City Plans Drainage Work Here

General Telephone was back in the news at the Muleshoe City Council meeting Tuesday morning. City Manager Dave Marr reported on a meeting he attended at Irving last week. Marr explained to the council how the consultants were working on alternative rate increases and restrictions and penalties which may possibly be placed on any rate increase granted by the Public Utility Commission.

A slight possibility exists that the Public Utility Commission may grant an increase to GTE with a penalty of up to 20 percent because of the quality of service rendered by the telephone company.

Clayton Yeager, representing Parkhill, Smith and Cooper attended the meeting to discuss the time frame for a proposed 701 Master Plan, whose funding was recently approved.

Yeager explained the time schedule for the plan as being very short, with a draft copy to be submitted to TDCA by June 30. Included in the preliminary study will be projected requirements on water, sewer and the population of Muleshoe within the next 20 years.

In other discussion, the city took a long look at a new upcoming expense. When the Texas Department of Transportation and Highways starts reconstruction of Highway 84 through Muleshoe, they will eliminate a dip currently at 12th Street and American Blvd. City officials will install a new drainage system to keep the formerly waterlogged intersection drained to a lake in the park three blocks south of the highway.

It was reported that expenses have gone up. Cont. on page 6, col. 1

Commissioner, Sheriff Runoff Slated June 7

More interest was generated in the primary elections in Bailey County last weekend than have ever been noted in several years. Some 46 percent of the registered voters went to the polls to cast their ballot. This was the largest percentage of registered voters in the last several years to vote in any election in Bailey County.

As a result of the primary elections last Saturday, a combined total of democratic (1,569) and republican (171) voters totaled 1,740. The total registered voters at election time was 3,710.

A runoff election for two positions on the democratic ballot will be conducted. Scheduled for the election to decide who will be sheriff will be Jerry Hicks and Bobby Henderson. In the other runoff, R.L. (Raymond) Scott and L.K. (Kenyon) Dean will be seeking the placing on the ballot in November for Commissioner. Precinct One. They were the top two contenders in a field of four candidates.

Winner of the runoff election for county commissioner will face Tom Freeman on the republican ballot in November. There is no republican candidate for sheriff.

In the sheriff's race, Pete Black, who was listed on the ballot, received 151 votes; Jerry Hick had 652 votes and Bobby Henderson received 757 votes, 47 votes shy of the necessary votes to take the election without a runoff. For commissioner Scott received 156 votes to lead the field, followed by Dean with 143 votes. Chester (Chub) Embry received 100 votes and Marshall (Cafish) Williams had 85 votes.

In order to determine the final winners of the primary, a runoff election has been scheduled for Saturday, June 7. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. - 7 p.m. and persons had until 5 p.m. on Tuesday to register in order to vote in the runoff, if they had not previously registered.

Jimmy Carter carried the county in the 'beauty contest' for presidential candidates with 647 votes. Edward Kennedy received 179 votes, and Jerry Brown had 50 votes. A

Shelly Dunham First Athlete For State Honor

Last weekend, it appeared to be the beginning of the year of the female. In the Kentucky Derby, for the first time in 65 years a filly won the annual race.

It was no different in Muleshoe. Shelly Dunham, who went to state competition in track last year made a repeat performance this year, but with a difference.

This year, Shelly won the state championship in the discus. By doing so, she became the first athlete in MHS history to bring home state honors.

Last year, Shelly went to state as a junior, but did not win the coveted honors. This year, she turned that trend around and won first in discus, with a distance of 134 feet, plus. She also broke her own records in winning first place in the state competition.

She also brought home a third place medal in the shot put, with her distance being above 42 feet.

Around 20 years ago, her father, Jack Dunham went to state competition, but it was left up to his daughter to bring home the first state honors in athletics for boys or girls.

WINS STATEHONOR--Shelly Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dunham and a senior at Muleshoe High School, proudly wears the two medals she won in state track competition. For the first time in history of Muleshoe High School, she has brought home a first place win, in the discus. She also won a third place medal in shot put.

AUSTIN—The State Property Tax Board began its full operation in January of this year. The Legislature gave the new board significant responsibilities in assisting local appraisal districts, as well as in collecting statewide data for policy use.

Two important functions have gotten under way recently. Fourteen seminars were held in February and March to acquaint the new directors of the appraisal districts with their duties, roles in the local communities, and the technicalities of establishing such an office. These meetings should have been most helpful to the local administration of the Property Tax Code.

The other function, which may be even more important, is the provision of information outlining "taxpayers' rights, remedies, and responsibilities". The Code required that the Board "publish a pamphlet explaining the remedies available to dissatisfied taxpayers and the procedures to be followed in seeking remedial action". This has been accomplished.

The mechanics of property taxation are explained from the procedures by which assessors make value determinations, to the exemptions that are available, and to the appeals process. Each stage is described in understandable language so that taxpayers can take full advantage of the protections given to them under the new law.

To supplement this publication and local education efforts, the Board scheduled a statewide media campaign. This campaign included radio and television spots, as well as newspaper advertisements.

Property taxpayers should be better informed now than at any time in the past regarding their tax bills. Full advantage of the rights and remedies allowed under law should be taken. Only then can fairness and equity be brought into the property tax system.

John Tower Blasts Livestock Policy

U.S. Sen. John Tower (R-Texas) today accused the Carter Administration of endangering the vital range livestock industry through its policies on predator control.

"It is becoming obvious that those individuals responsible for the administration of federal predator control policies are not using common sense in deliberating matters affecting food and fiber production," Tower said in testimony before the Senate Committee on Environment and Public Works.

Tower has introduced legislation which would require the Department of the Interior to implement a responsible and effective program to control predation.

"Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus has clearly ignored the scientific and economic recommendations made to him by industry, and his own Fish and Wildlife Director. He has chosen a political course for the animal damage control program," the senator for Texas charged.

Death losses of sheep and lambs because of predators accounted for 58 percent of all deaths in 1978, compared to 25 percent in 1967, Tower noted.

"Consider a few other grim statistics. Texas cattle raises...have lost approximately $10 million in production a year for the past 12 years -- all due to predators. The Lone Star State in 1978 along lost 21.6 million pounds of choice beef and 6.6 million pounds of choice lamb meat that did not reach the consumer because of predators," Tower said.

"Our livestock producers cannot stand by while the Department of Interior conducts a corrective predator control program based on the premise that no control would be authorized until livestock reaches a bureaucrat's determination of an 'unacceptable level,' he continued.

"I have offered fresh and positive proposals which would lead to an acceptable, economic and efficient solution of the predator control problem," Tower said of his bill.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN -- Presidential politics arrived in Texas last Saturday and all other issues took a back seat to the primary election.

Besides stumping done by home state Republican candidate George Bush, his primary opponent Ronald Reagan, and Democratic candidate Sen. Edward Kennedy, the President himself traveled to Texas--his first real venture out of the White House since the beginning of the Iranian hostage crisis six months ago.

President Jimmy Carter flew to military hospitals in San Antonio early in the week to visit and pay respects to the injured commandos of the ill-fated hostage rescue mission. After talking at their bedsides, the President said he was impressed by their bravery and patriotism: every man had expressed his willingness to go on a second rescue mission.

Although billed as a non-political visit, Carter's entrance into Texas on the eve of the state's presidential primary obviously had its political benefits. The President was here and back to Washington, D.C. in a jiffy, leaving frontpage coverage and no political faux pas in his wake.

Kennedy Visits Wounded
It worked so well, his primary opponent, Ted Kennedy, tried to copy it.

The Massachusetts senator shifted his campaign schedule to spend about 30 minutes with the wounded commandos the day after Carter visited their ward at Brooke Army Medical Center.

Kennedy tried to play down the politics, some said, by refusing invitations to address a crowd, and by telling reporters he was supportive of Carter's mission to rescue the hostages.

Different Primaries
Both the Democrats and the Republicans held presidential primaries Saturday, but the mechanics were different.

The Republicans held a binding primary, which means the presidential delegates had to be apportioned according to the percentage of popular vote each candidate received in the primary.

The Democratic primary, on the other hand, was simply what party regulars refer to as a "beauty contest." It was non-binding and not tied to apportionment of delegates.

The balloting was simply the appetizer to the delegate selection process which develops in three phases.

The first phase began 15 minutes after the polls closed Saturday when Democratic voters assembled in more than 6,000 precinct conventions across the state to vote for either Carter or Kennedy. Each precinct selected delegates on an apportioned basis to attend the county and senatorial conventions next Saturday.

Those conventions will select delegates to the June 20-21 state convention in San Antonio where participants will select 152 delegates and 77 alternates to the August national convention in Detroit.

Clayton and Brilab
May 19 is the day Speaker Bill Clayton will learn whether he will be indicted by a federal grand jury investigating whether he accepted a bribe or peddled his legislative influence last November.

Throughout the investigation and during his appearance and testimony before the grand jury, Clayton has kept his spirits fairly high, even poking fun at his predicament.

Last week he topped all

Russian Grain Embargo Not Effective

WACO--The Texas Farm Bureau Board of Directors has adopted a five-point program to deal with the worsening farm income crisis, according to TFB President Carro Chaloupka of Dalhart.

"Farmers and ranchers are caught in a crisis that is not of their making," Chaloupka said. "Indications are that net farm income will be about one-fourth below what it was last year."

Chaloupka said agriculture's financial problems can be attributed largely to federal deficits "which caused inflation," and embargoes on farm exports "which helped depress farm prices."

He said inflation hits farmers especially hard because they cannot automatically pass along increased production costs to the consumer.

Calling inflation the "number one domestic problem," Chaloupka called on "all working and business people to join with us in the effort to stop inflation."

The TFB board also asked the American Farm Bureau Federation to take national leadership in efforts to alleviate the crisis.

A series of meetings with county Farm Bureau Leaders is scheduled across Texas in the next few weeks to assess the extent of the cost-price squeeze and to discuss Farm Bureau's program for dealing with it.

Farm Bureau's five-point program includes the following:

- (1) Start controlling inflation by immediate steps to balance the federal budget, cut taxes, and increase productivity.

Farm Bureau supports amending the U.S. Constitution to require the government to operate on a balanced budget, and to restrict spending to a "realistic" percentage of the gross national product. Productivity can be increased by reducing over-regulation by government and by eliminating costly government-protected labor practices.

(2) Expand foreign markets through hard bargaining with nations which depend upon American markets for their exports.

(3) Assure adequate fuel by deregulating the petroleum industry, reducing environmental controls, and by exploring alternate fuels such as agricultural alcohol.

(4) Stop government's "cheap food" policies by eliminating market restraints (such as embargoes), by emphasizing market-oriented farm programs to avoid accumulating surpluses, and by effective acreage diversion programs when necessary.

(5) Assure farm credit by limiting credit demands of the federal government in the money market.

Researchers probe problems of chewed cables

COLLEGE STATION — How to stop pesky varmints from chewing up thousands of dollars worth of oil company seismic cable is a problem that is being tackled by scientists at Texas A&M University.

A curious rodent like a nutria or even a cow can knock out a $100,000 cable and put a $10,000-a-day crew out of work with one or two chomps.

The cables act similarly to radar to map underground structures that might hold oil reserves.

A major problem facing the Texas A&M researchers is that the devised method must work for different animals. While a crew might be able to take a pot shot at a rodent gnawing on a cable, no Western landowner would be as understanding about his cattle, explained geophysicist Dr. A. F. Gangi.

Young, vice president; Glenda Dale, secretary-treasurer, Pat Young and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Haire. Delegates chosen to attend the state convention for the American Heart Association included Elizabeth Watson and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Young.

Announced was the May 29 Rock and Roll-A-Thon for residents of the Muleshoe Nursing Home. The residents will be rolling their wheelchairs and rocking their rockers to obtain funds for the Heart Association.

Joe Harbin, outgoing president of the local association, presented a new heart book to the Muleshoe Area Public Library.

The state ranks at the top nationally in number of storms sighted — 1,425 of the 8,560 total for the decade occurred here. Because of its size, however, Texas ranks 11th in number of twisters per 10,000 square miles.

Texas A&M forms research center for offshore work

COLLEGE STATION — A new research center will be formed at Texas A&M University to develop solutions to problems associated with offshore oil drilling, pipelines and other installations.

The Center for Marine Geotechnical Engineering was authorized by the Texas A&M University System Board of Regents as a unit of the Civil Engineering Division of the Texas Engineering Experiment Station.

"Offshore work is going into deeper and deeper water where basic marine geotechnical engineering questions need answers," said Dr. Harry Coyle, head of the geotechnical engineering group. "Our plan is to develop expertise and provide a center for excellence where someone can come when they have a problem."

"Motorcycling No Sport" To Fool Around With

Champion motorcycle racer Mike Kidd, who became affiliated with the U.S. Army last year on the professional racing circuit, recently took a few moments from his busy racing schedule to discuss motorcycle safety.

Kidd, a Fort Worth, Tex., native, finished fifth in the 1979 American Motorcycle Association season standings winning three of the 26 main events of the year. It was his ability and professionalism that prompted the Army to advertise on his bikes and equipment.

"Motorcycling is no sport to fool around with," says Kidd. "There are too many ways to get hurt on a motorcycle and the rider doesn't have enough protection to take chances."

"Always check your bike before taking it out," Kidd cautions. "Check the brakes and chain. The chain is particularly vital since it can stretch. A loose one can cause the wheel to lock, sending the bike out of control. A simple rule is that you shouldn't have more than one inch of slack in the chain."

A key piece of equipment is the helmet, which Kidd says is "absolutely essential and can save your life. The best helmet gives a little on impact; and you should have a face shield attached to it."

A cyclist is tough to see on the highway. Kidd suggests that motorcyclists keep their lights on at all times so automobile drivers can spot them. Kidd emphasizes the importance of defensive driving. "We're in no position to argue right-of-way with bigger and heavier trucks and cars. We must always be alert to drivers who may not see us."

"A pot hole can send a cycle completely out of control. 'Again, you've got to be extra alert,'" Kidd adds.

Motorcycles are designed for two people. Adding a third or fourth person to the bike simple invites danger. "Don't do it," Kidd stresses.

Finally, the 26-year old racer reminds cyclists that they are riding a motor vehicle subject to the same traffic laws as cars. It is also a good idea to learn the laws in your state governing motorcycles.

"You'll enjoy the motorcycle a lot more if you stay healthy to ride it," Kidd says.

Consumers advised to change habits

COLLEGE STATION — Americans' spending habits are going to have to change drastically in the next few months to stem inflation and to economically survive in the 1980s, warned a Texas A&M University business expert.

As long as consumers continue to truly believe that it's better to buy now on credit, the country is headed for runaway inflation throughout the next four years, said Dr. William Muse, dean of Texas A&M's College of Business Administration.

Muse emphasized that what happens in the next three to four months is crucial.

He said at some point people are going to have to say, "I simply can't buy now."

"If we've finally reached the stage of getting past 'Buy now, pay later,' we can turn this economic situation around," Muse said.
