

Around OUR PLACE
by Fred Gipson

It is one of those quiet, peaceful evenings so rare around our place since the arrival last October of our son and heir, Mike the Pest. But, for once, Mike is quiet. He's in bed. He's wadded up his sheets and blankets in one corner and has crawled to the other, where he sits like a prosperous-paunched little priest, meditatively tugging at his eyelashes. Mike's eyelashes are his latest discovery in this great adventure of life, and sitting and pulling at them for hours at a time furnish es him no end of pleasure. In fact his eyelashes have almost replaced the trash can as a source of inspiration and entertainment.

Me, I'm getting a lot of quiet satisfaction out of sitting and whittling my toenails.

But the Duchess wrecks the whole beautiful scene with a bombshell question. "What", she wants to know, slapping at a mosquito, "makes frogs holler?"

ojo

That's the Duchess for you. One time she woke me up in the dead hours of night to ask: "Fred, can cows back up?"

"Frogs", I explain patiently, "holler for the same reason that crickets chirp, opera singers strain for high C, and hound dogs bay at a full moon!"

"Yes, but what makes hounds bay at the moon?" she wants to know. "I think its silly!"

Sometimes I am appalled at the ignorance of my city-bred wife.

"Look", I say. "Didn't you ever hear roosters crow at daybreak?"

"They're always waking me," she complains, "just when the sleepings best. What's the matter with them?"

"It's nature, I" explain. "Roosters just naturally have to crow at daybreak. It's time to get up."

"Not for me", she protests. "I don't like to get up till the sun is shining."

"That's what city life does for a person", I point out. "Get's them used to a lot of bad habits. When I was a kid on the farm I used to roll out at four o'clock every morning and go drive up the work mules and have them harnessed by daylight."

"If it was such a good habit", she says, why don't you keep it up?"

"But I don't have any mules," I point out.

"Why don't we have some mules" she wants to know. "If we had some mules maybe we could live on a farm and make some money. With eggs the price they are—"

"You don't cultivate eggs with mules" I interrupt.

"Well all I know", she says is that if groceries and rent keep going up we'll soon be tramping the highways!"

ojo

"Speaking of highways," I say hoping to change the subject, I had a peculiar experience on the road from Austin the other day.

"Yes" she says raising an eyebrow.

Yeah, I saw an old man up the road staggering along under a load of ragged bedding. Asked him if he wanted to ride. He said: "What fer, young feller? Ain't going nowhere. Just as well be here as on up the road".

ojo

The Duchess studies me grayely.

MIGRATORY BIRDS AND ANIMALS

Every old timer has noted the instinct of certain animals, birds, and insects to migrate from one location to another.

Every observing person knows that wild duck, geese, doves, scissor-tails and even blue quails and wild turkeys have the instinct to move from one range to another. Ducks and geese especially know exactly when to start south as winter approaches.

It is a well known fact that crickets, grasshoppers and other insects will migrate from north to south at certain seasons.

Buffalo, deer, coyotes, rats and squirrels in the early days were given to this migratory habit.

The old settlers can remember the days when the buffaloes moved from north to south in such numbers that travellers had to keep out of their path. It was the same with deer and wolves.

I remember in the fall of 1869 we lived in the crosstimbres of McLennan county near West. There was a remarkable migration of fox squirrels. There had always been a reasonable number of squirrels living in the postoaks to make it interesting to the squirrel hunters, but this fall the squirrels came in such numbers that we lost all interest in shooting squirrels.

They swarmed over the cornfields by the thousands and we had to drop everything and gather the corn because there were so many that they would have soon destroyed it.

Squirrel meat was considered a delicacy and we shot many of them for the table. They were fat and good eating. We had fried squirrel, stewed squirrel and squirrel pies until the scent of a squirrel nauseates me to this good day.

These squirrels stayed with us for about a week and during that time we boys were kept busy chasing them out of the corn. At first we shot them, but powder and shot (we had only flint lock guns then) were too precious to waste on squirrels. We kept the dogs so busy that the sight of a squirrel disgusted them.

Then one day they all left and streaked east across the prairies. For more than a year, not a squirrel could be found in the woods where they came from or where they went, we never knew.—Uncle Bill

Million Red Cross Volunteers Aid Defense Program

Washington, D. C.—Behind the front lines of U. S. defenses more than 1,200,000 Red Cross volunteers are on the job—making surgical dressings, knitting sweaters and giving comfort articles, learning the rudiments of emergency mass feeding and scores of other duties in an all-out effort for national defense.

The largest defense task now being undertaken by Red Cross volunteers is the production of 40,000,000 surgical dressings for the Army and Navy, according to Mrs. Dwight F. Davis, national director of Volunteer Special Services.

Home Service volunteers and Gray Ladies, whose duties are directly concerned with the man in uniform also are expanding their programs, Mrs. Davis said.

As a preparedness measure, thousands of women throughout the country are learning mass feeding and nutrition as members of the Red Cross Canteen Corps. Added thousands are being trained in the Motor Corps to serve as emergency drivers.

District Court Is of Short Duration

Judge J. F. Sutton came up and convened our district court last Monday.

After empannelling the grand jury and setting the big twelve to work, they went to their room and had a smoke. After talking sheep and cows for awhile they came into court in a body and reported to the court "nothin' doin'" thereupon the court said: "you are dismissed" and they all went home.

District attorney O. C. Fisher was present, but there was nothing for him to do.

The case of Lillie Mae Lee vs. Curtis Paul Lee, suit for divorce, divorce was granted and the plaintiff's maiden name was restored to that of Lillie Mae Nichols. On the same day she was married to Jim Roberts, a soldier at Camp Barkley, Rev. L. O. Ryan officiating.

Judge Sutton came up Tuesday and signed the minutes for the term

SLEEP-EAT FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

Now that the schools are under way and the daily routine is well established, the question of school lunches that will be adequate and attractive and will help to keep the growing boy or girl up to the mark mentally and physically, is of special importance. But the child's growth and development are helped or hindered by various other things in a child's daily program.

Here are some of them as outlined by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer:

"The average school child needs from 10 to 12 hours sleep each night. A tired child is a nervous, irritable child who finds it hard to concentrate. Does your child have a bedtime that is early enough to insure an adequate amount of sleep?"

"Teachers complain that many of the children find it necessary to eat

part of their lunch in the middle of "Yes", but what makes frogs holler

Mike burps loudly and indelicately from his corner of the bed. I sigh and go off to bed where I can sit and whittle my toe nails in peace

What does make frogs holler, do you suppose?

Wimodausis Club to Send Magazines to Army Camps

The Wimodausis Club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. W. N. Reed, fifteen members were present. Plans were made to send magazines to some army camp. The club voted to have a candy sale Saturday night at the picture show and a rummage sale Saturday November 1, at San Angelo. Mrs. Lester Foster was elected delegate to the State Convention; to be held at Dallas in November. Club members are planning to attend a tea to be given by the Forsan Study Club Oct. 28th in Forsan.

The following program on "The Good Neighbor Tour" was given: Festivals—Mrs. Pat Kellis Folk Dances—Mrs. H. L. Hildebrand Courtship and Wedding Customs—Mrs. John Reed

Others present were: Mesdames Rogers Hefley, Lester Foster, D. Hall Miss Ethel Foster, Lee Reed, T. S. Foster, David Glass, T. F. Foster Harvey Glass, C. N. Crawford, and Herman Everitt.

Antelope Trapping to Begin Soon

Antelope which in years past have been successfully live trapped and transplanted to better ranges in lower West Texas and the Trans-Pecos region will be trapped in the Panhandle, the Executive Secretary of the Game Department announced today.

The project scheduled to begin within a few weeks will be centered in Oldham County, where a considerable antelope herd has developed and animals trapped will be distributed to thousands of acres of suitable range in that portion of the Lone Star State.

Details are being worked out in conferences between the Executive Secretary, the Director of Wildlife Restoration of the Department, and the Game Manager who has been in charge of such work in the past and is most familiar with it.

The purpose of the work the Executive Secretary explained, is to remove surplus antelope from over crowded ranges. Under such conditions the Texas antelope herd, a few years ago, was slowly starving to death. There was not enough food on the ranges to withstand the tremendous competition for subsistence among cattle, domestic sheep and antelope, it was explained.

WOULD TAKE ALL

If the unions were to succeed in getting the increased pay which they are demanding of the railroads it will take all that the railroads can earn to pay them. There would be nothing left for the stockholders and taxes.

These workers are already the best paid in the world besides they are the best treated of any class of workers in the world.

If they succeed in their demands they will finally destroy the means by which they live. The railroads will cease to function and these boys will be out of a job. It would be another illustration of the fellow who killed the goose that laid the golden egg.

SNAKES ARE NOW CONGREGATING

At this time of the year, snakes every kind are moving near the dens where they expect to spend the winter.

Rattlers especially are moving nearer each day to their rocky dens in the hills where they can crawl in when the first cold norther hits. Like some people, some snakes put off going to shelter until the freeze catches them and they perish.

When a number of snakes gather in a den, they coil around each other for warmth until they form a mass sometimes as large as a 50 gallon barrel.

While camped with a surveying party in the early days during a cold norther on Sterling creek, we built our campfire against a rocky bluff. After cooking and eating a hearty meal, we heard a great rattling back in the rocks which had become hot and uncomfortable for a great den of snakes that had gone into winter quarters there.

With a crowbar, the boys pried off a ledge of rock and out rolled a coil of snakes as big as a barrel. The eight men of the crew went to work killing snakes. In that coil were rattlers, bull snakes, coachwhips, prairie runners, kingsnakes and almost every other kind of snake that inhabits the ranges.

This may sound to you like a tall tale, but it is true all the same. Most any old timer will tell you that it was not unusual to find dens where hundreds would be dened up. My old field book of the trip shows that we killed 183 snakes including all kinds that day.

In later years the boys found it great sport to go snake hunting on the warm days in early spring. When a den was located, they usually found the rattlers out sunning on the rocks near the mouth of the den and then the shooting commenced. On one afternoon a party went out and killed 125 rattlers.

Most of our ranchers found that it paid to encourage hunting the deadly rattlers in the spring when they were found in great numbers on the rocky hillsides. If they waited until warm weather, the snakes scattered over the range where they were safe to get in their deadly work on domestic animals.

The rattler has been thinned out in this part of the country, but there are enough left to inflict heavy damage on the ranchers each year. It is a wonder that there is no bounty offered on the rattlesnake, but there isn't.—Uncle Bill

Russell Bros.' Circus Coming to Big Spring Thursday, October 30th

Circus Day with its perennial appeal to all ages will be the center of attraction for people of this vicinity when Russell Bros. 3-Ring Circus appears in two performances afternoon and night at Big Spring, Texas Thursday, October 30th.

Russell Bros. one of the most popular of the larger and better circuses still on the road, has succeeded in effectively combining all the cherished circus traditions of old with the latest modern trends and improvements. Its eventful two hour program presented in a colorful big top of cucumber green abounds with novel surprises and interesting innovations.

An all new array of performing talent is being offered including some of circusdoms top rank flying trapeze artists, acrobats, tumblers, jugglers, tightwire performers, equestrians, and clowns, while in the animal department are marvelously trained performing elephants, unusually fine horses and various other species of fourfooted entertainers.

Performances will start at 2 and 8 p. m. with the front doors opening one hour earlier. A complete collection of rare and costly wild animals from all parts of the world will be displayed in the menagerie at no extra cost to circus patrons, and in addition to the main big show performance there will be an exciting fast-moving wild west show and a tented museum of human oddities and exotic entertainers.

Red Cross, OCD Look to Volunteers For Civil Defense

Washington, D. C.—To the question, "What can I do for America?" the Red Cross is providing an answer for hundreds of thousands of men and women who want to do their part on the civilian defense front.

For women, the Red Cross is providing an 80-hour training course to recruit a corps of 100,000 Nurse's Aides. It is the Red Cross' newest project, undertaken at the request of the U. S. Office of Civilian Defense to relieve the current pressure on nursing facilities.

With thousands of nurses being taken into military service with our armed forces, civilian nursing has suffered a direct blow, the Red Cross points out. Moreover, the defense program has created additional health problems which has heightened the need for civilian nursing.

Red Cross Nurse's Aides will serve as assistants to registered nurses, performing scores of important duties which will enable nurses to care for more cases. The Red Cross stresses that Nurse's Aides will not take the place of the registered nurse, but will serve in an auxiliary capacity.

On the more dramatic side of civilian defense, the Red Cross is gearing its far-flung disaster fighting machine to handle mass feeding, housing and clothing of exacuees under wartime conditions. In cooperation with the Office of Civilian Defense, chapters

Some folks got excited about the new installment plan buying regulations and made a big to-do over "last chances," etc. Now that the smoke has cleared away, the fact remains that Convenient Terms are still open to buyers who meet their obligations. One-fifth down is not an unreasonable amount to pay when you recall that . . .

TEN YEARS AGO . . . An average refrigerator cost $350. You had to pay $75 to $100 down and monthly payments of maybe $20 to $30. Today a better refrigerator of comparable size costs around $165, sells for $33 down with payments of less than $8 a month on the balance. The 1941-42 electric refrigerators cost less than half as much as 10 years ago . . . and about ONE-FIFTH as much to operate!

LIKED "HASLETS"

A City Slicker, riding along a country road, stopped at a farm house where a farmer was killing hogs. He bragged on everything he saw, as a build up, and finally said "My wife surely does like liver". So, the farmer gave him a hog liver. After some more conversation, the city dweller said, "My children like spare ribs". So the farmer gave him a 'mess' of ribs. Then some more talk and the city man said, "My mother likes backbone". So some backbone was handed over, and then the farmer said, "You don't need any guts for yourself do you?"

THERE GOES A TIRE!
... but why junk the car?

Any car can have a blowout in a tire. But you wouldn't junk the car. You'd just fix the tire—or replace it.

That's very much like a situation that exists in the retailing of beer. Beer retailing has its "flat tires," too—retailers who disobey the law or who permit unsavory conditions.

To protect your right to drink good beer, we of the beer industry want to eliminate the few "flat tire" retailers. Here's another reason: Right here in Texas, beer has provided employment for 31,165 persons, supports an annual payroll of $22,076,182 and paid $2,273,-968.64 in state taxes last year.

The state, too, has an important stake in the beer industry's purchases—for material, equipment and services—from more than 100 other industries.

Those benefits are worth preserving. You can help us preserve them by patronizing only the reputable and legal places where beer is sold and by reporting any law violations you may observe to the duly constituted authorities.

Eagles Ramble With Westbrook

The Sterling Eagles take on the Westbrook Wildcats Friday, October 31. The game is to be held at 2:30 on the Eagles Field. As you know last year the Wildcats defeated the Eagles with a score of 32 to 22. Are we going to let them do it again???

Our boys are going to stay right in there and pitch until the very ending. We hope to send the Wild cats back home with their heads held just a little bit lower than at the beginning of the game.

We wan't all of you Sterling fans to be there behind the Eagles from the first minute until the final whistle. We're real proud of our boys this year. They have entered into each game with a desire to win for their school and have been faithful to the very end.

Just remember what all these boys are giving up to fight for their school. They must give up late hours and many other privileged to keep in good condition in order to give us victory.

Surely if these boys can give up all of this for us the least we can do is stay behind them in good spirits.
