City, County Set Major Changes

Recently, rumors have abounded about pending changes in the operations of the Muleshoe City Police and Bailey County Sheriff's office. The two law enforcement agencies, along with the Department of Public Safety, had merged in 1969 when the Law Enforcement Center was constructed adjacent to the Bailey County Courthouse.

Nothing had been confirmed on the proposed changes until Tuesday afternoon when Bailey County Judge Glen Williams issued the following statement:

"The Bailey County Commissioner's Court and the City Council of the City of Muleshoe have informally agreed to make some basic changes in the operation of the County dispatching and jail services. It is expected that those changes will be officially authorized soon, will be implemented about October 1, 1980, and will be substantially as follows: 1. The City of Muleshoe will assume full control of

Hi-Plains GPI Meet Slated Soon

Bobby Redwine of Hi-Plains GPI Co-op, said a special meeting of the fuel alcohol group is scheduled for 8 p.m. on Thursday, August 7, at the Muleshoe High School Cafeteria. Redwine said special guest speaker will be John Nystrom of Arthur D. Little Consultants of Cambridge, Mass. He will speak on "Selection of the Process to be Used for Converting Grain to Energy."

Nystrom is expected to go into detail on the site specific study, and possibly release the proposed location of the huge fuel alcohol plant planned for this area. All members of the Hi-Plains GPI are encouraged to attend the meeting.

Around Muleshoe

Exchange students from Austria, who visited the Tuesday meeting of the Muleshoe Rotary Club, are visiting in Littlefield. They acted as guests speakers during the meeting.

Franklin D. Buckner, son of Mr. and Mrs. F.D. Buckner, was recently named to the vice president's honor roll at the Amarillo Campus of Texas State Technical Institute, according to Dr. James A. Bird, general manager of the Amarillo campus.

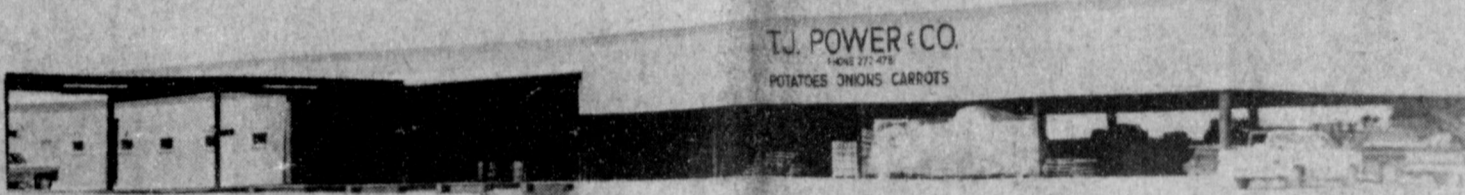

Buckner is majoring in saddle and tack making and is a graduate of Muleshoe High School.

Inservice Education Workshop for Vocational Agriculture teachers will be in Fort Worth beginning in August.

Attending the Inservice Education Workshop from Lazbuddie will be Ricky Copp, new Vo-Ag teacher at the Lazbuddie school.

Bill E. Bickle, who recently resigned as Vo-Ag instructor at Muleshoe High School, will be honored by the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas in Fort Worth on August 5, according to Jack Rowland Godley, president of the organization.

Bickle is being recognized for his 30 years of service to the vocational agriculture program in Texas. His teaching tenure has been served with the Muleshoe ISD.

T.J. POWER'S NEW VEGETABLE PLANT....Following a disastrous fire on July 5 last year, T.J. Power Vegetable Processing Plant limped through the balance of the vegetable season with temporary quarters. Earlier this year, the Hereford-based company constructed an all-new facility at the same location. They are in full operation now, and the newly-expanded plant is expected to be expanded again next year.

Light Rain Helps Cotton On Dryland

Very light showers fell in the Muleshoe area Saturday night despite booming thunderstorms which split as they moved to the southeast through the area.

In the Lazbuddie area, spotted rains up to one inch were received, with the moisture being reported as being sketchy and spotty. Roy Oxford at Maple Grocery said late Saturday night and early Sunday morning from .1 to 1 inch of moisture was received, again in a very spotty pattern.

Oxford said light, intermittent showers continued in the Maple area until around 10 a.m. on Sunday. This followed by a "light sprinkle" Monday night.

According to the site resident, it is still too early to tell how much the spotty moisture may have helped the dryland cotton. Much more moisture is needed in the dryland areas. Almost from Anson, Texas, applauded Senate action to clarify the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act. The action came on a Council-supported amendment offered by Senator David Boren of Oklahoma, to the Child Nutrition Act and approved 57-37 by the Senate. It now goes to a House-Senate conference for further consideration.

"This legislation was badly needed," Propst said, "to insure that the present law is properly administered and enforced."

Ag Boosters Plan Skating Friday Night

Friday, the Muleshoe High School Ag Boosters will sponsor skating at the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum from 8-11 p.m.

Admission for the skaters will be $1 each.

and to eliminate needless regulations for farmers, other agricultural employers, and their employees. Senator Boren is to be commended for his leadership on behalf of agriculture."

The 1963 law was enacted by Congress to protect migrant farm workers from abuse by unscrupulous crew leaders. Among its provisions are requirements that crew leaders register as farm labor contractors, be fingerprinted, disclose salaries, post signs indicating the wages paid all employees, give employees, in writing, the terms and conditions of employment, and pass a medical examination. Specifically exempt from these requirements are farmers and other agricultural employers, including their employees, who meet certain tests.

"Even though the law is clear in its application only to crew leaders," Propst explained, "the Department of Labor has sought to expand its requirements to all of agriculture simply on the basis of its own narrow interpretations."

As an example, he pointed

Telephone Dialing Is Changed

If you have problems remembering, as many people do, another reminder has been issued for the change in dialing local telephone calls in Muleshoe.

Last week, O.D. Hearn, Brownfield Division Manager for General Telephone Company, announced the change, which was effective Monday, July 28.

He said that it would be necessary to dial ALL SEVEN DIGITS for local calls: for example; when you plan to call the Journal, instead of dialing 4536, you would dial 272-4536 or the call cannot be completed.

Hearn explained that the addition of new equipment to further help the dialing needs of Muleshoe customers made the change necessary.

Power Processing Has All New Plant

Despite a two-month drouth, and extremely hot temperatures during June and July, vegetable harvest and processing is proceeding as normal in this area.

Monday afternoon, a visit at the local vegetable processing plants found four vegetables being processed at this time.

At T.J. Power's local new operation, potatoes were being washed, sorted and packed. Robert Ruiz and Sons Inc. was processing both cucumbers and cabbage and Barrett Produce was also packing potatoes. Power is beginning the onion harvest, which is expected to be completed very shortly.

Michael Power, a co-owner of the local operation, said as many potatoes as have been processed in the past will be going through the plant this year. However, the extreme heat has caused a smaller than normal yield.

The small potatoes are not expected to create a great problem, as the marketing situation is good and prices at this time are higher than in the past.

T.J. Power is an all new and expanded operation. Last year, on July 5, T.J. Power was completely destroyed in an afternoon fire which razed the plant just west of Muleshoe.

After rigging up temporary facilities following the fire, the vegetable processing operation completed the potato season before starting a new facility at their same location.

Last year, prior to the fire, the inside of the potato processing plant had around 15,000 square feet. This was expanded to 32,000 feet. Added were new loading docks and a cooler that is approximately 75 x 30 feet. The cooler is used to take the field heat from the potatoes prior to shipping.

Tentative plans call for adding a carrot line to the operation next year, and expanding the potato and onion processing to include the third 'stew' vegetable, carrots.

At this time, T.J. Power is strictly a daytime operation although, Power concedes that a 24-hour operation would have some benefits at the peak of the potato season, which is approximately one-third over.

Football Physicals Scheduled

Muleshoe's head football coach Mike Wartes said all football physicals for freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors from Muleshoe High School will be given at 2 p.m. Sunday, August 3.

Coach Wartes said all prospective players must have the physical prior to suiting out.

Also, equipment will be issued on Wednesday, August 6 and first practice for sophomores, juniors and seniors will be Monday, August 11. First practice for freshmen will be Monday, August 18.

Scrimmages are scheduled late in August, both out of town. The Mules will travel to Shallowater on August 21 and to Denver City on August 29.

Youth Disco Slated Here On Saturday

Members of the Muleshoe Youth Activities Committee will sponsor a youth disco from 9 p.m.-1 a.m. on Saturday, August 2, at the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum.

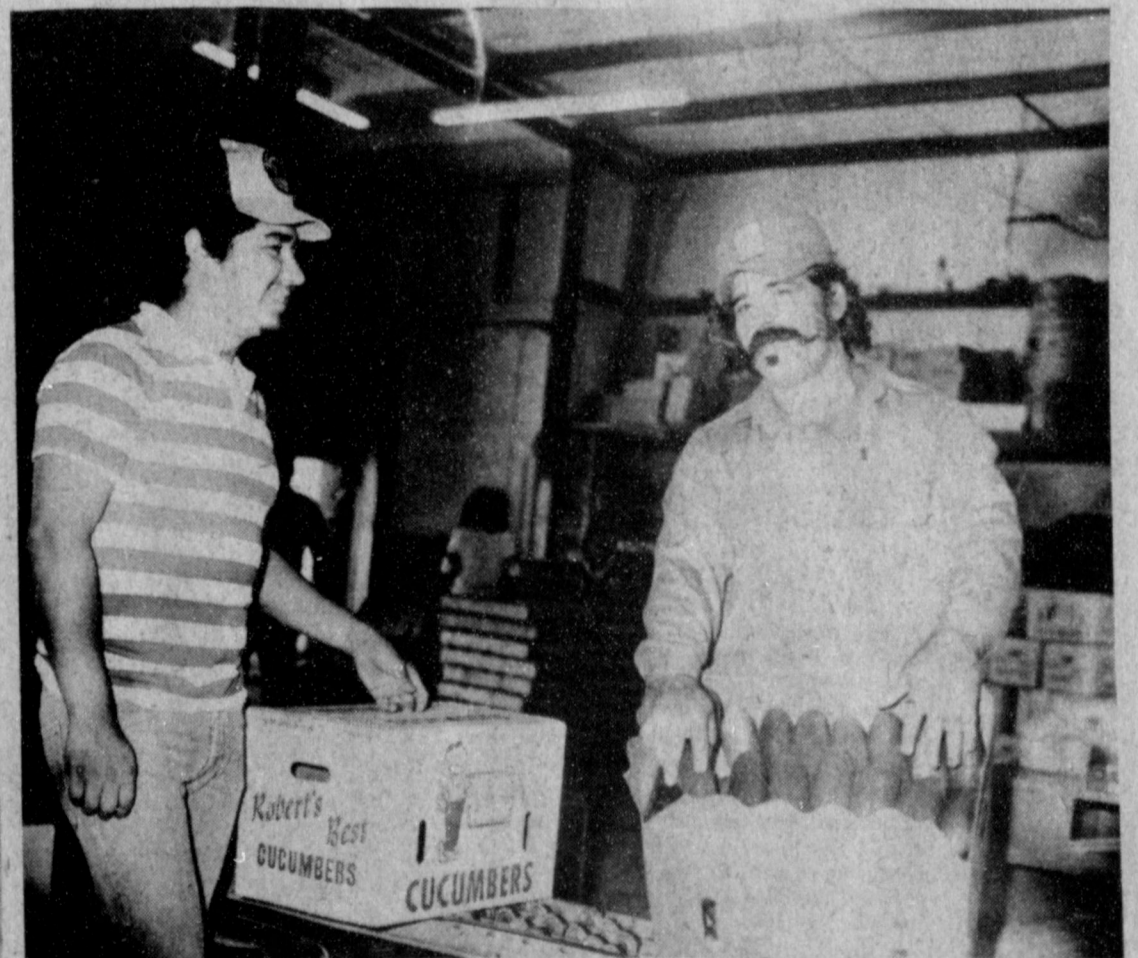

Mickey Bear Enterprises from Portales will provide the disco sounds and admission will be $2 per person.

SHIPPING POTATOES....An employee at T.J. Power Vegetable Processing Plant glances around as she sacks small bags of potatoes. Michael Power said as many potatoes are being produced this year as in years past, but they are smaller due to the extreme heat experienced during the last two months.

LOADING OUT CABBAGE....'Tiny', left, hefts a bag of cabbage at Robert Ruiz and Sons Inc. northwest of Muleshoe. Cabbage harvest is underway and trucks are loading out daily at the vegetable processing plant. The cabbage harvest will be continuing for some time.

ROBERT'S BEST CUCUMBERS....Long green cucumbers are being prepared for shipment at Robert Ruiz and Sons Inc. and two of the workmen smile as they display some of the cucumbers which are being shipped by truck from the large vegetable processing plant near Muleshoe.

Vitamin Pills Are Not The Answer

"If I take a vitamin pill, it won't matter what I eat."

There's a false sense of security connected with taking vitamin pills, but the fact is, no pill can provide the food fiber and trace elements one needs every day.

Under certain conditions such as pregnancy, illness or special diets, we sometimes need extra vitamins and minerals. But these extra nutrients can best come from eating little extra amounts of the foods that supply the missing nutrients, rather than from

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek takes a look at political conventions this week, from a safe distance.

Dear editor:

There's an argument going on among the heavy thinkers about national nominating conventions.

It used to be that a convention actually nominated somebody for President. Now it is merely whoops and hollers for the man nominated several months ago.

One proposal to change this argues that delegates ought to arrive uncommitted: "Delegates should be a group of thinking people."

The trouble with this is that it's hard to whoop and holler and think at the same time. A delegate standing up in his seat waving a placard and blowing a tin whistle is in a poor position to do much thinking. I've heard that in 1928 a man claimed he was influenced by a sign some delegate kept holding aloft, but the claim has not been substantiated. Probably belongs with the myth that there was once a candidate who promised to cut taxes and when elected did it.

A political convention these days is like a Shakespearean play. You already know how it's going to come out.

Well this is not quite true. There were over 12,000 reporters at the Republican convention and nearly every one of them at one time was wrong about who the vice presidential candidate was going to be. It's one thing to be wrong for two minutes on the evening news, happens all the time, but quite another to be wrong for half the night.

I have no proposals for changing national political conventions. I'm sure both parties will continue to nominate somebody, one man will get elected President, and six months after he's been in office a lot of people who voted for him will begin to wonder if they should have.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

vitamin pills, according to Dairy Council, Inc. dietitians.

Vitamins are not something to buy at the grocery store and swallow at random for "good health," they say. Without the guidance of a physician or dietitian, there's danger of not knowing which vitamin or vitamins are lacking in their diet.

In one study of teenagers in Idaho, 28 out of 100 students were taking vitamin pills, principally B-complex pills. A study of their diets showed that only two of the 28 had poor diets, which were lacking in calcium and ascorbic acid (vitamin C), not B-vitamins.

Sometimes people feel that since a little is good, a lot must be better, and take more than one pill. The fact is, for a vitamin to work as a vitamin in your body, it must combine with protein in the cells. There is only so much protein available and once it is all linked with vitamins, any excess vitamins you take in cannot possibly function as a vitamin. The only way it can function is as a chemical or drug and this can be unhealthy.

Studies are going on all the time to determine the relationships of the various vitamins to special body functions.

Extra large doses--mega-doses--of vitamins are potentially toxic. But smaller amounts of vitamins in the form of food or pills can be helpful. During pregnancy, for example, doctors and nutritionists agree that a pregnant woman usually needs extra calcium, and more of vitamins C, A, B1, and B2, which are mostly found in fresh fruits, vegetables and dairy products.

Women who take birth control pills often have a greatly increased need for vitamin B6, found in cow's milk. This vitamin helps the body use fat and helps the nervous system run smoothly. Insufficient B6 intake in these women may result in certain symptoms of depression.

Smoking can reduce the body's amount of vitamin C, found mainly in fresh fruit. Scientific studies have shown that the blood levels of vitamin C were as much as 30 percent lower in smokers than in non-smokers.

Everyone's diet should include a wide variety of foods. No single food supplies all fifty needed nutrients, and many nutrients must work in pairs to be effective. Choosing a variety of foods from the four main food groups is the best way to get all the nutrients we need. The food groups, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, include; vegetable/fruit; bread/cereal; milk/cheese; and meat/eggs.

Canning Brings Back Childhood Memories

To many, the thought of canning brings back childhood memories. Of baskets of fresh-picked tomatoes, still warm and sweet smelling from the garden sun. Of steaming kettles and rows of shining jars. Of grandmother's garden where everything from asparagus to zucchini grew in abundance. Of canning days sitting in the kitchen peeling, paring, pitting and slicing. Of mother marking the jars with red-bordered labels.

For generations, canning season has been a time for relatives to congregate and a time to be thankful for a plentiful harvest. In earlier days, canning was a near necessity. But all the developments in food technology, processing and distribution, canning is not nearly so necessary as it once was.

Yet, home canning has grown tremendously in popularity in recent seasons. Millions of Americans are returning to a basic pioneer concept—grow your own food, preserve it for winter, be a little more self-sufficient.

Surveys in widespread sections of the nation tell the same story—not since the victory gardens of World War II have families gone in so heavily for home preservation of food as they have in the last several years.

These same surveys also suggest that many families are rediscovering that, in addition to economy, there is something basically satisfying and rewarding in preserving food. And canned foods can be enjoyed at a later time when they are needed more. Also, fruits and vegetables can be available all year long, not just when they are in season. And most importantly, the home canner has complete control over which, if any, additives are put in the food—and home canned foods can be made to meet the specific tastes of the family.

Recognizing the increasing importance of home canning, two well-known companies, Imperial Sugar of Sugar Land, Texas and the Ball Corporation, Muncie Indiana, each with over a hundred years of experience, have joined together in a program this summer intended to encourage more people to try their hand at home canning.

A highlight of the program is the Ball Blue Book which is being made available in a special offer from Imperial. Although they have been a reliable source for recipes and cookbooks since 1915, Imperial felt the 30th edition of the Blue Book, encompassing more than 70 years of canning knowledge, technical experience and scientific study, would be more helpful and meaningful to today's home canner.

This newest edition of the Blue Book is bigger and more extensive than any of the 29 editions published since 1909. Included in the full color book are illustrated step-by-step instructions on canning fruits, vegetables, jellies, jams, yield charts, processing times, types of equipment needed and instructions on the three basic canning methods: steam pressure, boiling water bath, open kettle.

The 30th edition of the Blue Book also contains a complete section on preserving foods by freezing. While freezing certainly isn't anything really new, developments in convenient home equipment and containers have made freezing practical on a wide scale.

This edition also has a special section on canning for special diets. And a new feature in this issue includes dual recipe measurements—both English and metric.

Here are home canning recipes for peaches, strawberries and sweet corn. They are typical of the more than 250 tested easy-to-follow recipes in the Blue Book.

Strawberry Lime Jam
2 quarts strawberries
1/4 cup lime juice
1 package powdered pectin
7 cups Imperial granulated sugar

1. Crush fruit; measure 4 1/2 cups into large saucepan. Mix lime juice with strawberries.
2. Add powdered pectin to the mixture.
3. Place fruit over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. Immediately add Imperial Granulated Sugar and boil hard for 1 minute, stirring constantly.
4. Remove from heat and skim off foam.
5. Ladle into hot jars. Leave 1/4 inch head space. Adjust caps.
6. Process 10 minutes in boiling water bath.
7. Yield: about nine, 1/2 pints.

Corn With Red Peppers
12 Large ears of fresh corn
1 Sweet red (or green)

- pepper, diced
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons Imperial Granulated Sugar
Dried Basil
1. Husk corn; remove silk and wash. Cut corn from cob. With corn in colander, rinse in cool water.
  2. Measure 2 quarts corn kernels into large kettle. Add salt, sugar and 4 cups boiling water.
  3. Add pepper to corn in kettle.
  4. Pack hot into hot jars, leaving 1 inch head space. Add 1/2 teaspoon basil to each jar. Adjust caps.
  5. Process pints 55 minutes quarts 1 hour and 25 minutes, at 10 pounds pressure.
  6. Yield: five pints.

Canned Peaches
Canning of peaches may be done through cold pack or hot pack methods. The cold pack method is the most desirable way to can evenly ripened peaches. Following is a step-by-step method for cold packing peaches:

1. Select firm, evenly-ripe peaches. Sort, wash and drain just enough peaches for one canner load. Fill water bath canner half full

- with water. Heat.
2. Prepare medium or light sugar syrup. For medium syrup combine 3 cups of sugar and 1 quart water into a saucepan. (Use 2 cups sugar and 1 quart water for light syrup). Cook until sugar dissolves. Keep syrup hot until needed, but do not let it boil down.
3. Using wire basket or cheesecloth, dip peaches into boiling water in canner 1/2 to 1 minute to loosen skins. Dip into cold water. Drain.
4. Cut peaches into halves, pit and peel. Drop halves into salt-vinegar solution (mix 2 tbs. salt, 2 tbs. vinegar in 1 gallon cold water.) Rinse peaches.
5. Pack peach halves, cavity-side down, layers overlapping, in hot jars. Leave 1/2 inch head space. Cover peaches with boiling hot syrup (approximately 1 to 1 1/2 cups per quart) leaving 1/2 inch head space. Remove air bubbles in jar by running a flat, non-metallic kitchen utensil gently between fruit and jar. Add more syrup, if needed.
6. Screw jar lids down

- evenly and tightly. Stand jars on rack in canner with water covering jars. Water in canner should be hot, but not boiling.
7. Put cover on canner and bring water to a boil. Process at a gentle but steady boil (quarts 30 minutes, pints 25 minutes).
8. Store jars in dry, dark, cool place. Peaches and other fruits tend to darken while being prepared for canning or after they are in the jar. Step 4 will prevent darkening during preparation. To prevent darkening in the jar, sprinkle over the fruit, 1/4 teaspoon ascorbic acid to each quart, just before capping.

During this canning season, the Ball Blue Book is being offered at a special price by Imperial Sugar. To get a copy send $1.75, plus your name, address, zip code and pure cane block cut from an empty Imperial Sugar package to Imperial Sugar Company, P.O. Box 500, Sugar Land, Texas 77478.

HOME CANNED CORN AND PEPPER... Red pepper and basil go along way in adding extra ZIP to corn canned at home. Corn canned fresh from the garden, farmer's market or supermarket is a welcomed taste and makes a bright accompaniment with red peppers. Though corn is a low acid food and must be pressure canned, preparation is a simple process. Recipes to can corn, fruits, other vegetables, jellies, jams and preserves are in the newest 30th edition of the Ball Blue Book now available in a special offer. When Feelings, Families Clash

Parents and children must learn to bend with their feelings, or they will "break", says Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist. "Parents are challenged by the need to find healthy balance between the expression and suppression of emotions--for all family members." "This is necessary so the family becomes a "place" in which all its members can learn and grow." "It's especially necessary for the children, because when this balance is achieved, children learn to understand and respect their own feelings," Ms. Taylor explains. The specialist is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. "Bending is not easy. It takes lots of practice and patience. Also, it is an "essential" for strengthening families that needs constant attention," Ms. Taylor says. Everyday events, as well as disasters, evoke emotions in all family members. Often parents and children allow themselves to get pushed to the point where they cannot manage their feelings, she points out. "It is hard to recognize, express and manage feelings." "Emotions can pile up and swell -- creating a sort of emotional hangover." Parents can guide, but not control, the feelings of their children. Also, parents can provide

Adolescents As Babysitters Parents Must Help

Adolescents can be effective babysitters—with some help from parents of the young children involved, says a family life education specialist.

"When adolescents know what is expected of them jobwise, when they know exactly where the parents of the young children are for emergencies, and when they know the children, they are effective as babysitters," Dorothy Taylor explains.

Ms. Taylor, on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says babysitting can be a satisfying experience for adolescents.

"For some adolescents, it's an introduction into the work force, the first time they get to manage their own money, or it's their first experience in learning some parenting skills," she says.

Currently more than one million adolescents care for children, according to national estimates.

There are problems for adolescents as babysitters—along with the satisfactions—but these are solvable once pinpointed, Ms. Taylor says.

Through a recent study of babysitters in the South, researchers gained insight into some of the problems, and from that, solutions are emerging, the specialist notes.

In the study, adolescents indicated that they expected to perform these duties: putting children to bed, playing games, watching television with the children, putting children into pajamas, feeding them, reading to them and picking up toys.

They did not expect to clean the house nor do the dishes—two activities that have little to do with child care.

Most adolescent babysitters find it difficult to make decisions when problems arise and to punish children.

They also say it's sometimes difficult to understand specific duties and expectations of their employers, and they find it difficult to babysit peers or children near their own age.

Commenting on the last problem, Ms. Taylor says that most children do respond more satisfactorily to older babysitters who are seen as a parent figure.

When younger children see their babysitter as a parent figure, they respect the babysitter's authority and trust his judgment as being superior to theirs. This affects the degree of control the babysitter has, Ms. Taylor says.

To make babysitting effective, then, instructions, emergency preparations and knowing the child—along with age, all work hand in hand for the young child's benefit.

This leads to a satisfying job experience and personal relationship for the teen, and it gives the adolescent a chance to develop and test his child-management skills in preparation for his own parenthood, the specialist explains.

RECIPE

Custard Ice Cream

3/4 c sugar
2 T cornstarch
1 c milk
2 egg yolks
1/2 c coffee cream
2 egg whites
1 1/2 c whipping cream
2 t vanilla extract

Freeze according to your churn's directions.

Serve plain or with your favorite topping.

Welfare & Work

William Raspberry, the noted black columnist, recently suggested that the nation could save billions and put many to work by the simple expedient of making welfare recipients who are able to work, work for their monthly checks.

After all, this is the central theme of the American ideal—the work ethic and the truism that one can't get something for nothing. Raspberry, who recently interviewed Ronald Reagan, points to Reagan's two terms as governor of California during which time he actually reduced California's welfare rolls—an unheard of accomplishment these days.

One of Reagan's policies was to encourage the work requirement for welfare. In 35 of the state's 58 counties, this was done. The results were astounding, even though this was in 1973 and 1974, a recessionary period.

Lists of beneficial projects which the various towns and cities needed were asked. The manpower was supplied by welfare recipients, who worked only half time. They looked for jobs or were in job-training programs the other half of their working time.

Not only did many badly needed community projects get done but, in the first year alone, 54,000 people were funneled into private-enterprise jobs. There was a check to see that local projects were not bondoggles (as so often in federal projects). And as the program continued, the list of welfare recipients declined.

Thousands of recipients, when told to report in person, never appeared. Their monthly checks were discontinued and there were no complaints. Some didn't exist. Others were not entitled to welfare. Etc.

Reagan commented: "The truth is, no one in government knows how many people are on welfare. They only know how many checks they send out. The people who disappeared in California—I call them paper people—knew they were caught, so they just went away."

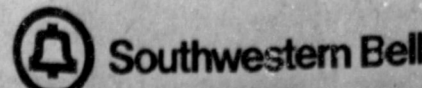

The welfare system today discourages work, by removing the incentive to find a job. If Reagan is elected and does nothing else but end this welfare trap and restore the work incentive, and thus save the taxpayers billions of dollars, he would be doing much for the spirit, moral fiber and economy of the nation.

Man Injured

When Beaten Here Sunday

Sunday night, Muleshoe City Police Officer Julian Dominguez noticed a grain truck being driven in an erratic manner on West Highway 84. He started in pursuit of the truck and stopped it just about one-fourth mile northwest of Muleshoe on Highway 84. Officer Dominguez immediately called for an ambulance after stopping the truck. He found the driver of the truck suffering from head and leg wounds, said to have been administered in a beating with a baseball bat in a park a few minutes earlier.

The driver of the truck was found to have both bones in his right leg broken, along with severe head injuries. He declined to press charges against his assailant. He was transferred to a hospital in Lubbock for additional treatment.

The County will maintain and operate the County Jail at County expense. This includes the booking - in, release, feeding, and care of City prisoners. 3. All dispatchers, presently employed, will be invited to stay with their jobs, and remain as County employees, under City supervision. This is to insure that their retirement, insurance, and social security benefits will not be disturbed. No one will be instantly discharged, but rather, all will be invited to continue. However, if and when new employees are phased in, they will be City employees, they will be paid by the City, and will participate in City benefits. 4. Shared equipment, such as radio communications, teletype, etc. will continue as is and the service agreement, now existing, will remain unchanged.

"It is believed that these changes will provide better services in all areas affected, will make needed office space available for County and State officials, and will, in general, unure to the benefit of all citizens of Bailey County, and the Muleshoe area."

out that the Department of Labor defines the terms "migrant worker" as anyone employed in agriculture. "Clearly, this is not the case," Propst said.

"Everyone knows that many -- if not most -- farm workers are permanent residents on or near the farms where they work." He noted that the practical effect of this and other interpretations has been to subject virtually all farmers, other agricultural employers, their foremen, and other employees to register as farm labor contractors. In recent months a number of cotton farmers, ginners, and others have been cited by the department for non-compliance and threatened with possible civil and criminal penalties.

The Council president said the department's actions in these instances "go far beyond any reasonable interpretations of the law." Last October, he noted, a letter signed by 52 U.S. Senators was delivered to Labor Secretary Ray Marshall calling attention to the problem and expressing concern that the department's actions were completely contrary to Congressional intent.

"Unfortunately," said Propst, "there was no change in the Department of Labor's policies. Now, as a result of the successful effort led by Senator Boren we are hopeful that the department will respond in a positive way."

"The legislation adopted by the Senate is both reasonable and balanced. While it eliminates needless regulations for the nation's farmers and others it strengthens the protec-

Rusty Ingram, said he expects the potato processing to be completed around mid September.

Ingram also explained that due to a lack of adequate housing, especially apartments, the new operation includes two apartments. One of the apartments is an efficiency and the other had a living room, kitchen and bedroom.

"We have to spend so much time here," said Ingram, "the apartments here really work out well for us."

Separate shipping and receiving offices overlook both the processing plant and the loading docks, which Ingram said adds to the efficiency of the current operation.

At Robert Ruiz, with both the cucumber and cabbage harvest underway, the large plant is beginning to get ready for the annual bell pepper harvest, expected to start in a couple of weeks.

At this time, none of the three plants around Muleshoe are experiencing any labor problems and have adequate workers.

Cattle dogs are making a comeback

COLLEGE STATION - Cattle dogs, a relic of another era, are on the way back, says Professor Charles Long of Texas A&M University's Department of Animal Science.

Driven by inflation, high production costs and dropping cattle prices, many ranchers are more than willing to pay big money for a well-trained, 2-year-old cattle dog. A well-trained dog sells for $1,000 to $2,000. Puppies go for about $100.

Professor Long, a veteran dog trainer and expert on cattle production, said handling stock is nothing but the right pressure in the right place, and a dog is one of the best at putting on the right pressure.

The most common breeds are Australian Cattle dog, Australian Shepherd, Border Collie and the Catahoula Leopard or "Cur."

HOMEOWNERS BEWARE

Do you have a Homeowners Form A Insurance Policy on your home?
We would like to take a few minutes of your time to explain the major differences between a Homeowners Form A Policy and a Homeowners Form B Policy,
Both Forms have a 1% deductible but with a Homeowners Form A you (not the insurance company) must pay the depreciation on damage to your home caused by fire, lightning, hail and windstorm.
For example, if hail destroyed your roof and the replacement cost was $2,000, it could cost you up to $1,000. for depreciation.

There is no depreciation on your home with a Homeowners Form B Policy.
With a Homeowners Form A Policy you would have no insurance coverage if a tree were to fall on your home or if your washer overflows and ruins your carpet. These losses would be covered with a Homeowners Form B Policy.

The cost of a Homeowners Form A Policy is approximately 25% less than a Form B, but it could cost you much more in the long run if you have a loss. Therefore we recommend Homeowners Form B for all of our customers.

Your agent will be happy to tell you which form you have, so take a few minutes and call him. It could save you hundreds of dollars in the future if you have a loss.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The political stars fell on Texas last week.

President Jimmy Carter attended two Dallas fundraisers and Republican presidential ticket team Ronald Reagan and George Bush stopped in Houston on their way home from the Detroit convention.

In Dallas, Carter asked U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen what he could do for Texas (a new anecdote goes) and Bentsen replied all Texas needed was rain to end the drought. Carter reportedly lifted his arms to the sky in silent plea. When rain drops fell on Dallas shortly afterwards, the President was heralded as a rainmaker.

Carter visited a drought-plagued farm with Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan, who is predicting that farmers here may lose up to $2 billion in crops and livestock losses. Reagan is expected to seek federal funds for Texas farmers suffering losses.

Windfall Burden

Over 4,000 angry Texas royalty owners appeared at Sen. Bentsen's hearing in Austin on the windfall profits tax... and they want the law changed.

The new tax causes some royalty owners to suffer 25 to 30 percent cuts in royalty income. The panel was presented a survey showing most royalty owners receive modest amounts of income from their leases, and Bentsen commented the tax hits hardest on the elderly royalty owners.

Bentsen has reintroduced a bill to exempt royalty owners from the tax and to exempt the first 1,000 barrels per day of production from small independent producers.

Advice to Carter

Besides taking the royalty owners' message back to Washington, Bentsen last week also released some advice for Carter: enact a tax cut before 1981.

"It's important to have a tax cut before 1981 to increase productivity," he said.

Bentsen also said the President's re-election campaign is dragging and the administration should make a firm commitment before the election for a tax cut next year.

Auto Insurance Hike

Texas motorists may face an auto insurance premium increase as high as 28 percent in November, if last week's witnesses before the State Insurance Board get their wishes.

Spokesmen for the auto insurance industry said increases ranging from $56 to $81 per year were necessary to combat inflation.

Floy Kirby Final Rites Held Monday

Funeral services for Floy Estelle Kirby, 74, were conducted at 10:30 a.m. Monday in the 16th and Ave D Church of Christ with Terry Bouchelle, minister, officiating. Burial was in the Morton Cemetery under the direction of Singleton Ellis Funeral Home of Muleshoe.

Mrs. Kirby died at 8 a.m. at Northwood Health Care Center in Marble Falls. She had moved to Marble Falls in 1978 from Muleshoe where she had made her home since 1957.

Mrs. Kirby was born December 18, 1905 in Petrolia. Her husband, H.E. Kirby, preceded her in death in 1979. She was a member of the 16th and Ave. D Church of Christ in Muleshoe.

Survivors include a son, Reuel Kirby, Three Way Community; a daughter, Mrs. Bernice Weaver, Marble Falls; a sister, Mrs. Cecil Williams, Springtown; a brother, John Abbe, Abernathy; six grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Schooling Illegal Aliens

A federal judge has ruled that it is unconstitutional for Texas to deny a free public education to illegal alien children, but Texas Attorney General Mark White will appeal.

White is also considering a lawsuit against the federal government for failing to enforce immigration laws.

"Texas is being told to pay for the failures of the U.S. Justice Department. They're calling upon the taxpayers of this state to pay for undocumented workers' children who are unlawfully in the country," White told reporters.

U.S. District Judge Woodrow Sears ruled a 1975 Texas statute is unconstitutional because it denies a distinct group of children the fundamental right to an education.

Brilab Postponed Again

The Brilab trial of Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton and three others has been postponed again until Sept. 8, one week after the Labor Day deadline which Clayton had set for either being cleared or stepping down.

Clayton said he expects to be cleared in a quick trial and still intends to seek an unprecedented fourth term as House Speaker.

WALLACE & NEW DRUG

PORTLAND, ORE. -- Former Alabama Gov. George Wallace has traveled across the country for special medical treatment after learning through a television news show of an experimental pain-killing drug. The former governor hopes the drug will relieve discomfort associated with paralysis, said a spokeswoman at the center.

From the TAP Kitchen

TURN THAT BACKYARD BARBECUE into a special celebration with these Potato 'n' Pork Kabobs, suggests the Texas Department of Agriculture home economist, noting that Texas pork and potatoes provide an economical, nutritious combination that will be the talk of any neighbor.

POTATO 'N' PORK KABOBS

1 1/2 lb. pork loin
Marinade (below)
4 potatoes
2 bell peppers
2 tomatoes

Cut pork into 1 1/2 inch cubes. Marinate for at least four hours. Boil potatoes until tender and cut in cubes. Cut bell peppers into cubes and tomatoes into wedges. Thread meat and vegetables onto skewers; broil on grill over slow coals, turning frequently, for about 10-15 minutes or until meat is well done. If broiling in the oven, set broiler on high and place skewers about 6 inches from broiler. Broil about 10 minutes. Serves 4-5.

Marinade

1 minced onion
1 crushed garlic clove
1/2 tsp. black pepper
4 T. soy sauce
3 T. lemon juice
2 T. brown sugar

Mix ingredients together and heat long enough to dissolve sugar.
