Rotary Governor Here For Meeting

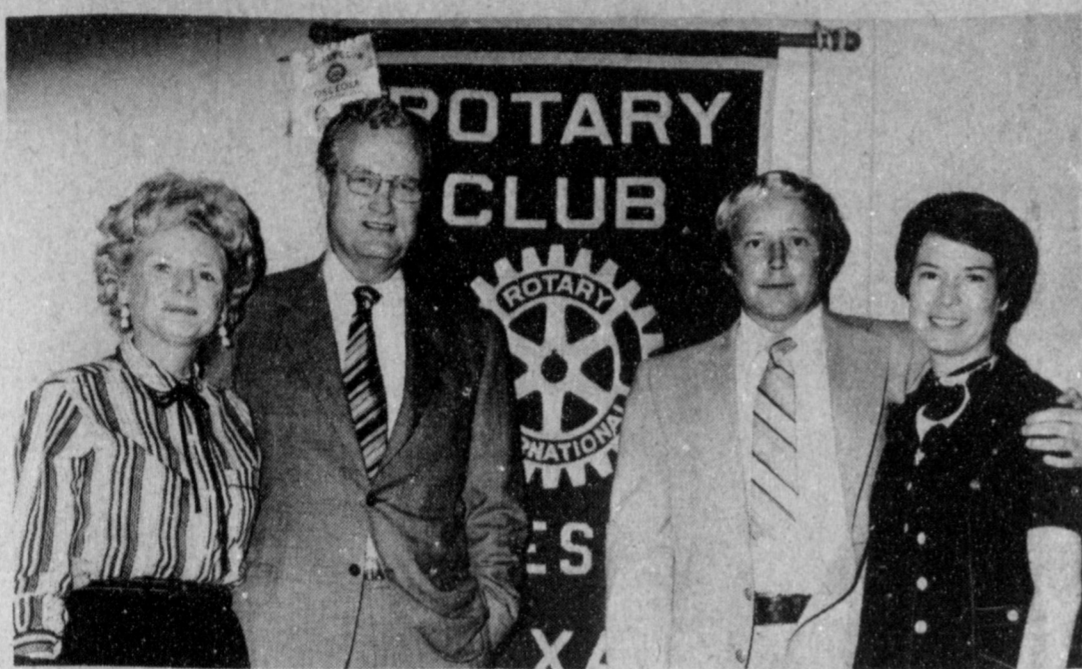

"Pride In Rotary" was the basis for an inspirational discussion by Wayne Sturdivant, District Governor for District 573, of Rotary International, who spoke to the Muleshoe Rotary Tuesday at noon.

The district governor told the larger than normal group of Rotarians, and several Rotary-Anns, "Each club must set your own goals. You are the one who will mold your own club and if you have 'Pride in Rotary', the mechanics of Rotary will take care of themselves."

If your attendance is down and your projects are not as effective as you think they should be, remember to have Pride in being a member of Rotary."

He alluded to the International Theme for Rotary for 1980, "Take Time to Serve" and said the words are not just meaningless words. Rolf Clark of Finland, the Rotary International President for 1980, was a farmer.

In 1939, Russia invaded Finland and Clark was

Homecoming Slated In Muleshoe Friday

In the past, the Muleshoe Mules have played the Lockney Longhorns in scrimmage games -- but, this Friday night, it will be for real. The Mules will take on the 'Horns in a game situation at Benny Douglass Stadium in Muleshoe.

Luckless in their last three outings, the Mules are not accustomed to losing, having acquired their winning ways during the past three years. They are expected to be out in force for this homecoming game, and will be all ready for that elusive win.

Winless since a 32-7 routing of Morton three weeks ago, the Mules are going to be attempting to again find the winning trail.

Injuries have hampered the Mules, and they lost quarterback Monty Hysinger, who had a shoulder injury in the Idalou game, just before halftime.

Last week, in action against Abernathy, quarterbacking chores were handled by Ronnie Angeley, back up quarterback and by Sammy Gonzales, who was brought up from gravely wounded. He spent two years in a hospital then returned to his home to find he had lost everything, his health, his family, farm and his country.

Sturdivant said Clark decided to rebuild his health and dedicate his life to God, his country and to humanity.

According to the district governor, Clark didn't just dream up his slogan, "Take Time to Serve" rather, it was the epitome of his life. It is not a platitude, a cliché, but is his life as he lived it. Clark became a very successful businessman, and devoted his life to helping others, added Sturdivant.

The speaker went on to define Rotary, and explain that communistic countries do not have Rotary Clubs, because the communist doctrine does not follow the Rotary beliefs.

Sturdivant stressed that communist countries do not believe in the right to work and the right to make a profit. In fact, said Sturdivant, the JV squad. It was reported this week that Hysinger is almost ready to take to the field again. As the Mules'

Soil, Water Will Elect New Director

An election for director to serve in Zone Two on the Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation Board is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. today, Thursday, at the Muleshoe State Bank Meeting Room.

Doug Bales, chairman of the Board, said Spencer Tanksley, Bailey County Extension Agent, will present a short program on the "Importance of Agriculture on the High Plains".

Refreshments of coffee and doughnuts will be served.

According to Bales, "State law states that to be eligible to vote in a soil and water conservation district director's election, a person must own agricultural land in Bailey County and be 21 years of age."

"Legal qualifications for director of Zone Two are: he must own land in Zone Two, which he will represent; be 21 years of age and actively engaged in farming or ranching. He must also live in Bailey County."

Members of the Board include Doug Bales, chairman; Jimmy Wedel, vice chairman; J.R. Carter, secretary; Lewis Wayne Shafer, member and Allan Davis, member.

Bales added, "The purpose of the Blackwater Valley SWCD in Bailey County is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs in Bailey County."

"It also serves as a voice for farmers and ranchers on conservation matters and other issues affecting private property rights of land owners. The district board of directors coordinates the conservation efforts of various local, state and federal agencies in the county."

"It has the authority to enter into working agreements with these agencies and also private concerns to carry out its purposes. All conservation programs managed by the district are of a voluntary nature to the landowner or operator," he concluded.

leading scorer, he is expected to put some points back on the board.

Lockney is coached by DeWayne Sexton, who moved this year to Lockney from Lazbuddie.

Preceding the game, Thursday night, tonight, the Mules, band, cheerleaders, students, coaches and faculty will host a bonfire at the Boy Scout grounds on South Main Street.

Friday afternoon, a special pep rally is planned during the last class of high school in the gymnasium. Mules supporters are expected to show up and verbally show their support for the Mules.

Roddam Wins First Place This Week

No one is a leader, as the annual merchants' football contest is showing three new winners again this week.

Upsets also nearly 'upset the apparel' for the entrants in this week's contest as most people found the guessing rough and hard to decide.

This week, the first place winner was Jerry Roddam, who was all alone in missing three games to take the 10 points and $5 first place.

Second and third place were a hot shoo-in, however, as several persons missed four games, and the winner had to be determined from those individuals.

After figuring the tiebreakers, Anne Taylor, who missed four games, was 36 points away on the double tiebreakers for second place. In third place was James Whitson, who missed four games, but was 42 points off on the tiebreakers.

Barely missing out were three other contestants who missed four games. J.E. McVicker was 48 points away; Hazel Gilbreath 55 points off and Guy Brockman 58 points away from winning.

There are still several weeks left in the contest, so anyone still has the chance at this time to be the person to win the two tickets to the Cotton Bowl, along with an expense check.

Dispatching And Jail Agreement Unsigned

According to a comprehensive plan drawn up by Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, engineers, architects and planners from Lubbock, the City of Muleshoe will have adequate water supplies through the year 2000, according to a report given by City Council Tuesday morning.

Clayton Yeager, representing the firm, told City Council members that water rationing may be in the future for Muleshoe, with limited or temporary rationing in peak consumption months.

This projection was made as water consumption on a 'per person' basis has continued to rise during the past several years.

Although the present pumping and storage facilities are considered to be very adequate for current use, the planners said that by 1985, the City will have to be considering new pumps and wells because of a projected population growth.

It was suggested that future landscaping include many desert type plants and vegetation that require very little water to help conserve the depleting water tables.

Also speaking to the Council was Sam Wyse, who has drawn up a tentative zoning map and drafted a proposed zoning ordinance for the City.

He explained that a zoning ordinance would allow the City to exercise legislation and regulate the use of land.

According to Wyse, zoning will provide a guide for directing new growth and development for a city and subordinates private interest to public interest.

Although Wyse said there are no great problems in Muleshoe at this time, and little incompatible land use, there is a possibility, that with no zoning, the City would be facing problems in the future. "Zoning does not prevent the use of land," said Wyse, "but it does regulate the use."

According to the map compiled by Wyse, the City has been divided into 12 districts, with each district designated according to the major usage at this time. In effect, this will protect the current usage, and provide for future growth.

City Council members will consider the proposed zoning ordinance and the zoning map.

Bruce Chapman with General Telephone, attended the Council meeting to bring the Council members up to date on ongoing work being done in Muleshoe by GTE. He said new equipment has been added to the local office and outdated equipment has been replaced. Both the incoming and outgoing toll cables between Muleshoe and Littlefield have been replaced and many trouble spots were found, he said.

Two new employees have

4-H Youth Celebrating During Week

Bailey County 4-H members will be joining some 140,000 boys and girls in Texas and more than five million across the nation in celebrating National 4-H Club Week October 5-11.

Theme of this year's observance will be "Expanding Horizons". The theme challenges 4-H youth to seek new knowledge and skills and to build on personal strengths to become better citizens and leaders, points out Jim Irwin, county 4-H program leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System. The Extension Service is the parent organization of 4-H.

To celebrate the week-long event, 4-H'ers will be conducting a number of special activities, including recruiting new members, making and distributing posters and the annual achievement banquet.

Farm Bureau Convention Well Attended

Last Tuesday night, Bailey County Farm Bureau held their annual convention at the Bailey County Coliseum meeting room.

Alec Schuster, county president, presented a check and certificate to James Martin for completing the Firemen's Training School held July 20-25 on the Texas A & M University campus.

Schuster introduced Lavon Rhodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rhodes of Muleshoe and Carla Shafer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Shafer of Muleshoe, who gave very informative talks on the High School Citizenship Seminar they attended July 14-18 held on the Baylor University campus in Waco.

Four directors were elected during the evening. Jay Herington was elected as director and Alec Schuster, Carroll Kelton, and Aaron Kelton were re-elected as directors.

Holdover directors include Clarence R. Mason, Morris McKillip, J.L. Dale, D.J. Cox, Kenny Kittrell, Marshal Head, Richard Warren, and Tommy Little. Appointed for the nominating committee for 1981 were Jack Schuster, Bill Millen, Ernest Ramm and Lester Howard.

Sixteen resolutions proposed by the members were discussed and passed on the county, district and state level. Special guests were S.M. True, Jr., vice president Texas Farm Bureau, and Mrs. True of Plainview, and Roy Custer, field representative of Amarillo.

Refreshments of home made ice cream and cake were served.

According to Irwin, 4-H is the nation's largest out-of-school educational youth organization which offers unique learning experiences for youth through its time-tested "learning-by-doing" approach. 4-H'ers become involved in a variety of practical, real-life activities that range from agriculture and clothing to health and wood science. Programs vary according to youth needs and community resources.

4-H involves youth from all social and economic backgrounds and give them an opportunity to key in on such vital issues as energy conservation, better human nutrition, wise use of natural resources, and combating inflation. Furthermore 4-H helps boys and girls gain knowledge and skills for their future careers, points out Irwin.

In addition to recognizing the 4-H program and the many opportunities it offers our nation's youth, National 4-H Week is also a time for recognizing the work of the many volunteer leaders who give unselfishly of their time and resources to help youth grow and develop, adds Irwin. 4-H boasts more than half a million volunteer leaders across the nation; 22,000 of those are in Texas and over 50 in Bailey County.

Lazbuddie News Marsha Collum

Several college students were back in Lazbuddie for Lazbuddie's annual football homecoming.

Alfred Hicks, Glen Lust and Sam Barnes are in San Antonio this week attending a school board and administrators conference.

The Lazbuddie Young Homemakers have started plans for the Lazbuddie School Reunion to held next summer. July 10-11, is the tentative date set. A 50 school reunion was held five years ago and everyone enjoyed it so that it was decided to have another one in five years. An arts and crafts show will be held along with several other activities. Start making your plans to attend.

Hospital And Nursing Home Auxiliary Meeting Held

The Muleshoe Hospital and Nursing Home Auxiliary held their quarterly business meeting October 2, in the conference room of West Plains Medical Center, with the president, Dorothy Green, presiding.

Thirteen members and one new member, LaVerne James, were present. Among the reports from the officers and committee chairmen, the one of most concern to the Auxiliary at the present time was from the chairman of the Thrift Shop, stating that the Thrift Shop building has been sold and will have to be vacated by January 1. No other place has been found available up to the present time and the help of the community is asked in finding a building.

Other reports were the redecorating of the nursing home dining room which finished except for a few accessories. The Children's Memorial Center is ready with the exception of the paper being hung.

The Christmas Card project for next year will go toward acquiring needed new equipment and some redecorating of the nursing home beauty shop.

Memorials being added are: an extremities whirlpool to the physical therapy department in memory of Otis Bradshaw.

Also the Children's Memorial Center in the clinic lobby in memory of Justin Ethridge and Jared Ethridge. A painting is to be hung in memory of Mary Finley.

Texas' small towns

are doing just fine

COLLEGE STATION — Once depicted as an endangered species, the small town in Texas is alive and well, says Dr. Robert Skrabanek, sociologist at Texas A&M University.

Two-thirds of all Texas towns with less than 500 people lost residents between 1950 and 1960. The situation began to reverse in the late '60s, and now three-fourths of those towns have recorded population increases, he said.

Agent Discusses Prices

To cope with the volatile price situation that often exists for agricultural commodities, farmers and ranchers need to understand how and when to take advantage of federal programs in their production and marketing decisions, points out Spencer Tanksley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Three key parts of federal programs that can help producers cope with the cost-price squeeze to survive economically are deficiency payments, emergency assistance or disaster relief payments, and reserve and loan programs.

Commodity programs under the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 center around a dual price system using loan rates and target prices, explains Tanksley. Loan rates generally place a floor under commodity prices while target prices determine deficiency payments to producers. Deficiency payments are activated when the average market price of a commodity over a specified period falls below the product's target price.

To be eligible for these income and price supports, farmers must satisfy crop set-aside requirements although there are no such requirements for 1980. Set-aside requirements, when applicable, must also be satisfied for producers to be eligible for disaster payments for prevented plantings and poor yields, notes Tanksley.

The farmer-owned reserve program is another commodity program designed to help producers through difficult times. In this program the farmer initiates a three-year contract and receives the loan rate for his crop but either stores it on-farm or in commercial storage. The commodity can be sold if the contract expires or market prices reach a specified "release level."

To cope with financial crisis, producers must also understand markets and market strategies and how these are affected by supply and demand and changes in financial conditions, adds Tanksley.

Spot markets, for example, are cash markets where daily or periodic trading of farm commodities takes place. These markets are constantly affected by various changing economic conditions.

Producers may stay abreast of changes in spot markets and other market developments to reduce market risk. While market risk cannot be eliminated, it can be reduced by participating in government programs already mentioned and by engaging in such marketing strategies as contracting, futures trading, orderly marketing, and integration or diversification.

For in-depth information dealing with the current economic problems faced by farmers and ranchers, the agent suggests a copy of "Coping with Economic Crisis in Agriculture", available at the county Extension office.

Tornado season is year-round problem in Texas

COLLEGE STATION — Don't breathe a sigh of relief because you think Texas' tornado season is over, because it's a year-round problem, say Texas A&M University climatologists.

Peak times are between 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. in April, May and June. But 109 twisters touch ground in an average year, with more going unreported in sparsely settled regions. Hurricanes, which remain a threat through October, can spawn dozens of tornadoes as they move inland.

Wyoming 'Moving Up' In College Ranking

Finally figured it out, and we've all been missing the boat. Actually the University of Wyoming should be ranked among the top five college football teams. How come? It's simple: Stanford upset Oklahoma two weeks ago 31-14. Boston College had already beaten Stanford 30-13. Villanova upset Boston College 20-9. Villanova lost to Richmond 21-7. and Richmond was shellacked by Wyoming 35-14. So - that makes the Wyoming Cowboys something like 80 points better than Oklahoma! (In 1936, Slippery Rock was made #1 in the country by the same chortling process.)

Back to serious football. Notre Dame entertains the Miami Hurricanes who have had a week off since their 10-9 upset of Florida State. Miami has only beaten the Irish once in their 13 game series, Notre Dame winning big last year 40-15. The Hurricanes did it once, maybe they can do it again. Miami by one.

After shocking the football world with its relatively easy 31-14 upset win over Oklahoma, Stanford really has its sights set on conference title and Rose Bowl. However, ineligible UCLA will have a lot to say about both championship and the bowl, and we think the Bruins will put a temporary damper on Stanford's hopes. UCLA is favored over the Indians by eight points.

The two mighty independents Florida State and Pittsburgh will go at each other Saturday night in Tallahassee. Even though the Seminoles have had two real toughies in Miami and Nebraska - and both on the road - we look for the home atmosphere to give them a 15 (!) point win over the Panthers.

And then there's Oklahoma - Texas, always fantastic football. Though the Sooners were 16-7 winners last year, Oklahoma stock is down just a bit so far this fall. The Longhorns will win it by four points.

Quickly and finally, the Georgia Bulldog will trip Ole' Miss by 11 points.

Who goes out of this world for you?
We do... General Telephone.
This is one of our earth stations. It beams 18,000 phone calls at a clip to a satellite hovering more than 20,000 miles above the equator. It gathers in the same number of calls, and sends them out over our regular telephone network.
It's part of the incredibly complex system that's just about the world's most efficient communications system.
And it has reliability built in, whether you're in touch with your world.
We spend hundreds of millions of dollars every year, making sure that when you pick up your phone...
It works.
We keep you talking.
