Freedom of the Air
500 Air Miles for $6
Jones Still Will Lend

Another airplane record. Howard Hughes, flying 18,000 feet up much of the way, came from Los Angeles to Newark in 9 hours 27 minutes 10 seconds. High up, where air resistance is less, using a super-charging engine and helping his own lungs with oxygen from a tank, Mr. Hughes beat the existing record held by Col. Roscoe Turner of 10 hours 2 minutes 51 seconds.

Mr. Hughes proves that being rich does not always spoil young Americans. He flew from ocean to ocean without a stop, 2,450 miles, at an average speed of 260 miles an hour.

Big broadcasting companies refuse to allow the Republican party to broadcast "laughable skits" on the "New Deal."

Now, or after some worth-while upheaval, "freedom of the air" will have to be dealt with as was "freedom of the press" when the Constitution was written.

For radio companies to say to the party in power, "Because we fear you we shall take you to every corner in the country and let you say what you please, and shall refuse to give the same publicity to our opponents," might not suit the American idea.

It is good news that Henry Ford is gone back to airplane building. His last trimotor plane was produced in 1931.

His new two-passenger plane, with V-8 engine turning the propeller 4,000 times a minute, carries 10 gallons of gasoline, with a flying range above 500 miles. Five hundred miles of air travel for $6 worth of gasoline for two passengers would be cheap transportation. Henry Ford will begin manufacturing planes seriously, "if and when conditions demand volume production worth while."

Tom Jones, chairman of Reconstruction Finance corporation, tells banks that he will go on lending government money until they give the credit and loans easier. Mr. Jones says: "The big fellow, the unquestionable credit, borrows his own terms, at low rates. Credit for the average business is sparingly given, at much higher rates."

There is rioting in Porto Rico, many killed and wounded in various places. It is said a Porto Rico Young Men's Party has decided separate Porto Rico from the United States, inspired perhaps by the departure of the Philippines.

It is supposed that this government will tell the "Young Porto Rico" gentlemen that they will not be allowed to separate, and might well forget about it.

This country, in the way of production, resources, education and civilization, is necessary to Porto Rico, and strategically Porto Rico useful to the United States. What would England say if J. A. J. should announce "We wish to leave the British Empire?"

The beginning of the new year in many ways sees the death of 1,000 newspapers, "suspended" by official order because they opposed Nazi Germany. Chancellor Hitler perhaps remembers Napoleon's statement: "If granted liberty of the press, my government could not last three weeks."

One might also remember that the governments that refused liberty of the press have also failed. The government of the United States was of that kind. Sitting on a safety valve is one way, but not the best.

Mr. S. L. Rothafel, known to newspapermen as "Roxy," is dead at 73 years. While he slept his heart stopped, like a watch not wound.

Davis-McMinley

At Colorado, on Saturday, Jan. 18 Mr. R. W. Davis was married to Mrs. Sadie Bugg McKinley, Judge B. L. Templeton officiating.

The couple spent their honeymoon in Carlsbad, N. M., and will make their future home here.

The contracting parties are well and favorably known to the citizenship of Sterling County.

Mr. Davis, the bridegroom is a well-to-do ranchman of the Divide. The bride, before her marriage to the late H. D. McKinley was Miss Sadie Bugg. She has spent all her life here and is loved and esteemed by those who know her.

The News-Record force join the many friends of the couple in best wishes.

A. J. Bierschwal, district V. A. Supervisor with headquarters at Alpine was a visitor here last Monday. Sterling City has a warm heart for this man. He has done much for the boys of this community in his line.

Glen R. Lewis Out For District Judge

Glenn R. Lewis, eleven years before the bar and now serving his sixth year as district attorney of the 51st Judicial District, will seek promotion to the office of district judge of the same district.

The candidate was reared in the Texas panhandle. He came to San Angelo immediately after receiving his law degree from the University of Texas in 1925 and became engaged in general civil law practice. His first connection was with the late Judge J. A. Thomas. He left Judge Thomas' office in 1927 and went into the office of Wright and Gibbs and was still associated with Judge Gibbs at the time of taking office as district attorney in 1931.

Mr. Lewis will soon be 34 years of age, is married and has two sons, Dickie, aged 8, and Glenn Bill, aged 18 months. His home is on North Madison Street. His brief statement follows:

"Through the help of many friends which is gratefully acknowledged, I have been serving as district attorney for some time. It is now my privilege to ask election to the place of district judge, an opportunity for more comprehensive service and an advancement which I have tried to earn. If elected, I pledge myself to a course of fair and impartial administration of justice and attentiveness to business."

Eugene Emery Seeks Treasurer's Office

In this issue we are authorized to announce Eugene Emery a candidate for election to the office of County Treasurer of Sterling County, subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

In this announcement we may add that Eugene Emery is a Sterling product. He was reared and educated in this vicinity. He is a graduate of the Sterling High School and has studied one year in the University of Texas.

He is 23 years of age. Most all of the voters of Sterling County know Gene, and know that he is honest and capable of filling the office to which he aspires efficiently in every sense of the word.

A Great Ruler Has Passed On

King George of England is dead. The gentle monarch whose scepter waved over four hundred and fifty millions of people, has passed to his eternal heritage.

At midnight last Monday when a new day was about to be ushered in, a great soul passed out. His watchers stood silently by to note the last breath and the pulse beat that gave notice to the whole world that a great and good monarch was no more.

Not only his host of loving subjects bow in sorrow, but from its utmost reaches, the whole world grieves for the loss of a good and noble man whose goodness of heart radiated to all the realms of earth. It was not because he was king of a great people that made him great but it was the quality of heart and soul that endeared him to the race. As a king, he lived and died like a king.

Mrs. Guimarin For County Treasurer

We are authorized to announce Mrs. S. D. Guimarin a candidate for election to the office of County Treasurer of Sterling County, subject to Democratic Primaries.

This candidate is too well known to the people of this community to need introduction here.

"Miss Fan", as she is lovingly called by her many friends, has been with us many years. In the capacity of teacher in our public schools she has been instrumental in shaping the minds and destinies of a large number of our young citizens of whom we are so proud.

Her splendid education, long residence and fine bearing superbly fits her for the office to which she aspires. If she is elected, we shall have in her a county treasurer that would be ideal in every sense of the word.

Everybody! Get out your singing drops, leave your troubles at home and come enjoy an hour of singing at the Methodist Church next Sunday, Jan. 25 at 2:30 P. M.

Large Attendance at San Angelo FFA District Meeting

Although the day was bitter cold the temperature being 23 degrees, sleet and snow falling rapidly, icicles hanging from cars and as much as four inches of snow covering the ground in places, the vocational agriculture teacher and FFA officers from every chapter in the San Angelo District were present at a Vocational Agricultural Teachers Conference and FFA Official Training School held in San Angelo on Saturday, January 18. The distances travelled by various members of this group ranged from 60 miles to 340 miles. This is certainly wonderful illustration of loyalty to the job. You can readily see why this group of men and boys are putting over an outstanding program of work in San Angelo District.

The meeting was called to order at 11:00 o'clock a. m. by Roy Tom Foster, of Sterling City who holds a Lone Star Farmer Degree in the Texas Association of Future Farmer of America, and is president of the San Angelo District. With only a forty minute recess for lunch the meeting continued until 3:00 p. m. Those present were advisors and officers of Odessa, Del Rio, Big Lake, Bronte, Eden, Eola, Garden City, Mertzon, San Angelo, Sterling City Divide, Nolan County, and J. C. Deal, Manager of San Angelo Fat Stock Show, and A. J. Bierschwal of Alpine, Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture, Area II of Texas.

Mrs. Wallace In The Race For Treasurer

In this issue we are announcing Mrs. Sallie Wallace a candidate for election to the office of County Treasurer of Sterling County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primaries.

Mrs. Wallace is 46 years old and has lived in this vicinity 24 years and is well and favorably known to most of the citizenship of Sterling County. Her schooling was obtained in the public schools of West Texas, except one year in Baylor College at Belton. She served four years as a teacher in the public free schools.

Her education and personality eminently fits her for the office to which she aspires. If elected, her many friends believe that she will fill the place with satisfaction to all concerned and honor to herself.

Fire Destroys Barn

The first 1936 fire in Sterling City was when John Purves' barn was totally destroyed last Friday afternoon.

It is supposed that some children playing with matches was the origin of the fire. A calf and some household goods stored in the barn were destroyed.

A misunderstanding as to the location of the fire caused the boys to make a run in the opposite direction of the fire and caused the delay of several precious minutes before they reached the fire with their truck. When they did reach the fire, they brought it under control in a few minutes.

The loss in household goods and feed was valued at $75. The garage and dwelling house, while threatened by the flames, were not damaged,

Out of respect and in conformance with his honor's wishes, I am hereby publishing the following will:

In the name of God, Amen. I, your Uncle Bill, being sound of body and limb, sound of mind and memory and of a disposing mind; realizing that sooner or later I must be among the things that were, I hereby make and publish this last will and testament:

First: After my just debts are paid I hereby give and bequeath to my beloved wife and children their heirs and assigns all my lands and goods of whatever kind, to be distributed according to the laws made and provided in such cases. And they shall—if living, be the executors and administrators of my estate without bond.

Second: Except as follows, I bequeath to all mankind my good will and square dealing. I charge them to so use these in such manner as to make no living soul grieve.

Third: I hereby bequeath, give and alienate all and severally my undivided interest and stock that may heretofore have been lawfully seized and peaceably possessed of the Townsland Plan, to the asylum for the weak minded.

Fourth: To the penitentiary, I hereby freely grant and give all my interest in drunken drivers, bandits, bank robbers, kidnapers and all other crooks, to faithfully keep and closely guard until they are penitent and make up their minds to go and sin no more.

In Testimony whereof I hereunto sign my name at Sterling City, Texas in the presence Jack Doe and Dick Roe, and they have in turn signed their names in the presence of us all, on this 20th day of January, A. D. 1936.

THIS WEEK

Men die too young in America, and weakened hearts kill many. Life spent without exercise or an adequate supply of oxygen explains the deaths. Man is physically a machine; his heart is the engine, and heart disease kills more useful men than any other disease in modern times.

"Little rains," which we should call hard rains in this country, interfere with Mussolini's operations in Ethiopia. Soon will come the "big rains," torrential downpours, making roads impassable, except concrete roads. The Italians have built some highways. There are, however, other roads, unknown to ancient Ethiopia—the roads of the air.

Mussolini's men may continue on those roads, with disastrous results for Ethiopia, in spite of rains, "little" and "big."

THE MOST HATED BEAST

The hyena is the most despised of all beasts because he digs up the bodies of the buried dead and feasts upon them. However, so far as I know, no hyena has ever fallen so low and been so devoid of self respect that he would dig up the good names of the dead and devour them.

These attacks upon the good name of Woodrow Wilson, one of our greatest men, bring to my mind the thoughts of the foul and detested hyena. But the hyena is a scholar and gentleman when compared to that pack of human hyenas at Washington who are taking advantage of their positions and the helpless dead, to dig among the bones of the dead Wilson and drag out his good name in order that they may beslobber it with their foul aspersions.

A hyena might dig up the dead Wilson's bones and gnaw the decaying flesh therefrom, but no hyena was ever so lost to self respect and bestial dignity, that with foul tongue he would drag forth his good name and attempt to defile it.

No wonder the good old Tom Connelly and the wise old Carter Glass forgot their senatorial decorum and said things to these puking, pussillanamous, grave robbing buzzards who puked in the faces of those who respect the dead.

God, what a spectacle! Men in high places, whose envy, malice and hate have driven them down into the graves of the illustrious dead to drag out their impeachable names and attempt to cover them with their calumnious slime of infamy! These miserable rats would gorge themselves to repletion on the good names of the helpless dead who could not lift a finger against their foul aggressions.

Of all the creatures in human shape, none has ever bargained on such cheap terms with hell as these unholy vultures who spend public money and precious time to make a revolting feast on the good names of the nation's most illustrious dead.

If any of those who are engaged in such ghoulish perfidy reads the above and foregoing and becomes offended at it, I shall be very happy. But I know very well that one can not offend a polecat by berating him because he stinks, he glories in his stink. And these fellows are polecats.—Uncle Bill

THE BONUS

Now that the soldiers' bonus is to be paid, here are a few facts that might be of interest and useful information to the readers of this paper.

If you have a $1,000 world war adjusted service certificate and have not borrowed on it, you are entitled to $1,000 in $50 bonds cashable next June under term of the Senate bill passed January 20, and sent to the House.

If you cashed it between June 15, 1936, and June 15, 1937, you would get no interest. If you held it until June 16, 1937, you would get $1,030 including 3 per cent interest for a year. If not cashed until June 15, 1945, your bond would be worth $1,270.

If you have borrowed to the limit of 50 percent on your $1,000 certificate, since Oct. 1, 1931, you would be entitled to just half of the above amounts.

If you borrowed to the limit of 22 per cent permitted before Oct. 1, 1931, you would have coming to you $780 in bonds, minus unpaid interest before that date. The highest value of any certificate outstanding is $1,585.

TO TAKE MYSTERY OUT OF BANKING

By ROBERT V. FLEMING,

President American Bankers Association

The American Bankers Association has cooperated wherever it could properly do so in every measure for national recovery. It has offered constructive recommendations for such changes in banking laws as we recognized were necessary, and we now have a better law under which to operate. The Banking Act of 1935 affords us opportunities for broader service and, at the same time, retains the fundamentals which we believe are so vital to our national welfare and which have played a large part in bringing our country, in a comparatively short space of time, to the position of the greatest industrial nation on the earth.

R. V. FLEMING

The Public and Banking

It is necessary that the public have a thorough understanding of the functions of banks, what they can do and what they cannot do, for it must be recognized that to many people the business of banking is still somewhat of a mystery.

We should frankly explain these functions to the public, acquaint them with the laws under which we operate and emphasize the vital part which banks play in the economic life of the Nation. Therefore, in order that there may be the fullest cooperation and understanding between the banks and the people of the country, it will also be one of our objectives to take the mystery out of banking wherever it exists in the public mind.

Banking Conferences

A series of Regional Conferences on Banking Service will be held in strategic sections of the country, embracing all types of banking. The new banking laws and the regulations issued thereunder will be carefully analyzed so that our bankers will have a thorough understanding of the broadened services now made possible.

The question of public relations and how we can best serve the people of our communities will be another topic of discussion. Clinics or forums on specific questions of interest to bankers and the problems confronting them in their particular localities will also be included in these conferences.

PUBLIC ATTITUDE HELPS THE BANKS

Annual Bankers Convention Says People Have Had Confidence Restored—Recommends Changed Government Policy

The restoration of public confidence in banking has put it in the position where it can function fully and vigorously in playing its full economic part in the progress of recovery, said the American Bankers Association in its annual convention resolutions.

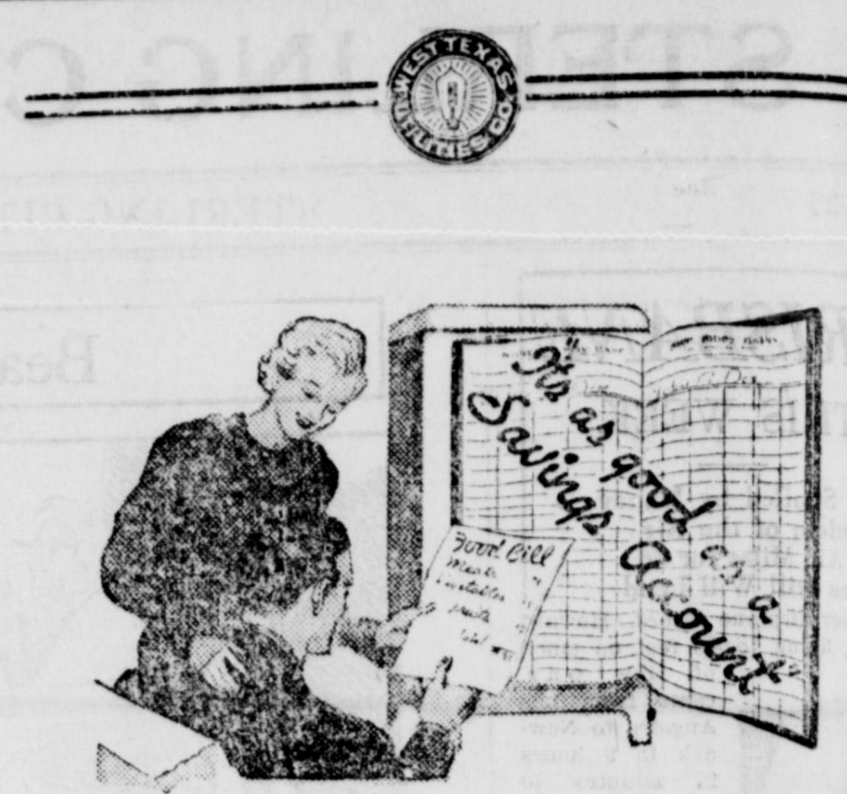

"The passage of a generally constructive banking law in the Banking Act of 1935 has stabilized the banking situation and enabled bankers to devote undivided attention to the normal administration of their institutions in promoting the business and public welfare of their communities," the resolution said.

"We feel that it is a particularly important feature of this law that it aims to create through the revision of the Federal Reserve Board a Supreme Court of Finance which, with the non-political appointment of exceptionally competent men, should constitute one of the greatest forward steps in building a sound banking and credit system for this country."

The Government in Banking

Another resolution said: "We particularly emphasize the desirability of the retirement of government from those fields of extending credits of various types which can be adequately served by privately owned institutions. We recognize that the exigencies of the now passing depression made necessary a large participation by government for a time in the task of meeting the public's emergency financial needs.

"Those conditions have been largely remedied and the obligation now rests upon the banks and other financial agencies to demonstrate to the people of this country that they are fully able and willing to meet all demands upon them for sound credit cooperation. It is our duty as bankers to facilitate in every effective way the retirement of government agencies from credit activities by promoting public understanding of the proper function of privately owned banking."

Refrigeration is as important in Winter as it is in Summer

ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION gives you year-round savings on foods—Winter and Summer. It is a known fact that the average temperature in the kitchen is 76 degrees. That is 26 degrees above the government specification for proper refrigeration.

Electric refrigeration not only gives you the assurance of pure, wholesome food but will actually save you money. It permits buying in quantities, the saving of unused portions and buying at specials. Investigate electric refrigeration for your home!

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule... and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

ANTI-NEW DEAL CLUB

Some of the boys are half-seriously talking about organizing an Anti-New Deal club in Odessa. That's perfectly all right with me—but I, for one, am "agin 'em" politically. The New Deal, like every thing created and run by human minds and hands, has its faults—but so, for that matter, has the supreme court. The New Deal has included some gigantic mistakes, I believe, just like any large project will include them. There has been some political graft, just like there has always been. BUT, I like the conditions we are enjoying under the New Deal far better than I like those blessings showered on us by the Hoover administration, for example.

I enjoy seeing some of my cotton raising friends getting a little fat and contented looking with the aid of AAA checks. I like to hear cowmen talking about stuff that sold for $35 a head instead of 35c net. The continuing rise of oil prices does my spirits no end of good. A growth in my own business that keeps me busy all day and part of most of the nights isn't hurting my feelings either.

I am most emphatically not anti-New Deal, Liberty League or Liberty Party material. If those boys are so strong for liberty that they demand the liberty to live on cut salaries and no expense accounts again, then power to them. They can have the old deal back, so far as I am concerned, but I hope I do

INCOME TAX PUZZLE

The income tax accountant Had labored many days. Trying to assess a partnership That was run on old time ways. "With just one bank account And without a set of books, Someone is getting cheated sure At least that's the way it looks."

Then drawled out Short Grass P. With a twinkle in his eye, "We do not cheat one another, P. And now I'll tell you why. "Most of the checks that we write Are for boys who ride the range day, w And as for personal expense accounts Our wants are simple, although strange."

"The money we spend ourselves Will never run us on the rocks. My partner here likes to smile And as for me; I wear socks."

Card of Thanks

When our barn was on fire last Friday and our home and all that was threatened with destruction, you came to our rescue and saved the day, we sincerely thank you. Especially do we thank the fire boys for the heroic fight they put up against the element that threatened our home. With grateful hearts we thank one and all in their splendid efforts to save us from being homeless.—Mr. and Mrs. John Purven

Luck Still With Him

C.C.C. Co. 2542, Three Rivers, Calif. January 14, 1936

Dear Uncle Bill: The luck of the Irish is still with me. Again I get to travel some more and see another one of these United States. Thanks to the Democratic Party, President Roosevelt, and the policies which they have carried out.

This camp is located in Sequoia National Forest about one half mile from the southwest boundary of Sequoia National Park. At present we are not in the region of the large and ancient trees but we will move to that region when we change location in the spring. At present we are ten miles from the timbered country.

The climate here seems moderately cold to me after living near Phoenix, but the "native sons" here say that the cold to them is not noticeable. That is what one should expect of a native son I suppose. The scenery is beautiful, especially the citrus fruit groves and the vineyards in the valleys near here. Also beautiful are the homes of the farmers and orchard owners. California's people who follow the different agricultural businesses certainly do their part to help maintain her reputation for beauty and attraction. As for beautiful girls they are a drug on the market here. I think they kill every one that does not show promise of being beautiful while they are still in the cradle. Give my regards to the "devils," rather "angels" and here's to a happy and prosperous 1936 for you all. Sincerely yours, Guinn O. Welch

MODERNS LIKE PRUNES

BE up-to-date! If you belong to that generation which didn't like prunes—don't admit it. It labels you as a person who belongs to that by-gone era when in plays, in stories and in life cheap boarding houses always served badly cooked prunes. It was part of the scenery which went with the act—a bowl of under-cooked prunes.

Today people like prunes. And the reason is that canned fresh prunes bear no resemblance to the hard shriveled fruit of other times. They are bright plum-colored, juicy delectable fruits canned in a rich good syrupy juice.

For Delicious Desserts

Fresh Prune Soufflé: Beat four egg whites stiff and fold in four tablespoons sugar. Drain the fruit from one No. 3 can of fresh prunes, remove the stones and cut the pulp fine. Fold the pulp into the egg whites (reserving the prune syrup for beverages, sauces, etc.). Add one-half teaspoon almond extract, and pour into a buttered baking dish. Bake in a 350 degree oven for twenty minutes, or until it is firm and a delicate brown. Serve at once with a yellow custard sauce poured over it. This serves eight persons.

Scandinavian Prune Pudding: Remove the stones from the fruit in one No. 3 can of fresh prunes, cut the prunes in pieces and return to the syrup. Add one-third cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon clove, and one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon. Mix one-third cup cornstarch with one-half cup orange juice. Add to the hot mixture, and cook in a double boiler, stirring constantly until the mixture is thick and smooth. Cool slightly, add one-half cup chopped nuts and fold in two stiffly-beaten egg whites. Pour into wet molds and chill. Serve with whipped cream. This serves eight persons.

UNCLE BILL TELLS OF SCHOOL DAYS

A very interesting talk was given by "Uncle Bill" Kellis in chapel Monday morning. He told us about the school life of boys and girls seventy years ago. He compared the educational advantages of his day with these of today. Everybody enjoyed the talk so much. We are cordially asking "Uncle Bill" to come back to see us whenever he can, because we feel as if he is a part of us.

MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Finding fault with others, picking personal flaws in others, criticizing the manners or condemning the methods of others is your private privilege, but not your public right. If you see so much that is wrong in others, has it ever occurred to you that others may see some faults in your make-up? Just in proportion to the number of times you find faults in your friends, just in that proportion are they liable to see some shortcomings in you. There is such a thing as being so observing, so critical about others that you take no time to think about your own unnatural or unbecoming ways. The really big job is for each of us just to mind our own business, and not see so much that is wrong in others. Practice this!—Adopted

QUALITIES OF THE GOOD TALKER

The "Good Talker" lets himself go. He does not stand upon the order of his talking; he talks. He does not fear to expose himself to the gaze of his fellows. He is not a strict devotee of logic. He is ready to contradict himself, to alter his opinions without a regret. He admits all the time that he is not the sole fount of everlasting wisdom. At the end of the setting you may decide that you are a more sagacious individual than he is, but he has held you, diverted you, increased your acquaintance with human nature, incited you to thought, and above all, shown you an individuality. And you look forward to meeting him again. Do each of us answer the qualities of this person? Let us strive to achieve this aim.—Adopted

CLASS NEWS

The seniors are taking up the study of commercial geography instead of economics.

The sophomores will study physiology in the place of algebra this semester.

FIRST GRADE

The first grade sent a birthday card to President Roosevelt in Washington. We sent Bob Brooks in Denton a birthday card, too. He is the little boy in our primer we read about.

The first grade enjoyed eating snow cream. Billy and Betty Jo Findt made a small snow man.

Mary Ann Bynum brought a large calendar to school for us to mark the days. She also gave us an arrowhead for our science table.

Thursday, January 16, was Joan Cole's birthday. Her mother gave her a birthday party at school. She lighted seven candles on her cake. We sang her a birthday song. Her mother and grandmother Conger served us punch with our cake.

In Gratitude

Our deepest gratitude goes out to all our friends, who by their loving kindnesses have helped us to bear the loss of our loved one.

For your sympathy and good deeds, your kind words and beautiful flowers, we are truly grateful. Nothing can fill our aching void, yet we know that with our friends we are rich indeed. All we can say is, we thank you and God bless you.

ACCURATE RECORDS

The keeping of accurate records constitutes an essential part of any successful business management, whether manufacturing, merchandising or farming. It is quite generally conceded that any good business concern keeps adequate records, and this procedure is equally important in the business of farming, declares the Bulletin of the American Bankers Association Agricultural Commission.
