.

A shot was heard in his room and he was found sitting upright in a chair with a pistol near him. He died while being conveyed to a hospital. A coroner's verdict was that he died from a self inflicted wound.

John Hoffer had been a resident of San Angelo almost since the beginning of that city. While he performed the duties of oil inspector, he was known to most of the people in this part of West Texas. Everybody liked John Hoffer for his honest, frank and manly bearing. He had been in ill health for quite awhile before his death.

R. P. Adams, Choirister.

Congressman R. E. Thomason has merited the gratitude of all the people for the splendid fight he has, and is now making to save Fort D. A. Russell at Marfa, Texas. Only for his continued efforts, the troops at Fort Russell would have already been moved to Kentucky where they are not needed, Marfa is in the most exposed spot on the borders of the United States to bandit raids from Mexico. We predict that within six months after the troops leave Marfa, the blood of Texans will be spilled because of it, and Texas will be called on to defend that which its taxpayers have already paid Uncle Sam to defend. Texas is getting it in the neck, and she needs boys like Thomason to stand up for her.

Congressman Thomason has an opponent in the person of Dan M.
Jackson of El Paso. Mr. Jackson is said to hold a job as assistant federal district attorney. Holding this job under a Republican administration may result in questions being asked as to whether or not he is a Democrat. Most everyone knows that in order to get a federal job one must be a Republican.

We should be delighted to see the ex-soldier boys get their pay, but their march on to Washington is to be deplored. It lacks that dignity and self restraint that so becomes a true soldier. Too much clapstick horseplay and clown stuff in a circus ring. Too much like Coxe and his army of ragged Icabods who got sore at the people who offered them a box of soap and the free use of bath tubs. Too much like a cheap mob trying to collect a living which they think the world owes them.
While it is entirely desirable that they get their pay, even if it is not due for several years to come, yet this "On to Washington" stuff looks too cheap for heroes who went thru hell in the service of their country.
It is not the right way.

Without knowing it every normal human being has an implicit trust and faith in God. When a man plants a tree, he does so with a faith that its roots will grow downward and its branches grow upward and that flower and fruit will grow thereon. He has faith that its foliage, will in God's allotted time spring, live, die and fall in the due course of the seasons. He has faith that rains will fall to water the tree as has been the case since the mists went up from the sea to water the trees in the primeval garden. We need no theologian to tell us that God is everywhere, because the work of His hand is to be seen in every plant and tree, as well as every living creature that has a being. Without being aware of it, every man has an abiding faith in God.

Governor Sterling's plan for taking over county road bonds by the state seems to be gaining in popularity with the people. When the state builds a state highway, it becomes the property of the state, and the state should pay for it and not the counties thru which it passes.

Sterling county gave up $201,000 to build highway No. 9 through it.
This highway passes thru parts of Coke, Glasscock and Howard counties, yet, those counties have never contributed one nickel toward building this road. Those people are enjoying the benefits of this road just the same as the Sterling citizens who have dug deeply to pay for it.

A majority of the counties of Texas have bonded themselves heavily for building state roads over which all the people of the state have equal rights to travel, and they feel that it is only just and right that all the people should pay for in equal proportion.

HARDTIMES CLUB

President Grumblin McCroaker took his place on the east end of the bench in front of the Sterling Theater last Monday morning. A large red ant was having a heated argument with a flea that was eating his breakfast from the right ear of Pok-along's hound dog which was taking his morning's siesta under the official bench. The dog lay with his body under the bench while his tail protruded for about a yard over the sidewalk.

As Postmaster Hal passed that way he raised his No. 7's very high in order that the slumbers of the sleeping canine be not disturbed.
From the short barks and low whines, while his feet and legs twitched, one was led to conclude that old Nero was dreaming that he was engaged in a fierce combat with a ferocious jackrabbit.

The flea and the ant kept up their fuss until secretary Damly OScratch-er fired a stream of Brown Mule tobacco juice into the right ear of the flea and spattered the left eye of the ant with the same shot. The flea dived for long hair, and after wiping his weeping eyes, the ant was last seen ascending the inner side of Gitterby Hardluck's britches leg.

Tingledod Stinkly was absent because his wife made him stay at home in order that she might put another patch on his pants.

After each member of the club had taken his seat on the bench, President McCroaker asked if anyone had a report to make. "I have", said Abe Duckendodgit.

"Well, let us have it," ordered the president.

"You all remember Augereye Mc-Buzzard, don't you?"

"Sure."

"Well, the hardtimes has hit him and his family right in the middle."

"How is that?"

"Well, Augereye had a good job at a garage, but the boss wanted him to sweep the floors and do other dirty work about the place, and he quit."

"I don't blame him," said Mr. Dodendonothin.

"Things went from bad to worse with Augereye until he had to send his three kids to the poor house.
After awhile, his wife had to go and live with her kinfolks, and Augereye's friends are afraid that he will now have to give up his car."

"That is awful. That is the fruits of the money power. Congress ought to do something," said Billiour Hopinfetchett.

At this juncture, Thad Green, who was lugging a case of tomatoes for Mrs. Nelson's grocery store, and not seeing his feet, stepped squarely on the dog's tail. Imagining that the pugnacious jackrabbit of his dream had secured a tail hold on him, the old dog set up such a howl that the club adjourned.

Depressions were known even as far back as the Tower of Babel. The object of this structure was to build it so high that it would reach up to Heaven. They planned to make it so high that one could reach the Pearly Gates by climbing the stairway. One morning when they all started to work, they found that the boss could not make himself understood. Neither could the workers understand each other. In their confusion, they had to quit work and let the tower go unfinished. Three years ago, we were building another Tower of Babel. We got so high in the work that one day there was confusion and we had to come down from our high perch because there was something the matter with us.
We were confused and to this good day none of us can tell what it is all about. We know we have a depression, but none of us are wise enough to know the cause of it. We built the thing too high.

While wool is so cheap, quite a number of our sheep raisers are sending bags of wool to factories, and are having it converted into fine blankets, rugs, robes, quilt wadding or wool cloth for making all sorts of clothing.

There are a number of custom mills over the United States that are converting wool into the things needed in the home. They guarantee to put the wool you send them into the blankets and other fabrics you order, at a great saving. We have been shown some blankets made by one of these mills from lamb's wool grown around Sterling, that are hard to beat.

The old problem of, "from factory to consumer," is being solved by some of our local wool growers.
Aside from high grade blankets at a very low price, one has the satisfaction of knowing that he sleeps under blankets of virgin wool grown on the backs of his own sheep. Then it helps to get rid of surplus wool.

A pecan hulling plant, established last season by Black Brothers at Clarksville, furnished employment for 350 workers and handled 4,000 pounds of unshelled pecans a day.
The firm has been handling pecans as jobbers for twenty years and the hulling factory is an extension of their business.

The town is becoming overgrown with weeds as a result of the continued rains. The outside part of the court house square was beginning to be a forest of tall weeds, but last Tuesday the authorities had a man with a hoe to work on them and they are not near so thick as they were. Before this work was begun, a friend said: "Uncle Bill, why don't you prod the Commissioners for allowing them big weeds to grow on the square?"

"Can't do her, son. My yard is just full of weeds. The Missus is nagging me every day to cut them weeds, and I know how it feels to be nagged about it. If you will wait until I get my yard cleaned up, I might think of getting after the other fellow. I believe in sweeping before your own door before criticising the other fellow's front yard."

In the interest of economy and home enterprise oiled gravel, oiled dirt or asphaltum and rock roads should be constructed wherever practicable. While many of the main highways are subject to this type of construction, its cost is such that it is particularly adaptable to lateral roads where truck traffic is not heavy. Roads of this sort constructed where travel is not exceptionally heavy have been found to possess exceptional lasting qualities, with low upkeep cost.

Income tax rates, restoring the high 1921 levies, go into effect on incomes for the 1932 calendar year with first payments due next March 15.

Excise taxes on articles including electric power, cosmetics, automobiles and candy are effective June 21.

Here are some of the rates: Automobile, 3 per cent; candy, 2; electrical energy, 3 per cent on sales for domestic and commercial purposes; gasoline, 1 cent a gallon; checks, 1 cents each.

First class postage increased to 3 cents, effective in 30 days.

Tariff levies are imposed on oil, coal, lumber and copper.

Method of collecting the new duties will be announced soon by the internal revenue bureau.—San Angelo Standard.

Citrus fruit shipments out of the Rio Grande Valley for the season just closed were 8,200 carloads.
The first shipment was made ten years ago, and there are now 8,000 citrus trees in that area in various stages of growth.

Rowsey advertised his business in the News-Record and did a fine business. We wrote Rowsey's ads for him, and wrote them in such a way that our friend Armstrong was forced to come back at him thru the paper. While the little printers ink war was raging between, both did a fine business. Mr. Rowsey is engaged in selling homemade sorghum syrup and made quite a sale here.

After her graduation at the Hockaday school for women at Dallas last week, Miss Virginia McEntire returned with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. McEntire to the U ranch home where she will boss Daddy George and keep a line on Brother "Little George." Aside from her literary accomplishments, Miss Virginia rides and ropes with the best of them and makes a top cow hand. In chasing wolves, Miss Virginia is usually the first to be in at the kill. But in the home, this girl keeps up the old tradition of Southern refinement, culture and hospitality that has been handed down to her by a long line of Southern ancestors who made the Old South famous in the antebellum days.

Conjuring with Cans

PRESTO! No rabbits jump from your hat, no eggs drop out of purple silk handkerchiefs, nor captive maidens disappear from trunks. But it's something of a stunt, just the same, to give a simple twist of the wrist to two cans and produce a Down East Clam Chowder, savory enough to suit an old salt, or a homesick family from Gloucester.

Here is the Trick

Ready? Then roll up your sleeves to prove there aren't any live clams tucked away up there; open a can of vegetable soup—some kinds contain twenty-one different kinds of vegetables, more than a housewife could cut up in a couple of hours; then open a can of soft shell clams. Toss the two together in a saucepan, simmer gently and serve Down East Clam Chowder with pilot crackers and no apologies.

And next, if you'll step right up, ladies and gentlemen, we'll put in a can of corn and a can of tomatoes, and some cream sauce, and pull out a genuine Creole soup. With three tablespoons of butter, three tablespoons of flour and three cups of milk we make the white sauce. Now we toss together a cup of canned corn and a cup and a half of canned tomatoes, stew them for ten minutes, press through a sieve and add the white sauce. Shake in a little salt and pepper, serve with toasted crackers—and here you are—a corking good Creole soup!

Here's Simplified Cooking

Actually, cooking consists of only three fundamental operations: preparing the foods . . . putting them in the oven . . . and placing the meal on the table.

But so many more are required by old-fashioned methods! So much pecking, tasting and testing is necessary! So much time is wasted on these unnecessary, tiresome tasks!

With a modern Electric Range, cooking is reduced to its three fundamentals. You merely prepare your meal, place it in the oven, set the Time and Heat Controls, and forget the actual cooking! All the work is done automatically . . . requiring none of your time or attention—and leaving you free to enjoy happy leisure hours!

And this Freedom is only one advantage of modern Electric Cookery! Foods look better, taste better and are more healthful. In fact, there are so many advantages you'll wonder how you managed with old-fashioned, inefficient methods!

Call us for an individual investigation of your use of electric service, to determine the cost of cooking by electricity in your home. You may be surprised to know that there are many cases where electric cookery actually decreases the total of electric and gas bills.

Mussolini and Hitler might unite to concentrate attention on France.

The Germans would like to recover billions and territory given to France, Mussolini wants to make the Mediterranean "an Italian lake," and establish Italy as leader among Latin races.

A three-cornered war, Germany and Italy against France, would probably remain strictly three-cornered. England would not go in, Poland and other countries generously financed by France since 1918 might be elsewhere busy.

It is an unpleasant thought for France, but that gigantic pile of gold in Paris might melt rapidly under such conditions. No wonder the French keep up their fighting air fleet and submarines, always building and improving!

"Let your women keep silence in the churches: for it is not permitted unto them to speak; but they are commanded to be under obedience, as also saith the law.

"And if they will learn anything, let them ask their husbands at home for it is a shame for a woman to speak in church.

"Let all things be done decently and in order." 1st Cor. 15: 34 35-40

EIGHT NEW AMERICAN RADIO LINKS ABROAD

The inauguration of eight new international radio services in the last year by R. C. A. Communications, Inc., subsidiary of the Radio Corporation of America are announced in the report of the corporation's directors, just issued, taking radio to thirty-two countries outside the United States.

This advance of America in international radio communication is a matter of great importance to the United States not only because of the swift and accurate service thus increased, a service which already has brought down international cable tolls, but also because it shows the United States is holding against some difficulty a leadership in radio communication of which Americans may well be proud.

The new international radio services inaugurated in the year were to Maracaibo, Venezuela; Shanghai by the way of the Philippines, Montreal, Portugal, Australia by way of Montreal, Curacao in the Dutch West Indies, Liberia and Cuba.

Trans-Atlantic circuits are in operation with twelve different countries. Norway, Sweden, Holland, Belgium, France, Great Britain, Germany, Italy, Turkey, Portugal, Poland and Liberia, with circuits soon to be established in Syria and Spain. Latin American countries with which it is in direct communication are Porto Rico, Dutch West Indies, Colombia, Maracaibo and Caracas, Venezuela, Dutch Guiana, Brazil, Argentina, Santo Domingo and Cuba. The company's trans-Pacific circuits carry on radio communication with Hawaii, Japan, China, French Indo-China, Java, the Philippine Islands, the Fiji Islands and Stam. It also operates the circuit with Montreal, connecting with Australia.

Glorifying Spinach

A BIG department store in New York City advertises a weekly "Spinach Toy"—a woolly dog, a duck on wheels, or some other long-felt want which parents may buy and bring home to good little girls and boys who eat all their spinach.

Not discounting the fact that good little boys and girls who eat all of any good healthful food should indeed have woolly dogs and ducks on wheels, we offer a suggestion for modern mothers whose policy is to make healthful foods tempting foods — so that spinach, like virtue, may be its own reward.

First, a Bang-Bang Luncheon Dish—a carrot tent atop a spinach hill for the young militant to find on his noon-day plate, with the tent flying a tiny paper American flag. It takes but a moment to grate some fresh raw carrot and mount it on top of a hill of spinach. If you haven't time to wash and clean fresh spinach, use the ready-prepared canned spinach which is excellent.

Second, a Mary-Quite-Contrary Salad—with a yellow daisy in a green garden-plot for the little girl who grows things. The garden is an oblong tract of spinach; the daisy is a hard-cooked egg, the yolk used for the center, and the white cut petal-wise.

And third, Egg-In-the-Nest which is simply a beautifully-poached egg in a nest of spinach and a cut-out paper bird perched on the dish to admire it.
