TOM ONSTOTT: "Germany will be knocked out by the first of the year, if we don't have bad luck. I hope sooner."

DR. Wm. J. SWANN: "I think it'll be over by Spring."

CLYDE DAVIS: "I think it'll be over by the 20th of December. So the boys can celebrate Christmas."

VERN DAVIS: "Oh, possibly by Christmas if everything goes well."

W. Y. BENGE: "A feller told me yesterday the it'd be the 11th of November, and I'm satisfied that's right. They're going to bring Hitler over here and turn him over to me, and I'll do whatever I want to with him."

A. T. BRATTON: "My guess is that it'll be a lot longer than a good many people are expecting."

H. M. CARTER: "I'd be kinda halfway afraid to go against the 8 to 5 bet of Lloyd's of London—that it'll be over by Oct. 31."

JOHN GREEN: "I don't look for it to last much longer, do you? And I don't look for Japan to hold out much longer after Germany is whipped."

MARVIN CHURCHILL: "I think they're taking 'em for such a buggy ride, they can't last much longer. The sooner the better."

W. H. McDONALD: "I think they'll be whipped by the last of October."

RAY MATHIS: "Oh, I don't know. It looks like it'll be over pretty soon, I think."

The eleven who reported for pre-induction physicals were Clifford T. Williams, Thomas E. Crawford, C. J. Copeland, Billy E. Chesney, Fred M. Mitchell, Juan Rios, Jose L. Baldez, John H. Blackburn, Jr., Rosalio L. Rios, Clyde H. Rhoden and James O. Long.

Since the Lubbock induction center has been closed, these boys reported to Fort Sam Houston at San Antonio.

Baptist Church

Rev. C. B. Stovall, pastor of the First Baptist Church, has concluded a revival at the Bethel Baptist Church at Luther, and will preach at the regular service next Sunday.

Next Sunday, Rev. Stovall reminded, is the day for electing a superintendent of the Sunday School, who will act as chairman of the nominating committee to select officers and teachers for the ensuing year.

Overseas Xmas Mailing

Now is the time to start saving strong string and box material and start to plan shopping—for your Christmas overseas mailing. Gifts for the Army and Navy must be mailed this year between September 15 and October 15. After October 15 no gift may be mailed to a soldier without a written request from him. More care in wrapping and packing parcels securely must be used this year. Many gifts never reach the soldier because they come apart, have faulty addresses, etc.

DON'T use a shoe box! Use a strong box of metal, wood, solid fiber board, or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard reinforced with strong gummed tape or twine—or BOTH, and wrap the boxes in strong heavy paper. Address both the box and outside wrapper.

The parcel shall not exceed 5 pounds, and must not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked "Christmas Parcel". Only one parcel a week may be mailed to the same person by mailer.

Perishable goods, intoxicants, matches, poisons, inflammable goods are prohibited.

Mail early if your soldier is at a far distant point. Don't disappoint him.

Philip Thompson shipped eight cars of sheep to Kansas City last Sunday.

Lions Enjoy Barbecue Supper

The Sterling City Lions Club entertained with a chicken barbecue in the park Wednesday evening. The sixty-four Lions and their guests enjoyed a bountiful meal of barbecued chicken, salads, tomatoes, pickles, beans, onions, tea, bread and watermelon.

The supper climaxed a membership drive put on by the club. The losing side, headed by S. M. Bailey, prepared the food and furnished the watermelon. The winners, headed by Webb Hudson, helped out, of course.

Lion President, C. H. Davis, presided at the supper.

Approximately 10,000 lambs have been shipped to market from cooperating ranches in Sterling this year. It has been possible to finish these lambs on the range during the extremely dry year because the ranges from which they came are supporting a vigorous growth of the better grasses.

W. N. & L. R. Reed shipped two truck loads of lambs last week and one truck load this week. The lambs averaged 70 pounds and sold for 12½¢ per pound in Fort Worth.

Tommy Humble in January 1944 stocked a 736 acre pasture with 41 animal units or the number for which the range grasses in their present condition are capable of producing feed. J. E. Tatum, Sterling County Agent noted at the time of a visit to Humble's ranch on August 17, 1944 the following facts relative to this pasture as compared with the other pastures on the ranch:

1. Less needle grass.
2. A more vigorous growth of buffalo and the more valuable grasses.
3. Ewes and lambs were in better condition.

Roy Foster had the terraces on his cultivated fields plowed up during the regular breaking of the land. This practice maintains the height of the terraces.

He Managed To Get Married

WITH AID OF POLICE

Joe Allen Mathis, MM 3c, USN, and Miss Anna Jo McCreary were married August 5 in Oakland, California. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mathis, Joe Allen has been hospitalized since he spent 15 months on Guadalcanal. After a month's leave here in June, he reported back to the hospital in Oakland and has been there since.

The bride, graduate of Quannah high school, went to Oakland the first part of this month for the ceremony. Joe Allen finally got 24 hours leave, but they couldn't find a preacher or judge to marry them. They wandered into the police department and told their troubles. The police obligingly found a preacher and took them to his house in a squad car.

Mrs. Mathis was reared at Goodlett, Texas, near Quannah. She is now a typist at the Hayward Housing Project near Oakland.

The Farmer and War Bond Purchases

by Charles W. Holman, Secretary
The National Cooperative Milk Producers' Federation

AMERICAN farmers have a great deal more at stake in purchasing War Bonds than simply a patriotic urge to assist in financing the war so that it may be prosecuted to an early and victorious conclusion. Modern war demands governmental expenditures far in excess of those which may be met by current revenue receipts. This means Government borrowing. If a large part of this borrowing is through commercial banks additional inflationary spending power is created through the expansion of credit. On the other hand, if the borrowing is largely from individuals much of their excess funds are drained off. Hence, the pressure on prices resulting from unusually large funds bidding for limited amounts of goods and services is relieved, and thus inflation retarded.

A tremendously increased agricultural production and some increase in average prices received above those paid by farmers have raised the net income of all United States farmers from the 1935-39 average of $4.7 billion to $6.3 billion in 1941, $9.4 billion in 1942, and an estimated $12.5 billion in 1943. With available supplies of farm machinery replacements and building materials limited, Agriculture has a fund available for either debt retirement, savings readily liquidated for future purchases of machinery, buildings, etc., or for present investment in land.

A marked decrease in farm mortgages in recent years indicates that much of this fund has been properly applied to debt retirement. However, activity in land sales and a very marked increase in land values demonstrate that farmers are probably diverting a large part of this fund into land purchases. From March 1, 1943, to March 1, 1944, average land values per acre rose 15 per cent, with the larger part of the rise taking place in the last four months of the period. The increase during this four-month period was the highest on record, being 20 per cent greater than the average monthly rate of increase for the 1919-20 boom year. Average values per acre have increased more than one-third in the past 3 years. In the 1916-19 period the rise was about the same.

It appears that an overcapitalization of probably temporarily high farm commodity prices is in process just as in World War I. Large mortgage debts incurred now, at high levels of income, will prove disastrous when both total agricultural production and prices fall. Land values are based on the net return to land. With the end of the war in sight and with other costs will require a relatively larger return leaving the return to land less, the logical course for land values at present would appear to be downward rather than upward.

Therefore, it appears that farmers would do well to invest every available dollar, beyond that needed for debt retirement, in Government Bonds. These can be held against the day when necessary farm replacements will be available and when farm land values will have become more stable. In this way the individual farmer may assist in hastening the day of return of his son, and also have capital available to help finance him in ventures of his own choice.

6 Stew-pondous Ways to Stretch Meat Rations

There's not a more versatile dish in the archives of American culinary art than the famous meat stew. Found on the tables of rich and poor alike, it is a standard item on the national bill of fare.

Even with American meat production at an all-time high, the multiple requirements of the armed forces, lend-lease, and civilians necessitate that meat be conserved and extended. The nation's cooks and homemakers, searching for ways to extend meat dishes and conserve precious ration points, have discovered that merely by adding one or two ingredients to the basic American stew they can achieve almost an endless variety of meat dishes with an international flavor.

Following are recipes for six stews which speak various languages:

Hungarian Goulash

- 1 pound beef (for stew)
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- Lard or drippings for browning
- 1 tablespoon paprika
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 cups water
- 4-6 potatoes, diced

The Farmer and War Bonds

by Mr. A. S. Goss

Master of the National Grange

WE FREQUENTLY hear farmers raise the question as to whether or not they should buy War Bonds as long as they are in debt. The answer to this question should depend in large measure upon the nature of the debt and whether or not it is current. If part of it is past due, and the borrower expects to experience difficulty in meeting past due payments, he probably should bring his debt into current position before investing in Bonds. If, however, his payments are current, there seems to be no reason why farmers should not buy as many Bonds as they are able. Most individual investors in government Bonds are carrying debt in one form or another, at rates higher than the Bonds will yield. This is as it should be if the purchaser is in an earning position which permits the accumulation of some surplus, for we all owe it to our government to do our utmost in the financing of the war, even though the transaction may result in our paying some extra interest on outstanding debts.

When a farmer owes money, he is always concerned as to whether his crops will sell at prices which will enable him to repay his debt. When prices are high it is good business and conservative finance to reduce the debt as rapidly as possible because when prices are low, it takes more crops and more efforts to make the payments.

We should not forget, however, that a government Bond will pay off an equal amount of dollars of debt, no matter whether prices are high or whether prices are low. It is, therefore, a sound and conservative practice to buy government Bonds and lay them aside to make payments on existing debts when they fall due. In fact, quite aside from the patriotic appeal, it is good business to buy Bonds rather than make pre-payments on debt, because the time may come when the ready cash is needed and the money tied up in pre-payments cannot be returned. If this money is invested in Bonds, it can be converted into cash to meet any needs which may arise.

If everyone followed the policy of buying no War Bonds until their debts were paid, few Bonds would be sold to the public. We have an obligation to help finance this war which is vastly more important than the income we may receive on the investment of money in War Bonds.

Farmers are finding it impossible to maintain their machinery and buildings in a satisfactory state of repair. They are finding that they cannot replace worn-out equipment except at excessively high cost.

It would seem to be sound and conservative business practice to lay aside money to make the repairs and replace worn-out equipment when material and machines are again available. No safer place can be found to lay aside money for such purposes than in government Bonds.

Every time we buy a Bond we are not only assisting in financing the war, but we are also doing our bit to prevent that most dreaded economic disaster called inflation. If each one of us would invest as much as we could in government Bonds, the danger of inflation would be greatly reduced.

War Bonds as Investment for Farmers

by Warren W. Hawley, Jr., President
New York State Farm Bureau Federation

IN CHECKING figures of the Farm Credit Administration, I find that farmers are paying off mortgages faster than at any other period in the history of the Federal Land Bank.

At the same time, farmers are building up cash reserves, but the wise investment of this money is an extremely hard job for farmers to undertake. The temptation is to try and obtain as high an interest rate as possible.

Many of us see no reason why we should not get as much interest on our money now as we had to pay the bank when we were forced to borrow during the depression.

The answer is that today money is cheap—"expanded", as the bankers express it. Therefore interest rates are low except in very speculative securities. Naturally no farmer wants to risk losing his hard earned cash.

We farmers know our own business and we can invest money in it safely because we understand it. However, when we branch off into other fields, especially the highly technical field of investments, most of us encounter sad experiences.

In these days it is virtually impossible for farmers to put their surplus cash back into the farm. War-time conditions prevent us from repairing buildings, and buying new machinery, automobiles, trucks and other equipment we must eventually have if we are going to stay in business.

So the smart thing for farmers to do is to invest their surplus money in War Bonds where it is as safe as a dollar bill. These bonds increase in value the longer they are held; they can be cashed after sixty days in case of need, and they will provide a reserve for investment after the war in the business the farmers know best—the business of farming.

I confidently predict that if farmers will do this, the dawn of peace will signalize a new day for agriculture.
