The Big "Black Legion" More and Better Babies A Worried Empire U. S. Dollars Emigrate

The "ritual" of the murderous secret society called the "Black Legion" contains some "Know Nothing" features. The candidate for admission must be "willing to commit murder, to proceed against Catholics, Jews and Negroes" he must be "native born, Protestant, white and gentle."

The "Black Legion," which probably will not last long, had ambitious plans. Among other things it proposed to overthrow the federal government, which is not an original idea. It was also going to set up a dictatorship, with night riding regiments to enforce discipline. Dictatorship is not a new idea, either.

Strange things are done or planned in the name of "liberty" now, as they were when Madam Roland mounted the guillotine platform.

Russia wants bigger families, like Mussolini and others with "plans." Stalin wants plenty of new little citizens.

A thousand million rubles will be set aside by Moscow to "subsidize large families and aid mothers." Birth control ladies and gentlemen will hear, surprised, that aid to large families will begin after the seventh child. Seven are taken as a matter of course; that is just the beginning of a Russian family.

Chancellor Hitler of Germany joins in the "more and better babies" cry.

The German ideal is no longer the beautiful golden-haired Margaret, spinning her wheel and saying "No." The Nazis demand women who, "above everything else, can become the mothers of several children" and are willing to do so, according to a representative of Chancellor Hitler.

William Phillip Simms, English, is afraid the British empire may not survive, on account of "air fleet peril."

Britain is disturbed by the thought that her whole Imperial line of communication, stretching 6,000 miles from the Straits of Gibraltar to the Gulf of Aden, is under Mussolini's bombing planes. Except that her empire is the biggest, England should not worry more than other countries. With surface ships losing all importance, except in the opinions of some Americans, anybody's bombers can break up any line of communications temporarily.

"Americans investing huge sums in the Bahamas, to escape income tax," says the New York Times. Big type, front page.

Americans have been "investing huge sums" elsewhere, outside the United States. Billions of American money have gone to Canada, England and other "foreign parts." More will go.

In all the Bahamas, 4,403 square miles of beautiful territory, there is no income tax. Think of that for a happy country.

Needless to say, if enough American money pours in to make it worth while the intelligent British will find a way to tax it.

Many Frenchmen are disturbed and puzzled by the situation in Europe, and General Mordacq, close associate of Clemenceau in the war, discusses the question, "What would Clemenceau do if he could come back?"

France feels the need of "a man with a fist," un homme a poigne, and Clemenceau was that kind.

Concerning that line old fighter from the Vendee, it is safe to say that if he came back he would have preparations for another war.

Lost Their Shirts And Hats

Last Wednesday night, Pete Ainsworth and a crew of Spade ranch hands were at the depot loading wool into a car. Being a hot night the boys took off their hats and shirts and piled them into one corner of the car.

When the car was loaded, they remembered where their shirts and hats were. Being dark in the car, someone dumped a sack of wool on their things and thus it went on until the car was filled.

It was either to handle 50,000 pounds of wool again or go home hatless and shirtless. As they had their fill of "flanking" 200-pound sacks, they preferred the latter. However, Agent F. W. Romig included the boy's shirts and hats together with Pete's tally book and cigarettes in the bill of lading.

Mike Slaton is recovering from a surgical operation for appendicitis which he underwent in a hospital in San Angelo, last Friday. His condition is reported satisfactory.

President To Visit Dallas On June 12

A telegram A. C. Ater, general passenger agent for the Santa Fe, gives the information that President Roosevelt will be in Dallas on June 12, which is just one week from today, and will deliver an address at the Centennial grounds at 10 o'clock a. m. on that date.

The Santa Fe railway will run a special car out of San Angelo on train No. 78 on the evening of June 11, making direct connection with a special train out of Temple. The round trip fare will be one-way fare plus 25c, which will be good in Pullmans upon payment of Pullman charges. Return trip to leave Dallas prior to midnight, June 15.

Many West Texans will take advantage of this occasion to hear our great President, and at the same time see the sights of the great Centennial.

Ben Brown Dies

Ben Brown, brother of our fellow citizens, D. M. Brown and Mrs. W. T. Latham died at his home near Greenville, Texas, early last Saturday morning and was buried at a cemetery near Greenville the following day.

A large gathering of friends attended the funeral.

Until about 25 years ago, deceased was a citizen of Sterling County having spent his boyhood days here. He is survived by his widow and one daughter; four brothers, W. T., Richard, James, and D. M. Brown of Sterling City, and two sisters, Mrs. W. T. Latham of Sterling City and Mrs. D. T. Lewter.

Messrs and Mesdames D. M. Brown and John Walraven of Sterling attended the funeral.

Dr. Miller To Speak Here

Dr. H. F. Miller, candidate for congress, will speak in the interest of his candidacy in front of the Butler Drug store next Monday night at 7.30.

Survey of Colorado River Project Is Authorized

Legislation to authorize a flood control survey by Army engineers of the Upper Colorado River Authority project in Coke and Runnels counties along with other projects throughout the United States passed the House of Representatives yesterday and was sent to the White House for approval of President Roosevelt, according to Associated Press dispatches last night.

A few weeks ago the Senate passed the omnibus flood control measure with amendments offered by Senator Morris Sheppard calling for a survey of the UCRA job along with other projects and returned the bill to the House. Yesterday's vote in the House was 295 to 52 to accept the Senate House conference agreement on the bill.

Penrose B. Metcalf, president of the UCRA, and other officials believe President Roosevelt will approve the measure and that with the survey completed the UCRA's application to the PWA for $6,200,000 for the project will stand a better chance of being granted. Mr. Metcalf was in Fort Worth recently in connection with the application. Previously, he and L. T. Youngblood, Bronte, treasurer, had been in Washington in behalf of the project—San Angelo Standard.

Penrose Metcalfe Here

Hon. Penrose B. Metcalf, candidate for State Representative of this district was here last Wednesday in the interest of his candidacy. While here, he called on the News-Record force and exchanged greetings. Mr. Metcalf is chairman of the Upper Colorado River Authority board. He is very optimistic about building the dam across the Colorado River near Robert Lee which means so much to this section of the country. Such large projects require time to materialize but he feels sure it will come in its own good time. Metcalf served in the legislature along with George B. Terrell. Terrell says that Metcalf was among the most useful members of that body.

Hon. G. B. Terrell Pays Us A Visit

Hon. George B. Terrell of Alto, Cherokee County, and candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture was a visitor to Sterling City last Monday.

While here, George visited the News-Record force and renewed the old friendship that began when we were members of the House in the 36 and 37th legislatures, and when we boarded at Mrs. Gathright's tavern over on East 10th Street, Austin.

George Terrell is a good Indian and is as honest as the days are long. You couldn't trade George a span of the best mules ever raised in Missouri for the appointment to the office of Conveyer of Ashcans in the Agricultural Department, should he be again elected. George might swap you a truckload of Elberta peaches or a dozen crates of fancy tomatoes for a yearling mule for future plowing on his East Texas farm, but the emoluments of the office to which he aspires are not for sale.

Then too, George knows his kin-folks. Not one of them will ever get an appointment through him. Some crooks have made use of the cherished name of Terrell to be elected to office and then disgraced it. One crook stole George's name and ran for office on it, and lots of people thinking it was our George, voted for him. This made old George mad and he had a "conversation" with him about it and made him quit it.

Mr. Terrell is a dirt farmer. That is, he works with his own hands. He raises cows, chickens, pigs, the finest peaches and the best of tomatoes. You might disagree with him about the best breed of hogs to raise in a given locality. Now where George lives, he would probably recommend a speedy hog with a long nose, razor back and legs that have great length. A long nose serves the purpose of reaching a tender green briar root a foot under the sandy soil, while the long legs serves the purpose of out running the swiftest piny woods nigger. However, if you ask him, he will probably say that the short legged, short nosed breed is better for Middle and West Texas for there are no briar roots to dig and few niggers to out run.

George knows his onions, also his peaches and tomatoes. He has run with these West Texas fellows so long that he knows his sheep and cattle as well as what is good for what ails them. He has had his ounce of practice for every pound of theory he has read in the books. The agricultural game is not new to this old scout, because he has been Commissioner of Agriculture before and he measured up OK.

While George is no tightwad, yet he is against wasting public money. If he were building a public gate with public money, he would drive plenty of nails in it to make it stand up, but not another nail that was not needed would he drive in order to give some clock watcher a job.

He is wide between the eyes. He couldn't see you through the key-hole without shutting one eye. He is broad enough to look beyond the red old hills of Cherokee County and see the needs of the cotton pickers of Middle Texas. He can vision the needs of the herders and flockmasters of West Texas, and unless he has changed, he will respond to all these needs without fear, favor or the bat of an eye.

All you boys can vote as you please (that is the way I am going

ZIONCHECK

"Uncle Bill, what do you think of the funny capers of Marlon Zioncheck, the clown congressman who is attracting so much attention. Don't you think he is funny?—Peter Funnybone

Peter, I think Congressman Zioncheck is a plain damphool. He is no clown, Peter. A clown is a man of sense. His place is in the circus and not in congress. A clown has too much sense to endanger human lives and property by driving a car at the rate of seventy miles an hour on a crowded highway. Your clown is too decent to resist constituted authority in the performance of its sworn duty in preserving the peace and dignity of the State.

No clown is so lost to common decency as to add fear, discomfort and concern to his fellow man, and Congressman Zioncheck has done all these things. No, Peter, Zioncheck is not funny, nor is he even a clown for a three-up circus. Zioncheck is a pain in the neck. He is just a plain damphool.—Uncle Bill

THE HOOVER POINT CONTENTION

* The Republicans of Hoover Point held their convention last week.

Mr. Rastus Johnsing was elected chairman and Adolphus Schnitzenheimer secretary treasurer.

Chairman Johnsing called the meeting to order and announced that the time had arrived when all Republicans should get together and say something about who shall make the race for president against Roosevelt.

"Hooraw for Borah!" shouted Lycurgus Aphenspooffer. "Hooraw for Hoover!" hollered Amos Jones. At this point Samuel Snowball, the delegate from Chicken Center arose to a point of order and said:

"Mr. Chairman, de delegates from Razah Blade and Crapville am out 'o ordab, sir. De fust thing that am circumabient on de obligations of dis convention am a committee on resolutions. Ah moves you sub, dat—"

"Hooraw fer Landon, the great leader from Kansas!" bawled the delegate from Homebrew City.

"Go way back and keep yo trap shut," said Mr. Snowball.

"Order! Mr. Snowball will now proceed with his motion," shouted the chairman.

"Mistah Chairman, I moves dat a committee ob three or mo, be appointed to draft the resolutions and demands."

"I second the motion," said Plowpoint Smith.

"You hear the motion; those who favor it will say aye. Those who oppose will say no," announced the chairman.

"Aye!"

"Motion is carried I will appoint on that committee Heiny Snortenhooper of Bevo Junction, Samuel Snowball of Chicken Center, Hezekiah Perkins, editor of the Tariff Advocate of Bugscuffle City, Pompey Appleblossom of Terrapin Lope and

After an absence of an hour, the committee on Resolutions and Demands came back and reported the following:

"We, your committee, beg to report that we find the Republican party in a helluvafix. The hole cheese has lost its terbacker and is afoot without a gun. Our pants are full of red ants and our hearts are full of bitterness.

"Whereas, that three years ago, we lost chewing gum and candy. The Democrats found them and since then they have been having a helluva sweet time. Yea, they have rubbed it in and have made us feel bad and out of luck. They took our soft jobs away from us and made us hard to catch.

"Now, therefore we view with alarm the conditions which the Democrats have brought about during their administration of affairs. They are recklessly spending the people's money in building roads, bridges, dams, canals and all manner of public improvements. They wasted public money in feeding and housing the poor. They are giving jobs to the jobless which has always been against our benign policy of every fellow for himself and the devil take the hindmost.

We further view with alarm the prices that prevail for wool, cotton mohair, corn, wheat and other commodities. Especially do we view with alarm and deplore the price of 34 cents per pound paid for wool, when the same wool under our Hoover administration could have been bought for eight or ten cents per pound.

Therefore be it Resolved:

A Gay 'Cullud' Party Visits Town Sunday

Last Sunday afternoon, the wails of a couple of sirens coming up the highway caused many of our people to think there was a fire in town, but it proved to be the sirens of a pair of road cops pursuing a Ford V 8 in which were five dusky deendants of Ethiopian ancestry.

These dark, gay joyriders put on a rehearsal in the vicinity of Carlsbad. Their speed was so thrilling that a couple of road cops were called to assist in getting up speed in the V 8. The chase began near Water Valley and those who saw the race, say that the Ford's front wheels touched the road only in high places and the motorcycles had the race of their lives before they overhauled the fugitives on Fourth Avenue in Sterling City and arrested the quintet and gave them an apartment in Sheriff Vern Davis' hostelerie.

Three cullud ladies and two cullud gentlemen composed the party of guests which Sheriff Vern proceeded to entertain. When overtaken, one of the sons of Ham got hot at being interrupted in his speed show, but after having his head fanned by one of the road cops, he soon cooled down and wasn't near as tough as he thought he was.

One of the cullud ladies had to have assistance to leave the car. When she was lifted out, it was seen that she had been sitting on a bottle of something, which probably had induced her inability to rise from her seat under her own power.

The three dusky dames were soon released from custody, but the two cullud gemmens were retained to await the pleasure of Justice Gene Carr, who was anxious to ask them how come?

On Monday, this same Justice learned the whiches and wherefores of the exhibition, and proceeded to administer on their personal and corporeal estates. He said the State of Texas was justly offended in the sum of $26.40, which in default of payment of said sum, the offenders were ordered held in durance vile until they were discharged by due course of law.

Land of the Sky Blue Water

BABE was Paul Bunyan's big blue ox. He was quite a sizable animal although not all lumberjacks agree as to just how big he was. Some say he was seven axle-handles between the eyes but others declare the figures should be 42 axle-handles and a plug of tobacco. However, all agree that Babe could pull anything with two ends to it.

Occasionally Babe would run away and be gone all day. Paul was the only one who could track him because his footprints were so far apart that an ordinary man couldn't see from one of them to the next one. They were pretty deep, too. Once a settler and his wife and baby fell into one of these footprints and the baby was fifty-seven years old before he finally climbed out and reported the accident.

The winter of the blue snow Babe went on one of these rambles and wandered all over the present state of Minnesota. When the snow melted the next spring the water filled his footprints and that's why Minnesota is now known as the Land of Ten Thousand Lakes—the "Land of the Sky Blue Water."

Typhoid Fever May Be Communicated In Several Ways

"It is a well known fact that typhoid fever may result from the use of water, milk, or other food contaminated by bodily discharges of patients or carriers who harbor typhoid germs," stated Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

The fact that we know the source of infection and the means by which infection may be controlled, emphasizes the importance to all communities of providing water and milk of the highest quality.

Texas is being host to many visitors this year, and all communities should put forth every effort to see that no epidemic occurs which will put an unnecessary blot on the health record of this State.

Typhoid fever may be controlled by the use of pure water, pasteurized milk and clean foods, by the proper disposal of sewage, by screening homes against flies, by protecting food from contamination by flies, by destruction of the fly and its breeding places, by search for and care of carriers, and by anti-typhoid vaccination.

Excreta from persons ill with typhoid should be carefully disinfected to prevent the germs from polluting the soil and thus being carried into streams or wells and contaminating the water supply. Where there is an efficient system of water purification, typhoid fever has greatly decreased.

It is the responsibility of each community to establish adequate safeguards against the consumption of contaminated products at all times and in all places.

It is the responsibility of each individual to further control the occurrence of typhoid fever by establishing immunity for himself by vaccination.

Civil Service Exams.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations as follows: Assistant petroleum engineer, $2,600 a year, Geological Survey.

Teacher in community school (primary, intermediate, special or opportunity, or one-teacher day) $1,620 a year, Indian Field Service (including Alaska).

Livestock On School Grounds

At the stated monthly session of the Board of Trustees of this Ind. Sch. Dist., on June 1, 1936, an order was passed forbidding livestock, especially cows, to be run or pastured on the open campus of the school. Costly improvements are being made on the school grounds and some damage has already been done to said improvements.

U. S. Navy Accepts Lincoln-Zephyr as Official Car As Ford Exposition at Centennial Nears Completion

United States Navy Representatives at Texas Centennial have accepted delivery of a Lincoln-Zephyr as their official car for all parades and state occasions in which the Navy will participate during the Exposition. Left to right: Lt. (J.G.) C. L. Keithley, U.S.N., disbursing officer for the Navy detail at the Centennial; Commander J. M. Lewis, U.S.N., Navy representative at the Exposition; M. T. Runyon, Lincoln Service representative, Dallas Branch of Ford Motor Company; and 2nd Lt. J. C. McHanly, United States Marine Corps, personal aide to Commander Lewis.

With three weeks remaining in which to finish the huge Ford Exposition at the Centennial in Dallas, contractors now say that the Exposition building is more than 75 per cent complete and promise it in its entirety June 1. The Centennial is scheduled to open June 6. Work was begun on the Ford Building March 5.

Official acceptance of the Lincoln-Zephyr, a Ford-sponsored product, by the United States Navy for its activities in parades and State occasions has just been made.

Machinery is moving into the Ford Exposition building for the company's exhibits, concrete flooring having been completed and carpenter and electrical work continuing while the machinery is being placed. The multi-pleater, a machine which pleats and sews cushions for the Ford car at an average of from 12 to 14 a minute, has been moved in and to the visitors at the Centennial is expected to prove one of the most interesting of many exhibits. Cotton batts are picked up and stitched into the cushion as the multi-pleater fashions the cushion.

The Ford Exposition, devoted largely to showing how importantly the products of the Southwest enter into the making of the Ford car, will picture graphically how the resources of this region are drawn on by the Ford Motor Company in its manufacture of the Ford V-8, Lincoln and Lincoln-Zephyr cars.

Blistering sun and pouring rain alternating at frequent intervals are created artificially in an automobile finish testing device which will be displayed in the Ford Exposition. The machine is known as a Weatherometer and is used to test the weather resistance of body finishes in which soy bean oil is an important ingredient.

How the body finish for Ford V-8 cars is subjected to severe tests simulating actual weather conditions is demonstrated in the "Weatherometer." Soy bean oil, an important ingredient in the body enamel, is obtained by a simple extraction process which will also be shown.

A sample of paint placed in the Weatherometer undergoes, within a few days, the same treatment it would receive in several years out-of-doors. Its wearing qualities can then be quickly determined.

Soy bean oil, according to Ford chemists, has proved highly satisfactory in the production of wear-resisting enamel. It is used both in the production of glycerine used in making the resin and as an oil modifier of the finished enamel.

This use of a soy bean derivative is only one of many made by the Ford Motor Company. The oil is also extensively used for green sand in the foundry, and the meal from which the oil has been extracted is made into horn buttons, light switches, window trim and other moulded parts. A model soy bean oil extractor and a display portraying the uses will also be included in the Ford Exposition.

A GIFT

from the Indians

WE ARE indebted to the Indians for many things. One of the chief of these is corn. Hundreds, perhaps thousands of years before Columbus took grains of corn which were spread its cultivation all over the world, the Indians had cultivated and eaten this important food. Just as we prize corn highly, so did the Indians. In the year the six Indian tribes of the Iroquois family celebrated the Corn Festival—four days of feasting and thanksgiving to the Spirit who had given them corn.

To Show Our Gratitude

Housewives, today, carry on a festival in a different way. In the past, probably four days a week they serve corn in one way or another—roasting ears, puddings, corn salads, corn on the cob, or in some other delicious form. Canners have varied styles of canning corn in order to suit the tastes and conveniences of housewives.

For example, when corn was first canned it was almost "cream style"—the rich cream mixture which is especially good for making cream soups, corn puddings and chowders. In recent years, however, in order to meet the demand for new ways to serve corn, the "whole kernel" stage of the corn became available in cans. This corn is picked at the "milk stage" and the entire kernel is cut off and remains separate when in the can. It is particularly suited for sautéing, corn scalloped dishes, for stuffing peppers, for fritters, or for making a dressing for fowl. In 1934 one-fifth of the total production of white corn was in this stage.

The SEASONS DIFFER TODAY

"At Christmas I no more desire a rose Than wish a snow in May's new-fangled mirth; But like of each thing that in season grows."

THESE lines tend to remind us that we've been slipping some since Shakespeare's day. We've contracted a very bad habit of wanting our roses at Christmas, and our eskimo-pie on May-day.

Luckily, however, we can have them without too much fuss—thanks to florists and ice-cream makers. Lucky too, since we have fallen so low as to desire peaches at Christmas, along with our roses, and cranberry sauce in May, along with our snow, that canners have stepped up progress to the point that we can have foods out of season also.

Pass the June Salad, Please

Seasons in menus have little to differentiate them today. Spring and summer are blithely tossed into our winter meals by means of fresh luscious fruits and vegetable salads, and frozen dishes are a very essential part of our summer meals.

Have you a good selection of spring and summer salads to brighten up these gray blustery days? Jellied salads more colorful with fruits and served in deep cups of crisp lettuce do things for meals which feature meat roasts, and the heavier courses. Canned fruits, since they are the choicest fruits of the orchard, are tempting in form and color as well as flavor, and add that beauty as well as zest, which the hostess desires for her feast.

Try these delicious salads and then look at your calendar to see if it's really winter.

Jellied Pineapple and Peach Salad: Dissolve one package of lemon flavored gelatin in one cup boiling water and add one cup of canned peach and pineapple syrup. When cold and ready to set, add one cup of diced canned peaches, one cup drained crushed pineapple, one-half cup chopped nuts and one-half cup chopped dates. Mold as desired. Serve cold on crisp lettuce with mayonnaise. This serves eight persons.

Ginger Ale and Grapefruit Salad: Soak two tablespoons of gelatin in four tablespoons cold water, then dissolve it in one-half cup boiling water. Add one-fourth cup sugar and one-fourth cup lemon juice. Stir until the sugar is dissolved. When cold, add one cup ginger ale and the syrup from one No. 2 can of grapefruit. When about to set, add the grapefruit pulp and eight maraschino cherries. Pour into a flat pan or into molds, and let chill until stiff. Serve garnished at the side with sprigs of fresh mint, and top with cream mayonnaise. This serves eight persons.

Pear and Tomato Salad: Slice chilled ripe tomatoes and place one slice of tomato in each of eight individual nests of lettuce. Place half of a canned pear on top of each, with the cut side of the pear up. Mix one cream cheese with three tablespoons of chili sauce and pile in the pear cavities. Garnish with strips of canned pimiento and serve with either mayonnaise or French dressing. This serves eight persons.*
