Starting a Revolution
A Long Jump
New Peace Plan
Around the Igloo

Starting a revolution in England is not easy. The people are really in control of their government, and can change it if they choose. They put the Labor party in power, which MacDonald, formerly a coal miner, as prime minister, writing speeches for the king to read to the lords and commons. Imagine that sort of government in this "democracy."

Revolutions make little headway against firmness, combined with common sense. The English possess common sense and firmness, and display both in time of need.

A "hunger army" that marched on London, endeavoring to take possession, threatening Buckingham palace and demanding the right to enter the house of commons, finally broke up.

A man jumped from the one hundred and third floor of New York's Empire State building. Why does that interest every one? Only the last few floors count. They are "the hardest." Why would the average man find it more difficult to leap from the hundred and third floor than from some floor lower down?

Paul-Boncour, the French minister of war, has a new plan to keep Europe peaceable. He would have a "European army" with a European general staff. This army and staff would become active whenever the peace of continental Europe might be threatened.

An interesting suggestion, but all would depend on who might be boss of the general staff of that "European army." The League of Nations, as Lloyd George has said, is "fading away" because it is simply the instrument of two big European powers, with other members of the League a mere chorus.

The real plan for Europe would be a "United States of Europe," such a union of states as we have here. But that will not come in another thousand years. Races, languages, religions and ancient feuds make it impossible.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, reports that prosperity has come back to northern Labrador. Rev. B. Lenz, Moravian missionary, brings the news. Fish have been running heavily, also other necessary things, and every family is well supplied for the winter. Mr. Mason heads the news "Prosperity Just Around the Igloo."

They have igloos in northern Labrador.

Japan in Manchuria has, literally, shocked some of China's so-called "rebels."

The Japanese prepared defenses with innocent looking wires around them, not the barbed wire entanglements, so hard to cross, but simple arrangements of wire. The Chinese charged these wires, and sixty of them dropped dead, coming in contact with a heavy electric current.

War is changing and two-legged, marching warriors will be not important against scientific contraptions, including the airplane.

Invested funds of the Christian and Congregational churches, totaling $33,000,000, have fallen only 15 per cent below book value, according to Mr. Boul, church treasurer.

The Christian and Congregational churches are to be congratulated. Few financial institutions can make such a showing, and it is reasonable to suppose that Providence helped those that made the investments.

However, it is well for other religious organizations less fortunate to remember what Brigham Young said when he was selling stock in a gigantic boarding house at Salt Lake. He told the Mormon "saints" that the boarding house and its stock must be a success, because it was built for the Lord. On the other hand, he said: "If it should fail, you must not blame the Lord, for that will be bad management."

In New York, victims of the depression select a street corner, wait for red lights to stop traffic, then approach automobiles, asking help.

One man with a good, earnest face approaches with flowers for sale. You shake your head, as you have done many times already. Another, with a face not so good, but pale, and worried, comes close to the automobile

The Trespasser

Democratic Tide Sweeps Country

Democrats Win Greatest Victory in The History of The Party, Grasping The Presidency, Control of Congress, and Electing Big Majority of The State Officials.

Last Tuesday's election resulted in the biggest Democratic victory in the history of the nation. There was scarcely a corporal's guard left to the republicans.

Roosevelt Garner received 472 electoral votes over Hoover's 59. Democratic lead in popular vote is around 6,000,000.

Next House will have 309 Democrats and 110 republicans 3 Farm Labor and 13 doubtful. The Senate has 59 Democrats and 36 republicans.

A great landslide was given the wets.

The Fergusons led with a substantial majority.

All nine Constitutional Amendments carried over Texas.

Sterling County gave Bullington a majority.

Sterling County elected Pat Kellis County Judge, Vern Davis Sheriff and Tax Collector, Miss Prebble Durham County and District Clerk, S. T. Walraven Tax Assessor, W. F. Kellis County Surveyor, Agnes Ainsworth Treasurer, Durham Durham County Attorney, W. Y. Bengé Constable Prec. 1, M. Black J. P. Prec. 1 Oscar Ratliff Commissioner Prec. 1, C. A. Bowen Prec. 2, W. G. Welch Prec. 3, and W. N. Reed Prec. 4.

that they gave the people in showing them a good time.

Mrs. Elliot Mendenhall Entertains

On Tuesday afternoon at the Collins home Mrs. Elliott Mendenhall was hostess to her bridge club and a few guests. Dainty Thanksgiving tallies marked the places for four tables of contract bridge. Mints were served through out the games. At the close of an afternoon of pleasure and surprises, delicious cherry pie a la mode and coffee were served by the hostess assisted by Mesdames Ralph and Claude Collins. The guests were: James and Fowler McEntire, Veru Davis, S. D. Guimarin, E. B. Butler, John and Nick Reed, W. W. House, G. T. Neal, W. J. Svann, Lester and Roy Foster, Oran Ballou, Clyde Everitt, R. L. Lowe, Pat Kellis and Randolph McEntire of Colorado.

Elm Street Being Paved

That part of Elm Street extending from its intersection of Fourth Avenue east of the drug store to the school grounds is being paved by the county. The whole of Seventh Avenue fronting the school building is also included in the work.

Heretofore, this street has been a mudhole for the school children to wade in order to reach school. Our commissioners deserve the praise of all Sterling for this good work. Then, too, they are getting the work done at depression prices.

In wet weather, this pavement will serve a majority of the children who attend the school. All who are in reach of Fourth Avenue, can reach school on a dry pavement.

Wimodausis Club Meets

With Mrs. Clyde Bowen as hostess the Wimodausis Club held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon, observing an Armistice Day program. The roll call of members was answered by a national current event. Interesting papers were read on: "Plans For Developing International - Mindness." — Mrs. Clyde Bowen: "Education For Peace" — Mrs. Pat Kellis: "The Foreign Policy of the United States," Mrs. Sam Mahaffey: "A Message to Gracia" by Elbert Hubbard was effectively read by Mrs. Roy Foster.

The club voted to lend the High School the Wimodausis Library, which consists of about five hundred volumes of reference works, classics and fiction, as the school is without a reference library at the present time.

Those who are, interested in the Montvale Cemetery are requested to meet at the court house in Sterling City, Saturday, Nov. 19, at 3 p. m. to arrange for a cleanup of the Cemetery. Mrs. Ray Lane

Rev. Kindred will preach at the Central Christian Church next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. You are cordially invited.

Vast Treasures May Be Found In Indian Tomb

Mexico City, Nov. 4.—The discovery of a marble-stepped ancient tomb whose doors may hide vast Indian treasures comparable to those exposed in January of this year, was officially disclosed at Oaxaca today by the noted Mexican archaeologist, Dr. Alfonso Caso.

The new find by Dr. Caso and his associates was regarded as of such importance that Federal troops were sent to famous Monte Alban, where the tomb was found, to guard and aid the scientists in his work.

The excavator said the external appearance led him to believe the discovery was as valuable, or more so, than the famous Mixtecan tomb he found on Monte Alban last January. The Scientific world hailed that discovery as the greatest in American archaeology and comparable to the Tut-Ankh-Amen discoveries in Egypt a few years ago.

The January find was labled Tomb No. 7, and yielded precious relics of inestimable value, including the bodies of 10 Mixtec warriors covered with momentos of gold, jade, pearl, amethyst, turquoise, and alabaster, exquisitely carved.

There were several crowns of pure gold, pearls as large as pigeon eggs, vases of gold representing the best the Mixtecs could show in the way of civilization. The Mixtecs are believed to have preceded the Aztecs into Oaxaca, and their civilization held sway probably just before the Spanish conquest, 400 years ago.

The work of entering the new tomb was ordered by the scientist to proceed most carefully, lest some object that might eventually lend aid toward showing the mystery of the Indian races be accidentally destroyed.—San Angelo Standard.

Stockmen's Evening School

According to the report of Secretary, Rufus Foster, the following were present at the meeting of the young rancher's agriculture class which met at the high school building at 7:30 p. m. November 4:

Fred Hodges, Ralph Collins, T. F. Foster, Oscar Ratliff, Jeff Davis, W. N. Reed, J. C. Reed, Rufus Foster, and A. J. Bierschwale.

The main object of this meeting was to discuss plans to follow in determining whether or not the people of the county want to organize for fighting the screw worm fly. After a lengthy discussion of the matter a motion was made by Ralph Collins and seconded by T. F. Foster, that a committee be appointed consisting of one or two men in the different precincts of the county, to circulate papers and secure the signatures of all land owners who wanted to go into this organization. Those appointed on this committee are as follows: Divide—Neill Munn and Rex Welch, China Valley—Ralph Collins, Mulberry --Fred Hodges, Sterling Creek—V. E. Brownfield, Lacy—Julius Bade and C. C. Reynolds, Morrow —W. N. Reed, Iolanthe —John D. Lane and R. P. Ainsworth, Lacy—John Reed and Thomas Brennend, Sterling City—Roy Foster, Oscar Ratliff, Jeff Davis.

No further business coming before the house, the meeting adjourned.

Earl Mathis came up from San Angelo last Tuesday to cast his vote in the election and visit friends and relatives.

And they tell us that we shall have beer by Christmas. Will some brother arise and tell us about something that we don't already have? Will somebody name a date within the last thirteen years on which, if we had the price, we couldn't get the beer? It is very true that the price has been higher and the quality has been lower, but we have had the beer.

We need some new sox. If the boys will chip in the two-bits, 30 cts, four, or six-bits or the whole one dollar and two-bits on their subscriptions between now and Christmas, we can get the new sox. You know there are about 500 of the boys on the subscription list and if they were to come in all in one wad, it might give us a shock, but we will risk the shock in order to get the sox.

The Eighteenth Amendment was made for people who are as they should be, and not as they really are. Both major political parties discovered this fact about a year ago, and each is committed to rub out the Eighteenth Amendment and substitute a law that will apply to people as they really are. In doing this, no one needs to fool himself into the belief that the saloon is coming back. That part of Satan's work is forever gone, because there is no sentiment to nourish it.

Sterling County in the past, has been the "Lost Battalion" of Democracy. Four years ago when the forces of Hoover ran riot over Texas, the lines of Democracy held fast and firm in Sterling County. Only last Tuesday did Sterling County ever show the least bit of a sagging line when it gave preference to a republican candidate, when it cast a majority vote for Bullington. This they did in the name of common decency as well as to resent the dirty crimes committed against these people by jimferguson. The 17 votes cast for Hoover, more than half of them were Democrats who preferred Hoover because of his prohibition declarations.

Putting the stamp of condonment and approval of crookedness, corruption and graft by electing jimferguson proxy governor of Texas, puts the people of Texas in the light of being generally crooked as viewed by the people of other states: Notwithstanding that we have confidence in the honesty and integrity of the people of Texas, yet, all that we can say or do, will not keep the people of other states from looking upon us with suspicion. Texas will have to endure this disgrace for two more years to her great chargin and loss, but the time will come when common honesty will be held in greater esteem. It may be that if past history repeats itself by the proxy executive resuming his orgie of graft and corruption, that the honest element will rise up in righteous wrath and put an end to it. The only question is, will they have the courage to do it?

SOAPING THE HORN

The serious business of religion and politics sometimes stages an unexpected, screaming comedy at a time when it is intended to be as solemn as the burial of Caesar.

At the old time camp meeting, a horn was always hung on the preacher's stand and was sounded by him to announce the beginning of services. As usual, an ungodly minded wag attended a certain meeting in which Brother Simmons was the chief preacher.

When all was ready, Brother Simmons would take the horn, assume the conventional pose of the Angel Gabriel when he is supposed to sound the last trump to awake the dead.

One evening while Brother Simmons lingered long at the red coffee and fried chicken, this waggish son of Satan crept in and filled the horn with soft soap. When Brother Simmons had made an end of emptying coffee cups and polishing chicken bones, he repaired to the improvised pulpit to begin the evening services.

The candles were all lighted and the Amen corner was filled with devout sisters and brethren who made the forest echo with that good old song: "Holy manna will be showered all around."

When the last echo reverberated thru the forest, Brother Simmons arose with the horn in one hand, and with the other he parted his mustache and stroked his whiskers, took a deep breath, rolled his eyes heavenward and gave a mighty blast! Instead of "Holy Manna" being showered all around, Bro. Simmons faithful were given a Pedro baptism of soft soap.

When the congregation ceased its roars of laughter, Bro. Simmons announced his ability to lick the mischief making son of a polecat who soaped the horn.

Last Saturday night, a similar comedy was pulled off at San Angelo when a lot of the boys met to praise jimferguson - not to bury him.

Days before the meeting, the papers announced that the Thomas L. Blanton, congressman from Abilene, and better known as "Garden Seed" Thomas, would be there to orate on the past services and future promises of jimferguson. Garden Seed came, Garden Seed heard, Garden Seed saw and Garden Seed vamosed!

The Tom Green County Chief Priest of Fergusonism presided at the meeting. The microphone had been installed to broadcast jimferguson's praise thruout the land. Hon. Tomuel Blanton was there with his speech in his pocket and ready to pour it into the ears of those who would hear. He waited for his introduction. The introducer arose to introduce him. At the mention of the one whom they came to praise, the crowd roared. Then the introducer got interested in jimferguson.

He forgot that the Hon. Tomuel was there waiting for his turn at the bar, but he and his assistant introducers kept up the introducing exercises until it got on Tomuel's nerves. Tomuel figured, then he snorted, but Tomuel stayed on until it was getting later and later. Then with a snort, he bolted the meeting and went home!

When the last introducer had said all he could think of, and in trying to think of something to while away the time, he announced that the Hon. Tomuel Blanton would address the meeting Cheers! Silence! Some more silence! A pin dropped and startled the crowd. A promisory note in a billbook in a man's hip pocket could be heard drawing interest thruout the hall. Then somebody discovered that the Hon. Tomuel had vamosed. Yes, sir, he first got tired and then got mad and went,

YOURSELF

Your greatest enemy is yourself. The only person who can drag you down into drunkenness, thievery, or uncleanness is yourself.

No real calamity ever crushed you that did not enter the door you unlocked yourself.

All hell could not make you despair, except yourself joined in.

Every stone in the edifice of your own character was laid by your own hands.

Fate, malicious people, and other factors can threaten, hurt, and wound you, nothing and nobody can put you down but yourself.

You are your greatest enemy if you are a coward, but if you are brave, you are your greatest friend.

The one unquenchable light is the human soul - the one unquenchable force.

Only when you love yourself rationally are you qualified to love others helpfully.

Only when you revere yourself and fear yourself are you capable of reverence and fear toward God.

The world is but a mirror of yourself. Keep clean and you see clean men and women everywhere. Be cheerful and all mankind smiles. Be unafraid of events and men, and the stars in their course will fight for you.

Whether you be a convict or a bedridden invalid or a betrayed wife or victim of the conspiracy of men or of the accidents of fate, if you fall back upon yourself, believe in yourself, and are loyal to yourself, you will succeed.

Let all the world despise you - it makes no matter as long as you do not despise yourself.

Whatever the past may have been, begin now to stand for yourself, your best self, the high and great self that you know you are, away in the deep recesses of your heart.

Stand! Yield not an inch! Be faithful to yourself! And from this moment things shall take a turn -

There are lots of our people who are worrying because it takes hundreds of dollars per year for the students of the University while the common school kiddie only gets $17.50 a year.

This looks like a big difference, but the University practically pays its way out of the huge foundation fund which is piling up millions every year from its rents and royalties from its immense domain which is almost as large as the state of Connecticut.

Some people want the entrance fees of the University raised from $30. to $300. If this were done, there would be thousands of worthy boys and girls of Texas who would be cut off from the heritage which their forefathers brought with their blood and left for their higher learning. If nothing happens within the next two decades, the University of Texas will be the richest institution of its kind in the whole world.

Psychologists will tell you.

New York's board of education has adopted an excellent idea. Talking films will teach foreign languages to students, at the same time teaching them about foreign countries, manners and methods of life. "Talking" and silent pictures, in years to come, will constitute 75 per cent of all teaching. Language, history, geography, geology, natural history and many other branches will be taught by pictures, and the student will learn more history in half an hour through pictures than he can learn now in a half month through words.

A Study....

...in Contrasts

The above scene is a graphic representation of the homes of two housewives - just before guests arrive for the evening meal. The woman at the left has been working in a hot kitchen all afternoon... nothing has gone off well... she is nervous, tired, irritable... and looks it. But the modern home-manager at the right is cool, fresh, lovely and unhurried. She has been away from home all afternoon, yet is ready to take a delicious, savory and attractive meal from her oven. Her meal will be an unqualified success... the success of the other housewife's dinner-party is extremely doubtful.

The difference is that the modern home-manager, at the right, has an Electric Range... The other housewife still cooks by old-fashioned methods!

You, too, should profit by the many advantages and superiorities of modern Electric Cookery. With one of the new General Electric Hotpoint Ranges in your kitchen you'll save money, work, time and food. You'll serve better, more healthful and more attractive meals. You'll be happy, cheerful and energetic. Take advantage of special prices and terms... TODAY! See one of our salesmen NOW. He will be glad to tell you the interesting and valuable story of Electric Cookery. There's no obligation, of course.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule... and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

"Old Killer," Lone Wolf of The Big Bend, Is Slain by A Mexican Boy

Alpine—"Old Killer" is dead! He was a "lone wolf" indeed, with a predatory career that belied the right of certain crafty humans who elect to play a lone hand among their kind, to wear the title. "Old Killer" killed wantonly for tid-bits of the bodies of his prey. He was an epicure.

But he died as he had lived, violently, and ranchmen are rejoicing. He escaped cleverly set traps, and eluded sharp-shooting hunters to die rather prosaically, and literally at the hands of a fearless Mexican youth named Vensuealla.

"Old Killer" had carried on a high carnival of slaughter among the herds of the Big Bend country. Ranchmen estimated that 1,000 sheep and an undetermined number of calves had fallen in his forays during the past year. Few ever saw him, but many had found the victims of his night raids.

Crack shots spent days in his hunting grounds for a chance to draw sight on the furtive marauder. Airplanes joined the search without success. The killings mounted in number and the ranchmen became frantic. Then came the outlaw's unexpected end.

Vensuealla, riding one day on the Lloyd Mitchell ranch near Marfa, flushed the animal off guard. He gave chase and emptied his six shooter, but not one of the rapidly fired bullets touched the killer's mangy hide. Disgusted, the Mexican hurled the empty gun at the retreating raider and sped on as fast as his hardy pony could carry him.

The chase led over baldies, through the yuccas, across arroyos, and over a pasture fence where the rider lost his hat. Bareheaded, his hair flying in the desert wind, the brown-skinned boy followed the trail of the wolf.

The raider turned south towards a canyon that promised sanctuary. Pony and rider followed. The canyon was closed at the upper end. The wolf stood at bay against the wall. Unarmed, the youth leaped from his pony and attacked the panting animal with bare hands. Fangs gnashed the fearless boy but indifferent to bleeding gashes, the Mexican was able finally to grasp the wolf by the hind legs and dash its head against the canyon wall.

Now Vensuealla surveys his scars and wonders why ranchmen regard him a hero. To him, "Old Killer" is just another "coyote."

While surveying Elm Street last Monday, preliminary to the work of paving it, I erected a flag rod in the center of the street between the Brennand building and the drug store. Altho the thing was seven feet high and painted in red and white so that anyone could see it yet, someone drove over it with a car and ruined it. Whoever did it, owes me a new rod. I furnished my own equipment and did this work free of charge. Whoever broke that rod ought to pay for it.—W. F. Kellis, County Surveyor.

FARMERS USE DYNAMITE TO HELP FIGHT DROUGHT EFFECTS

A FORM of trench warfare is being waged by farmers in many states to fight the effects of the long drought.

Dynamite is being used to shatter the soil and permit its easy removal with teams and slip scrapers in the construction of trench silos. The explosive is also being employed to excavate water holes or earth tanks for the conservation of all available water.

Hastily made trench silos are being filled with ensilage salvaged from corn, damaged by lack of water and the intense heat of August, and such forage as is adaptable for use in this kind of cattle feed. In some cases clover is being mixed with chopped corn to increase the amount of moisture.

These emergency silos consist of trenches in the earth. When filled, the ensilage is covered with a layer of cut straw or chaff and a roof of about two feet of straw. Poles are used to support the roof. Sometimes woven wire is stretched between beams to add strength.

The trenches are usually of a width of 12 to 14 feet at the top and slope to a bottom width of eight to ten feet at a depth of eight to ten feet. They vary in length from 25 feet to 60 feet or more. The length is determined by the number of cattle to be fed.

Explosives experts of the Du Pont Agricultural Extension Section, Wilmington, Delaware, are cooperating with county agricultural agents, agricultural engineers and others in demonstrating to farmers the uses of a low-cost farm explosive for blasting trench silos.

Larry F. Livingston, head of the Du Pont Agricultural staff, advises farmers who are facing a feed shortage to immediately get in touch with their county agents or state colleges relative to construction of emergency silos. Based on a survey of conditions, Mr. Livingston's belief is that trench silos will be especially beneficial to dairymen, cattle raisers and farmers in general in Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Kentucky and Louisiana.

Trench silos as means of drought relief are being advocated by the Missouri College of Agriculture and some other agricultural institutions. Their construction and operation are described in extension circulars prepared by the Colorado State College of Agriculture, the North Dakota Agricultural College, the University of Minnesota and the University of Missouri.

In many localities water holes or earth tanks are being excavated with ditching dynamite for the purpose of storing water for dairy herds, beef cattle, sheep, hogs and horses. Where wells have gone dry and may remain so for a prolonged period, these reservoirs are being used to catch the runoff of rain or to impound water from springs and small streams.

Special methods of blasting to save time and reduce costs have been developed by Du Pont agricultural engineers. As a result, one afternoon's work with explosives does more than a gang of men with teams and scrapers can do in a week or longer.

Although dynamite has long been used in making drainage ditches and for flood control, the explosive is now finding its first uses in an agricultural crisis caused by an exceptional drought.

CITY CONFECTIONERY

The 3-Cent Letter

The three-cent letter postage rate which went into effect in July was a boomerang as a revenue raiser. Instead of increasing the revenue, the loss through the raise has been enormous. The records of the Sterling City postoffice show that receipts for cancellation of 3 cent letters in October were $27. less than October, 1931, and $100. less than in 1927 at the two cent rate. The amount received in October in 1932 is less than it has been in 11 years.

Maintaining high rates in times of depression caused the downfall of the Insul interests which involved the fortunes of thousands of people and the loss of billions of dollars and made a renegade of the great promoter. He warned his people against these rates, but their greed made them hold on to the old rates. If they had heeded Insul's advice, by cutting rates commensurate with conditions, all would have been well. Uncle Sam as well as utility corporations should put a few brain cells to work and learn that people can get along with less postage, less gas, less electricity and telephone service when they are forced to do it.

Boy, 6, Killed by Playmate Aged 4

The body of Billy Williams, 6, son of Ennis Williams, ranchman on the Christoval road, was being brought from Iraan to San Angelo this afternoon. The child was fatally wounded Sunday noon by an accidental shot in the neck from a pistol in the hands of a four-year-old playmate Landing on a golf course near Iraan, an airplane carrying Mr. Williams, Dr. W. E. Schulkey of San Angelo, and piloted by Autrey Mounsey, local airport manager, yesterday made a difficult halt by ground looping a few feet from a bunker.

The two children were said to have been playing with an old single-shot .41 calibre Colt's pistol which they found in a dresser in the home of the playmate at Iraan.

The dead child was a son of Mrs. Heater Ramsey of Iraan and a grandson of D. H. Mitchell, Iraan justice of the peace, and of Louis Williams, with whom Ennis Williams ranches. The plane of George McIntyre of Sterling City was used in the emergency flight. —San Angelo Standard.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

An assembly program was given for Bluford and Brother Hestir, Wednesday afternoon, November 2. John Fredrick Hambricht gave a reading, Roy Thomas Foster gave a cornet solo, Bluford Hestir gave two piano solos, and Bros. Hestir, Ezell, and Thigpen, Dr. Everitt, and Mr. Bill Kellis gave short talks. There were several visitors present.

In the first game of the season the Sterling High School Basket-Ball Team defeated Lake View High School of San Angelo, 24-14. The scoring was led by Oscar Abernathy with nine points, closely followed by Jerry Brown scoring eight points. Captain Roberts of Lake View was high point man for the visitors with seven points.

The Eagles got away to a slow start. Lake View scored five before the Eagles tallied. The Eagles staged a rally in the second quarter to lead 13 to 10 at the half. At the beginning of the third quarter the team swung into action and proved its superiority over the undefeated Lake View team.

It looks as if the Eagles are going to be hard to stop this year.

PERSONALS

Members of the English IV class were delighted to have Mrs. Ezell visit their class Wednesday, November 3.

Mr. Bill Kellis visited the second year history class and gave a very helpful talk on "History."

Evangelist T. W. Preston gave a very interesting talk on "Life and Character Building" Thursday morning, November 4.

Miss Cox, Louise and Marie Atkinson, and Georgenia Demere spent the week end at Miss Cox's home in Sweetwater.

Mrs. Worthy was absent from school Monday because of the death of Mr. Worthy's grandfather. Miss Bade took her place at school.

PRESENTATION OF "THE OLD FASHIONED GARDEN"

"The Old Fashioned Garden" was presented Monday night, November 7. Fourteen girls and three boys, members of the Glee Club, rendered old fashioned solos, duets, and a minuet. The song, "Old Fashioned Garden" was used as the theme song in this program. At the climax, Miss Ferguson sang "Alice Blue Gown."

The stage was decorated with flowers as an old fashioned garden which made it very effective.

The pianist for this program was Anna Lee Pearce.

The Home Economics III class divided into two groups: namely, group A and group B. Each group was to serve to the other a very economical, yet wholesome, dinner. Group A served Group B the following dinner at the cost of sixty-three cents:

- Meat Loaf
- Creamed Peas
- Tomato Sauce
- Cabbage Slaw
- Hot Tea
- Biscuits
- Jelly Roll

Group B served Group A the following dinner at the cost of fifty-five cents.

- Roast Potatoes
- Breaded Tomatoes
- Tea
- Biscuit
- Baked Apples

These menus were sufficient for servings for guests ranging in number from four to eight.

Pat, Gene, Grady, Rose Allie, and Ewing brought flowers for the first grade windows.

A Story

Ewing Fowler brought a large pumpkin to school.

We made a jack-o-lantern from it all over the day.

We ate pop corn and candy.

The sixth grade gave a very illustrative art program in the assembly, Monday morning. Some of the members of the class showed and told about two very beautiful pictures. They were: "The Mill" by Rurpdael, and "Children of the Shell" by Murillo. Then they gave a life illustration of the picture "Mother" by Whistler. Marie Atkinson read Kipling's poem "L'Envoi."

The School pianos and the seats in the auditorium have been varnished. The auditorium looks much better.

Friday, November 4, the school assembled in the auditorium for a chappel program. After a short impromptu program, Bro. Harvey, the visiting Church of Christ minister, gave a helpful and interesting talk on "Character."

Meteoric Shower Due Next Week

It is predicted that the Temples Comet will return November 15-17 and put on a lot of fire works in the skies at night in the way of shooting stars.

This comet makes the rounds every 33 years. In 1833, it put on such a show that made a lot of people believe that the world was coming to an end. Thirty three years ago (1899) a big planet got between the earth and comet and hid the show, but astronomers believe now that if the comet has not exhausted its ammunition, it will light the skies with its fireworks on the nights of next Tuesday 15th. to Thursday 17th. Anyway it will be worth the trouble to watch for it, because if it does come, it will be the show of a lifetime.

W. L. Springs' Crash Caused By Student

W. L. Springs who was killed last week in New Jersey was the victim of the fright of a pupil whom he was teaching to fly. In executing a difficult maneuver, the pupil lost his nerve and "froze" to the controls, that is to say his fright caused him to hold on to the controls so that the instructor could not get him away from them until it was too late to prevent the crash that cost the lives of both.

Rancher Brought In By Plane

Big Spring, Nov. 7.—J. H. Tippet was sent to his San Angelo home by ambulance this morning after being treated here for a severe back injury suffered while branding cattle at his ranch home in the Guadalupe Mountain country. Tippet was brought here last night by an American Airways plane, which made a special stop to pick him up at the Guadalupe emergency field.—Star Telegram.
