Rabies Found Here; No 'Major' Problems

Because of a set of "lucky" incidences, a case of rabies that, initially, could have had far-reaching consequences, was detected and quickly contained in Muleshoe last week. Dr. Barry Cowart was called to a local feed lot to examine a heifer which appeared to be ill. Dr. Cowart said he examined the heifer, then, after checking, approved the heifer for slaughter for the owner.

The owner of the heifer had indicated he wanted the heifer slaughtered for his own consumption, according to reports received. The heifer was taken to Winkler Meat Co. for Slaughtering.

Exercising what has been called 'normal precautions' Dr. Cowart, who at no time suspected rabies, elected to have the brain of the heifer sent to a lab in Amarillo for diagnostic analysis.

On Friday, the Texas Department of Health in Lubbock, as well as Dr. Cowart, were notified that the heifer was rabid. Saturday morning, Dr. William Rosser and Dr. Jim Johnson of the Texas Department of Health were in Muleshoe to check out the rabies case.

Dr. Rosser and the owners of Winkler Meat Co., Larry and Terry Winkler, met with a representative of The Journal Saturday morning to explain precautions taken after the animal was found to be rabid.

The veterinarian from the Texas Department of Health in Lubbock, told The Journal that the rabid animal had been slaughtered in one corner of the meat company, and that area had been isolated. He also said the situation was contained in the small area at the packing plant, and that nothing in the plant was contaminated. He said the carcass of the heifer was sent to a rendering plant. It had been hung in one corner of the locker until it was removed.

Local TEC Has Approval To Stay Here

Evidence of community support has prompted the Texas Employment Commission to continue the operation of its local office in Muleshoe.

"In a recent meeting, the Texas Employment Commission voted unanimously to continue the operation of the Muleshoe office," said TEC chairman Nolan F. Ward. "This was based on the Muleshoe city council and Bailey County Commissioners Court's decision to jointly pay for the local office space at 112 E. Ave. B."

"We felt that with this kind of community support, we could continue our efforts to provide employment service and jobless benefit claims to applicants in Muleshoe and its environs."

In the past year, the Muleshoe TEC office found jobs for 587 applicants, took 1,132 applications for work and took 647 claims for jobless benefits. TEC records show.

SPECTACULAR CRASH.....Rose Alarcon of Muleshoe received only slight injuries Sunday morning following the collision of her car, above, with a truck at West Eighth Street and American Blvd. Ms. Alarcon struck a wheel on the truck before spinning out of control and into a light standard. The driver of the truck, from Lubbock, was not injured in the crash.

Stevens Has Near Perfect Score Card

Randall Stevens hit it lucky during the past week. He turned in an almost perfect football contest entry to take first place. Stevens did not miss any games and was only nine points off on the double tiebreaker score, having a perfect prediction of the Texas Tech-New Mexico outcome.

In fact, if you missed only one game during the week, you were out of the contest, or the money, for that week. Adele Tompkins, who was in second place, missed no games, but was 25 points away on the tiebreakers.

In third place was Elaine Roddam, another contestant who did not miss any games, but Mrs. Roddam was a total of 39 points off on tiebreaker scores.

This was a week for many close contestants. Missing only one game for this week were Mrs. J.K. Adams, Hazel Gilbreath, Earl Richards, Robert Brandon, Hector Bara, C.O. LaRue, Jr. and Maureen Jesko.

For the third straight week, new winners will have their names and points recorded, to wait for the final week and the final winner of the contest. Each year, the contest goes right down to the final contest to determine a grand prize winner.

As usual, the grand prize will be two tickets to the Cotton Bowl on January 4 and a check to help defray expenses.

Farm Money Crisis Can Be Controlled

Texas farmers and ranchers continue to be caught in a severe cost-price squeeze, points out Spencer Tanksley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service Texas A&M University System.

They have had to deal with sharp increases in the cost of energy, interest and other production inputs while farm prices have continued under pressure. To add to their misery, the state is now in the grips of a severe drought.

To cope with this crisis situation of economic survival, producers need to take a close look at possible adjustments in the areas of financing, marketing and production economics, says Tanksley.

To curb rampaging inflation, the Federal Reserve Board and the federal government launched programs early this year to tighten money supplies and restrict credit. Resulting skyrocketing interest rates and tightening credit hit farmers and ranchers hard.

However, interest rates have started down recently, with a prime rate of 11-12 percent forecast by November, notes Tanksley. But interest rates on farm loans will likely fall more slowly than the prime rate.

Mules-Idalou Wildcats To Play Here Friday

Last week, the Muleshoe Mules lost what had to be a heartbreaker game for the team. A game they may should have won. This week, they will host the Idalou Wildcats, a team the Mules defeated 21-15 on their home field last year.

It may be appropriate to start off with the leadoff paragraph from the story following the Mules' victory over the Idalou Wildcats a year ago:

"Take a dash of true grit, a dash of stubbornness, another dash of pride and mix liberally with a large helping desire, and you may have the Muleshoe Mules."

Attorney To Manage Tri-County

Don Harmon, president of Tri-County Savings and Loan Association, announced that a group, including himself, Gordon (Corky) Green and Wanda Harmon, all of Muleshoe and Stephen McGinnis of Plano, have purchased a controlling interest in the Plainview Savings and Loan Association of Plainview and Collin County Savings and Loan Association of Plano.

Harmon further stated that these acquisitions in no way would affect the ownership of Tri-County Savings; that he would eventually move to Plainview to oversee the operations of all three organizations and that Gordon (Corky) Green would be managing the Tri-County Savings and Loan Association as of October 1.

Green is a local attorney, presently serving on the board of directors. He says that the Association will continue with present policies with an emphasis being placed on the continued service to the community as stated in the original application to the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation in 1964.

graph could hold true also with this year's edition of the Muleshoe Mules. They have made their way, and for the first game of the season, downed the second ranked team in the state of

New Mexico. The mighty Portales Rams fell to the Mules 19-0.

Then for their second game, against traditional rival, Morton, the Mules came back from a deficit to become decisive victors in the game at 32-7.

But, in the game at Morton, the Mules were penalty-prone, and had 100 yards in penalties during the first half of the game. A lot of fans said the Mules overcompensated in the following game with the Tulia Hornets, falling back rather than draw the stiff penalties they did at Morton. However, Head Football Coach Mike Fortes said he did not believe this was quite accurate.

With the loss, the Mules, who had occupied second

Farm Bureau Annual Meet Slated Soon

Bailey County Farm Bureau will conduct its annual meeting on Tuesday, September 30 at 7:30 p.m. at the Bailey County Civic Center. Refreshments of ice cream and cake will follow the meeting and door prizes will be given.

The main purpose of this annual meeting is to adopt policies for the coming year. Also, directors will be elected at this time to serve on the county board.

Terms expiring on the board this year are Alec Schuster, Aaron Kelton and Carroll Kelton, with one vacant seat. There will be four directors elected during the meeting. Selected by the nominating committee are seven candidates. Included are Gary Hooten, Alec Schuster, Sandy Noble, Carroll Kelton, Jay Herrington, Aaron Kelton and Gary Welch. Nominations will also be accepted from the floor.

All Farm Bureau members are invited to participate in the meeting, but only agricultural producers may vote or be elected to an office, according to the county by-laws, reminded President Alec Schuster.

Around Muleshoe

Today, Thursday, two local automobile agencies plan new car showings of their 1981 models.

Roy Whitt Chevrolet will have on hand pickups, Chevetttes, Citations, and Impalas for viewing. Several of their new vehicles offer savings on gasoline.

At Robert Green Inc. the new cars to be shown today include the Pontiac Grand Prix, as well as the Oldsmobile and Buick.

A youth Western Dance is planned for all local youth Saturday night at the Bailey County Civic Center from 9 p.m.-midnight.

Sponsored by the Tri-angel CB Club, the music will be provided by Jim Hill and Hill Country from Portales, N.M.

All area youth are encouraged to attend the youth dance.

A family reunion for members of the Edna Henderson and the late Jim Henderson family will be Sunday at the Bailey County Civic Center.

Both are natives of southwest Bailey County. Friends will be welcomed during the afternoon at the coliseum.

Local 4-H Participated In Swine Show

Several Bailey County 4-H youth competed in the open barrow show at the Panhandle South Plains Fair in Lubbock on Monday. Todd Bessire, Sherry Bessire, Wade Wheeler and Colin Tanksley represented Bailey County at the 63rd annual fair.

Paul Gross of Amarillo was judge for this year's show. Todd Bessire showed the third place middle-weight Duroc and Colin Tanksley placed sixth with his middleweight Duroc barrow.

Wade Wheeler placed first in the lightweight division of the other purebred class with Colin Tanksley placing sixth in the middle-weight division of the other pure breeds. Todd Bessire also placed first with his lightweight Hampshire.

Bailey County 4-H will compete Friday in the steer show at the fair. Steers were taken to Lubbock today, Thursday, with the show scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. Friday.

Judge for the steer show this year is Ken Cook of San Angelo. "We encourage all who can come and watch these 4-H'ers exhibit their livestock projects at the fair Friday," said Jim Irwin, assistant county extension agent.

Following several weeks of study, the Muleshoe City Council finally drew up a budget for the next year which is a 16.23 percent increase over the 1979-80 budget.

Included in the $1,364,884 budget for the next year is the cost of a new sanitation truck, as well as street sealing equipment. Those are the major items in capital outlay.

Last year, the budget was $1,174,246, which shows an increase of $109,638 for the next year.

City Manager Dave Marr explained that it was some three years ago when taxes were last increased, but the continuing rise in costs, especially energy costs, have forced an increase in taxes, and in water and garbage rates.

Garbage rates have been increased by $1 per month for all users, except for businesses who have individual containers and are already charged a higher rate. Also, excessive pickups, more than the normal pickups are already provided for on a higher rate.

Marr explained that higher fuel costs, and the need for a new garbage truck have driven up the price for garbage rates.

Questionable is the revenue sharing, with some $60,000 budgeted last year, the item was reduced to $46,000 this year. Marr said he has been notified revenue sharing funds will be reduced, but no figures have been released as of yet.

Also increased, again mainly due to increased energy costs, was the water charge. The base rate for water has also been increased by $1 per user. The minimum has been raised from $4 to $5 for the first 2,000 gallons for residents, with corresponding increases for businesses. The charges after that remain the same, at $6.00 per thousand up to 40,000 and for more than 40,000 the charge will stay at $7.50.

Attention! MHS Alumni Are Sought

Charles Faulkner, band director at Muleshoe High School, has requested the assistance of parents and acquaintances of former Muleshoe High School Band students.

The MHS band is trying to contact former members in an effort to have an alumni band for homecoming. Faulkner needs phone numbers and addresses of as many former players as possible.

Prizes include a rehearsal on Friday afternoon to learn a simple tune to perform at the game. Also, said Faulkner, "Of course, this would be followed by a halftime performance. Every attempt will be made to keep the performance within the reach of all..... even those charter members who have indicated they might participate."

"Even if you have not played for many years, please consider participating. It will be more enjoyable if there is representation from several age groups. Do not let the lack of an instrument stop you from participating. The directors will make every attempt to see that you have one available."

Please call 272-3020 if you have any information about a former member, or mail the information to Charles Faulkner, Muleshoe High School.

MJHS Coaches Comments

This year, we have a really great group to work with. Everyone is willing to work hard and put out the extra effort that it takes to have a successful year.

During the last three weeks, we have been working mainly on fundamentals. In a couple of weeks, we will start working more in a game type situation.

We have several girls that have really shown a lot of improvement since last year. The most improved player is Becky Madris. Becky has a lot of spirit and enthusiasm which has not only helped her but has also added to the entire class. If she continues to work this hard, she will be one of our top leaders throughout the season.

I am looking forward to working with group as 8th graders. They have a lot going for them with all the hard work they are willing to put forth. These girls have a lot of team spirit which can be a big asset to our team.

Good luck to each class member.

 Towns and cities, like some individuals, seek to get rich without earning the returns.

 It is not "un-American" to disagree with others, regardless of what positions they occupy.

 When you get in a hurry, that is a good time to be sure that you do not move too fast.

Ingenuity in Home Improvement

Good lighting is not only a matter of the proper bulb wattage or even the positioning of the lighting equipment itself. Often the color of the walls makes a big difference. Some colors reflect light; others don't. Light walls actually improve the quality of light in a room at no additional cost in electricity.

LCC Associates Met Thursday

The L.C.C. Associates met Thursday night at the Tri County Savings and Loan Meeting Room. A salad supper was enjoyed by all.

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Folklorists at The University of Texas have launched a study on puppet folklore.

Drs. Richard Bauman and Joel Sherzer say puppets are important because they reflect the different cultures and traditions in which they exist. Their study will embrace common forms of puppetry (marionette theater and hand and shadow puppets) as well as a broader range of performing objects (dolls and paintings used in dramatic presentations).

One of the resources at hand will be UT Austin's extensive Stanley Marcus Collection of Sicilian Marionettes, which range from human figures to a winged horse.

Doctor Talk

By Dr. Harold B. Ligon

One form of fungus infection is tinea corporis, ringworm of the body. This condition is caused by a trichophyton, a type of fungus class.

The lesion of ringworm of the body is characterized by a circle or circular ridge of blistered vesicles, which forms raised borders. The tendency is for these borders to expand into increasingly large circles.

At the same time, the centers tend to clear up. There can be many different staged (sizes) circles over the body at the same time. These circular lesions often itch and can become very uncomfortable. Interestingly they sometimes do not itch. They are said to be contagious but spread is uncommon. I have found it rare for this infection to be transmitted.

There are some other possibilities in seeking to diagnose a ringworm. One of the more common is psoriasis. Another is drug eruption.

The most effective treatment for ringworm of the body is the same as with ringworm of the feet, or athlete's foot. The oral drug Griseofulvin is the most effective but the least used because of its cost and the length of time for the cure.

The most commonly effective treatment is the local application of Tinactin, or another anti-fungal drug, for a sufficient period of time—namely twice as long as it takes to clear the condition.

Emergency Loan Program, $1 billion has been made available to states ($31,859,000 to Texas) to help farmers and ranchers pay installments on existing debts, refinance existing farm debts, reorganize farms to make them more viable, or pay farm operating expenses. Where drought has severely reduced farm income, emergency loan funds are being expanded for use by eligible producers.

On October 1, when the Muleshoe City Police Department is moved to the former city hall, and fire department meeting hall, the dispatchers will become city employees.

The City Manager also told Council members Tuesday morning that a graduate student from Texas Tech University will be helping update a plan for the city park in Muleshoe. His only experience will be travel expenses to and from Lubbock. He will be unsalaried.

place in the division, moved to third place, and Littlefield moved into the second place slot following their loss to Slaton.

Occupying the first place this week is unbeaten Olton. Head Football Coach Mike Wartes commented Tuesday afternoon, "Idalou is as strong a team as anyone we will play this year. I don't know if we will beat them or not, but we'll sure be out there trying."

"We were disappointed in the game, but we've been out this week, working real hard, and we do anticipate the kids playing harder."

The coach continued, "Idalou is one of the best teams in the Panhandle, and I'm not saying that we will beat them this Friday, but we know, we have to play up to our potential to stay in the game with them."

He said the good thing about football coach added that although the game was lost to what is turning out to be a very good team at Tulia this year, the Mules could have won if they had played the same kind of football during the second half that they played during the first half.

This week, the Mules, and their coaches, have tried to put the Tulia loss behind them, and play harder, gaining experience before district action gets underway on October 24.

The Mules play at home this week and gametime is 8 p.m.

expenditures in 1981 will be influenced mainly by how well producers repay their 1980 debt commitments and by the projected farm income picture at that time, explains Tanksley. Many farmers may have a rough time qualifying for credit in 1981 due to their deteriorating net worth statement.

A side effect of the dry, hot weather, however, is less production and a higher price level for some commodities. This may contribute to a substantial improvement in 1981 income for many Texas farmers.

To help obtain financing for the year ahead, producers must know how to prepare financial statements and how to apply for emergency credit. Key tools necessary to negotiate financing of any type are the cash flow statement, income statement and balance sheet, says Tanksley.

The cash flow statement provides a monthly summary of expected cash outflows (for operating expenses, debt servicing, necessary capital expenses and family living) and cash inflows (from farm product sales, off-farm income and other available sources).

The income statement provides a summary of operating expenses and income for the farm's operation over a specified period, usually one year.

Finally, the balance sheet provides a financial summary of all assets and liabilities of the farm business as of a specific date.

For in-depth information dealing with the current economic problems faced by farmers and ranchers, the agent suggests a copy of "Coping with Economic Crisis in Agriculture," available at the county Extension office.

'Grief work'

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.)—If a person who has lost a loved one through death does not do a certain amount of "grief work," he may be asking for trouble, says a University of Texas psychologist.

Dr. Ira Iscoe says those who deny death and who are too hasty about resuming their normal lives may turn up months later with psychophysical signs such as sleep or skin disorders. He thinks it takes about six months to work through a grief period.

Dr. Iscoe observes most persons "don't know how to die" because they rarely have been exposed to death. In a narcissistic society, he says, "death is moved out of the house into the funeral home."

Rabies...

Dr. Rosser also explained that the State of Texas has experienced more rabies during the last two years than at anytime since 1954. "The residents of Bailey County are fortunate," he added, "as they have been made aware of the rabies problems, and control any possible outbreak of the disease here."

In the past few years, Dr. Rosser said there have been reports of five horses and two or three head of cattle in Bailey County who have contracted the disease most of them from rabid skunks.

"We make every effort to identify those animals exposed, then exercise normal precautions," he added.

Dr. Cowart said he checks many head of cattle with various bacterial infections, and suspected the heifer had one of the bacterial viruses. He said nothing gave any indication of rabies, adding that in most instances, cattle do not show outward signs of the disease. He checks what may be ill cattle for the protection of the owner.

"No one was at fault, and there could have been no change in the way the situation was handled," he said. "We are just taking no chances in protecting the public."

This week, several persons are undergoing a series of rabies shots at West Plains Medical Center. "This is being done as a normal precaution," explained Dr. Cowart. "Persons from the feed lot, Winkler Meat Co., and myself, who came into contact with the heifer are all undergoing the series of shots."

Also exposed to the animal were two horses, according to Dr. Rosser.

Although the diseased animal was destroyed, County Health Officer Dr. Gary Albertson said there is absolutely no danger from rabies from eating meat as long as the meat is cooked. The heat in preparing meat destroys the rabies bacteria.

Dave McLean, Postal Service spokesman, on nine-digit ZIP codes: "We are not claiming that this is necessarily going to speed up mail delivery, but it definitely is going to be a money saver for us..."

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—One of the nine proposed constitutional amendments that will face voters on the November 4 ballot would authorize bingo games for charitable purposes on a local option election basis. Article III of the Texas Constitution currently prohibits lotteries and gift enterprises of any kind. This prohibition includes bingo games that are commonly held by religious and non-profit organizations.

Amendment Number Four on the ballot proposes to allow religious groups, volunteer fire departments, non-profit veterans organizations, non-profit organizations supporting medical research or treatment programs and fraternal organizations to conduct bingo games if certain conditions are met. First of all, all proceeds from the games are to be spent in the State for charitable purposes. Secondly, the games must be conducted, promoted, and administered by members of the non-profit or charitable organization. Finally, the games are to be limited to one location as defined by law on property owned or leased by the sponsoring organization.

Proponents of the amendment point out that the charitable purpose for which churches, synagogues, religious societies, and many other organizations engage in bingo are of great benefit to society. In addition, bingo games provide an opportunity for entertainment, social gatherings and relaxation. It is also up to each community to decide whether to permit bingo games.

Those who oppose the amendment argue that local law enforcement could not easily prevent fraud in bingo games. In addition, organized crime could become involved in bingo games since profit margins would be as great as in criminal activities.

Each voter of Texas should weigh both sides of the bingo issue carefully before going to the polls in November.

Foreign danger: U.S. overreacts?

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.)—A diplomatic historian at The University of Texas says America has a "love-hate relationship with the rest of the world."

Dr. Robert Divine says that instead of having a steady, consistent foreign policy, America has a long record of overreacting to foreign danger.

"We tend to ignore the world year after year, and then suddenly go into a panic over events abroad," he notes.

"Until we begin to give foreign policy the steady and constant attention it deserves, until we learn to control our restless tendency to alternately embrace and reject the world, we will continue to be victims of our own malady, riding a never-ending pendulum of our own making," Dr. Divine says.

An intelligent man has sense enough to recognize his own limitations.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — In Austin last week, a group calling itself "Farmer-Ranchers for Carter-Mondale" met at campaign headquarters to discuss ways to attract the agriculture vote for Carter.

They were, in essence, targeting a category of voters which makes up about three percent of the state's electorate. Farmers and ranchers are, perhaps, the most beleaguered minority group of them all... too small in numbers to vote their influence at the ballot box, or to control the markets for which they toil the fields.

The very fact that Carter's strategists would reach out for their votes surprises many so-called experts who gave up the President's chances in that sector long ago.

From the fields, to the State Capitol, to the tractor-blocked bridges of Washington, D.C., many farmers have denounced Carter, and vented their wrath verbally on his Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland.

The Radicals

The most radical group is the American Agriculture Movement. In Texas their organization is generally limited, but is quite strong in the Panhandle. Up there, AAMers take their politics as strong as their early morning coffee, and they claim among their numbers the national president of AAM, Marvin Meek of Plainview.

Few Big Names

That's why, to many Texas farmers and ranchers, the Carter-Mondale push smacks of audacity. It also smacks of smart politics. His experts tell Carter he must carry Texas in order to win re-election. They also know that the so-called "three percent" agriculture voting base actually spreads out larger than that puny figure in Texas. Hundreds of rural Texas communities depend on the agriculture and livestock dollar, small as it is.

To get their vote, Carter will have to rely on leaders within the Texas agricultural-political sector. He must enlist the big enchiladas respected by the farmers, and right now he's only got a few.

Currently on the list is Jay Naman, state president of the moderate Texas Farmers Union, Carl King of Texas Corn Growers Assn. and State Rep. Bill Healy of Paducah. Not a bad start, but they'll need more of that caliber in order to convince farmers of future benefits from Carter.

Who Will Join?

What of Carrol Chalouka of the conservative Texas Farm Bureau, Roy Wheeler of Independent Cattlemen's Association, and the various commodity and livestock groups? Will they join Carter or turn to Reagan when he wakes up and begins his serious woo?

In the State Legislature, can Carter win over that part of the agriculture leadership who are Democrats? What of Sen. E. L. Short of Tahoka, Sen. Grant Jones of Abilene, Reps. Pete Patterson of Brookston, Susan McGreen of Del Rio, Forrest Green of Corsicana, and the Texas gasohol champion, Dan Kubiak of Rockdale?

Time For Thought

When politicians agree, the angels may rejoice but the voters must wonder what's cooking. -Globe, Boston.

The recent announcement that the first male/female pageant competition would be held in Las Vegas in November during the Thanksgiving Holidays has opened the door for young men to benefit from the same scholarship and career opportunities that young women have enjoyed from pageants for many years. The college-age event (open to high school seniors through the age of 26), is the first event of its kind and will be televised from glorious Caesar's Palace in the "showplace of the nation". The search is on for the most outstanding male and female candidates to represent twenty geographical regions of the United States on the telecast. Regional preliminary competitions will be scheduled for areas with sufficient entrants, however, regions with less than 10 candidates will have an official audition to select the lucky man and woman to win an exciting trip to Las Vegas.

Poise, personal appearance, good grooming, personality, and stage presence will be adjudicated in formalwear and beachwear (women in swimsuits and men in beach attire). All participants will be required to make a talent presentation (maximum 3 minutes). The women may choose a variety of talents (anything that shows poise before an audience: pantomime, humorous skits, poetry or dramatics, a display of a hobby or craft, singing, dancing, musical instruments, baton twirling, etc.). The men must include some form of singing within their talent act; however, it may be in a talk along style. Male presentations will be limited to: (1) Vocal; (2) Song and Dance; (3) Instrumental and Vocal; (4) Theater Arts and Vocal.

In addition, each entrant will have an extensive interview with the judges. Only applicants of the highest moral character will be accepted (must never have been married or have been the parent of a child). Applicants will be required to sign a contract stating that in the event they win the pageant they will be available for a minimum of eight weeks during the summer of 1981 for a personal appearance tour and will abide by the rules and regulations of the pageant as stipulated in the Official Cinderella Girl Staging Handbook.

Although all of the prizes and awards have not been announced by the television producers, from all indications the prize segment will be one of the largest ever presented in the pageant industry. In addition to $1,000 cash college scholarships and $1,000 personal appearance contracts, the winners will receive luggage, wardrobe gifts, and a list of other spectacular prizes through the television sponsors. Perhaps the most exciting gift of all will be the "international goodwill visit" to some exotic resort at the conclusion of the personal appearance tour. The 1980 winners spent four days at the world famous Xanadu Hotel in the Bahama Islands.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE

Any high school senior-age 26 who is a bonifide citizen of the United States is eligible to participate in the event. The pageant is especially appealing to those college-age young men and women who annually audition for the all-college revues at the major amusement parks such as Six Flags, Disney, Opryland, etc. and those who participate in little theater groups and summer stock presentations. The pageant offers national exposure for those seeking career opportunities in the entertainment industry. Mulching Mowers May Offer Benefits to Turfgrass Maintenance

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Mulching mowers are relatively new to both home lawns and commercial turfs and an unknown factor in turf maintenance, but preliminary research results are favorable for their use in certain situations.

Little is known about the short- and long-term effects of returning processed grass clippings to lawns and other turfs. Effects of mulching mowers on thatch decomposition, nutrient cycling, and turfgrass quality as affected by the hot, dry climate of the southwest have never been investigated.

Turfgrasses cover more than 3 million acres of lawns, parks, golf courses, cemeteries, military installations, roadsides, and other facilities in Texas.

At least $620 million is spent annually for establishment and maintenance of these grasses, so it's big business in money terms. Any maintenance process, such as use of a mulching mower, which offers any advantage is of intense interest to more than 2 million Texas homeowners and thousands of professional turfgrass keepers.

A long term comparison (3 to 5 years) of mulching mowers with standard rotary mowers was started in May of 1979 on two fescues (Kentucky 31 and Kenwell) by scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Comparisons include a rotary mulching mower, a standard rotary mower with a rear bag attachment, and a standard rotary mower with rear bag attachment removed.

Preliminary results based on the 10-month evaluation period show that turfgrass clipping yields averaged for the first 6 months were highest for the mulching mower treatment compared to the other two mower treatments.

The standard rotary mower with bag attachment ranked second, followed by the standard rotary mower with bag removed.

The use of a standard mower, with or without bag, yielded almost equal amounts of turfgrass clippings. An average of the two yields of standard mowers was only 60 percent as much as that of the mulching mower.

Measurements indicated no significant differences in thatch and pseudo-thatch buildup among the mower treatments. Visual color and turfgrass quality evaluations have shown no measurable differences from the three mowing systems, according to Dr. Gerald Horst, Station agronomist, who conducted the research with Steve D. Griggs and C. C. Rolph at Texas A&M University.

However, the plots receiving the mulching mower treatment appeared to stay greener longer into the fall and winter. Tissue sample analyses are being made to check nitrogen and other nutrients and the rate of recycling of nutrients through mulch breakdown.

These research results are only preliminary, Horst stresses, but the growing use of mulching mowers makes them of widespread interest. The research is to continue for several years in order to double-check results under a variety of conditions.

'Mexican Masks'

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.)—The definitive work on what is a dying art in Mexico—mask-making—has been published by The University of Texas Press.

The colorful new "Mexican Masks" is the work of the late Donald Cordry, artist, designer and ethnographer of Mexican Indians who over a 40-year period acquired a collection of the masks used in ancient ritual dances.

As a record of Mexico's peoples, cultures, religions and history, the masks reflect both the Christian face of the European tradition in Mexico and the older face of the Indian world.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Recent Senate committee hearings confirmed that the Administration's grain embargo has had a minimal effect on the Soviet Union, while dealing a hammer blow to the American farmer.

The President's purpose in imposing an embargo on grain sales to the Soviet Union was to punish the Soviets for their invasion and subjugation of Afghanistan. We were told depriving the Russians of feed grains would have a devastating impact on their meat production. In fact, the impact has been so slight, the average Russian is giving up not more than the equivalent to two hamburgers a month. Brezhnev probably isn't giving up that much.

For the farmer, the embargo meant plummeting prices, which began to rise again only as a result of a drought -- which diminished production to such an extent many farmers will see scant benefit from the recent increases.

Therefore, we must conclude the only real victims of the embargo are American farmers. Aid promised by the Administration to minimize the damage to American agriculture has been slow and inadequate. Obviously, the embargo must be lifted immediately.

But the embargo raises even larger questions which cry for answers. A number of my colleagues and I have called for joint hearings of the Senate Agriculture, Banking and Foreign Relations committees to examine these critical issues. We are concerned that the decision to embargo grain as an instrument of foreign policy apparently was made without thinking through the implications for the future.

We want to ask Administration officials:
— Have trade suspensions proven to be an effective tool of foreign policy? I know of no instance in which they have been.

— Does the Administration intend to make future use of trade suspensions to help carry out its foreign policy? If not, it seems unfair that the American farmer has been singled out to bear the economic brunt of our policies.

— What effect does the use of food as a foreign policy tool have on agricultural production and distribution here and abroad? Agricultural exports are about the only bright spot in our balance of payments situation. I wonder if the Administration considered the critical role these exports play in keeping the dollar stable internationally.

— Wouldn't it be better to use the phenomenal productivity of our farmers in a positive way to support U.S. foreign policy interests?

I am not satisfied that the Administration looked at these questions when it decided to respond to the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan with the grain embargo. After all, the President declared the invasion the worst act of aggression since World War II. Was the embargo our only alternative to war? That seems to be the Administration's view. Does the President plan to continue it indefinitely — despite the evidence it hasn't worked? The American farmer needs to know.

Agriculture is of critical importance to the general well-being of our people and the economic health of our nation. The American farmer has fought drought, flood and misguided federal policy, and still is a marvel of productivity and patriotism. To use him as a pawn in an international chess game is a disgrace. To do it without a well-thought out plan — with consequences and probable effectiveness thoroughly examined — is worse.

I promise you that those of us in the Senate who are concerned about these critical issues will probe and press until we get satisfactory answers.

At least four published reports have left confusion in the country concerning the various payment and land-use options available this year to the farmers undecided about whether low-yielding crops are worth harvesting.

To clarify the matter officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, have obtained and printed below the precise wording of regulations under which county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) are instructed to operate.

"It will be worthwhile for producers to read the regulations carefully," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, "but as we've said many times before no farmer should take final action without first consulting his county ASCS office."

Basically a farmer may (1) request an appraisal of his crop yield, have the appraised yield deducted from his disaster payment and do as he pleases with the land for the remainder of the year, or (2) request a zero yield, in which case he will be entitled to his full disaster payment but will be subject to certain land-use restrictions.

The second option is governed by a subparagraph of paragraph 181-C from ASCS Handbook 5-PA (Revision 3) entitled "Waiver of Appraisals by Farm Operator," which follows.

I. A zero yield may be assigned in lieu of an appraisal when the operator:

- a. Files an ASCS 574 and certifies the acreage according to paragraph 10 and the county committee determines that the crop is disaster affected to the extent that it is not feasible to harvest the crop (either based on knowledge about the individual case or a farm visit).
- b. Signs an agreement of understanding that:

(1) The potential production is or was so low that carrying the crop to harvest will not be or was not feasible,

(2) The affected program crop will be or was mechanically destroyed without seed or other benefits (other than grazing of small grain without reducing the grain yield).

(3) The affected acreage, even if normally double-cropped, will not be or was not subsequently devoted to:

- (a) another non-conserving crop (excluding fall-seeded crops for harvest next year) or
- (b) a conserving crop for harvest (including hay or green chop) other than grazing.

(4) Should the agreement be violated, a yield shall be assigned to the affected acres according to paragraph 182.

II. If the county committee determines that any provisions of the operator's agreement is violated, the disaster yield for the acreage involved shall be assigned.

PCG understands, Johnson states, that "mechanically destroyed" in the case of cotton means either plowing under or shredding stalks, and that turning cattle in on shredded cotton fields is permissible.

"But here again," he cautions, "producers should do nothing without first getting clearance at the county ASCS office."

Smart business does not require anyone to steal from his neighbors, even if the law permits it. The proper method of reforming the world is by reforming yourself, not your neighbors.

... Salad To Dessert In 20 Minutes (Or Less)

Few people relish the thought of working all day and then coming home and cooking a big dinner... especially if it's dinner for one. "Why bother?" is a familiar comment.

Why, indeed? And yet, a tasty nutritious meal, easily and quickly prepared at day's end can do wonders for your morale.

You can put such a meal on the table, complete with salad and dessert in as little as 20 minutes - and in one third that time if you have a microwave oven.

The delicious menu includes lasagna with meat sauce, a tossed salad, garlic bread, ice cream, a hot beverage or your favorite chilled glass of wine.

This Italian meal centers around the zesty flavored entrée - lasagna. A new, economical (less than a dollar) single serving frozen boil 'n bag lasagna, recently introduced nationally by the Jolly Green Giant is ready to serve in just 20 minutes... 6 to 7 minutes if microwaved. While the entrée is heating you have just enough time to toss a crisp garden salad of lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers, garnished with cheese and croutons; and drizzled with an Italian dressing.

Slices of French or Italian bread, toasted to golden brown and spread with garlic seasoned butter for speedy garlic toast are a great accompaniment.

Spumoni ice cream makes a refreshing, on-hand dessert to enjoy with freshly brewed coffee or chilled wine. The soft glow of candlelight, a soothing background and checkered tablecloth and set the Italian mood. And there you have it! Dinner for one in just 20 minutes. It's so easy you might like to add another serving of lasagna and make it dinner for two!

Speedy single serving boil 'n bag entrées are a boon not only to the 51% of the U.S. households who are one or two persons, but are also ideal for fragmented meal situations and individual eating tastes of larger families.

POCKET SAVINGS
With a heat pump

The heat pump saves energy and money. A lot of people are now saving more energy and money because they converted or replaced their energy wasting heating and air conditioning equipment with a heat pump.

The heat pump works efficiently both winter and summer to help hold down your energy use. And, since the energy source for a heat pump is electricity, you receive a special lower electric rate during the off-peak months from SPS.

Get a heat pump so soon as you can... you'll save money when you do.
