The Pope's Health
One Pillar Missing
Big London Fire
A Pretty Good Country

News, far more important than any English royal marriage controversy, concerns the health of Pope Pius.

Arthur Brisbane

The whole world, admiring the Pope's character and his loyal efforts for peace, hopes earnestly for his speedy recovery, while millions that follow the Pope's spiritual guidance pray for that recovery, with the cardinals kneeling at the Pope's bedside.

In spite of his advanced age, there is reason for hope, in his always temperate life and his early Alpine climbing expeditions.

Mr. Hull, secretary of state, offers "eight pillars of peace" upon which American peace and prosperity might rest.

With all respect for the secretary's earnestness, it must be said that the most important "pillar" for the United States is not found among the eight.

The interesting pillar is a protective force of airplanes and submarines so great as to make any attack upon this country unthinkable. When John L. Sullivan lived, no one hit him.

London's Crystal palace, covering 17 acres, went up in flames, visible for 50 miles. London has not seen so great a fire since "the" great fire of 1666. That fire started at one o'clock in the morning in a house in Pudding lane; you may read some interesting details in Pepys' diary. Burning four days, the fire caused great destruction, but did good in the end. It wiped out, for one thing, the great plague of London, that made the citizens mark their doors with a red cross and "Lord, have mercy upon us," and caused the grass to grow in London's streets. London was rebuilt of brick; after the fire no more wooden houses, and streets were made wider. Our misfortunes often improve us.

Former President Hoover, just now in New York, smiles at the suggestion that he plans to leave this country and take up his residence in England. The former President, in spite of the "Maine-Vermont" incident, thinks this is a pretty good country and he is right; it made him President.

This is "the day of woman," as a well-known religious leader said. Hongkong tells of a lady, chief of pirates, looting a ship, taking $10,000, displaying unusual ability and ferocity.

The airplane, in a better way, helps to establish woman's more-than-equality; Capt. Mollison starts through the air from England to Africa, trying to beat the record of his own wife, not that of some other man. Flying records depend upon the machine and the nerve of the pilot. Women have more nerve and physical courage than men have ever had, although men don't know it.

Washington reports that the President, using the discretion given him by congress, will order the construction of two battleships, to cost $50,000,000 each. Many will hope that the statement is mistaken, especially as the President is said to be doing this to "match Britain's move."

If we should build those battleships, squandering $100,000,000 of the public money on them, and then be foolish enough to send them out, in case of war, a couple of $50,000 airships would sink them, or low-priced submarines would blow them up.

If you have imagined at any time that the United States has lost its interest in kings, titles and nobility, turning away from such things in its complete, simple-hearted democracy, look at your newspaper and

Welch-Randolph Marriage

Miss Veva Welch and Mr Leonard A Randolph were married at Big Spring, at 9 o'clock, last Tuesday evening. Rev. W. W. Lipps, local Methodist pastor of Sterling City officiating.

The wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Jarnigan of Big Spring in the presence of Messrs and Mesdames Jarnigan, Darrell Garrett and Taylor Garrett, and Carlos Knight.

Mrs. Darrell Garrett officiated as bride's maid and Darrell Garrett as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph will be at home to their friends at Big Spring after February 15.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Welch of Sterling City. For several years she has served as a clerical deputy in the Sheriff-tax Collector and Assessors office of Sterling County. In this capacity, she has made herself very popular with the people of Sterling County whom we join in best wishes for future happiness and success.

The bridegroom is a young business man of Big Spring. He is a brother of Mrs. Taylor Garrett.

Sheep And Dogs Lie Down Together

Last Sunday, three dogs took a stroll in the Reed pasture. They met a flock of nice, fat lambs and proceeded to have some fun with them. When they had chewed the throats of about 19 of them, they were interrupted in their sport by gunfire.

If the owners of these dogs can locate the dead sheep, they probably can find the perforated bodies of their faithful Fidoes.

There are three things a fellow hates to admit: One is, that his boy will lie. Second, his dog will kill sheep, and third, that the steering gear was not to blame when he ran into the end of the bridge.

It is very likely John Reed has guilty knowledge of the sudden demise of those sheepicide canines, however being a law abiding citizen he notified the Sheriff to come out and sit in judgement on the conduct of the outlaws, but before that individual got on the ground, those dogs suffered fatal perforation.

Mrs. Bowen Hostess To Wimodausis Club

Wednesday afternoon the Wimodausis Club held its regular meeting with Mrs. C. A. Bowen as hostess.

The Bowen home was beautifully decorated with gorgeous poinsettias. Mrs. W. N. Reed, president, presided. Eleven club members answered roll call with favorite quotations from the Bible. The following program was efficiently rendered.

"History of Translation of the English Bible" by Mrs. R. P. Brown
"Beauty of Nature as Expressed in the Bible," by Mrs. W. W. Lipps
A solo "Trees" by Mrs. Raymond Collier.

"Cathedrals as Monuments to Christianity" by Mrs. Claude Collins
A social hour followed in which Mrs. Bowen served fruit cake, topped with cream and coffee.

A program will be given at the Sterling Mexican School Wednesday December 23.

Immediately following the program the boys and girls will have a tree and allow Santa to visit them.

The program to be given is as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cushing Jr. were guests of Mrs. Cushing's parents, Mr and Mrs. R. A. Garrett last Wednesday. Mr. Cushing ranches on the upper reaches of the North Concho. He says the outlook for sheep in his part of the country is very encouraging.

With The H. D. Clubs

Mrs. W. R. Hudson's dress made from her foundation pattern was given first place when the home demonstration club women of the county met for their achievement day, Saturday, December 12.

Second and third places went to Mrs. Tom Onstott and Mrs. Fred Hodges, respectively. Miss Agnes Abernathy, local home economics teacher judged the dresses for the group. Consideration was given to the following points; fit, construction design of the material and its suitability to the wearer, decorative details and the line of the particular pattern the person chose.

Mrs. Hudson's dress was a very tailored appearing tunic, with a skirt of solid color navy blue and a long tunic of print to match. A wide navy belt and bound button holes and buttons down the front gave the trimming.

Mrs. Onstott made a print dress with a full gathered yoke and a simple red and white fagoted collar. It was very dainty and neat appearing Mrs. Hodges' dress was of wool and was made on tailored lines.

The food exhibits showing adequate diets for various sized families which were placed in some of the local store windows by the Home Demonstration Food Exhibit Committee brought some interesting comments. These exhibits were to show what constitutes a diet containing the minimum food requirements and costing only the minimum amount. The result showed that in Sterling county two adults can buy all of their food supply and have all the dietary requirements for about six dollars per week.

"The vegetables are growing much faster than I expected," says Mrs. Jim Henshaw, Foods demonstrator of the Sterling City Home Demonstration club when speaking of her winter salad bed. Mrs. Henshaw started making the bed this fall. A frame was made from old lumber to inclose the plot which is about 4 by 15 feet. A pit was dug about 2

Commissioners' To Purchase A New Fire Truck

Our Commissioner's Court has wisely included in its budget for next year, a new fire truck.

Every taxpayer in the county, no doubt, heartily endorses this move. They feel that the splendid organization of volunteer firemen will now have a weapon with which to protect their property from fire.

But did it ever occur to you that a gun is useless without ammunition, or a car is no good without oil and gas?

We may have the best fire truck in the world, but without a dependable supply of water, it will fail of its purpose.

Of course, the county has a hundred-barrel tank, and most every home in town is equipped with water storage tanks, and of course would be available to the last drop, but would these be sufficient in case of a prolonged fire? I say not.

The logical and sensible thing for us to do, is to erect a large storage tank on the court house plaza.

O, yes, the kids might swim in it but what of it? Will not the water in which a kid has washed his dirty hide put out a fire, or make trees and shrubs grow in the court house yard?

I don't know so much about a big water tank obstructing the view of the scraggly mesquites that have taken root in the court house yard without the aid of human hands. As Fire Chief Brown said the other day, "A big water tank on a corner of the public square would look a sight better than a lot of gaunt, blackened walls across from the square."

Then again, with the outlay of a modest sum of money, a reservoir of this type could be made ornamental as well as useful. Think of how it could be made a beauty spot with vines and water plants. Think what this thing would mean in case the old court house with its precious records in jeopardy by fire. Better think of it now before the sirene sounds again.

We can't go wrong if we do this thing. Think it over, folks. Don't wait for another fire to do your talking. Set up the talking now and get the powers that be to doing. It would be the best money we ever spent.—Uncle Bill

County Democratic Executive Committee

The following compose the Sterling County Executive Committee as elected in the November election:

Homer Pearce, County Chairman; J. S. Cole, chairman precinct 1; Geo. Case, chairman precinct 2; J. T. Brannan, chairman precinct 3; J. L. Copeland, chairman precinct 4; E. F. McEntire, chairman precinct 5; Nelson McClellan, chairman precinct 6; H. D. Glass, chairman precinct 7; V. E. Brownfield, chairman precinct 8; and G. A. Stockton, chairman precinct 9.

Mrs. Ruth Allen was an appreciated caller at the News-Record shop a few days ago. While not suggesting that Mrs. Allen is getting up in years, yet, she is the oldest club secretary in West Texas, in point of service. While she operates a sheep ranch with the help of her son Worth Allen, she finds time to render valuable service to her club.

THE NOBLEST EXAMPLE OF ALL MONARCHS

When the weeping Esther approached King Abasuerus, so the Book tells us, the King said: "What is thy petition? and it shall be granted thee—even to the half of the kingdom it shall be performed." And it was performed to the sorrow of Haman and his ten sons.

In giving up the throne of England and the great British empire, King Edward VIII, went Abasuerus a half better for the woman he loved because he gave up the WHOLE kingdom.

Edward loved Wally and had promised to marry her when circumstances would permit. When the hide-bound nobility of England said, "You can not have Wally and the throne, too."

Edward replied, as monarch, "My burdens will be great. I cannot bear them and perform my duties as I would wish without the help of the woman I love and her support."

Perhaps, no man was ever called on before to choose between the greatest kingdom on earth and the woman he loved. He chose the woman. What would you have done if you had been called on to forsake the one woman you loved, or a kingdom?

In making his decision, Edward set the noblest example of any monarch that ever lived. It was the supreme sacrifice in order that his promise might be kept.

In this, Edward set an example to all mankind that should be emulated by those who shall come after him. He showed to the so-called British nobility that he was no barnyard beast for them to choose his mate and exploit his progeny.

When he bid farewell to all his greatness for the woman he loved he burst the unjust and unnatural bonds that fettered his predecessors since the dawn of that mighty empire.

To be free to choose one's love-mate and the one to be the mother of his children, is the most sacred of all liberties, and not even the makers of Kings have a natural or moral right to deny.

England has denied herself the benefits and services of her ablest and noblest son in order to keep up an old barbaric rule which next to royalty, only the keepers of barnyards practice.—Uncle Bill

IF I WERE KING

If I were in King Edwards place and under the circumstances, I would go to a mink that was hooked up with all the British Empire and speak unto the people the words uttered by W. A. White, a Kansas editor:

"Well, as I was saying, I never did care much for this kinking job. Anyway I got me plenty of rocks, spondulix and other quick assets and, so far as that goes, what are you going to do about it? Anyway you are a bunch of white-livered hypocrites, for if I was to carry this gal on the

FROM RAGS TO RICHES

In Waco, Texas, the Methodist Home is giving these three young ladies another chance in life. Their lives might have been another story except for the Superintendent of the Home, Mr. Hubert T. Johnson.

The picture at the left shows the children as they were found surrounded by filth and squalor. The oldest was acting as a little mother, obtaining the meager food from "somewhere," preparing and cooking it for the little family. Her problem was a tremendous task for one so young, as you can imagine.

Looking at the picture you can realize that if these three children were permitted to live by themselves through the winter, a thousand dangers might have swamped them and cast their lot among the hundreds who die of pneumonia and malnutrition every year.

The picture at the right shows the marvelous transformation which has occurred within the last few months. Now they are normal children enjoying a bed and wardrobe for each. Many opportunities will be open to them for advancement and proper education.

This case is only typical of hundreds of duplicate cases which are handled by the Methodist Home in Waco, Texas. Hundreds of boys and girls find new life in the Home which is supported by Methodism. Taking care of these children would require about $600,000 a year, but because the children, as they grow older, takes turns at farming, raising cattle, gathering crops and fruits do their own laundry, help wait on tables and do the many other things which train them to become efficient and self-dependent, their needed financial assistance is only $100,000 a year

Rev. Walter Lipps of the local Methodist church would like to answer any questions about the Methodist Home for children if any one in the community is interested. The pastor says that the month of December has been set aside by the Church for donations toward the annual budget. Members of the Methodist Church are intensely interested in the Home and hope that many more transformations such as the above photographs show will be made possible by the continued support of the Home.

payroll as a subrosa cutie instead of taking her in thru the front door and give her a good name, you would wink, snicker and say, 'Oh, well, boys will be boys;' but anyway she is not that kind of a girl and I'm not that kind of a fellow. And now in closing, ladies and gentlemen, my beloved people and all sundry, will you kindly excuse me for a minute while you go to hell!"

And then I would come to West Texas and bring Wally with me, and buy a ranch where we could be free, and live like other kings and queens in a country where men and women are free to wed the mate they love. Where men and women are known for what they are, instead of being esteemed for what their ancestors were.—Uncle Bill

OUR NEW FIRE

The News-Record shop has always used wood and coal for heating. We got tired of this dirty, backbreaking method of trying to make the snop warm, and about ten days ago, we had Dewey Mercer to install an oil burner in an old "batchelor" coal stove.

After getting the tank filled with distillate, we set it off and the room was warm right now. As per promise I am reporting, the performance of this new fangled source of heat, and after ten days of constant use, I wouldn't be truthful if I didn't say that it was OK and satisfactory in every way.

The thing is about as simple to operate as a common Kerosene lamp. To start it going, you turn a little doodad and let oil in the burner. Then you light a shuck or paper and drop it in and the thing is going right now. If the stove gets too hot you throttle it down. If more heat is desired, turn on more oil and you have it.

The thing is much cleaner than wood or coal and costs about half as much. The only work about it is filling the tank with oil. It will burn most any kind of oil. Distillate retails at 5 cents and Kerosene at 8 cents per gallon. Fifteen gallons of distillate lasted ten days and then some. That made the consumption 1½ gallons per day, which cost 7½ cents per day, but the weather was not very cold. Perhaps, it would cost twice as much if it had been very cold.

The thing cost $10, which I consider a high price for such a little doodad but the saving of fuel and labor, it will pay for itself in a short time. I consider it about as safe as wood or coal, because you must be careful with both. When we used wood or coal, a fire was always left burning in the stove when we quit at night. In this thing a twist of the wrist shuts the fire off.

The only objections I have to it so far, is that "Red" is no longer required to bring in the kindling and a scuttle of coal dust at night with which to try to start the fire next morning. If we don't find another job for "Red" I fear that he will learn to play "Rat and Cat" at school and get in bad with his teacher. "Red" is more fortunate than I was when I went to school. If I got in bad with my teacher, which was quite often a dogwoods witch was used to warm up my back—low down, and then I was told to run home, shuck corn for the hogs, cows and mules, chop wood and milk the cows.—Uncle Bill see how many columns and pictures it prints about Britain's king and his proposed marriage at this time; and observe, if you dine out, the general subject of conversation.

It was truly a marvelous reception that Buenos Aires and the entire Argentine Republic, its President, cabinet and people, gave to the President of the United States. An enthusiastic crowd of a million and a half crowded every street in the great Argentine city, now in the spring season, and most pleasing were two words used by the Argentine president, Justo, "Mi amigo" ("my friend"), as he greeted the American President.

Those two words, mi amigo, extended in all sincerity from one end of the two American continents to the other, would solve the American peace problem, and this country need not worry about the two words popular in Europe and Asia—"MY ENEMY."

Why is it that otherwise good people get reckless of other people's safety and comfort when they drive a car? One fellow last week while it was muddy, whizzed by me in such a hurry that he pastered me from head to foot with mud. Another made me run as fast as my old legs could carry me in order to keep him from killing me. He did not want to hurt me purposely, but he did not seem to care a darn if he did so accidentally. It is a queer sort of craziness.

Send the News-Record as a Christmas Gift to some relative or friend and bestow a three-fold source of happiness. In this, you would make yourself happy, the recipient of the paper happy, and this old editor happy—all for a dollar and two-bits.

Harry Tweedle has a pecan tree that bears the biggest nuts of any tree in the county. When set out, the tree was budded with the paper shell variety, but it died below the graft. After awhile, a sprout came out from the root, which no doubt was a seedling.

As time went on, the sprout grew into a sizable tree and bore the biggest and best nuts of any tree in this vicinity. For large sized nuts, Mr. Tweedle's are the biggest we know of.

Folks, it is Christmas times and the kiddies will be setting off firecrackers. Remember, a kid doesn't think. He depends on you to do his thinking and it is up to you to do it. Watch out for fire. One fire cracker might burn up the town and you with it. Some will tell you there is no danger in firecrackers. "Some" don't know what they are talking about. There is Sheol, death and destruction wrapped up in every red firecracker. Be careful.

Go, now, and pay your taxes and look pleasant about it. Your taxes is the best money you ever spent. It is the tax money that keeps up your roads, schools, pays pensions and keeps up the best government that the sun ever shone on. Taxes is a sign of modern civilization. The wild niggers in Africa pay no taxes, but who wants to be like a wild nigger?

If you drink, don't drive. If you drive, don't drink. You can't go wrong if you do this.

FORD

advances into 1937 with the LOWEST PRICE IN YEARS and new operating economy

THE ADDITION of a new 60-horsepower engine to the Ford line for 1937 brings you a new, low price and gives you a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engines. 85 horsepower for maximum performance. 60 horsepower for maximum economy.

The 60-horsepower V-8 engine was originally developed for use in England and France, where fuel costs are high. It has been proven there for two years with brilliant success. Now, brought to America, it creates an entirely new standard of modern motoring economy!

The "60" engine, available in five body types, is built in exactly the same body size and wheelbase — to the same advanced design — with the same comfort and convenience as the "85." And it delivers V-8 smoothness at speeds up to 70 miles an hour.

Two engine sizes—but only one car and one purpose—to give you more miles and more satisfaction for your money in 1937.

We are planning a Christmas program to be given in our room on December 23.

We are making some very interesting Christmas booklets.

Bobby Edwards, James Long, Annie Lou Knight and Iris Dorsett went to San Angelo, Saturday.

JOKES

Mr. Carter: "I haven't paid out a cent on the repairs or upkeep on my car since I bought it—and I've had it a whole year."

Mr. Jones: "Yes, so the man at the service station tells me."

Miss Little: "What caused the coolness between you and your boy friend?"

Miss Abernathy: "A heated argument."

Abraham Lincoln didn't like to go church and hear complacent, "cut-and-dried" sermons. He explained that, "When I hear a man preach, I like to see him act as if he were fighting hell."

Coyotes had been feasting on lamb chops at Dee Davis' expense. At the present price of lamb chops, Dee seriously objected to being forced to donate lambs for this purpose, so he called in Oscar Findt to deal with the marauders. Oscar put out a string of traps, and managed to harvest four last week. If you will show Oscar where a coyote ranges, and set him on his trail, there are plenty of fellows who will bet where that coyote will put his foot after the traps are set and baited.

A. E. Ballou, who has been confined to his home for several weeks on account of illness, was able to come down to town last Monday.

J. E. Echols, of Barstow, is the guest of Reverend and Mrs. George Sullivan. Mr. Echols is the father of Mrs. Sullivan.

"He's Crawling Now..."

HE'S a curious little fellow. Chubby fingers clutch at all he sees. He's cutting teeth, too, and likes to chew on things.

Mother watches him every minute, but sometimes she thinks in terror, "What if he'd fall from his high-chair... swallow a safety-pin...!"

With the telephone handy she feels safer... the doctor is within easy call.

The telephone brings the doctor, police, firemen... quickly. Have one installed in your home... now!

World's Youngest Mayor Guest of LaGuardia and New York

Municipal budgets and such were discussed by the mayor of the world's largest city and world's youngest mayor when Mayor LaGuardia of New York played host to 17-year-old Mayor Daniel Kampan of Boys Town recently. Left to right above are LaGuardia, Kampan and Father Flanagan, founder and director of Boys Town.

THE world's youngest mayor visited New York recently as official guest of the mayor of the world's largest city—and they talked about budgets!

Danny Kampan, Mayor of Boys Town, Nebr., is only 17 and the youngest mayor of a real city in the world. As mayor of New York, Fiorello LaGuardia controls the largest municipal budget in the world.

After being locked in private conference in LaGuardia's office for some fifteen minutes, the mayor of New York admitted newspapermen and photographers:

"Mayor Kampan and I have exchanged credentials" LaGuardia said. "We've decided this job of being mayor isn't all it's cracked up to be!"

"You said it!" chimed in the youthful Kampan.

Going to New York to take part in a national radio broadcast, the Mayor of Boys Town and Father Flanagan, founder and director of the nationally famous home for homeless boys there were accorded all the courtesies and honors extended by the metropolis only to world celebrities. They were met at the train by Mayor LaGuardia's official motor cavalcade with smartly uniformed motorcycle officers flanking all sides. With screaming sirens clearing their way through the heavy New York traffic, they were whisked to the city hall for the big public reception.

While the two mayors posed for a battery of photographers, Father Flanagan stood in the background smiling gently, his eyes serious and kindly. He founded Boys Town, ten miles west of Omaha in 1917. Since then 4,466 homeless boys of all races, colors and creeds—from the 48 states of the union have been made good citizens there.

Beseiged by reporters for a history of his famous home he said: "No boy is a really bad boy. If you take him off the streets you can stem the tide of crime. No one wants to be a criminal. It's only the lack of opportunity that makes boys criminals."

Breathless before the honors and recognition extended his homeless boys by the great American metropolis Father Flanagan told newspapermen how Boys Town began 19 years ago with five boys, how today present Boys Town with its 360 acres of fine farm land and modern buildings was his dream come true. With pride he showed reporters a recent letter written him by J. Edgar Hoover, head of the nation's G-Men. Hoover wrote: "If Boys Town were just financially able to care for all the boys that need its help, crime would be dealt one of the most effective and crushing blows I can imagine."

While in New York, young Kampan was offered an opportunity to attend an eastern preparatory school, a scholarship in an eastern college and a career. He turned them down with thanks, and a smile:

"Thank you very much" he said "but I think I'll go back with Father Flanagan!"

Economical Soups

SOUPS that save money are those which make use of leftovers. A Congressman's wife, in discussing "The Making of Stock for Soups" in The Congressional Cook Book, says, "The average chef and housewife throw into the garbage pail potato peelings, celery tops, outside leaves of lettuce and cabbage, water in which onions, carrots and spinach have been boiled, steak, roast beef and veal bones; these, if boiled down and properly flavored, make an excellent stock as a basis for soups and gravies of all kinds."

Remember that the base of your stock is the water in which you are cooking the vegetables for your dinner. Add all or such part of the following as may be in season as may suit your individual taste: veal, beef and steak bones, potatoes with peel, carrots with peel, onion (if white, use skins), turnip, celery, outside leaves of cording to taste, okra, barley, rice and condiments—salt, pepper and paprika. . . Simmer slowly for at least four hours. Strain through fine sieve and you will have foundation for any soup or gravy you wish to make."

For the woman whose time is worth money, canned soups are a boon, because the canner has provided perfectly blended and nutritious stocks from which these soups are made. Following is a recipe for delicious and healthful quickly-made soup.

Cream of Tomato Soup: Heat one 10½-ounce can of tomato soup to boiling. Add two-thirds cup water to one 6-ounce can of evaporated milk and scald. Pour the hot soup, slowly into the scalded milk, stirring all the time. Do not boil. Season to taste with a little salt and pepper. This serves four persons.
