'Sprinkles'

Fail To Dent Long Drought

Hurricane Allen slammed into the southern tip of Texas with a fury unmatched by almost any other tropical storm during this century. However, his effect was diminished as he swooped ashore in densely populated areas.

Hurricane Allen's sole effect in the South Plains and Panhandle of Texas has been to bring slightly cooler temperatures, cloudy skies and 'sprinkles' of rain.

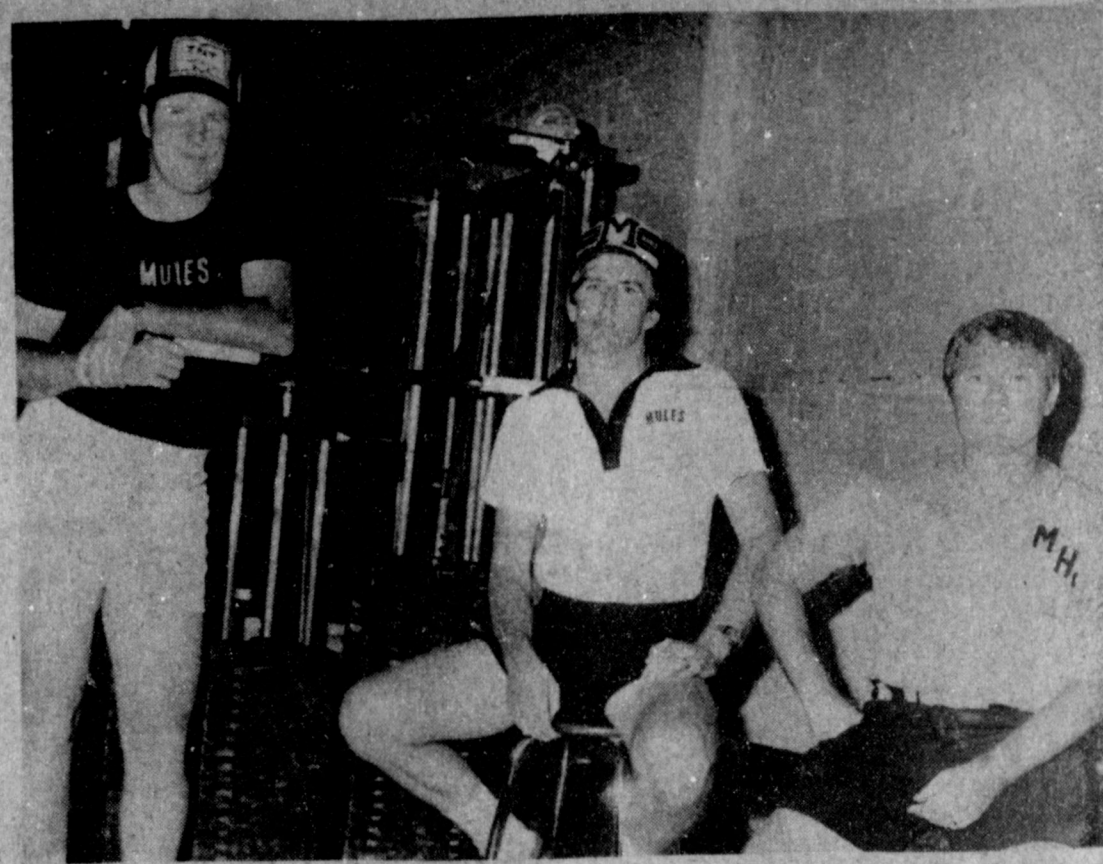

Flash flood warnings have been posted in a wide area of south to southwest Texas and across southern New Mexico and into Mexico. But, the much needed moisture has failed to materialize in dry, dusty South Plains.

Sprinkles were reported at Bula and around the Coyote Lake Feedyard; a trace was recorded by Foster Fertilizer at Lazbuddie with .10 received at Enochs, Maple and Needmore.

At the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge, .07 was reported. In Muleshoe, .18 was reported in at least three locations around the city.

Cornfield Search Fails To Turn Up Suspect

Although some 15-20 officers and several civilians surrounded a corn field at the west edge of Muleshoe late Tuesday afternoon, and two helicopters took to the air over the cornfield, a burglary suspect from Earth, reported to be armed with a gun, did not materialize.

Muleshoe officer Ray Lynk was notified of the wanted vehicle and man and was informed the vehicle had been seen in Muleshoe around 7 p.m. Tuesday. He found the car on West American Blvd. and attempted to stop the vehicle. Although the driver of the vehicle stopped briefly around West 20th Street and American Blvd. the car took off again, and Officer Lynk stopped the vehicle just at the west city limits.

As he approached the vehicle, a male passenger in the car jumped out and ran into a cornfield. The Muleshoe officer called for back-up officers and almost all members of the Muleshoe City, County and State Police responded.

Officers quickly circled the cornfield, and at one point, early in the search, officers on the north side of the cornfield, saw the suspect come out of the cornfield. However, when he spotted

White Retires, New Manager For Cashway

Clifford White, son of T.R. White and the late Marie White, has returned to Muleshoe to take over the operation of White's Cashway Grocery.

He is a former member of the U.S. Army and for the last two years, has been helping operate a trucking operation in Odessa.

White and his wife, Carolyn, are the parents of Patrick, a sophomore; Todd, in the third grade and Carolina, who will be in the first grade.

"White's Cashway was built on prompt, friendly service, and we plan to continue the same type of operation," commented the new manager of Cashway.

the law enforcement officers, he went back into the cornfield.

He was tracked into the cornfield by some officers, who lost him when his tracks started crisscrossing in the field.

Howard Watson took

Muleshoe Police Lt. Jerry Hicks up in a helicopter to fly low over the field.

Watson and Lt. Hicks said they could see through the corn, but clumps of Johnson grass made effective County.

As presented to commissioners Monday, the new plan would be called Panhandle-Plains Higher Education Authority, and would operate in 37 counties. The student loan funds would be government guaranteed student loans, and would be administered through local banking agencies.

Attending the meeting with Morris were Pat (Thomson) Hicks, a 1961 graduate of Muleshoe High School, who attended WTSU on the student opportunity plan; Don Harmon, Ernest Kerr, M.D. Gunstream; Tommy Gunstream; and Jim Cox.

According to Morris' explanation, "The county is not being asked for anything -- but the law says we have to ask permission to operate in this county."

"The program would be financed by revenue bonds which would be paid back by the students, as they begin to repay their student loans. The bonds are tax-free and the Opportunity Plan will administer the program and collect the loans."

He said the colleges participating will be West Texas State University; Wayland College, Plainview; Clarendon Jr. College; Amarillo College; Frank Phillips College and Lubbock Christian College would be invited to participate.

"We want to help students who need help," he explained. "We would have a local board to screen the students for ones who really need assistance in obtaining a college education. The funds will be up to Cont. Page 6, Col. 2

Stolen Truck From Lubbock Recovered Here

Around 2 a.m. Sunday, Bailey County Commissioner Loyd Stephens, who reside just over 10 miles west of Muleshoe on FM 1760, answered a knock on his door.

A young man explained to him he had vehicle trouble and wanted to make a call. According to the commissioner, the man made three calls, then left Stephens' home.

Later Sunday morning, the county commissioner noticed he had a vehicle missing and called the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center.

Bailey County Sheriff Dee Clements was joined by Deputy Sheriff Bob Henderson in a search for the missing vehicle. It was later found approximately two miles west of the state line in New Mexico on Kakawate Road.

Also, about one-half mile east of Stephens' residence the officers found a small truck with a Lubbock County registration. An investigation showed the truck was stolen from a business in Lubbock. It was unharmed, but had run out of fuel, as had Stephens' vehicle abandoned in New Mexico.

At presstime, the investigation into the thefts was continuing, according to Deputy Henderson.

Teacher aides employed include Elaine Estrade, high school; Jean Richardson, junior high school; Patricia Fabela, Martha Faye Stroud, and Lucy G. Posadas, Mary DeShazo elementary; and Carolyn Sue

Football Practice Getting Underway

Get ready for the annual roller coaster ride! It's Mule Mania time again, and if you are not familiar with Mule Mania, then you haven't been around Muleshoe or the Muleshoe Mules very long.

A full head of steam is gathering as the Mules have again taken to the field to get ready for the usual fall extravaganza in Muleshoe and the surrounding area, when the Muleshoe Mules take on all comers and usually win.

Monday, two-a-days started for the Muleshoe High School football team, with Muleshoe Athletic Director and Head Football Coach Wartes and his staff devoting much time to shaping up summer-slabby muscles on the players and showing them how to catch, run, tackle and all the time, prepare for the for the first football game of 1980, here on Friday, September 5, when the Mules take on the Portales Rams.

Last year, to begin the season, the Rams eked out a 2-7 victory over the Mules. However, other than a 20-20 tie with Abernathy to spoil homecoming

Water conservation is an important step to lawn preservation

COLLEGE STATION — In the face of an extensive drought, what will happen to the yard, many a Texan's pride-and-joy?

Official of the Texas Water Resources Institute at Texas A&M University say several steps can save useless outdoor water waste.

They suggest planting native drought-resistant plants such as oak, sage, yaupon, magnolia, mesquite or other shrubs.

Also, limit the size of your lawn by careful landscaping and limit the water you put on the grass and shrubs.

Other yard-saving suggestions: fertilize your lawn twice a year; control weeds; aerate your lawn and add organic material to sandy or clay soils to help them better absorb water.

Weather Comparison

There's a lot in common between a giant tropical storm such as Hurricane Allen and the storm that blew through Lubbock in early August, leaving $250,000 damage in its wake.

Therefore it's not so unusual that Dr. Colleen A. Leary of Texas Tech University's Department of Atmospheric Sciences has a two-year National Sciences Foundation grant, at $58,000 each year, to study tropical convection although Texas Tech's semi-arid West Texas campus is several hundred miles from the Gulf coast. Specifically, she is studying the formation of mesoscale cloud clusters, large-scale low pressure systems comprising several thunderstorm cloud clusters ranging from about 50 to 100 miles in diameter.

Such a system raked the South Plains August 3. "The storms in the tropics resemble the storms that are really big producers here a lot more than anybody would expect," she said.

Leary expects results of her study, which began August 1, to have significance for the study of tropical storms as well as cloud clusters. Hurricanes, for example, compromise clusters of thunderstorms and their "precipitation patterns show clear evidence for the presence of mesoscale dynamical features."

She is using a computer to work out equations that can extend current knowledge of vertical air motion in mesoscale cloud clusters.

Through her research Leary hopes to diagnose the amounts of mass and heat that are transported vertically in a particular cloud cluster.

She also hopes to attain a better understanding of tropical storm formation through a case study of Tropical Storm Alma, which was tracked extensively by radar in 1974. In that case the storm resulted from a squall line, "a very rare thing to have happen. Squall lines rarely become tropical storms."

Assisting Leary are graduate student Charles Clough of Lubbock, who is working on his master's thesis with the project, and Sibani Chatterjee, who has a master's in meteorology from a university in India.

The study is an extension of Leary's doctoral dissertation at the University of Washington. She received her bachelor's and master's degrees at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

How To Be A Bloomin' Genius

There's good news for people with champagne tastes but grape juice budgets. There's now a way to make occasions sparkle without going to the expense of buying champagne.

Festive occasions sometimes call for nonalcoholic sparkling beverages.

Diet-conscious guests and nondrinkers alike may enjoy and appreciate a non-alcoholic grape juice that's a dead ringer for champagne—pink or regular—because it's made from the same Catawba grapes that vintners use to produce the real bubbly.

Popping the cork and pouring the juice—carbonated for sparkle—is all part of the fun since Meier's Sparkling Catawba is packaged in the traditional champagne-shaped bottle with gleaming top. It presents an opportunity, too, to use long-stemmed crystal and turn a ho-hum event into a real occasion.

With Sparkling Catawba, found at many gourmet food stores, fine delicatessens, wine shops and even supermarkets, you have a choice that includes cold duck, too.

Tests continue on the best way to mount fiberglass poles so they are more easily replaced after an accident.

Clovis Youth In Action Ninety Mile Walk

Clovis Youth in Action has announced a 90 mile walk by one of its members in order to raise funds for an evangelistic concert by The Imperials, August 22nd. Mark Wilcox, a 19 year old graduate of Clovis High School, will start out in Clovis on Friday, August 15th at 7:00 p.m. MDT, and will arrive at 3:00 p.m. CDT, Sunday, August 17th at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview, Texas. Wilcox said he'll make the walk primarily in obedience to a call of God and will take this opportunity to be in prayer and meditation during his entire 31 hour journey.

Both albums include songs on the gospel Top 40 Charts; "Oh Buddha" and "Praise The Lord" from "Heed the Call" plus "I'm Forgiven" and the title cut from "One More Song For You". Group members Armond Morales, Russell Taff, David Wills and Jim Murray believe a live Imperials concert should be more than just Christian entertainment. They desire to introduce the audience to the love and power of Jesus Christ. The Imperials will be in free concert Friday, August 22nd at 7:00 p.m. MDT at the Marshall Junior High Auditorium on the corner of Main Street and Commerce Way in Clovis. Free tickets will be available at the door while they last. The concert is expected to draw attendance from as far as Lubbock, Roswell and Amarillo. The general public is encouraged to come early.

Youth in Action is a cross-denominational alliance of the Christian youth in Clovis and they'll use the Mark Wilcox/Youth in Action Walk-a-thon as a culmination of a year long fundraising campaign designed to pay the entire cost of a concert with the Imperials.

The young Clovisites are collecting donations-per-mile from concerned businessmen and individuals during the days leading up to the concert. Those interested in making a contribution may call Larry Holland, President, at (505) 763-3495.

The Best Male Gospel Group of the Year, according to the Gospel Music Association, The Imperials have recorded thirteen albums in 21 years of ministry. Their two latest albums, "Heed the Call" in '79 and "One More Song For You" in '80, each stand as a testimony to their success in the Christian music recording industry.

Irrigation costs vary among states

COLLEGE STATION — An acre-foot of irrigation water in the Nebraska-Colorado region costs about $44, while in Montana the same amount could cost as little as $7 or $8, says a team of Texas A&M University agricultural economists. The scientists figured maximum costs a farmer could afford to pay for water and still have any hope of making a profit. In Texas, an acre-foot of irrigation water might run about $13 around Lubbock but could cost as much as $36 along the Texas-Oklahoma panhandle border. In the Rio Grande Valley, a farmer might expect to pay between $16 and $17.

New Testing Set For Brucellosis

A new multi-area plan for brucellosis control in Texas is now in effect with new regulations for moving cattle, explains Spencer Tanksley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

Tanksley said the new program divides the state into two sections. The Class A area includes about 130 counties in the western part of the state, which is relatively free of brucellosis. Bailey County is a Class A area county.

The class B area, which lies east of Class A, consists of counties which have historically had more problems with the disease, Tanksley said.

Brucellosis, or Bangs Disease, is a highly contagious disease which affects cattle and other animals, as well as humans. In people, it is called undulant fever.

Tanksley said that in cattle, the disease may cause abortions, weaker calves, lower milk production and sterility. Failure to control the disease could result in more restrictions concerning interstate movement of Texas cattle.

Under the new regulations Tanksley explained that all breeding cattle, male and female, 18 months or older will be eligible for testing. Female dairy cattle officially calfood vaccinated between three and six months of age would not be tested until they are 20 months old. Female beef cattle vaccinated between three and 10 months of age would not be tested until they reach 24 months of age.

Tanksley noted one exception to this is that officially calfood vaccinated females under the ages listed above, but which are six month or more pregnant or have a calf by their side would be tested.

Steers and sprayed heifers do not require tests.

CLASS A CONTROL AREA
The following regulations apply for movement of cattle in Texas:

Persons with test eligible cattle in the Class A control area who want to move them from within the area will need a negative test within 30 days prior to movement from a premise to slaughter, quarantined feedlot, quarantined pasture, or to another premise. Cattle may move to market untested, but must be tested prior to sale if they have

Retirement Deadline Approaching

Two important Teacher Retirement System deadlines are approaching.

TRS members who have been employed in the past by a state agency and contributed to the Employees Retirement System have until August 31 to transfer that service credit to TRS. Transfer can be made even though the contributions may have been withdrawn.

Employees of higher education who are participants in Optional Retirement Program have until September 1 to exercise a one-time election to return to TRS membership.

Persons with questions concerning these deadlines should contact TRS, 1001 Trinity, Austin, Texas 78701.

not been tested negative within the previous 30 days.

For ranchers with cattle in Class A area who want to move them to Class B area, these regulations apply:

From farm or ranch in Area A to farm, ranch or feedlot in Area B; cattle must be tested negative within 30 days prior to movement and must have an E permit issued by the Texas Animal Health Commission. Retest at destination is not required.

From Area A farm or ranch to livestock market in Area B; cattle may enter without test or E permit but must be tested prior to sale if cattle are to return to the country, or must be S branded prior to sale if consigned to slaughter or quarantined feedlot.

From farm or ranch in Area A directly to slaughter or quarantined feedlot or quarantined pasture; cattle may enter without test or E permit, but all exposed or affected cattle will be identified and accompanied by an S or B permit, whichever is applicable.

Texas homes are now more than twice the price

COLLEGE STATION — The average price of a previously owned home in a Texas metropolitan area more than doubled from 1973 to 1979, said Dr. Arthur Wright, research economist for the Texas Real Estate Research Center at Texas A&M University.

"In 1973 the average price for a used home was $24,149. By 1979, the price had jumped to $52,879. This represents an increase of 119 percent in just six years," Wright said.

The increase was blamed on inflation combined with the continued strong demand for single family housing in Texas.

AMERICANS & DEBTS
Americans paid off their debts at a record pace in May as consumer installment debt plummeted at an annual rate of 13 percent, the Federal Reserve Board reported.

General Telephone Given Raise, Fined

The Public Utility Commission, August 5, granted General Telephone Company of the Southwest a $31 million increase in annual revenues, including a $4 million penalty for poor service, and ordered the Commission staff to initiate on Feb. 1, 1981, an investigation to determine the Company's effectiveness in meeting the Commission service objectives and standards.

The new rates will become effective October 1, 1980.

General Telephone filed on Feb. 25, a request for a $58.3 million increase in annual revenues and during hearings which concluded in June staunchly defended its overall level of service attributing some service problems in 1979 on severe ice storms, Hurricane Claudette and extensive flooding during late summer and fall in GTSW service areas near Houston.

Company witnesses during the hearings also supported the need for the full amount stating that it was necessary to keep pace with the exceedingly rapid growth in GTSW's service areas, rapidly changing technology, the need to improve and expand service and services and an unprecedented high level of inflation.

F. E. Hightower, vice president -- revenue requirements, described the penalty - the first of its kind imposed by the PUC -- as "unusually harsh", especially the additional provisions imposed by the Commissioners above those recommended by Hearing Examiner Phillip Ricketts.

"We are extremely disappointed," Hightower said, adding, "the Company probably will not determine its next step until the final order is received in recommendation includes a suggestion that the staff be instructed to consider initiating proceedings to decertify the Company in its serving areas in Texas.

Rates in effect until October 1 were established on a city-by-city basis prior to the establishment of the PUC in September 1976, but under the tariff apparently being met.

Hightower said the Commissioner's ruling called for the $4 million service penalty to be removed if the staff investigation scheduled in February 1981 revealed the Company was meeting the Commission service objectives and standards. If not, then the near future and fully evaluated."

Rex Bailey, vice president -- marketing and service, said the Company will do everything within its power to keep General Telephone's service levels trending upward as they have been since the first of the year. He added it will not be easy without the additional revenue, however, the Company still has every intention of meeting the service standards not pre-proved by the Commission basic service rates will be based on the number of telephones which can be reached without a long distance charge and are placed in 10 separate groups. The monthly charge for company owned instruments will be based on the type of instrument.

Assassin bug can be fatal

COLLEGE STATION — The blood-sucking assassin bug in Texas is infected with a sometime fatal parasitic disease that is passed on to its human victims, and vacationers this summer should take measures to avoid the night-feeding insect, say Texas A&M University researchers.

The infection, known as Chagas' disease, or American trypanosomiasis, is often fatal to infants and young animals. The disease causes enlargement of the esophagus, colon and heart, hinders digestion and results in the thinning of the walls of the heart.

EDITORIAL

Byrd: Like It Is

Senator Harry Byrd (Ind-Va) has charged that the Carter Administration has set an all-time record for fiscal irresponsibility. Byrd says the federal government this year will register the highest spending increase of any administration in U.S. history. The budget deficit, he notes, will be $61 billion, the second highest in history.

These two indictments are coupled with another. Senator Byrd has been saying—as has this newspaper editorially—that there will be no balanced budget next year. Through all the budget-balance talk in the first half of 1980, when the president and other high officials promised a balanced budget, Byrd said it wouldn't happen.

Now President Carter is predicting a deficit—of $30 billions. What the actual total will be, as the recession continues, is only a guess.

Byrd, like his father before him, the fiscal conscience of the U.S. Senate, reports that the spending increase of the federal government this year amounts to $85 billions, much more than the deficit, so that if increases had been moderated, the budget could have been brought close to balance. He estimates federal spending this fiscal year at $579 billions.

In the face of such annual warnings, and the fall of the dollar, the ruination of the U.S. trade balance and crisis inflation, one would think the message would get through to the free-spending politicians in Washington.

August 14

The end of the world's greatest war came August 14, 1945. President Harry Truman had authorized the dropping of two primitive atomic bombs and their devastating power, and the entrance of Russia into the war, were decisive factors in convincing the Japanese Emperor and government to ask for peace.

From December 7, 1941, to August 14, 1945, was less than four years but in that time the United States built a mighty two-ocean navy, an army of ten million men and women, a mighty air force that dominated the skies in Europe and in the Pacific, and developed the atomic bomb! It was an amazing accomplishment, an awesome display of nation strength and unity.

Some historians today think this might have been the nation's high water mark. They point to the fact that today there's another superpower, Russia, with greater nuclear power than we possess, with every prospect for out-arming us in the years ahead.

The historians also look to China as a future superpower. They question whether the United States is such a divided nation, soft and undisciplined economically, it's ready to fall from the pinnacle of power.

Whether pessimists prove right will be determined by the average American. In the past he and she has met the challenges of the time. The Challenge of the present is for Americans of all colors and faiths to build a united, free and strong nation—in the tradition of the nation's past.

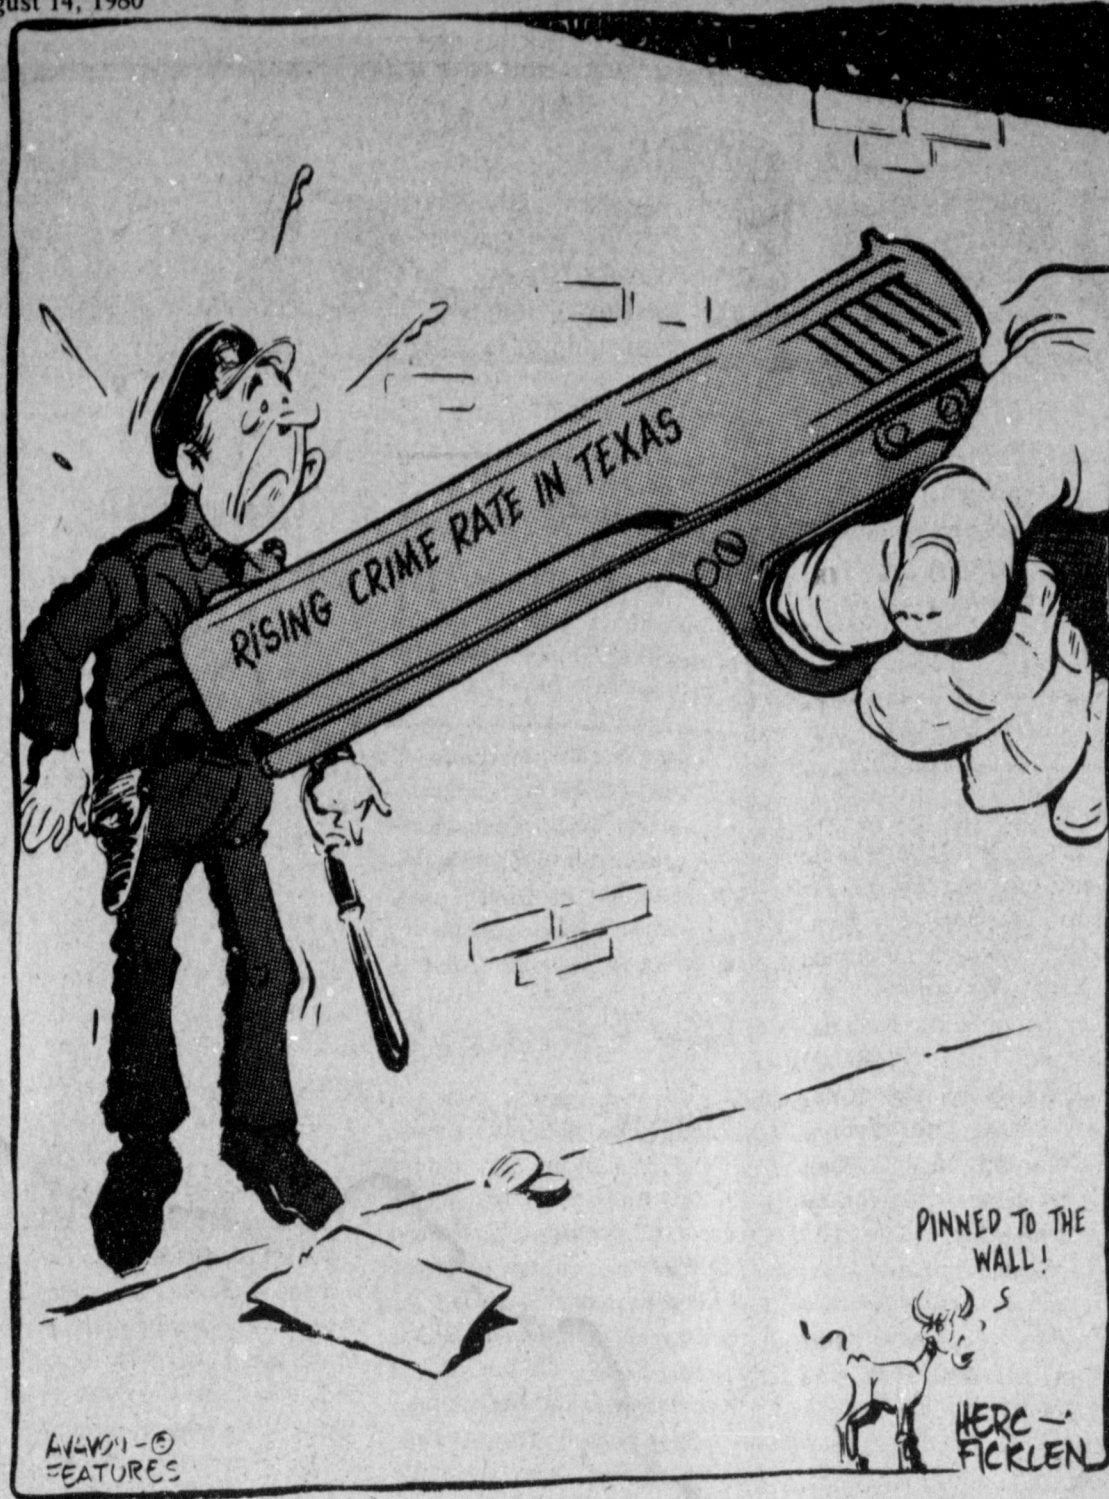

If that can be done, the greatest time for these United States might still lie ahead.

ON CABLE TV

A federal agency has substantially deregulated the cable television industry, ruling that cable systems can bring in as many stations as they want and do not have to black out programs that duplicate local broadcasts.

BRITAIN'S JOBLESS UP

LONDON -- Britain's unemployment figure has reached nearly 1.9 million, evoking bitter memories of the Great Depression and provoking a political storm inside and outside Parliament. Despite the outcry, the worst she has faced since taking office 14 months ago, Mrs. Thatcher calmly defended her economic policies.

MAILING POISONS

Starting in August, poisons and controlled substances will no longer have to be sent by registered mail. The U.S. Postal Service announced that it is dropping that requirement at the request of several mailers, because of the higher cost of registered mail.

STANDARDS GIVEN

The Justice Department has issued formal guidelines for Federal prosecutors after finding substantial variation in the policies followed by United States Attorneys. The guidelines were designed to promote consistency, but not absolute uniformity, in the application of Federal criminal laws.

CHINA, U.S., TEXTILES

China and the United States have reached an agreement governing increased shipments of Chinese textiles and apparel products to the United States for the period ending Dec. 31, 1982, the United States special trade representative, Reubin O. Askew, announced.

REPORT ON RESOURCES

Time is running out for international action to prevent a starving, overcrowded, polluted, resource-poor world, according to a report for President Carter prepared by the State Department and Council on Environmental Quality. President Carter ordered three years ago.

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Air Force Lobby - Almost Successful - A Test To See - The Public's Interest -

WASHINGTON, D. C. -- For years now, the U.S. Air Force has lobbied against the testing of a close support aircraft, the Piper Enforcer, which might save the taxpayer billions. Last year—for the first time—proponents of a test won their long fight. The sum of $6 million was authorized for the testing of the Enforcer.

The test, as outlined by Piper's Lynn Helms before the House Armed Services Committee in 1978, involved four prototypes—the standard number in operational testing. Half the cost of the test program was to be voted in 1979 and half in 1980. The Enforcer, of course, has been built entirely with private funds, the only such aircraft around, and the taxpayer was being asked only to test it.

Its cost would be about $1 million and the Air Force is now paying well over six times that for the close-support A-10, which, to many, is highly suspect. (Reportedly, it has just been decided not to deploy it on the continent of Europe.)

Not only is the cost of the Enforcer a fraction of the A-10, it's just as fast and much more heavily armored. It uses about a third the fuel and has much superior acceleration, because it's a prop jet. It can also operate from rough fields, and can be flown by pilots of all allied and under-developed countries, and is projected to carry a 30 mm. cannon.

The Air Force this year has not given Piper a contract. It used as justification the fact that Appropriations conferees last year failed to write language into the defense appropriation bill specifying four prototypes. So, the Air Force said, it had no authority to give Piper a four-plane contract.

In recent days the Air Force argued on Capitol Hill that since Piper had not started on its test program no need existed for the final $6 million. Piper, of course, couldn't start placing orders for long-lead components for our aircraft until it had the money in sight. (Piper is feeling the recession.)

When the issue came to a vote among Senate-House armed services committee conferees—forced by Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-SC)—recently, the latest Air Force attempt to kill the was resoundingly defeated 10-3. The bi-partisan alliance which upheld the public interest and directed the Air Force to get started included Thurmond and Sens. Nunn (D-Ga.), Jackson (D-Wash.), Byrd (Ind-Va), Warner (R-Va), Morgan (D-N.C.), Exon (D-Neb.), Levin (D-Mich.), Humphrey (R-N.H.), and Cohen (R-Me).

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—A year ago the President proclaimed a national goal of supplying 20 percent of our nation's energy from the sun and related renewable resources by the turn of the century as part of our nation's thrust to reduce dependence on foreign petroleum.

Achieving this requires a major commitment by government, industry, and the public to a swift transition to alternative energy usage. For solar to provide 20 percent of our national energy requirements, the technologies and techniques associated with solar utilization must become a major part of American life.

The 20 percent goal implies a trillion dollars of capital investment in solar technologies within 20 years, some form of solar utilization on one out of every two residences and commercial structures in the nation, solar industrial process heat systems in at least one of every seven factories, solar generation of 20 percent of the nation's electricity, and successful deployment of every solar technology now known or currently under development.

Most products, however, have traditionally taken much more time than we have available to gain widespread market acceptance.

TEST-TUBE BABY

BRISTOL, ENGLAND -- Louise Brown, the world's first test-tube baby, has celebrated her second birthday, a milestone her parents thought they would never see.

Usually, normal market forces provide adequate impetus to establish a strong industry base, gain acceptance, create consumer demand, and overcome institutional barriers. In the case of solar energy, this impetus is not very strong, if left to development in the conventional manner, solar commercialization would take considerably longer than the 20 years in which the President has challenged us to reach the 20 percent goal.

In the absence of strong market forces, positive commitments are needed now to establish a more solid solar industry throughout the nation.

Texas responded to the President's call by creating the Solar Advisory Committee, an arm of the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council, to make recommendations to the 67th Texas Legislature on the potential involvement of both state government and the private sector in solar development. The committee has hosted numerous meetings in metropolitan areas across the state and I believe the turn out for those meetings has demonstrated that solar is not an exotic technology of the future, but a necessary alternative to our energy mix.

PRODUCTIVITY FALLS

American productivity fell at a steep 3.1 percent annual rate during the second quarter this year, as the recession triggered a record drop in economic output, the Labor Department reported.

Editor's note: The Sand-

takes a look at a new development sweeping the country.

Dear editor:
Americans have always had the ability to rise up and meet practically any challenge and despite what some people say that ability still exists.
Take the problem of lawyers. According to an article
I read the other day, the United States has 20 times
as many lawyers per capita as Japan. This is hard to understand, as you'd think that a government regulation written in Japanese would take more lawyers to interpret than one written in English.

Nonetheless, the Federal government now has 15,532
lawyers on its pay roll,
many of them spending
long hours interpreting government regulations
which neither the bureaucrats who wrote them nor the public which has to follow them can understand.

But these 15,532 lawyers are just a tiny fraction of the total number of lawyers practicing around the country, with law schools
turning out more and more every year, and for a while it looked like lawyers, if they were all going to make a living, would have to start suing each other, like the college drop-outs who tried to finance themselves
by taking in each other's washing.

The American People
however are meeting the challenge. They're thinking up brand new ideas for suing each other and thus keeping lawyers busy. You read about the wife who sued her husband for $35,000 because he failed to shovel snow off their sidewalk. Or the couple who sued the school because their son graduated
without being able to read.
And convicted "Son of Sam" killer David Berkowitz is suing a writer for saying he shot 32 people
when actually it was only 15, six of whom were killed and seven wounded. He says it's slanderous to exaggerate the number and wants 10 million dollars in damages to his reputation.
And one batch of refugees fleeing to this country is suing the government because they say another group is getting better free
financial support.

I could go on but this is getting hard to believe. If a typographical error shows up in this letter when it appears in the Journal I do

Executive And Drop-Out Both
Abuse Chemicals

The executive who downs
large amounts of scotch before bedtime and the high school drop-out sniffing glue in a drainage ditch have something in common --- they both abuse
chemicals.

The chemicals in alcohol,
glue or other substances
are different but they all can cause the body's central nervous system to function badly. This problem can show up as a driving - while - intoxicated
charge, prolonged depression or a large number of other symptoms, says a physician who works with patients who abuse alcohol or other drugs. Physical effects vary with different drugs but ultimately they all cause problems in relating to people, making decisions and acting appropriately in a variety of situations, according to an article by Stuart Nemir,
M.D., and Shirley Skaggs,
Ph.D., of Austin in the August issue of Texas
Medicine, the Texas Medical Association's monthly journal.

Losing control of the amount of drugs used follows closely behind inappropriate words and actions
as early signs of abuse problems. Then persona relationships suffer because abusers cannot communicate feelings and thoughts properly. Having a distorted view of physical surroundings adds to the difficulties and can result in danger to abusers themselves.

The first step in recovery
is to stop using the chemicals that are causing the mental and physical difficulties. Then the abusers need to learn proper actions that tear down excessive emotional defenses, build up ways of coping besides using drugs and restore relationships with people.
Professional help and a support group is very important to help the abuser
and family members handle
all these changes and maintain a change lifestyle,
Dr. Nemir says.

Pet owners warned
not to leave pets
in hot, closed cars

COLLEGE STATION -- As
summer temperatures continue in the 100s, pet owners should avoid leaving their animals shut up in the car for more than a few minutes -- if at all -- says a Texas A&M University expert.
When temperatures inside a closed auto soar to 140 degrees or more, the pets inside quickly succumb to often-fatal heat stroke, said Dr. Robert Play-ter, head of the small animal clinic at Texas A&M's College of Veterinary Medicine.

Local Karate School Students Are Promoted

Recently, students from West Texas Karate Academy of Muleshoe, travelled to Dallas to participate in promotion tests being held in their brother school in Mansfield, a suburb of Fort Worth.

Approximately 20 students from brother schools in Masfield, San Angelo and Muleshoe participated in the tests conducted by Master Instructor Jae Woonam, a sixth degree black belt in Tow Kwan Do, Korean Karate.

Instructor, Danny Kelly, said students performed skills in basic blocking, kicking and punching exercises, as well as one step sparring, and free fighting techniques.

Students from Muleshoe receiving promotions were Danny Kelly, head instructor, from First degree black

Jaycees Plan

To Participate In Cook-Off

Muleshoe Jaycees formulated plans Monday to attend the Jaycee chili cook-off in Lubbock Saturday. President Galen Bock said the Muleshoe Jaycees have entered the cook-off.

He said 42 teams entered the cook-off last year and more are expected this year. The winner of the Lubbock Jaycee Cook-Off will compete in the national chili cook-off at Terlingua later this year.

To add spice to the contest, the Muleshoe Jaycees have challenged the Plainview Jaycees, who were eighth in the cook-off last year.

Also, Bock announced that beginning the week of August 25, for each new member obtained, the members may throw a pie in his face.

Discussed was the upcoming Labor Day Rest Stop. Last year, more than 400 people signed the guest register during the week-end rest stop.

Jaycee of the Month awards were given to Dan Hovland for May-June and to Troy Stigmiller for July. Jaycee for the quarter was Stigmiller.

Several Jaycees are planning to attend the Houston Oiler-Dallas Cowboy pre-season football game in Dallas next weekend. Any member who obtains five new members will be taken FREE to the game.

Also receiving promotion was Randy Bush from White belt to Yellow belt. But he was unable to travel to Dallas, so was tested at the Muleshoe School.

Wheat Harvest Down Despite Upped Acres

AUSTIN—Despite a one million-acre increase in planted acreage this year, the recently completed Texas wheat harvest netted three million bushels less than in 1979, according to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service report forecast the 1980 harvest to be 135 million bushels, contrasted to 138 million last year. The number of harvested acres was 5.4 million, 800,000 more than that of 1979.

"Dry conditions during the early growing season and a winter kill cut our yields," Brown said. "But we feel lucky to have had the harvest we did, considering the extreme heat the past six weeks."

Corn production as of July 1 is expected to be 128,250,000 bushels, down from 132,300,000 in 1979. The number of harvested acres is forecast to be 1,350,000, up 110,000 acres from 1979. The yield per acre is predicted to be 95 bushels, ten lower than last year's.

Doug Murfield, chief statistician for the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, cautioned that since the data had been collected, there have been 11 days of dry, hot weather. Even though 80-85 percent of Texas corn acreage is irrigated, the extremely high temperatures could affect pollination.

Carl King, corn producer from Dimmitt, commented that the High Plains corn looks good where adequate irrigation is available. Early corn is having some problems with pollination, but the late corn appears to be in much better shape.

Food Stamps

The arrangement is designed to allow the elderly and disabled to participate in the program without having to travel to a separate office to apply for benefits.

Persons already receiving food stamps who did not apply for them through a Social Security office, must reapply at the food stamp office when their benefit certification period ends.

Also, persons still may apply for entry into the food stamp program at a food stamp office rather than the Social Security office, if they so desire.

Applicants who have questions about this change or want more information may call the toll-free Food Stamp Hotline at 1-800-252-9330, or may contact a local food stamp or Social Security office.

Some Texans may now apply for food stamps through Social Security offices, according to the Texas Department of Human Resources, the state agency which administers the food stamp program.

An agreement between the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Social Security Administration now makes it possible for a person to apply for food stamps at a Social Security office under the following conditions:

1. If you and your household (all the people who live and eat with you) are applying for Supplemental Security Income (SSI), or

2. If you and your household already receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI) but are not receiving food stamps.
