NEEDS NO AID FROM STATE

The Honorable Law Making Body At Austin, Texas: I want you to know that this country is not in need of any government financial help. I am eighty six years old, have lived in Texas since I was fourteen years old paying taxes and, doing what I could to make a decent place to live.

I have voted the Democrat ticket and, I thought I was living in a good Democratic State and, Texas is a Democratic State, but for the last few years, we the voters of good old Texas has failed to elect a Democratic body of law makers, we have voted for laws to help old blind people, also to help the helpless children and, a law to help the old helpless people. We have those laws but, our law makers have utterly failed to provide one dollar for the support of these helpless old people and this law making body is not trying to do anything for the people that need help. Early in this session they helped their greedy selves by raising their salary. If the action of this body Democratic, God Forbid that Texas be Democratic any longer.

I and, the voters of Texas know that the masses need and, our so-called Democratic law makers know that they are acting the part of BOSSES instead of servants. They are working in the interest of the big money man. We the voters of Texas must clean up this dirty body and put in a new one and see to it that it works for the well fare of the masses instead of the classes. Yours for the action of voters
Dr. S. Kellogg

ALL THE GOLD IN KENTUCKY

Some people wonder why nearly all the gold of the world is in a hole on a hill in Kentucky. At the same time they wonder why the world is not buying cotton, wheat, corn and meat. They wonder why the manufacturers of America have grown rich and at the same time the farmers have grown poor.

Well there is little or no mystery about it. During the Halcyon days of cotton, wheat and corn markets, we forced the foreign nations to pay gold for everything they bought of us. They did this until all their gold had been buried in that Kentucky hill. The reason they couldn't buy any more, they had no gold to pay for it. We wouldn't let them trade in their manufactured products for cotton and other stuff, because it might interfere with the manufacturers getting rich and at the same time making the farmers poor.

These foreign nations are rapidly learning to do without gold or our cotton and other products of the farm. They are either raising their own cotton and other stuff or substituting them with artificial stuff. Until our tariff walls crumble, and our people learn common sense in their dealings with foreign nations, most all the gold of the world will lie idle in a hole, and our commerce will continue to rot. After a few timely funerals, maybe we mortal fools will wake up.—Uncle Bill

Shearing is now in full blast among our local flockmasters. The quality and quantity of wool is very satisfactory.

School Is Out And Teachers Gone

School is out! Superintendent Jones and most of the faculty have gone to their homes, or have gone to other places. Only Janior Simpson is to be seen about the school grounds now. A large number of the boys have gone to the ranches where their dads have work for them to do. Some of the girls are at their ranch homes helping mother with her work. Some of the town boys can be seen working at various odd jobs, while others are industriously polishing the river banks in their efforts to prevent little fish from becoming big fish. Later on some of them will be engaged in siding the fancy watermelon raiser in keeping down over production of melons.

That was good news last week when school Supt. O. T. Jones announced through this paper that the Sterling City Schools had been granted by the State Department of Education a credit on the subject of Chemistry.

Our school Board had already backed up the chemistry department with an appropriation for suitable materials and equipment for teaching chemistry.

If I had forty girls and boys to educate, I would see to it that none should have a high school diploma without having a working knowledge of the elemental part of chemistry.

The knowledge of chemistry applies to almost all the occupations of life, without knowing it, most of us are pretty fair chemists, the knowledge of which was gained by hard knocks and ignorant so called accidents.

Every child should be thoroughly drilled in chemical affinity. He should be taught that when burned with an acid, the remedy for it would be some form of alkali and when burned by alkali acid is the antidote.

A good cook or even a soapmaker incidentally becomes a chemist in his line. Without knowing it, he learns some of the rules of chemistry.—Uncle Bill

A local man was arrested and lodged in jail on a charge of forgery.

Harry Abernathy And Miss Elsie Gregston Marry Last Thursday

Miss Elsie Gregston and Harry Abernathy were married by Rev. Bruce Cox at 7:45 o'clock Thursday evening in the Methodist parsonage.

The bride was graduated from high school a few minutes later. She is the daughter of Mrs. Bessie Gregston, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Abernathy. He is employed at the Ainsworth filling station. After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home here.

Mrs. Brown Hostess To Federation Club

The Sterling County Federation Club met Tuesday May 23 in the home of Mrs. Brown. After the roll call the fifth chapter of Matthew was read by Mrs. Garland Cannon. Beautiful Texas, the club song, was sung by the club. The minutes were read by Mrs. Bob Rose. An article on Child Diseases was given by Mrs. W. H. Stone. A poem "Myself" was read by Mrs. Rose. Plans were discussed for the making of a club quilt.

Delicious refreshments were served to Mesdames Joe Wood, Bob Rose, Garland Cannon, Ted Brown, S. B. Henry, W. H. Stone, T. H. Murrell, W. P. Meyer and Wilbur Stone.

A Busy Man

When he is not doctoring a sick cow running level lines for terracing or getting up statistics for the government, County Agent H. P. Malloy puts in his spare time budding walnuts and pecans for his neighbors. Some of his work is marvelous in getting buds to "stick." In demonstrating the art of budding to some students, he budded a mesquite on the court house plaza and every bud stuck. "Aunt" Helen Lyles is the proud possessor of some native walnuts budded with English walnuts. Every bud "stuck" and is growing rapidly. We keep our county agent very busy in helping us in the things we know little of. He is the one public servant who earns his beans every day.

Quits Growing Cotton

Will Grosshans who operates an irrigated farm six miles up the North Concho from here, says that he has quit raising cotton. He had always raised cotton during the many years he has operated his farm and made a success at it, "but now," said Mr. Grosshans, "the market for cotton is gone from us. I will have to raise alfalfa and other crops in place of cotton."

Grosshans is right. When I found that cotton was a losing game he quit while the quitting was good. Had he stayed in the game a few years longer, he might have found himself with a lot of cotton on hand that he couldn't sell. He can always sell alfalfa and other feed-stuff. Then in case prices didn't suit, he could feed it to stock, and as long as people eat meat, that long will he be able to sell it.

4-H Encampment May 31-June 2

The date of the 4-H camp is May 31, June 1 and 2.

The requirements are that you be an active 4 H club boy who completed your demonstration this spring and have completed and turned in your record book.

The expense will not exceed $1.50. Please turn in your money at the County Agent's office on or before May 27th.

Each boy will need; tin plate, knife, fork spoon and cup. His bed roll, towels and bathing suit. The bathing suit must be brought if you expect to swim.

The camp will be held at Foster Park near Tankersley.

If club boys have not completed your record books and turned them in, please do so at once.

Shrubs Are Growing

Most of the shrubbery set around the new court house is doing nicely. Altho it was late in the season for setting trees and shrubs, only a small per cent failed to live and thrive. The Bermuda grass seed that was planted in the northeast sector of the yard is up and as thick as the hair on a dog's back.

DEFAMING THE GOVERNMENT

The man who stands on the rostrum or in the pulpit, or uses the press to defame the good, honest and courageous motives of the U. S. government because of its part in the World War, is one of those birds you read of that befouled its nest.

Of course these fellows who are going around slinging slurs in Uncle Sam's face don't know that they are Hitler's Jackasses bearing Nazi propaganda, but if you will think a moment, you can plainly see that they belong to Hitler's ramuda of burros. They have, without thinking learned to hate the land of their birth.

You see, Germany was sorely licked in that World War. Uncle Sam was chiefly responsible for that licking. Just when Der Kaiser was reaching over to take England, France and the other nations under his wing, just when Der Kaiser thought he had everything going his way, in steps Uncle Sam and spoils the game.

The Germans are still sore because of this licking and ever since they hollared "Kamard" in 1918, they have been seeking an alibi for their miserable failure. They have taught a lot weak minded fellows to help out in their alibi. They are working on the job every day.—Uncle Bill.

GOING FISHING

There is nothing like going fishing and camping out on the banks of a living stream where big trees wave a welcome to the piscatorial pilgrim.

Most any hour in the day, one can see cars loaded with men, women and children, bundles of fishing canes lashed over the car top and a trailer loaded with a boat, bedding, pots, pans; going to such a place that I have named further down the Rio de la Perla Del Norte.

Such a company of seekers after the finny tribe stopped over in front of this shop one evening about sunset last week. All the stores were closed, and as soon as it got too dark to see how to work in the casting room, I would be gone too. They honked for me to come out and talk, like a country boy honking for a coke, but I was too busy to pay them any mind.

At last a man got out and came in. He was from the plains country. He asked: "Mister, can you tell me where we could buy some groceries for the makings of a supper for this mob when we go into camp?"

"Sorry, my friend, but it is past six o'clock, the stores are all closed and no one sells groceries in this town after 6.30," said I. "No, I don't think you could find any of the grocery men who would open up and sell you supplies. They are a mighty fine set of boys and all that but they have agreed among each other not to sell after a certain hour and they are men who will do what they say they will."

No Wheat Quota For 1939

Word has been received from the State office that there will not be a marketing quota for wheat in 1939. There will not be a penalty on wheat harvested for sale. The only penalty to wheat farmers will be those signed in the AAA program for overplanting their 1939 wheat acreage allotment.

ARGENTINE BEEF FOR RANCHMEN-NOT NAVY

While the politicians and other misinformed Squads of beefers were aching about that 48,000 pounds of Argentine corned beef which was purchased for use in the navy last week, it was remembered that most every cattle raiser who liked corned beef, was eating the Argentine brand himself.

Most every West Texas cowman likes good beef. He wants the best. This may be one of the reasons why a beef is rarely ever slaughtered on the ranch for home use. Not they do not produce the best beef known to the markets of the world they consider it a waste to kill their own beef, when a good article of choice cuts of Argentine beef in cans can be had at a cheaper price.

The average West Texas cattle raiser knows better than anyone else the class of animals known as "canners" that go into cans. He doesn't want any of this kind of corned beef himself. So he makes sure that it is the Argentine article where only first class beef is canned.

The West Texas cattle raiser whose head does not hurt him when he thinks, reasons that after all Argentine beef is put by Americans. They make money out of it. Besides giving the world a good cheap beef it helps our friends the Argentinians, gives our sailors good meat to eat and at the same time boosts the income tax of American canners. It doesn't hurt anyone. Mountains and molehills! Tempests and teapots! Corned beef and cabbages!—Uncle Bill

Leaving Lee O' To His Friends

I am leaving Governor Lee O' up to his friends to criticize. However, when the governor put ax on the Metcalfe bill which would have allowed 100 South American youths to attend Texas Colleges free of tuition, it was a crazy cross-eyed nigger use of the veto ax. It would not have cost the taxpayers of Texas as more than a red copper each to have educated these young Latins.

On the other hand, it would have gone a long way toward cementing the good will of these nations and Uncle Sam's people. This was a gesture of friendship toward those people that we are needing right now. Metcalf, the Senate and the House could see the wisdom of the measure, but Governor Lee O' didn't possess the vision to see the far reaching good that such measure would do. While I feel sorry for Lee O', I am not surprised.

Uncle Bill

Sheriff Vern Davis is up on his feet again. That man who broke jail and escaped several weeks ago while the sheriff was down with pneumonia, will have little cause to rejoice at this news. If that boy is not a bonehead, he will put many leagues between himself and Sterling City. But the chances are that he is a bonehead.

These men, women and children passed a supperless night in a camp down the river. They had the money to pay for what they wanted, and God knows the vendors of groceries needed the money that went somewhere else. That money reposed safely in the pockets of those hungry Fisherfolks and the groceries reposed snugly in their shelves that night.

Even if I am plain, I have no intention to ruffle anybody's felling by suggesting how their business should be conducted, but I wish if it were possible, that a grocery store could be kept open until ten at night to accommodate the Stranger within our gates as well as the man who is late getting away from his job. I believe such a thing would keep many dollars from leaving town and lots of people would be accommodated.—Uncle Bill

Accent In Music

Under Tripple Measure we have two kinds of accent, its primitive rhythmical form is three tones (or notes) of equal length, one accented and two unaccented. To fill under Double or two pulse measure having two beats or pulses. One strong and one weak its primitive rhythmical form is two tones (or notes) of equal length, one accented, the other unaccented.

Qua Tripple measure one having four beats or pulses. The first and third strong the second and fourth weak its primitive rhythmical form is four tones (or notes) of equal length two accented and two unaccented—and the same thing is applicable to other kinds of measures while we are discussing time and accent, it is worth while to mention Syncopation, an accented tone followed by a longer one.

Also a tone beginning with the unaccented beat of the measure, and continued in to the following accented beat. In any form of Syncopation both tones are accented.

It has been my observation that we cannot dwell too much on time. In connection with the study of time it is necessary to study the relative length of tone. We hope that some one may gain some information from this.

Charley Coulson tells a good one about a Dutchman's conception of American ideas, manners and rules of ethics. His Dutchman says: "der American boils der tea to make him hot, den he puts ice in him to make him cold. Den he puts der sugar in him to make him sweet, squeezes der lemon in him to make him sour and den drinks him. After dot he belches and say: 'oxcoose me. Den if something else habbens, dey all laugh. Dese Americans are peculiar dot vay, aindt it?'"

Terraces Held the Water

John Reed says during the last rains that fell here, the terrances that he had built last winter held all the water that fell. A few ridges on the slopes of Wildcat Hill broke over, but the ridges lower down the slope caught and held the water. This experiment is being watched with much interest by our local ranchers.
