LOBO WOLVES

The lobo wolf has long since reached the vanishing point in this part of West Texas, and only a few of the old timers in this generation ever saw one.

This gray, gaunt predator of the ranges hereabouts was the most dreaded of all wild animals, not even excepting the cougar or the Mexican lion.

A large lobo stood nearly three feet high and weighed 150 pounds. He had tremendous strength, as well as marvelous speed. He could overtake and kill most any animal in the range.

While his favorite prey were colts and calves, he would tackle and kill a grown horse or cow. He was exceedingly cunning and wary. He was hard to approach with a gun. It was a rare thing to catch one in a trap and very few would take a noose. Being a true dog, he was hard to capture with a pack of dogs. Often in mating time, the dogs would take up with a female lobo which resulted in a litter of half-breed lobos on the range. These half-breeds were often more destructive to stock than either wolf or dog because of their superior cunning and intelligence.

When a lobo made a kill, unlike the coyote, he rarely ever returned to it.

But the ranchers soon learned that they must destroy the lobo or be out of business. So they put a price, sometimes a big price on his head. In those days there were expert hunters and trappers who were smarter than the dreaded lobo and they camped on his trail until they got his hide and the rancher's bounty money.

Now read on. In 1907, I was commissioned by the county to survey, establish and mark the boundary line between Mitchell, Howard and Sterling Counties. The survey involved over a hundred miles of compassing and chaining. In those days there were no motor trucks, so we depended on the "kivered wagon" for transportation. Two wagons and teams were made ready and packed with equipment and supplies for a long period of "wolfing."

I had for the camp cook, the late Uncle Billy Jackson, one of the old time buffalo hunters who stayed in the country after the buffalo were all gone. When he and Mrs. Jackson were married in Arkansas and their son Andrew was several years of age, Mrs. Jackson got in bad health and the doctors advised Uncle Billy to take her to the buffalo ranges of West Texas to recover her health. And she did recover.

After hunting buffalo on the Clear Fork of the Brazos, Uncle Billy moved to the vicinity of where Water Valley now is where he found the buffalo fatter and in greater numbers.

Here he lived until the buffalo were gone. He settled on a section of land on Mulberry Creek, where to the disgust of the big cow outfits he raised "Hickory Cane Caww" and horses.

Next to his wife and children Uncle Billy loved his horses above all things and hated lobos more than anything in the world, because they took a fearful toll on his stock.

The pair of horses he worked on this surveying trip was named "Nigger and Ball." Nigger and Ball were treated as pets and given their liberty around the camp which at times gave us much concern. They would hide in the mesquits and the Mussolini, 'he done quit' last Sunday. As Jim Walston used to say: "He throwed up his tail and fore-drawed the game."

Mussy's mother wasn't to blame for giving birth to this monstrosity. She had no way of knowing that he would be a scourge to the human race.

The people of Italy are not to be blamed for their neglect in tying a rock to his neck and sending him to the bottom of the Tiber River, because they had no way of knowing that he would strew the land with crosses of dead Italians, making countless thousands of widows and millions of helpless orphans. They didn't know that he would bring the gaunt phantom of hunger stalking through Italy. They didn't know that through his dastardly acts he would bring the avenging legions of the Allies to blast Scicily and lay waste to their beloved eternal city, Rome. No they didn't know this or they might have done something about it.

For 21 years, the Italians blindly followed this 'Big Noise' and he led them in the paths of iniquity, woe and degradation. Well, if it were left up to me to administer on Mussy's estate, I would consign him to Haile Selassie, King of Ethiopia, whom he so foully wronged, with the suggestion that he make a gift of him to the cannibals of "Darkest Africa" for gastronomical purposes. —Uncle Bill

Lions Club Hostesses

Mesdames V. E. Davis, T. S. Foster and Daisy Smith were the hostesses to the Lion's Club in the basement dining room of the Methodist Church last Wednesday.

Lion President Dr. Wm. J. Swann made an educational talk to the club on the subject of Infantile Paralysis and its prevention and control.

The Doctor told the club that good sanitation was the best method for prevention and control of this dreaded malady. He advised that strict attention should be paid to the disposal of sewage and general cleanliness of the home.

Cites Texas Share

Texas during the summer of 1943 will become the largest single factor in the nation's synthetic rubber program, with plants with an aggregate production capacity of 255,000 tons coming into being. James J. Newman, vice-president of the B. F. Goodrich company, pointed out that this is more than a third of the total "GR-S" scheduled under the national program. Newman has been with the pioneer Akron concern since 1931, and has been a vice-president since 1933.

Rev. B. B. Hestir of Santorium, was a guest and accompanying him was Mr. Cade of Carlsbad.

Miss Mary Lou Foster Named Honoree

Naming Miss Mary Lou Foster as honoree Mrs. Tommy Johnson and Mrs. Martin Reed entertained with a bridge party last Friday evening in the Reed home. Miss Sue Nelson won high score prize which she presented to the honoree. The hostesses also gave Miss Foster a gift. Ice cream and cake was served with wedding bells for favors. Others present besides the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Roy Foster, were: Misses Mickey McGuire, Helene Gibbs, Geraldine Lee, Freda Mae Hodges, Sue Nelson, Leola Jones, Mesdames Reynolds Foster, Homer Hagerty, Dayton Barrett, Fred Allen, Trenon Revell, C. H. Murrell, Joe Emery, and John Wade.

Coffee was rubbed off the ration list last Thursday. According to President Roosevelt's speech Wednesday evening, we may hope that sugar will go the same way soon.

Will Your Child Be Ready for School?

"Be sure that your preschool child will be ready to go to school in September," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges the parents of all who will respond to the school bells for the first time next fall. "If you have not already done so, start now to prepare your child for the added strain of school life.

"First and foremost is the need for vaccination against smallpox. Parents and physicians should see that children are vaccinated before they are one year of age; the matter is entirely in the hands of parents and their doctors during the earliest years of life. At school age, however, vaccination becomes absolutely necessary. If your child has not been vaccinated, have it done immediately so that the scar will be completely healed before school opens."

Immunization against diphtheria is also highly desirable, Dr. Cox believes. This disease, which causes serious illness and death among young children, can be prevented with toxoid. The child who has never been protected should be given this safeguard against a dreaded disease. Eventhough he may have been immunized when a baby, doctors and health officers usually recommend an additional dose of toxoid to strengthen immunity before entrance into school.

"In addition, before you send your child to school you are urged to take him to your physician or to the nearest clinic for a complete physical examination," Dr. Cox adds. "You will want to know that he is in good physical condition and can complete with the other children on equal terms. If the check up reveals any weakness or defect there will be time to build up his general health and correct defects before September. Don't let your child start his school life with an avoidable handicap."

A good eating house where regular meals are served is a crying need in this town. The Town Hall has its hands full serving short orders, but there is complaint that the service of regular meals is nil.

Letters From The Boys

New Guinea,

Dear Uncle Bill:

I've been intending to write you for a long time, but never seemed to get around to it. I've been getting your paper, and enjoy it a lot.

How is dear old Sterling now. I'd give almost anything to be back there now, the best friends I ever had are there, and I hope to return for a good visit if and when I get back.

We sure have a good hard fighting bunch of boys over here. If the COAL MINERS and factory workers that are striking had a year or so over here they'd be glad to go back and work for their room and board. As for John L. Lewis, I wish they would send him over here to us. I think we could fix him alright.

We had a very peaceful 4th of July, no fireworks, not even a firecracker. Did they have any kind of celebration back there?

I was over to see Bubba Foster last night, it was the first time I'd seen him in fourteen months, we've been over, and around each other several times, but hadn't met. I was never so glad to see anyone in all my life. We had a long talk and looked at pictures from home.

Well, Uncle Bill, I have several more letters to write so I guess I'd better call it quits for this time. I've found that if you don't answer the letters you receive, you don't get anymore and I do enjoy getting mail. Tell everyone hello for me and that everything is under control over here.

Sincerely,
Woodrow Mills

Dear Uncle Bill:

I want to tell you how much I have been enjoying the Sterling News-Record that you have been sending regularly. I read it from front to back.

Maybe you don't remember me when I was in Sterling City. There is no other place like Sterling in the world.

I like the Navy fine and think it to be one of the best branches of the military service. The state of Virginia is quite different from Texas as you probably know.

Well, Uncle Bill, I wanted to tell you I appreciated the paper every week, so I will close and thank you very much.

Your friend,
Dan Dearen

Young People's Night

It is Young People's Night at the Presbyterian Church Sunday night Aug. 1st. A program will be given by the young people and all the young people are especially invited. Rev. B. B. Hestir is in charge of the services. Every body is invited. The time is 9:00 p. m.

Where is Bonita? Asked a headline in one of the daily papers. Well if you ask me, you need not look on the front porch of his palace making a big windy speech to a large crowd of suckers crowded in the street. Mussy, he's done quit.

Peter Baddoggylo (Pieter Badoglio—pronounced Badolyo) has taken over Mussolini's job as premier of Italy. Not being a Facist and being wiser than Mussy, we may expect better things of him. He would be a sucker to follow Hitler any further. About all that is left for Pieter to do is to surrender.

The letters of Dan M. Dearen and T-Sgt. Woodrow W. Mills published in this week's issue will prove of much interest to their admiring friends in Sterling. You boys and girls write cheerful letters to them and help them to know and feel that we appreciate their gallant efforts in serving their country.

One year ago President Roosevelt signed the bill creating the Women's Reserve, U. S. Naval Reserve. As a result, the Navy is 20,000 stronger in manpower, for that number of women in the past twelve months have put on the uniform of their country, gone to training schools and taken their places at desks and machines all over the country.

And wherever a woman has taken over a job, a man has been released for combat duty.

It was great fun with Hitler and Mussy when the Germans were bombing the daylight out of London. Everytime a German bomb hit a school house full of English kiddies and killing most of them, it was "atta boy" with these two bloody coyotes. When they blew up scores of churches and came near getting King George's palace, these two vultures had gleeful fits. Now since the worm has turned and Sicily looks like a sow's nest, while Rome is rocking on its foundation, Hitler and Mussy are singing a different tune. Well, let them howl, they started it.—Uncle Bill

Cuss and criticise old F. D. R. all you want to, but he is proving himself to be among the wisest and best men the world has ever produced. No, I don't agree with him in his veto of the anti-strike bill and some other things he did, but I have sense enough not to fool away precious time in looking for perfection in any man. He is not perfect by any means, but he is as near perfect as any man I know, or ever heard of. No doubt but that he had heard that if you give a fool enough rope, he will hang himself. The President has been paying out rope to John L. Lewis and hopes are entertained that John L. will tangle in a double half hitch and will be nearer Heaven than he will ever be again. They gave Mussolini plenty of rope and you can see what happened to that fat fool.—Uncle Bill

Molly Pitcher Tag Day, August 4

The modern Molly Pitcher will greet you throughout the nation on August 4th when brigades of Mollys will tag every buyer of War Bonds and Stamps. They will carry on the tradition of the Revolutionary War heroine who has gone down in history because she aided her fighters at the battle of Monmouth in 1778.

AXIS "TRAIN BUSTER"

Four 20-millimeter cannon have made the North American P-51 Mustang fighters, similar to the one shown above, the scourge of Axis transportation. On land and sea, Mustangs have won the nickname of "train busters" for their record in destroying scores of enemy locomotives in occupied Europe.

whole crew had to turn out to hunt them, because we couldn't operate without the cook and his chuck wagon.

As I recall, the members of the crew included Dee and Vern Davis, Rue Cole, Willis Jones and J. W. Phillips. As a whole, I think these boys were the best surveyor's crew that I ever had, but they were full of devilment.

After a hard day's work we struck camp in a mesquite flat on the H.S. range before sundown in order that Uncle Billy might get supper ready and his chuck outfit cleaned up before dark. As the sun went down, we heard the long, mournful howl of a lobo over the hill not far from camp. When Uncle Billy heard the mournful howl, he became deeply concerned about the safety of Nigger and Ball. He brought them close into camp and hobbled them and put a bell on Nigger.

After this, Uncle Billy lit his pipe and joined the crew around the campfire where we told stories. Uncle Billy told us of the cow-puncher who had camped on the Pecos one night and had staked his horse some distance from camp. When he got up next morning and went to look for his horse, he found only his rope tied to a string of bones. The loboos had killed and eaten their fill of the horse and the coyotes had put in the remainder of the night polishing of the bones of the victim of the loboos. Then Uncle Billy hit his pallet on the grass and was soon snoring.

It was then that Rue Cole and Willis Jones told me that they were going to play lobo on Uncle Billy. I saw them sneak out in the dark and presently pandemonium broke loose in camp. Rue had taken the bell from Nigger's neck and put it around his own, and he and Willis came tearing through camp, blookety, crack, bam, plunk, bim! like a stampede of a herd of wild steers.

The boys being onto the prank, came out of their bed hollerling, "Whoa, whoa! look out 'for loboos, they're after the horses." About that time Uncle Billy woke up and forgetting to put on his pants, hollered, "William, git yer gun, thers loboos after them ar hosses." Then he began to call: "Co-Ball, co-Ball! You, Nigger! You goddarned old fool come back here. Co Ball, co-Ball!"

But away went that bell down through the brush blookety, blook as if all the dogs of Hades were after them. Then the bell stopped and a loud snort broke the silence. Everybody except Uncle Billy knew it was Rue Cole's voice in that snort. Uncle Billy was sure that it was old Nigger's snort. He also insisted that Ball and Nigger would come back to camp when they get over their scare.

Willis and Rue sneaked back where they left Nigger and Ball and fastened the bell on Nigger's neck and crept back to their beds. I could hear them giggling.

Presently, we could hear Nigger's bell ting-a-ling, ting-a-ling and then Uncle Billy raised up and said: "Thar now, William, I told you that them ar hosses would come back to camp. Thar ar ol' Nigger is the smartest hoss I ever see to be such a derned big fool." And we all slept.—Uncle Bill

Nationwide Molly Pitcher Tag Day

Washington, D. C.—On August 4th, Molly Pitcher is stepping out of the pages of American history to sell War Bonds and Stamps. The gal who carried water to thirsty soldiers during the blistering Revolutionary Battle of Monmouth and took over her husband's cannon when he was wounded, has long been a symbol of the heroism of American women.

In her honor, brigades of modern Molly Pitchers will take their stands at street corners, building entrances, and in public places to sell the bonds and stamps that back up our modern fighting men.

A red-white-and-blue Molly Pitcher Tag will be given to everyone who purchases a bond or stamp on that day. Members of the American Legion Auxiliary, and of the Independent Food Distributors Council unit of Molly Pitchers, will aid and augment local Women's War Savings Staffs to make up the volunteer sales force. They will use water pitchers to hold their supplies of tags and War Stamps. The slogan on the tags will read "Fill the Pitcher with Bonds and Stamps on Molly Pitcher Day," and the goal of the sales force will be to "tag" the total population.

Miss Betty Morris of San Angelo, spent last week end here with Miss Mary Ann Bynum

Rev. L. O. Ryan returned last Tuesday from South Texas, where he had been holding a revival.

Harold Mathis of San Angelo is visiting the family of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mathis.

Wayne Jarrett, recently with the Navy, having been honorably discharged on account of physical disabilities, came home last Thursday.

Oscar Findt, who recently underwent a surgical operation at a hospital in San Angelo, is at home and doing fine. He expects to be out soon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clark and two children of Cheapside, Texas, visited Mr. Clark's mother, Mrs. W. B. Atkinson and other relatives here last week end.

After a visit of several days to her son, Jim Bob Clark, at Buckley Field, Colorado, Mrs. Aaron Clark returned home the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Edwards were in from their ranch home on the upper reaches of the North Concho last Wednesday, visiting and attending to business.

Mrs. Ralph Bynum who recently underwent a surgical operation at a hospital in San Angelo, is now at the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. O. M. Cole, convalescing nicely.

Pvt. Richard Abernathy, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Abernathy, has recently been promoted to Private First Class. He is a member of the Anti Aircraft Artillery and is stationed at Camp HAAN, Calif.

John Cole was in from his ranch near McCamey last Wednesday, loading out the last truck load of the 1700-bushel crop of oats which he raised on the Divide this season. Mr. Cole will use the oats in feeding stock this coming winter.

Jerry Brown Sr. came in last Wednesday from Nevada where he had been working in a magnesium plant. He expects to take service as a hotel worker at Brady on August 1. He is spending a few days here visiting his father, Judge B. F. Brown, and other relatives.

A daughter was born in a hospital at San Angelo, on July 23, to Lt. and Mrs. Joe Mims. They named the little girl Judy Gail. Daddy Lieutenant Mims is somewhere over seas dropping "block busters" on the enemies of God and man. A cable was sent to the lieutenant informing him of the happy event.

Mrs. R. P. Brown, accompanied by Mrs. Fred McCabe of near Robert Lee, visited Mr. Brown last week end at a hospital in Temple. She returned home the first of the week and reports that Mr. Brown's condition was quite satisfactory. R. P.'s many friends in Sterling sincerely hope that he will be himself again and will be home soon.

War Bonds should mean something more to you than just "a good sound investment." Figure it out yourself.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

After being blown through a window by a bursting shell and stunned by a 14-foot fall during the bombardment of Sand Island, Marine Staff Sergeant Dale Lester Peters of Breckenridge, Michigan, struggled to remove large aerial bombs from nearby burning hangars. He has been awarded the Navy Cross for exceptionally meritorious service and disregard of his own safety during this action. What hardships are you willing to disregard to invest in Payroll Savings?

Farmers, Certified Canners Work for Peak 1943 Vegetable Packs

GUARANTEE FAIR PRICE

PREFERENCE ON LABOR

With American fighting men engaged in action in more and more combat zones, processed vegetables of all kinds are playing an increasingly large part in the food offensive of the United Nations.

To make sure that the armed services and the civilian population will get the greatest possible amount of processed vegetables, the United States Department of Agriculture has launched a production program designed to make maximum use of canning facilities. Through this program, farmers will get price supports by contracting their acreage with certified processors. All canners who indicate their willingness to pay growers at levels not under the price supports and operate to capacity are certified by USDA State War Boards.

County War Boards will aid farmers and canners in contracting the acreage necessary to capacity operation, and in securing labor and transportation for vegetables receiving price supports.

TASTY SUMMER SPECIAL

On hot summer days vegetables make a tasty basic salad for busy housewives when combined with macaroni, tenderoni, or spaghetti. No ration points are needed; it's very simple to prepare, and you have a substantial, delicious and flavorful meal in one dish.

Tenderoni Salad

- 2 cups cooked and cooled tenderoni
- 1/2 cup cooked and diced carrots
- 3 tablespoons finely chopped celery
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- pepper to taste

Mix all ingredients. Chill. Serve on lettuce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

"GOSSIPERS"

(Published by request)

A Gossip is one who sees wrong and does not do anything to make it right, but goes and tells the matter.

A Liar, is one who, without any base or foundation makes up something from his evil imagination and tell it as the truth.

A wrong doer can't get right until he gets rid of his evil. Just like a person with a cancer, suffers from cancers, can't heal until the cancers are removed by the roots. It's no use to hate the doctor that removes the cause. Operations are painful things, physically or morally. Jesus says to the Christain, "Ye shall be hated of all men for my names sake."

"Blessed are ye, when men shall hate you, and when they shall separate you from their company, and shall reproach you, and cast out your name as evil, for the Son of Man's sake. Rejoice ye in that day, and leap for joy: for, behold, your reward is great in heaven."— Luke 6:22

Truth and Righteousness can't be down. They stand the test.

Here she comes! Yonder she goes! There she is! may be said of Peace Makers, and "trouble shooters" but when the smoke of battle clears away the cause of evil will be removed and a Spirit of Good will and Blessing will come in its stead. "Be not weary in well doing for your work will be rewarded."

The wisest man that ever lived said, "There is no man that hath power over the Spirit, to retain it, neither hath he power in the day of death; and there is no discharge in that war."

Our God says: "To me belongeth vengeance and recompense. I will kill and I will make alive, I will wound and I will heal: neither is there any that can deliver out of my hand."

Keep Vitamins In Home-Canned Tomatoes

The tomato rates respect because it is chuckful of vitamins (A and C), those invisible spark plugs that keep one feeling fit.

Because tomatoes are an important food, it is imperative that every one not needed for immediate use be saved by canning, but they must be canned right, else there will be little or no vitamin C left in them. Undue exposure to air after the skins are removed and over-cooking in an uncovered container destroy vitamin C. This is one reason that tomatoes should be prepared and canned as quickly as possible. Usually whole tomatoes have more food value than tomato juice, partly because a considerable amount of vitamin A is lost in the pulp that fails to go through the strainer when the juice is made, but mainly because greater exposure to air destroys vitamin C.

If you want first-class canned tomatoes, use freshly gathered, firm-ripe, sound fruit—one small bad spot can ruin a whole batch. Wash the tomatoes before scalding; scald a few at a time. Remove all core, slip off the skins, and cut away green spots. Pack the tomatoes tight into clean hot jars—this is best done by pressing each tomato down with a wooden spoon. Add salt to season to suit your taste—the usual amount is one teaspoon to the quart. Seal jars according to manufacturer's instructions and process 35 minutes in hot water bath. If tomatoes are not fresh from the garden, process 45 minutes.

No juice can be better than the fruit from which it is made, so be sure to use strictly fresh, firm-ripe, red tomatoes, which are free from all decay. Wash well and cut away any green spots or weather cracks. Weather cracks are those splits that form around the stem ends when hot sunshine follows a hard rain. Such tomatoes are unfit for canning or juice unless used immediately after picking. Leave the tomatoes whole and steam or bake them until they are soft; then press through a fine sieve, preferably a cone-shaped one; reheat the juice to simmering; pour into sterilized jars and process 30 minutes at simmering. The pulp will separate from the juice unless a very fine sieve is used or if too much heat is applied at any time. Oh, so you boil the juice in an open kettle until it is thick? Well, that's a fine way to get rid of most of those precious vitamins.

The best tasting juice is that made by pressing whole home canned tomatoes through a sieve just before serving. Any seasonings liked may be added before canning but the juice will be better if seasonings, except salt, are added when the juice is opened for serving, and even the salt may be left out.

to the barns half a mile south of town at milking time each day.

Each morning and evening Rip listens to plans and watches the car being made ready for the trip. Just at the right moment, Rip springs to his place and when the car stops at the barns, he jumps out and takes up the trail of the rabbit he didn't catch yesterday.

The other morning it was hot and Rip didn't care for the ride. He followed the car to a point opposite the print shop a hundred yards. He came in and lay down under the press where it was cool and went to sleep. Cars of all makes were passing up and down the streets, but Rip slept peacefully on.

In about an hour, Rip sprang up and darted out of the door and overtook the pickup just as it passed opposite the print shop on its return from the barns. How did Rip know it was his car? Cars of all makes had been passing up and down that street for an hour while he apparently was asleep. Evidently, it was the peculiar sound of the car that made him wake and chase after it. But I don't know.—Uncle Bill

3 reasons for having a telephone

"They're opening the office again? ... surely I'll be there!"

"Please hurry doctor. We're worried about him."

"Send a policeman ... there's a prowler in our garage!"

If you haven't had your telephone put back, we believe you're missing a lot of satisfaction. And emergencies do come. . . .

Call the business office . . . now. Say, "I want my telephone put back."

Aid to Enemy

"Any American who willfully neglects to pay his taxes on time or to invest every cent he can in War Bonds is surely giving aid and comfort to the enemy. . . . We have a job to do and we are all called for service to our country. Our dollars are called to service too. Let us all ask ourselves, 'Shall we be more tender with our dollars than with the lives of our sons?' — Secretary Morgenthau.
