THIS WEEK

Hear Lloyd George News From the Cosmos Statesmen and Politicians Sloan's Fine Figures

Lloyd George, who ran the big war for England and won with the help of old Clemenceau, not sympathetic with France this time, says England is dangerously involved and "we shall send our young men to die, this time on German soil, to punish those arrogant and aggressive Teutons for daring to make preparations for the defense of their soil against a foreign invader."

Lloyd George is bitter in his denunciation of the suggestion that England be dragged into another war. "France," says he, "can spend $10,000,000,000 on the erection of huge fortifications. We can vote plans which involve expenditure of an extra fifteen hundred million dollars for protection. But if the Germans propose to throw up even a box to guard their famous citadels and their greatest industrial sea... then 'measures must be concerted' between the general staffs of Britain and France."

The "fastest" double star is said, and that is the big news. "Twin suns" close together, in the constellation of Ophiuchus, revolve completely around each other in twenty months. The shortest period of revolution for any other "binary" star is five years. Some revolve only once in a hundred years.

Nature is both fast and slow; the electron in the atom revolves around the proton thousands of millions of times in a second. The sun-shaped Milky Way above your head, in which our sun is one of forty thousand million specks of light, revolves once in 225,000,000 years. No limit to bigness, no limit to smallness, apparently.

That naval conference in London ends, quite to the satisfaction of England, with the situation about as it was when Hiram Johnson of California put the situation in these few words:

"Great Britain builds as she pleases; the United States builds as Great Britain permits."

England actually says to the United States, "You must build no more cruisers with eight-inch guns; we do not like them." And the United States humbly says, "All right, then we shall not build any."

It is the old story: England has statesmen, we have politicians—and some of them are Anglomaniac snobs.

Big business, like little business, has had its trouble, but here and there it is still big business. In his annual report for General Motors, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., reports net sales last year amounting to $1,155,641,511, against $862,672,670 the year before; a gain of more than two hundred and ninety-two million dollars. That means many new cars, and families made happier. The company paid out in wages more than three hundred and twenty-three million dollars, not including wages paid indirectly to thousands of workers producing materials of which automobiles are made.

Sixty of Mussolini's planes have helped out Harar, Ethiopia's second largest city, one of 40,000 inhabitants. "Civilized" Europe, England leading, bemoans the fact that a Mohammedan mosque, the Coptic cathedral and a Catholic church were blasted.

They forget what happened in the big war, at Rheims, Louvain and elsewhere, and the German cannon "Big Bertha" throwing at Paris shells that might well have wrecked Notre Dame, the Madeleine or the Sainte Chapelle.

War is as ruthless as was nature in the earthquake that destroyed the great cathedral of Lisbon.

HAUPTMANN PAYS PENALTY

Bruno Richard Hauptmann died very suddenly at Trenton, New Jersey last Friday at 8:44 p. m. His death was expected at 8 o'clock the previous Tuesday night, but it was postponed until Friday. They killed Bruno with a charge of 2000 volts of electricity.

Deceased was indicted, tried and convicted on a charge of kidnaping Charles A. Lindberg Jr., the two-year old baby son of Charles A. Sr. and Anne Lindberg, and murdering him on the night of March 1, 1932, and afterward receiving $50,000 on a promise to return the baby alive and well to his distressed parents.

The nearest he came to making good his promise after receiving the money, was to deliver the baby's garments which had been taken from its body after it was murdered. This fact was given to the jury which convicted Hauptmann, by witnesses whose testimony was never impeached, and which the jury believed beyond a reasonable doubt.

For several months after the child was snatched from his little crib and foully murdered, this horrible crime was a mystery. At last the kidnaper was contacted and the money paid over for the baby's return. Then months elapsed before Hauptmann ventured to spend any of the ill-gotten money.

One day the deceased bought some gasoline at a filling station and paid for it with one of the ransom bills.

That act was the undoing of Bruno Richard Hauptmann. Like a killer wolf, he put his foot into a trap that had been set for him and its jaws clamped down on him forever.

He was arrested and charged with the crime. He protested that that was the only bill he had. He denied that he had any more of the ransom bills. A search revealed that he had about $20,000 of the ransom bills concealed in his garage. Although he had stoutly denied having any more of the blood money he explained his possession of the money by saying that one Fisch had left it with him to keep, and that Fisch was dead. The fact that he had previously denied having the money, the court and jury refused to believe his tale.

As the trial progressed, the court gave Hauptmann every opportunity to defend himself against the charges. The ablest lawyers put up a heroic legal battle in his behalf, but they had nothing on which to predicate a logical defense, a defense that the court and jury could base a reasonable doubt.

After hearing all the evidence for and against the defendant, all the jury had no doubt of his guilt, and though some were weeping as they pronounced their verdict, yet, they were a unit in a verdict of guilty.

After the court had decreed his guilt and assessed his punishment at death, everything was done to save him, but to no avail. He paid the penalty of the crime of which the courts of last resorts said he was guilty.

Hauptmann died with the secret of his crime in his bosom. He refused to ever change his first story except to explain that the deceased Fisch gave him the money to keep for him.

There are those who grieve for Hauptmann. Perhaps he was their kind of a man. There are others who say "money talks," and that

Mrs. S. D. Guimarin Found Dead at Big Lake

All Sterling was shocked last Monday afternoon when the news was flashed that Mrs. S. D. Guimarin had died suddenly at Big Lake.

The body was brought to the Guimarin home in Sterling City in the Lowe hearse. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. W. Lipps, pastor of the deceased, and Dr. W. B. Everitt, at the local Methodist Church at 3 P. M. on the following Tuesday. Interment was made immediately after at the City Cemetery. Roland Lowe had charge of funeral and burial arrangements.

The active pall bearers were Roy Foster, Lester Foster, Sam Mahaffey, E. B. Butler, Will Young Bengé and W. S. Nelson.

The honorary pall bearers were W. L. Foster, Judge Brown, L. F. Hodges, H. B. Lane, Rogers Hefley, Rufus Foster, Templeton Foster, Foster Conger, W. H. McDonald, R. P. Brown, Ralph Collins, C. C. Ainsworth, Darrell Garrett, Hal Knight, A. A. Rutherford, J. O. Longshore, W. F. Kellis, Pat Kellis, H. L. Pearce, V. E. Davis, Robert Foster, D. P. Glass, W. Y. Bengé Sr., Jap Bradley, Dr. Swann, James McEntire, Roland Lowe, Claud Collins, J. L. Glass, C. T. Sharp, N. L. Douglas, D. C. Durban, J. W. Tweedle, and A. W. Dearen.

Mr. Guimarin was operating a picture show at Big Lake, and as was his custom, he came over last week end and Mrs. Guimarin and their four-year old son, Paul, accompanied him on his return to Big Lake.

On Monday shortly afternoon the deceased left her husband and little son in their hotel room, remarking that she was going to the drug store for a cold drink, and then to a beauty parlor. About 40 minutes after she left, Mr. Guimarin, accompanied by the little son, went to the office at the picture show to write some letters. Imagine their horror on returning to find her on the floor dead! Beside the body was a glass spoon and a package labeled "Potassium Cyanide".

Sterling Students to Graduate at Tarleton

Three students from Sterling City attending John Tarleton College are on the list of 144 prospective graduates, according to announcements by Charlie S. Wilkins, registrar at the college. The list is the longest in the history of the school. Sterling students expecting to receive diplomas in May are Leora Hodges, Norma Ratliff, and Marvin Ratliff.

Miss Hodges is taking a home economics course. Marvin Ratliff, taking a farm management course, is following a musical career at college, being captain of the band and a member of that organization since 1933. He is also a member of the Beaux Esprits, Heart o' Texas, Agriculture, and officers clubs. Taking a physical education course, Norma Ratliff is a member of the A. W. S. Council, the J. A. P., and the Aggettes Clubs. She was chosen the best freshman girl in 1934-35.

Mrs. Mahaffey Elected to School Board

At the school trustee election held at the court house here last Saturday to fill the places of W. B. Atkinson and J. L. Glass whose terms had expired, J. L. Glass was re-elected, and Mrs. S. A. Mahaffey was elected to fill the place of Mr. Atkinson.

Mrs. Mahaffey is the first woman ever to serve on the board of trustees of Sterling Independent School District. "Miss Ty" as she is lovingly called by her many friends is specially fitted for this office. She is a veteran ex-school teacher, a mother and a patron of the school. She has always taken great interest in the welfare of our public schools. Her good conservative judgment and intimate knowledge of the needs of our schools should prove a valuable asset to the board as well as the whole district.

Mr. Atkinson has served us well as trustee, and has always worked to the best interests of the school.

Sterling F. F. A. Team At John Tarleton

Eight members of the Sterling City Future Rancher Chapter competed last week in the John Tarleton Judging Contest. The Livestock team won third place, and T. L. Whitley was second high point man of the contest in competition with over 200 boys. Thad Green was 11th, Finis Westbrook was eight in the judging of beef cattle. Bubba Foster, and W. M. Key other livestock judges made excellent grades in the contest.

The dairy cattle judging team, composed of Reynolds Foster, Jean Durham, and J. C. Evans placed sixth in the contest. J. C. Evans placed eleventh in competition with over 250 boys. This team are members of the first year vocational class, and they competed with teams that had been in training for two or three years.

The slogan of the Sterling boys now is, "Win the A. & M. State Contest on April 27."

Attend District Club Meet

At a meeting of the Sixth District of the Women's Federated Clubs at Abilene this week, Miss Ethel Foster was elected president of the clubs of the district.

The Notadata Club of Sterling was represented by Misses Cecile Irene Reed, L'Jean McEntire, Louise and Marie Atkinson, and Willie Mae Meyer, and Rulene Foster.

The Sterling City Wimodausis Club was represented by Misses Ethel Foster, Prebble Durham, Mesdames James B. Atkinson, N. H. and W. N. Reed, W. E. Allen, and Templeton Foster.

The Wimodausis Club tied with the Tuesday Club of Eastland for the best club report. In Junior Club awards the Sterling junior club rated one hundred per cent with three other clubs.

Miss Ethel Foster was elected president of the Federated Clubs of the Sixth District of Texas.

The Lindbergh baby case should be a closed incident. Charles and Anne should leave England and come over and live in West Texas where little Jon could have an even break.

You boys who gripe about dust storms, dry weather and late frosts should take a trip to the New England states where they have so much rain it keeps the undertakers busy. After seeing things there, maybe you might conclude that West Texas is not such a bad place after all in which to live.

Someone asked me a few days ago if I knew how they managed to change the style of Easter hats. Sure, I did. The style changer procures a large last year's birds nest. He dampens it, places in a split-bottom chair and sits on it for thirty minutes. What ever shape it happens to be when he gets up, that will be the style of the coming Easter hat. Every woman will want one just like it.—Uncle Bill

Don't forget that as springtime approaches, I will be needing some new fishhooks and lines. Also, if enough of you bring in that dollar and 2-bits due the News Record maybe I can buy some smoke makings and a pair of new britches. Although I am past 81, I don't have a pension—all I need is the dollar and 2-bits which about 500 good folks would like to hand in. They just simply overlooked it.—Uncle Bill

While the Townsend plan is a scream and is the joke of the season yet it promises something for nothing, and lots of folks are swallowing it hook, line and sinker, just as the niggers swallowed the "Forty acres and a mule" scheme back in Reconstruction days. It is as absurd as the rat and cat ranch, or the tale of the kilkenny cats. The "please send me a dime" scheme is much more rational. But folks like to be humbugged, and they had just as well let Dr. Townsend humbug them as anyone else even though they are wondering what became of all that money which the Doctor and his bunch collected from poor suckers and which congress is trying to find out about.

The year 1936 is Texas Centennial year in which the Texas Centennial Exposition commemorates a hundred years of Texas independence and progress," Mr. Webb says. "This anniversary of freedom is observed only once in a hundred years and we have not even considered extending the Exposition period into 1937 We will close our show November 29 as scheduled."

Recent national expositions have been extended into second year events as in the case of A Century of Progress at Chicago and the San Diego Exposition. Since the Texas Centennial Exposition commemorates a definite historical happening of one hundred years ago, it could not logically be continued as a Centennial observance beyond Centennial year, those in charge point out $30,000 that has not been accounted for, has been talking loudly in Bruno's behalf. There are still others who say that he was never proven guilty, but in spite of all the money that has been spent and the efforts by those in high authority, not one has ever been able to put forth a single fact, clew or logical reason to show that the jury did not render a just verdict and the execution of that verdict was not in accordance with the laws of the land.

While some mourn for Hauptmann yet, somehow, I can't help feeling sorry for poor Charles and Anne because some hellion took away their darling baby and killed it to get a ransom. Their agony in this terrible loss must have been almost unbearable. My heart goes out in sympathy for Charles and Anne—not Hauptmann.—Uncle Bill

TEXAS ALMANAC

We have on our desk a copy of the 1936 Texas Almanac Published by the Dallas News.

We consider it a valuable addition to the library of any school, office or household. It is crowded with information that you want to obtain ever so often, and information that is hard to get from almost any other source.

No school, office or home can afford to do without this useful book. Give your boys and girls a break in getting up their school work by securing a copy for them. It only cost 65 cents, postpaid, or 50 cents at the stores. The address is A. H. Belo & Co., Dallas, Texas.

A HEAVY FROST VISITS STERLING

A Frost visited Sterling City last Tuesday in the person of jolly, 240-pound Jack Frost with the Waples Platters Grocery Co. of Fort Worth. Jack has been rooting for this well known company for the last 33 years. Most all the grocery people here know Jack. If he doesn't get an order, he never seems to mind it but he never fails to make them smile.

While Jack boosts for his company he is a big booster for Texas. He says: "What Texas makes, makes Texas." Then he told this editor about the Waples Platter Canning plant which covers 27 acres and where they turn out 63,000 cans of good eats every day. No use to name the eats, because you eat some of them every day, or drink their coffee.

We like Jack because he never bores you if you turn him down. He just smiles and turns the subject to something that is pleasant. Jack doesn't know there is a hole in every doughnut, all he knows about a doughnut is the good eats around the hole. That must be the reason why he weighs 240 pounds.

CAN'T AGREE

The Townsend plan people have fallen out among oneanother over a lot of money they had collected for campaign purposes. You see when they got their pension of $200 a month, they must spend it all before the month is out. So these promoters used this money to practice the art of spending so they could show the folks how the trick is done and of course they did not keep the money for their own use. They merely wanted to use it to practice with.—Uncle Bill

IT GROWS HERE

Cauliflowers are as easily raised in this part of the country as collards or cabbage. The cultivation is just about the same.

Celery grows abundantly here if you have plenty of water. By a little attention, you can have celery nearly the year round.

A few stalks of parsley helps the looks of the garden with its beautiful green foliage, besides your cook always likes to garnish meats and salads with sprigs of parsley. All you have to do is to plant it and let it grow.

Most folks like dill pickles. Dill for this purpose can be grown without trouble. Plant it and help it to get a start and it will do the rest. It is as easily grown as weeds. I planted some dill in the garden about five years ago. During all that time it thrived and is still growing. If you let it go to seeds, it will come up all over the garden.

For children between the ages of 1 and 80 years old, no more wholesome vegetables can be found than carrots. You can have carrots the year round. For winter use, plant in August or September. They will keep in the ground where they grow all winter.

Spinach, Popeye's favorite dish, is as easily grown as cockleburrs. It will grow all winter, but it does not stand dry hot weather very well. For winter use, plant in September, spinach likes plenty of moisture.

Some of the land here carries too much alkali for blackeye and crowder peas. The trick to overcome the alkali is to open the furrow and sprinkle it with copperas or iron sulphate, and then drop the peas in the furrow and cover. In this way they will come up and grow off without turning yellow. Copperas for this purpose can be bought in bulk

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Trolling Frog Tragedy

BECAUSE he's so desperately fond of frog's legs, Albert Mackey of Detroit once owned the biggest bull frog that ever croaked a love song. He landed it near Grass Lake, Mich., and it measured 28 3/4 inches and weighed precisely three pounds, four ounces. He named it Frenchy.

When Albert owned Frenchy 28 days to the hour he permitted the frog a daily swim in the lake. When he gave a certain peculiar whistle, here the frog would come, plopping the water like a destroyer.

An adventurously hungry fish followed Frenchy home from his swimming one day, nipping at his aft propellers and spurring Al's pet levitation to strenuous efforts. That gave Al an idea and it wasn't long until a little harness was fitted on the frog's body. Then Al attached two short lengths of fishing line and a couple of good-sized hooks with spinners and sent Frenchy out trolling.

The very first trial, a two-pound bass struck. Al whistled and Frenchy, churning the water desperately, beached his prize. It was easy then. Frenchy learned to troll the most likely places, edges of weed beds, around lily pads and windfalls—he'd even dive into deep holes where bass lurked.

Course, nothing's permanent. Unknown to all, a fierce muskellunge inhabited Grass Lake. Al had sent Frenchy foraging when he saw the muskie dive at the frog, gulp mightily and vanish with him.

"I'd a-whistled him home," said Albert sadly. "But we'd put out some persimmons on lee and I was testing them. Darn it all, my lips puckered on me."

And it's well known in Detroit that out of respect for his frog, Albert Mackey hasn't eaten another persimmon since that dreadful day!

When Pittsburgh is through with the disaster that has almost overwhelmed the city, a monument should be erected in a park, or on the mountainside, in honor of the courage and recuperative energy of the great industrial city. With lights turned off, water flooding the streets, many men and women calmly continued their work, wearing coal miners' light-bearing caps, like so many gigantic glow worms. Americans still possess resourcefulness and can do what they must do.

"To him that hath shall be given," even in Wall street speculation.

For fall tomatoes, set out in July. Tomatoes bear better in the fall here than in summer, though you will get results by planting about the first of May. The variety known as the "Break 'o Day" is the best for this part of the country, although other varieties do well here. COFFEE CAN ALWAYS BE FRESH

"IT SMELLS so nice and fresh!"
"Yes—it must be freshly ground."

This dialogue dates back to the days before coffee was packed in vacuum cans. In those days if coffee was fresh when you got it —it was news. Today, we don't expect to find it any way other than freshly ground. It is freshly ground, and once it is sealed in the vacuum can—that's that.

The rest of its career is up to you. Once you have removed the top, inhaled its rich roasted aroma, the canner has done his part. Then, you are either going to have good coffee or bad coffee depending on what you do with it.
For there are only two kinds of coffee, good and bad. Any cup of coffee that is less than perfect is a failure.

Do You Know the Rules?

A research laboratory which experimented for one year in order to find out how to make the best cup of coffee warns housewives to be sure that the grocer's supply of coffee has been delivered to him recently, unless it is vacuum-packed, for it will retain its freshness for only eight or nine days after roasting unless packed immediately under vacuum.

They warn also against the old-fashioned recipe calling for "one heaping tablespoonful of coffee for each cup, and one heaping tablespoonful for the pot," for the reason that no two "heaping tablespoonfuls" are precisely the same.
Instead use two level standard tablespoonfuls of coffee for each measuring cupful of water.

If you use a drip coffee-making device, and most people prefer this kind, set the device over heat on an asbestos mat. In this way the coffee does not boil. Boiling ruins the flavor. Serve the finished brew as soon as possible.*

For superior monuments see Roland Lowe.

Cal Suggs is planning to stock a lilly pond on his Kiowa Creek ranch with the large variety of bull frogs from Louisiana. The native frogs do well in tanks here, and there is no reason why the large, commercial frog wouldn't do well. Snakes, cranes, cats and coons are the greatest enemy to frogs, and of course he will have to guard against these.

Dr. Kellogg Sells Farm

Dr. S. Kellogg has recently exchanged his irrigated farm six miles up the North Concho from Sterling City, for an apartment house in Big Spring.

He and his daughter, Mrs. Annie Pickett, will operate the apartment in the future in connection with their profession as masseurs. We understand that Mrs. Pickett, who has been our local masseur for several years will move to Big Spring at once and take charge of the apartment house.

Dr. Kellogg was a caller here last Saturday and reported that Big Spring is rapidly coming to the front as a West Texas city. When rallied about Big Spring voting wet a few weeks ago, he came back by saying:
"Big Spring has been publicly dry and privately wet for a long time.
All we did was to vote the bootleggers out so we could get some of the revenue that these guys had a monopoly on."

GEORGE McENTIRE

Mrs. Guimarin

Justice of the Peace, J. F. Cartwright held an inquest and rendered a verdict that her death was caused by poison self-administered.

She left a note directing the disposition of her body, the care of her son and other personal details.

On receipt of the news of her death, Roland Lowe, our local undertaker, E. B. Butler, A. A. Rutherford Hal Knight and R. T. Foster left for Big Lake to render whatever assistance they could to their friend
Guimarin in distress.

Deceased is survived by her husband and little son Paul.

Fan Ledbetter Guimarin was born at Hallettsville, Texas, April 15, 1891.
About the year of 1915 and 1916 she accepted service as a teacher in the primary department of the Sterling City public schools. She served in this capacity for many years.
Scores and scores of the splendid young men and women of Sterling bear the imprint of her tireless efforts and noble tutelage. She not only taught them their first literature, but she bent their young minds to grow as the twig is bent, in uprightness and culture. These are living monuments to the greatness of the soul of this noble woman.

A few years after deceased came here, she was wedded to our fellow citizen, S. D. Guimarin. Of this union was born their son Paul who is now about four years old. Little Paul has no mother now, but the heart of every mother in Sterling goes out to him and would mother him as their own born.

She was dearly loved by all who knew her for her loving disposition, brilliant mind and queenly bearing.
Old and young—even the babies loved her, consequently, all Sterling is mourning her passing.

The human brain, which is the throne of reason is frail. A brain cell snaps, reason goes awry and we are bereft of a precious one.

Those who knew her as their beloved "Miss Fan", will grieve, but they will never forget her loving service as their first teacher, and they are reminded that her little Paul is left as their legacy of concern.

"Go to thy rest, sweet child,
Go to thy dreamless bed,
With roses in thy hand,
And blessings on thy head,
And sweet be thy repose
Safe from each storm that blows,

PARAGRAPH

Many persons who live in cities do not know what is meant by the rotation of crops. Rotation of crops means the planting in regular succession of specific crops. The general and accepted plan is to plant an ordinary, productive crop one year, followed by a member of the legome family the succeeding year, or every second or third year, depending upon the fertility of the soil. Also, three crop rotation is common. For example, cotton may be planted one year, corn the next, and clover, a legome, the third year. The purpose of rotation is to conserve the soil and get the best yield per acreage of any crop.

PERSONALS

Bernice Hammond is visiting friends here.
 Mildred Atkinson visited in Artesia Hagerman, and Roswell, New Mexico, the latter part of last week.
 Miss Little spent the week end at her home in San Angelo.
 Misses Little, Faires, Lane, Fie, Rulene Foster, Cecile Irene Reed, and Mrs. Hambright attended the Hackett-Davis Opera Recital at the auditorium in San Angelo Friday night.
 Cecile Irene Reed, Rulene Foster, L' Jean McEntire, Louise and Marie Atkinson left for Abilene, Monday, to a district meeting of Federated Clubs.

FIRST GRADE

Joseph Blanek brought a little puppy to school. He named him Spot because he had a spot around his right eye.
 Mary Flossie Asbourn brought a bowl of redbud to school for the library.
 Tuesday, March 31 was Betty Jo Findt's seventh birthday. After the birthday song her mother gave a white cup cake with a green candle on it to each of the first grade

For Easter favor each child was given a green basket filled with grass on which was a tiny chicken and Easter egg.

Mr. Roland Lowe gave the first grade twelve beetle-ware glasses to go with the dishes he gave us last fall. In our cabinet we have 12 glasses, 10 cereal bowls, 10 cups and saucers, and 18 plates.

Saturday, April 4, was Beth Abernathy's seventh birthday. Her mother brought a white cake with seven blue candles on it to school Friday afternoon. After all had made a wish for her, the cake was served.

A VISIT TO THE POST OFFICE

Friday afternoon the first and second grades visited the Post Office. Mr. Knight and Annie Lee Pearce made the visit most worthwhile by showing the children the names on Post Office boxes, the adding machine, the stamp for cancelling letters, a thousand dollar government bond, five dollars in gold, a large dollar bill and a small dollar bill, the scales for weighing letters and packages, stamps, and bags for carrying letters. After they had been shown through, Mr. Knight treated the children to a picture show. Before the picture a few talked over the microphone to the delight of the others. Every one agreed that Mr. Knight knows what boys and girls like.

To err is human; to forgive, divine.

Time is the servant of every man and serves as the man dictates.

Mr. and Mrs. Deal Are Sterling Citizens

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Deal came in a few days ago and are now domiciled as citizens of Sterling City. Mr. Deal has taken charge of the prescription department of the Butler Drug Company recently vacated by Jap Bradley and who became the owner of a drug store in San Angelo.
 Mr. and Mrs. Deal are a valuable asset to Sterling City and we feel sure that everyone will like them and will accord them the welcome that worthy citizens deserve.

NEW WEALTH FROM SOIL

New wealth which comes from the soil is of special interest to those to whom falls the responsibility of maintaining our credit structure.
 Unless agriculture is successful farm borrowers cannot ultimately succeed neither can the banks they serve. Foreclosure sales are not a sound basis for good farming or good banking. Bankers, therefore, are as much interested in the permanent success of the agricultural industry as are the farmers whether the deposits come directly from farm patrons, or indirectly through the ordinary channels of business.—D. H. Otis, Director of Agriculture, American Bankers Association.

We are very sad and lonely today. The Angel of Death unexpectedly swooped down upon our home last Monday and carried away Paul's loving mother and my darling wife at a time when it seemed that we needed her most. While our hearts are still in the grave with her, yet we are not unmindful of the host of loving friends who came to us with loving hearts and willing hands and did all that our sad hearts could wish to be done to lighten our burden of great sorrow.

Words are but poor vehicles to express our deep felt gratitude we bear you for your loving sympathy, the beautiful flowers and every kind service you rendered us in our hour of heartbreaking grief and woe. We thank you and may God's richest blessings be yours.

Lloyd George Wins From the Cosmos

Statesmen and Politicians

Man's Fine Figures

Lloyd George, who ran the big show for England and won the help of old Clemenceau, not sympathetic with France this time, says England is dangerously involved and "we shall send our young men to die, this time on German soil, to punish those arrogant and aggressive Teutons for daring to make preparations for the defense of their foreign invader."

Lloyd George is bitter in his denunciation of the suggestion that he be dragged into another "France," says he, "can spend $100,000 on the erection of huge fortifications. We can vote plans which involve expenditure of an additional fifteen hundred million dollars for protection. But if the Germans propose to throw up even a single line to guard their famous citadels and their greatest industrial centers, then measures must be taken to prevent the general staffs of Britain and France."

The "fastest" double star is the sun, and that is the big news. The sun's close together, in the constellation of Ophiuchus, revolve completely around each other in only months. The shortest period of revolution for any other "binary" star is five years. Some revolve once in a hundred years.

Nature is both fast and slow; the electron in the atom revolves thousands of times in a second. The sun's path above your head in which our sun is one of a thousand million specks of matter, revolves once in 225,000,000 years. No limit to bigness, no limit to smallness, apparently.

The naval conference in London was quite to the satisfaction of England, with the situation about the same as when Hiram Johnson of California put the situation in these words:

"Great Britain builds as she pleases; the United States builds as Great Britain permits."

It is the old story: England has statesmen, we have politicians—and some of them are Anglomaniacs.

Big business, like little business, has had its trouble, but here and there it is still big business. In an annual report for General Motors, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., reports that sales last year amounting to $1,555,641,511, against $862,672,670 the year before; a gain of more than two hundred and ninety-two million dollars. That means many new cars, and families made happier. The company paid out in wages more than three hundred and twenty-three million dollars, not including wages paid indirectly to thousands of workers producing materials of which automobiles are made.

Sixty of Mussolini's planes have been shot out of the sky. Harar, Ethiopia's second largest city, one of 40,000 inhabitants, "Civilized" Europe, England leading, bemoans the fact that a Mohammedan mosque, the Coptic cathedral and a Catholic church were blasted.

They forget what happened in the war, at Rheims, Louvain and elsewhere, and the German cannon "Big Bertha" throwing at Paris shells that might well have wrecked Notre Dame, the Madeleine or the Sainte Chapelle.

War is as ruthless as was nature in the earthquake that destroyed the great cathedral of Lisbon.

Mrs. S. D. Guimarin Found Dead at Big Lake

All Sterling was shocked last Monday afternoon when the news was flashed that Mrs. S. D. Guimarin had died suddenly at Big Lake.

The body was brought to the Guimarin home in Sterling City in the Lowe hearse. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. W. Lipps, pastor of the deceased, and Dr. W. B. Everitt, at the local Methodist Church at 3 P. M. on the following Tuesday. Interment was made immediately after at the City Cemetery. Roland Lowe had charge of funeral and burial arrangements.

The active pall bearers were Roy Foster, Lester Foster, Sam Mahaffey, E. B. Butler, Will Young Bengé and W. S. Nelson.

The honorary pall bearers were W. L. Foster, Judge Brown, L. F. Hodges, H. B. Lane, Rogers Hefley, Rufus Foster, Templeton Foster, Foster Conger, W. H. McDonald, R. P. Brown, Ralph Collins, C. C. Ainsworth, Darrell Garrett, Hal Knight, A. A. Rutherford, J. O. Longshore, W. F. Kellis, Pat Kellis, H. L. Pearce, V. E. Davis, Robert Foster, D. P. Glass, W. Y. Bengé Sr., Jap Bradley, Dr. Swann, James McEntire, Roland Lowe, Claud Collins, J. L. Glass, C. T. Sharp, N. L. Douglas, D. C. Durham, J. W. Tweedle, and A. W. Dearen.

Mr. Guimarin was operating a picture show at Big Lake, and as was his custom, he came over last week end and Mrs. Guimarin and their four-year old son, Paul, accompanied him on his return to Big Lake.

On Monday shortly after noon the deceased left her husband and little son in their hotel room, remarking that she was going to the drug store for a cold drink, and then to a beauty parlor. About 40 minutes after she left, Mr. Guimarin, accompanied by the little son, went to the office at the picture show to write some letters. Imagine their horror on returning to find her on the floor dead! Beside the body was a glass spoon and a package labeled Potassium Cyanide.

Sterling Students to Graduate at Tarleton

Three students from Sterling City attending John Tarleton College are on the list of 144 prospective graduates, according to announcements by Charlie S. Wilkins, registrar at the college. The list is the longest in the history of the school. Sterling students expecting to receive diplomas in May are Leora Hodges, Norma Ratliff, and Marvin Ratliff.

Miss Hodges is taking a home economics course. Marvin Ratliff, taking a farm management course, is following a musical career at college, being captain of the band and a member of that organization since 1933. He is also a member of the Beaux Esprits, Heart of Texas, Agriculture, and officers clubs. Taking a physical education course, Norma Ratliff is a member of the A. W. S. Council, the J. A. P., and the Aggettes Clubs. She was chosen the best freshman girl in 1934-35.

Mrs. Mahaffey Elected to School Board

At the school trustee election held at the court house here last Saturday to fill the places of W. B. Atkinson and J. L. Glass whose terms had expired, J. L. Glass was re-elected, and Mrs. S. A. Mahaffey was elected to fill the place of Mr. Atkinson.

Mrs. Mahaffey is the first woman ever to serve on the board of trustees of Sterling Independent School District. "Miss Ty" as she is lovingly called by her many friends is specially fitted for this office. She is a veteran ex-school teacher, a mother and a patron of the school. She has always taken great interest in the welfare of our public schools. Her good conservative judgment and intimate knowledge of the needs of our schools should prove a valuable asset to the board as well as the whole district.

Mr. Atkinson has served us well as trustee, and has always worked to the best interests of the school.

Born: On the 3rd to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Radde a boy. They named the youngster, Delmar Adolph.

Sterling F. F. A. Team At John Tarleton

Eight members of the Sterling City Future Rancher Chapter competed last week in the John Tarleton Judging Contest. The Livestock team won third place, and T. L. Whitley was second high point man of the contest in competition with over 200 boys. Thad Green was 11th, Finis Westbrook was eight in the judging of beef cattle. Bubba Foster, and W. M. Key other livestock judges made excellent grades in the contest.

The dairy cattle judging team, composed of Reynolds Foster, Jean Durham, and J. C. Evans placed sixth in the contest. J. C. Evans placed eleventh in competition with over 250 boys. This team are members of the first year vocational class, and they competed with teams that had been in training for two or three years.

The slogan of the Sterling boys now is, "Win the A. & M. State Contest on April 27."

Attend District Club Meet

At a meeting of the Sixth District of the Women's Federated Clubs at Abilene this week, Miss Ethel Foster was elected president of the clubs of the district.

The Notadata Club of Sterling was represented by Misses Cecile Irene Reed, L'Jean McEntire, Louise and Marie Atkinson, and Willie Mae Meyer, and Rulene Foster.

The Sterling City Wimodausis Club was represented by Misses Ethel Foster, Prebble Durham, Mesdames James B. Atkinson, N. H. and W. N. Reed, W. E. Allen, and Templeton Foster.

The Wimodausis Club tied with the Tuesday Club of Eastland for the best club report. In Junior Club awards the Sterling junior club rated one hundred per cent with three other clubs.

Miss Ethel Foster was elected president of the Federated Clubs of the Sixth District of Texas.

HAUPTMANN PAYS PENALTY

Bruno Richard Hauptmann died very suddenly at Trenton, New Jersey last Friday at 8:44 p. m. His death was expected at 8 o'clock the previous Tuesday night, but it was postponed until Friday. They killed Bruno with a charge of 2000 volts of electricity.

Deceased was indicted, tried and convicted on a charge of kidnaping Charles A. Lindberg Jr., the two-year old baby son of Charles A. Sr. and Anne Lindberg, and murdering him on the night of March 1, 1932, and afterward receiving $50,000 on a promise to return the baby alive and well to his distressed parents.

The nearest he came to making good his promise after receiving the money, was to deliver the baby's garments which had been taken from its body after it was murdered. This fact was given to the jury which convicted Hauptmann, by witnesses whose testimony was never impeached, and which the jury believed beyond a reasonable doubt.

For several months after the child was snatched from his little crib and foully murdered, this horrible crime was a mystery. At last the kidnaper was contacted and the money paid over for the baby's return. Then months elapsed before Hauptmann ventured to spend any of the ill-gotten money.

One day the deceased bought some gasoline at a filling station and paid for it with one of the ransom bills.

That act was the undoing of Bruno Richard Hauptmann. Like a killer wolf, he put his foot into a trap that had been set for him and its jaws clamped down on him forever.

He was arrested and charged with the crime. He protested that that was the only bill he had. He denied that he had any more of the ransom bills. A search revealed that he had about $20,000 of the ransom bills concealed in his garage. Although he had stoutly denied having any more of the blood money he explained his possession of the money by saying that one Fisch had left it with him to keep, and that Fisch was dead. The fact that he had previously denied having the money, the court and jury refused to believe his tale.

As the trial progressed, the court gave Hauptmann every opportunity to defend himself against the charges. The ablest lawyers put up a heroic legal battle in his behalf, but they had nothing on which to predicate a logical defense, a defense that the court and jury could base a reasonable doubt.

After hearing all the evidence for and against the defendant, all the jury had no doubt of his guilt, and though some were weeping as they pronounced their verdict, yet, they were a unit in a verdict of guilty.

After the court had decreed his guilt and assessed his punishment at death, everything was done to save him, but to no avail. He paid the penalty of the crime of which the courts of last resorts said he was guilty.

Hauptmann died with the secret of his crime in his bosom. He refused to ever change his first story except to explain that the deceased Fisch gave him the money to keep for him.

There are those who grieve for Hauptmann. Perhaps he was their kind of a man. There are others who say "money talks," and that

10,000 Horses
New Democracy
Main Men Live Longer
Must We Have War?

The well advertised Queen Mary, being very big moving up to her New York dock, represented in reality the quintessence of compressed power. On the way over she developed one hundred and sixty thousand horse power.

That number of horses hitched in pairs, one ahead of the other, would make a "team" more than two hundred and fifty miles long. Still more remarkable power compression is that of the flying engine, which compresses the power of a 1,000-pound horse into less than three pounds of metal.

The government offered for sale the hundred millions of 2% per cent bonds, four hundred millions of 1% per cent notes. The whole issue is subscribed.

It is a comfort for those that have money and want no risk to invest even at low interest rates, free of income tax payments.

Such an investment is much simpler than running the risk of a business enterprise with pay rolls and jobs attached.

To tax heavily the man who uses his money and brains to give work to others, and free from taxation those that buy bonds and take their ease, is a brand-new kind of democracy.

Men of middle age and older may learn from Civil war veterans in the Memorial day parade, some ninety and some ninety-three; one, who led New York city's G. A. R. procession, past ninety-six years of age.

All the old soldiers are very thin men, averaging in weight less than 100 pounds. Had they been fat they could be in the grave, not in any parade.

General Pershing cut a big birthday cake with a general's sword. Mrs. Roosevelt looking on, and on Memorial day he warned America against another war.

To believe that this country can be dragged into a war without a repetition of our big war folly is not complimentary to those in charge. No foreign nation would force war on the United States, and thus put United States resources, and any fighting qualities that Americans may possess, on the side of that foreign nation's enemies.

The unfortunate Congressman Moncheck, from the Northwest, is locked up in Washington, his sanity to be investigated, after he visited the White House with a present of empty beer bottles for the President.

The unfortunate congressman's antics are not important in themselves, but you wonder what qualities were seen in him by voters that sent him to congress.

The United States Supreme court declared unconstitutional a New York state law that would permit New York to fix a minimum wage for women and children.

Chief Justice Hughes, who did not agree with the majority opinion, wrote: "I find nothing in the federal Constitution which denies to the state the power to protect women from being exploited by over-reaching employers."

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., who ought to know about American industry, says enormous building operations are needed in the United States to replace out-of-date equipment, and that the door is wide open for "plenty of jobs and then more jobs."

Coming Marriage Is Announced

On Friday afternoon Miss Olga Key was named honoree at a bridge party given by her mother, Mrs. W. M. Key, and sister, Mrs. David Glass, at the Glass ranch home.

Five tables of bridge players assembled for the afternoon diversion.

At the tea hour the approaching marriage of Miss Key to Mr. George Phillips of Big Spring was announced. The refreshment plate consisted of molded hearts in ice cream with cupid predominating and angel food cake. Miniature bags of rice with the date June 14, were favors.

High score and high cut prizes won by Miss Babe Cole and Mrs. Harvey Glass were graciously presented to the bride-to-be. Miss Key was given a beautiful gift by the hostess.

Those present were: Mesdames Vern Davis, Clyde Bowen, Lee Augustine, Nick and Martin Reed, Pat Kellie, J. L. Glass, Harvy Glass, Irvin Grigsby, of Sanderson, Boots William, Herbert and J. I. Cope and Misses Anna Lee Pearce, Norma Ratliff, Gloriadel Bowen, Archie Marie Garrett, Babe Cole, Sue Nelson and Misses Dorothy Austin, Frances Willig, Barbara Hogan, Willene O'Connell and Lucile Miller, all of San Angelo.

Annual Forsan School Excursion Leaves

The fourth annual Forsan school excursion started westward with a party of 33 persons. Included in the itinerary will be El Paso, the Grand Canyon, Boulder Dam, Sequoia National Park, Yosemite, Salt Lake City, Yellowstone National Park, and Palo Duro Canyon. Leland L. Martin, head of the Forsan schools said the trip would cover from 3,500 to 4,000 miles.

In addition to junior and senior students making the trip, these teachers were included; Mr. and Mrs. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Max Greenwood, Eloise Nelson, Norman C. Malachuk, and Sue B. Mann, deputy state superintendent.—San Angelo Standard.

Girls 4-H Clubs Are Organized

The first meeting of the 4-H Club Council was held Monday afternoon in the office of the Demonstration Agent here, when plans for two girls' clubs in Sterling County were discussed. Officers for the council were elected. They are as follows: Mildred Simpson, chairman; Leora Hodges, vice-chairman; Elsie Knight secretary-treasurer; Eloise McCabe, reporter and Mrs. Taylor Garrett, sponsor.

Year-books were discussed and programs for each meeting this year were arranged. The Council expressed a desire for at least two delegates from each club to represent the county at the Short Course at A. & M. College which will begin July 20. A committee from each club shall be appointed to solicit funds for expenses for same.

The next meeting for the Divide club is set for Wednesday, June 17, and the Sterling City club for Friday, June 19. Grooming and Clothing will be discussed by each club.

Old Grave Is Found

The new addition to the Montvale Cemetery which was surveyed several weeks ago, has been fenced, cleared of brush and a new gate leading from highways No. 9, near the northeast corner of the new addition has been put in. It is the plan of the Association to have the grounds surveyed and marked into lots, alleys and streets and maps made of the work.

What is thought to be an old grave—older than any known in the main cemetery, is located near the northwest corner of the new addition. It is just north of a mesquite tree. It is sunken just like old graves are, but it was dug north and south instead of east and west. A few scattered rocks around it indicate that they had been placed there by someone as markers of the grave. Plans are on foot to excavate and ascertain if a human body is buried there, and if so, to mark it more permanently. Who knows anything about this grave?

At the Commencement exercises of the University of Texas, June 8, 1050 graduates received degrees.

With The H. D. Clubs

Miss Kate Adele Hill, District Home Demonstration Agent, from College Station, is to be in Sterling City on Friday, June 19, to help in the organization of a County Home Demonstration Council. The meeting is to be held promptly at two-thirty p. m. as Miss Hill is on her way from Big Spring to San Angelo judging Centennial Contestants. Each club president and elected council representative should be present at this meeting. The meeting is to be held in the home demonstration office in the court house. Clubs which will be represented are: Sterling City, Divide, Lacy Creek, China Valley, Sterling Creek and Mulberry.

A home demonstration club was organized in the Mulberry community last Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Lee Hunt at three o'clock. After an explanation of the work and an open discussion of the work the following officers were elected: Mesdames Luther Green, president; L. L. Reed, vice-president; Stacy Bechnell, secretary-treasurer; Curtis Walker, reporter; and Lee Hunt, council delegate.

The next meeting will be held on June 23, at three o'clock at the home of Mrs. Lee Hunt. Regular meeting days for this club are to be on the second and fourth Tuesdays in each month. Each lady in this community is welcome to come as a member or as a visitor.

The Sterling City Girl's Club met Friday, June 5, at the Home Demonstration office. Miss Reid discussed six possible demonstration from which we shall choose two.

The following officers were elected: Leora Hodges, president; Fay Edwards, vice president; Vera Randle, secretary-treasurer; Mildred Simpson, council delegate; and Lucille Hodges, reporter.

The next meeting will be held in the Home Demonstration office at four o'clock on Friday, June 19. All girls from the age of 12 to 20 are urged to come.

QUESTIONS ON THE OLD AGE PENSION

will be based upon need because of the Federal Social Security Law and the Texas Law. People who do not need as much as $30 will receive less. All payments considered, the average will be around $20 to each applicant who meets the requirements of the Texas law.

Q. Does not the Texas law require that each applicant for assistance be investigated?

A. Yes.

Q. Is not the organization of the Old Age Assistance Commission based upon rules laid down by the Washington and the Texas laws?

These are questions that the people of Texas are asking. Orville S. Carpenter, executive director of the Old Age Assistance Commission, answers them:

Q. When will the first pension payments be made?

A. July 1.

Q. Are you sure of this?

A. Yes, because both State and Federal pension money will be in the Texas Treasury. Texas was granted only recently $1,181,250 by the United States Government.

Q. How many of the aged past 65 years of age will be eligible?

A. As far as I can estimate now there will be approximately 65,000.

Q. How much will each one receive?

A. Each one will receive up to a maximum of $30 a month, or $15 from the State and $15 from the United States. However, payments

A. Yes.
Q. Is not the entire procedure for obtaining a pension required by the Texas Law and the Social Security Board in Washington?

A. Yes.

Q. Then the method in which you handle applications for assistance is mandatory upon you because of the Texas law and rules of the Social Security Board?

A. Yes.

Q. Is it true that some payments will be only $9 or $10 per month.

A. Yes. Payments will be based on Need. It is also true that payments will be $30 per month to those whose needs require it. However, the general average will be about $20 to each old person on the pension rolls. This average is in itself $5 a month more to each needy old person than he or she could get if Texas had a blanket pension program of $15 a month only.

Baptist Revival Holds Interest

As advertised, the Baptist revival began last Sunday at the tabernacle and is now going strong. The boys have repaired the roof of the old structure so the folks can attend services with open air comfort. A summer revival should always be held in the open air. Brother Collier deserves special mention in getting the tabernacle fixed up. He led out and the others followed. A good meeting is going on, you should go out, it will be good for you.

J. T. Davis was among the sellers of big wool clips last Monday. His clips of 75,000 pounds of 12-month wool sold at 33 cents. Claude Collins and sons, Ralph and Claude Jr, earlier sold their clips of about 165,000 pounds at San Angelo at 32 cents per pound. The two sales amounted to approximately $77,550

CARE FOR THE NEEDY

Every ranchman knows that it is better to let an old cow rustle feed for herself as long as she is able to find it. Of course he knows she must be fed and cared for when the range fails.

He also knows that when he begins to feed the old cow, she will lie around the feeding grounds and depend on him to feed her, even when the picking gets good.

Lots of humans are like that, when the government fed them during the pinch, they loafed around the feeding pens and wouldn't do a lick of work. Of course they all did not do that, but there were some who got the idea that the government owed them a living. In that case, they were just like the old cow because they soon became too lazy to help themselves.

Now, I believe in helping the poor and helpless as much as anybody. I believe that suitable provisions should be made by the county, state and federal governments to care for its paupers. No human being should be permitted to suffer for the want of food, raiment and shelter when he is not able to earn it. I believe that every able bodied man and woman should be given the opportunity to earn the necessities of life and should be compelled to take the opportunities offered unless he can find a better one.

I believe when a person has reached the age of 65, and by reason of infirmity he has lost his earning power, he should receive aid from the public coffers according to his actual needs.

I believe that it is a brazen graft for anyone to receive money from the government that he does not need for his actual wants. I like to help an actual beggar in his distress but I despise the beggar who becomes a chooser and demands of me more than his actual needs require.

This leads up to the $200-a-month Townsend plan. No man or woman needs $200 for his actual personal necessities. Now suppose that the Townsend plan was feasible and that the money could be raised (which for not a moment I will grant) to pay all persons of 60 years of age $200 per month, do you believe that it would be good for the recipients of the money, their offspring, the citizenship, the government or the general welfare of all the people?

To illustrate: You have in mind a man and woman who are eligible to the Townsend pension. These people have managed to shift along without the aid of charity, but they have been little good to their country or themselves during their lives. They have brought into the world a brood of worthless children who never did anything more thrilling than to marry mates of their own class, raise dogs and children like themselves. They never work except when starvation drives them to it. They never lose a chance to soak the groceryman or the owner of the shack in which they roost. They wouldn't kill a snake unless somebody paid them a big price for it.

Now their mother and dad suddenly comes into $200 each, every month! Don't you know that that bunch would live high, wide and handsome? Don't you know they would quit work and lie up and depend on dad and mother's gratuity for a living. Don't you know that they would sit down and wait until they got old enough to draw $200 a month?

They would soon lose their initiative, self reliance and what ever ambition they ever had to get any where. We would soon become a nation of worthless loafers if this Townsend plan were to materialize. Those of us who would scorn to become mendicants at public expense and beggars from choice, and try to be self sustaining and be something in the world would have to dig up the cash to pamper an army of loafers in idleness and luxury. It would not take us long to get chock full of such preposterous injustice.

The Townsend plan would soon ruin the moral of American citizenship by destroying that self reliance which made Americans the peers of any people in the annals of time. It would be worse than Russian Bolshevism because all Russians must work or be shot.

When the good Lord found that pampering Adam and Eve upon the luxuries in the Garden of Eden, He made them get too big for their britches. He fired them out to root hog or die. He said to them: "by the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread," or words to that effect. Since that decree, bread eaten without the sweat of mental or physical labor, is little better than the Apples of Sodom. The human stomach mocks at it!

God made people to work, and the man or woman who gets around it dearly pays for it in one form or another. The idea of one class being kept in idleness and at the same time kept in luxury at the expense of another class is unnatural, unjust preposterous and ruinous.—Uncle Bill

This thing we call hurry, gets us into all kinds of jackpots.

I have often been the victim of hurry. As you know, it is my job to cast the plates for the pictures that goes into the News-Record. In molding these plates, to do a good job, the mold or casting box must be hot but not too hot. The metal that is poured into the casting box must not only be melted, but it must be very hot, but not too hot or the job will be spoiled. To make a good job, one must have both the box and metal just right. It takes a lot of patience to do this.

The other day I was behind time and was in a great hurry to get the plates ready so the makeup man would not be delayed. The metal was barely melted and the box was not hot, but I took a chance and poured the metal. The result was a spoiled plate, a lot of cuss-thinks and unuttered bad words at the luck.

After a few whiffs at the old pipe, it required only a think or two to realize that the luck was being in too big a hurry. So after getting a new hold of the situation, I took my time and made things just right with the result of a perfect casting.

I knew very well when I started in what would happen, but a big hurry drove me to take desperate chances of making a bum job. "Great haste makes great waste".

Two travellers—one going east and the other going west, the other day, were in a great hurry to get there. They didn't have much to do after they got there, but they wanted to be there right now, so they rode the gas with heavy feet,

FORD V-8 ECONOMY MEANS HIGH "Dollar Mileage"
(MORE MILES PER DOLLAR)

NO MATTER how you classify your expenditures for car up-keep — it's your total expenditure that counts. How much "dollar mileage" is your car giving you?

Dollars do go farther in the Ford V-8. Modern improved carburetion gives you unusual gasoline mileage with brilliant V-8 performance. Most owners of today's Ford change oil only every 2000 miles and add none between changes.

And after the first few thousand miles you begin to understand what Ford V-8 "dollar mileage" really means.

It gives you more miles per dollar because it gives you all-round economy — low first cost, low up-keep cost, low depreciation and long life — as well as low gasoline and oil consumption. All these are big items if you aim to buy the most economical car.

The man going west overtook a wool truck at the base of a small hill. He couldn't see fifty feet ahead of him, but he was in an awful hurry to get there, so he stepped on the gas and sped around the truck. Coming up the hill on the west side was the other man going east. He also was in an awful hurry. They met at the top of the hill. The ambulance man found the west-bound man under the junk of two wrecked automobiles and had to have help to get him out. The doctors say this man in y recover, but he will never look like anything, even if he does recover. The undertaker found the eastbound man mixed up in a barbed wire fence. They had a big funeral with a great profusion of flowers. To save the feelings of the dead man's relatives the preacher told a white lie by saying the man was a victim of a "sad accident," when he knew very well that had he used the precaution with which a common mule is endowed, by using five seconds of time in looking ahead to see what he was running into, all would have been well, but the deceased was in a hurry and he died because of it.

The result of this great hurry was one dead man, one man busted up so that what he sees in the future will be out of one eye as he hobbles about on a pair of new model crutches. Also, two good automobiles are reposing in the junkpile while a perfectly sturdy truck driver is disturbed in his sleep with the jitters, all because two darned boneheads couldn't spare a split second to look out where they were going.

You can call it an accident if you want to, but a real accident happens only to those who cannot foresee what will happen after using all the caution to prevent it. These men could have waited a few seconds to look where they were going, but they were in a hurry to get there and they did not do it. They paid dearly for their haste. Drive carefully or else arrange with the undertaker, because he is going to get you by and by.—Uncle Bill

"JERKY"

Gentlemen are you acquainted with jerky? "Jerky, what is that?" Of course you don't savy jerky. Being brought up on baby food, you could not be expected to know about a grown man's eats, like jerky.

Jerky is dried meat. It is prepared by cutting beef or other kinds of meat into small strips, salted and then dried in the sun or over a slow fire. It takes time and a lot of care to make good jerky, but when it is well prepared, it is the strong meat that delights the palate and sticks to the ribs. It is the meat spoken of in the Book as the strong meat which sustains.

Jerky was the mainstay of the Indian in his day. He would convert a buffalo, elk, deer or other animal into jerky and fill his warbag with it, and then he was ready to lift scalps, steal horses or any other devilment. As long as he had jerky he was hard to catch.

In the old frontier days, every settler had a string of jerky hanging in his cabin. If he didn't, the family was seeing hard times.

Last week, John F. Thompson of Clifton, Arizona sent his sister, Mrs. W. E. Allen, of Sterling City a box of fine jerky which had been prepared on his ranch near Clifton. Now Ruth never gets anything that is really a delicacy that she doesn't want her friends to share it with her. That is one of her weaknesses. She couldn't help it if she wanted to and it seems that she never wants to help it. Fortunately, I was her friend and came in for a generous share of it.

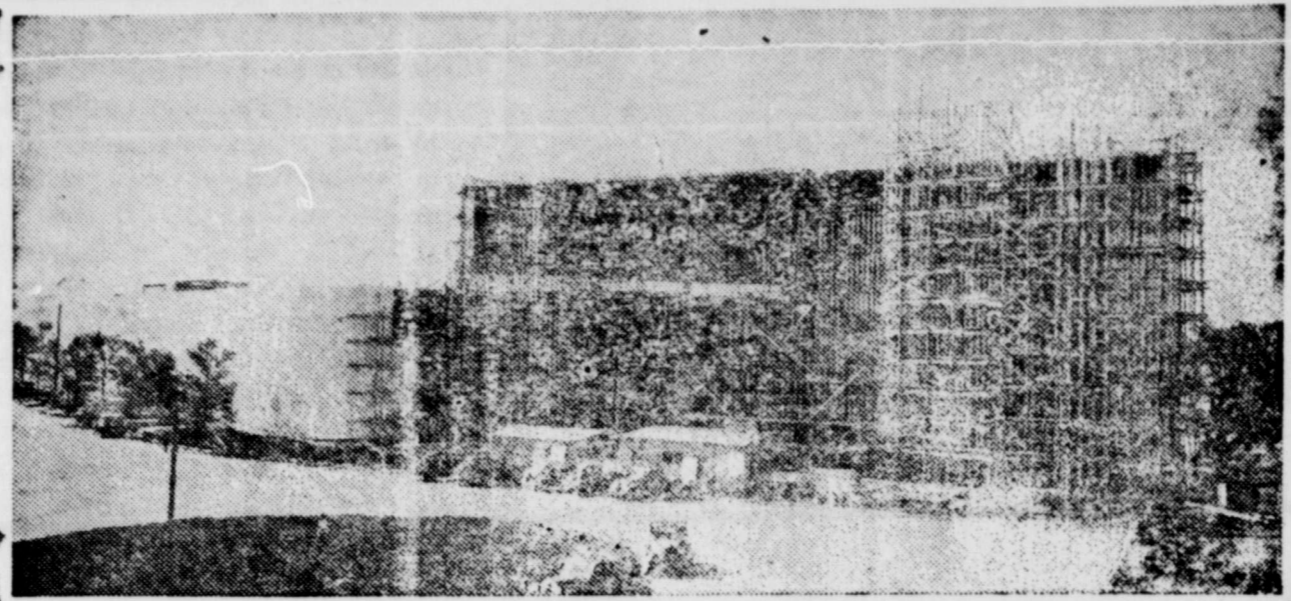

As for looks, it was no more tempting than a bundle of dry sticks but looks are often deceiving, and jerky is deceit itself, because there is nothing like it as a tasty food. A modern cook or a Mexican would have spoiled it by trying to improve it by mixing onions and pepper with it and cooking it.

Jerky is good by itself without any cooking or doctoring. You have to eat it slowly. If you gulped it, you would choke. It must be thoroughly chewed to get the best of it. In all the years that we lived on jerky, I never knew of anyone having indigestion or stomach trouble because of it. The younger generation on the ranches seem to have forgotten the art of making jerky as well as the taste for the best and wholesome of all flesh foods. —Uncle Bill

THE STEW

Should the Witches Caldron of McBeth
Be the stud pup of this stew,
The Contents have been changed a lot
Yet most any thing will do—
Most anything out of the beef
That is killed for the Wagon Cook
The parts he uses is a secret
And never printed in a book.
The obviates old Criticism
Stops any one who might suggest
The cook is the last one who complained
And was elected by the rest.
Let your comments all be praises,
Don't give the stew a suspicious look
Some one might read whats on your mind,
Then you would be proclaimed the cook.
The stew's name makes it handy
To call a man a SO and SO,
Especially bigoted politicians
As they come and go.
Some times the stew is called a gentleman,
From some rival town, as the case may be.
This is the "Gentleman From So and SO"

Ford Exposition to Show How Southwest's Products Are Employed in Manufacture of Modern Motor Car

The opening in Dallas June 6 of the great Ford Exposition will show to the Southwest how its own products make the Ford, the Lincoln and the Lincoln-Zephyr automobiles possible. This unusual photograph well pictures the vast proportions of the Ford Exposition building, in which will be housed an exhibition showing how importantly Southwestern raw materials enter into the making of modern cars.

The huge Ford Exposition building, erected especially for the Centennial Exposition in Dallas, Texas, opening June 6, will be devoted largely to showing how importantly the raw materials of the Southwest enter into the manufacture of Ford V-8, Lincoln and Lincoln-Zephyr motor cars.

Forty-three thousand of a total of 55,000 square feet in the great air-conditioned structure will house an interesting group of manufacturing and testing exhibits, a pageant of transportation, dioramas showing the use of raw materials in the Ford plants, and an exhibit of the Henry Ford trade school at Dearborn, Michigan.

Displays carrying out the principal theme of the Ford Exposition show how such Southwestern products as cotton, mohair, wool, corn, cattle, soy beans, resin and rice are employed in the making of Ford and Ford-sponsored automobiles.

Five hundred and fifty-eight thousand acres, producing 160 pounds to the acre, raise the cotton used in each one million Ford units. A working exhibit at the Ford Exposition will show how cushion tops for Ford V-8's are stitched at the average rate of one every five seconds—consuming annually more than 57,000,000 pounds of cotton. How some of the millions of pounds of cotton used by the Ford Company is processed in its final stage at the factory will be shown in the demonstration of the machine known as the "multi-plier."

Used in making seat cushion tops and backs, the multiplier can sew at one time as many pleats as desired. In producing Ford V-8 cushions, eight pleats are made simulaneously. At the same time, cotton batting is fed into the machine, sewed into place, and the cushion cover is sewed to the cotton sheeting. The machine in regular production makes 24,000 stitches a minute and turns out 12 to 14 cushion tops every sixty seconds. This machine is but one example of how Southern agriculture contributes to the automobile industry.

With the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company exhibit in the Ford Exposition building showing another important use of cotton, the making of fabric for tires, it is further revealed that for one million Ford units, 25,000,000 pounds of cotton are required. It has been estimated that in production of Ford units this year, approximately 116,000,000 pounds of cotton will be used.

THE BARDO

(Illustrated by Bill Swann)

If you should see a Bardo
You would think it was a man
A twentieth Century edition
Of a Grecian Piper Pan
A Bardo is often mistaken
For a negro in flight,
His hat in hand, white shirt tail out
Speeding through the night.
Thus the word PAN IC is derived
Means fear or sudden fright,
The feeling that always seizes us
When we get scared at night.
Charlie Crawford was hunting
wolves,
When his dogs began to trail
Something that was black all over
And had a snow white tail.
The dogs finally became exhausted,
His horse was jaded too,
But he was satisfied because
He had seen something new.

Next day at Coulson's drug store,
Judge Ayres wanted to know
All about the wonderful chase,
And the strange Bardo.

But at the description of the Bardo
The Judge seemed to take offense
He soon left town, moved away,
And we haven't seen him since.

Farmers fight the locusts by erecting walls of sheet iron or digging ditches, into which the locusts swarm, to be sprayed with gasoline and burned. Tons of the pests are thus destroyed.

Mayors of Arab cities in Palestine warn the British that they must stop Jewish immigration and the sale of land to Jews in Palestine. The British answer to the warning will probably not be satisfactory to the Arabs. It is reported also that the central committee for Palestine of the "Communist party" is distributing literature urging British soldiers in Palestine to mutiny.

President Lewis of Lafayette college thinks wars would end if monarchs who voted for it were put in front line trenches. That might prevent some wars, not all.

Texans are seeing Texas during

CENTENNIAL YEAR!

Centennial year is not only an opportunity for Texas to be host to millions of visitors from other states. It's a year for Texans to travel Texas and know their own state!

For real vacation pleasures Texas is unsurpassed anywhere. We have mountains, seashore, missions, foreign atmosphere, pine woods, gay night life in our metropolitan cities, historic places, unexcelled golf and fishing—every attraction you can find anywhere, right here in our own state.

Millions of Texans are seeing the big exposition at Dallas, then driving on to various other parts of the state for other equally interesting Centennial Celebrations. The Texas Centennial is state-wide. See all of it that time permits.

Read the calendar of interesting Centennial events at the right. Write the various chambers of commerce for complete information at cities you are interested in.

For a real vacation—Texans, SEE TEXAS!

Tall Tales
As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and SCOTT WATSON
ELMO WATSON

The Faithful Crutches
MOST people know about the loyalty of dogs and other dumb animals that serve mankind, but they do not realize that inanimate things are frequently just as faithful. So says Herbert Sharples of Montreal, Que., who tells this story of the faithful crutches.

One day he saw a traveling doctor in the market place offering for sale a marvelous salve which, he claimed, would cure all ills. One of the first purchasers was a man whose legs were so shriveled and twisted that he had to use crutches to get along. One minute and eight seconds after he had rubbed some of the salve on his legs they were so straight and strong that he cast away his crutches and started to walk home without them.

The doctor, having no use for the salve left in the box by the man, and noticing that the crutches were very dingy from long use, began rubbing some of the ointment on them to see if it would brighten them up. At once the crutches began to dance and caper around him, stopping now and then to admire each other.

Suddenly they paused in their antics and the next moment they were trotting gaily down the street until they caught up with their former master. After that they walked sedately at his heels, ready to come to his assistance if need be, even though he had cast them off without a single thought.
