Residents Shocked At Reagan Shooting

Mules Take First In Friona Meet

Feelings Of Anger, Surprise Citywide

The Muleshoe Mules brought home the first place trophy from the Friona Track Meet last weekend and expanded hopes of a great season.

"Our kids did the best they have done all season," said Coach Tom Duncan, who seems extremely hopeful for the remaining meets for this season.

"We did really well in the field events and with three places in the shot put competition, made a strong showing that we haven't before," he added.

The 109.5 points the track squad tallied in the meet resulted not from a large number of first place finishes, but from team members placing who had not scored all year, according to Duncan.

Teams placing behind the Mules were Littlefield, 105.5, Vega, 94, Friona, 90, and Dimmitt, 60. The squad's first place finish against these district teams helps the season outlook.

Marvin Lewis was the lone first place finisher for the team with a 46' 10.5" toss of the shot put. He was followed by Jeff Meeks with a distance of 43' 5" and Carroll Precure, 41' 2.5".

Around Muleshoe

Muleshoe Independent Schools will be dismissed at 2:15 p.m. Friday so that teachers and students can attend the UIL meet in Littlefield. Buses will leave the Jr. High at 2:30 p.m.

Jessie Martinez, an employee of Missouri Valley Construction which is under contract at the TOLK plant, was rushed to Lubbock Methodist Hospital Monday following a fall.

Martinez fell from a wall form when a hook he was using apparently became disengaged.

Mike Haven, spokesman for the company, stated Martinez may have suffered a broken vertebrae.

Joe Tarter, Lazbuddie, recently showed the champion open gilt at the Southwestern National Duroc Congress held in Ft. Worth.

Police Report

Police actions reported for March 28 include a theft of a car parked at Dr. G's Grocery store. The owner was not present and the keys were not in the car.

Also on that day, an accident was investigated on the corner of 8th and Ave. B involving the driver of a pick up, Leroy Hughes and Lofa Key who was driving a car. Heavy damage was reported to both vehicles. There were no injuries and citations were not issued.

FARM HOME DEVASTATED A house and garage belonging to the Jerry Ruthardt family, located 1 1/2 mile north and 1/2 mile west of Weidubush Company was completely gutted by fire late Monday, March 30. The smoke from the blaze was repelled by a passerby on the Clovis Highway. No one was at the residence at that time. Apparent cause of the fire was unknown at presstime.

Gas Company Name Change

Pioneer Natural Gas Company, the gas utility serving 72 cities and communities in Northwest Texas, will change its name to Energas Company effective immediately, company officials announced.

The name change is part of a process to streamline the utility operation. The process also involves restructuring Pioneer Natural Gas, which is a division of Pioneer Corporation (NYSE), into two companies.

"For Pioneer Natural Gas customers, the only noticeable change will be the new name," K.B. Watson, president and chief executive officer of Pioneer Corporation, said. "Energas Company signs will begin appearing on company property during April, and after April 2 checks for bill payments should be made to Energas Company."

Watson said that Energas Company will serve almost all of the customers previously served by Pioneer Natural Gas. Transportation of gas to the Energas system will be handled by another new company, Westar Transmission Company. Both Energas and Westar are divisions of Pioneer Corporation, he said.

"The name change will be useful for almost everyone," Watson said. "Customers and the public will find 'Energas Company' a convenient name to remember and use, and an appropriate description for a company that supplies energy from natural gas. What is more, the utility division will now be easily distinguished from the parent corporation, an obvious advantage for both companies and for anyone

Sante Fe Agent Speaks At Rotary

Don Thomas, special agent for the Santa Fe Railroad, was guest speaker at the Muleshoe Rotary Club on Tuesday, March 31.

Agent Thomas stated, "statistics show that 48,000 people are killed in traffic accidents; out of this 48,000, 1700 per year are killed at railroad crossings. Usually, it is not an out-towner who is involved; but one who is local and Lazbuddie Independent School District's Board Elections will be at the Lazbuddie High School Auditorium.

Mullettes Take 3rd Place In Friona Track Meet

The Mullette track squad tallied 103 points at the Friona Track Meet this weekend, but the large score was only good enough for a third place finish.

Two first place finishes were captured by team members including Marylyn Lewis in the 400 meter Muleshoe residents were shocked at the news of the assassination attempt of President Ronald Reagan.

"My reaction was complete horror and disgust," said Judge Glen Williams. "It is a horrible thing to shoot someone in public. They (politicians) have the right to live, hold office, and go about their business without something like this happening."

Judge Williams stated that those who came by his office were "sickened" by the news. "No one is immune from this sort of thing," he added. "I guess it is a product of our times. Everyone is hurt by this sort of thing."

"I was flabbergasted," exclaimed Mayor Charles Bratcher. "You like to think that this kind of problem doesn't happen here." The saddest thing about the situation, according to Bratcher, is that "there seems to be nothing we can do about it."

But the reaction in Muleshoe seems to be the same across the country. The Journal spoke with a representative of Senator John Tower's office in Washington, D.C. who expressed the same reaction adding, "It is scary to have this type of thing happen in your own backyard. Our local news is national news."

The Tower office is issuing the statement that they are real worried about the condition of all who were hurt but glad they are all improving.

Muleshoe youth were kept informed about the events in Washington and had mixed reactions.

Fred Mardis, principal at Muleshoe Jr. High announced to the student body when the attempt was

Good Pasture
Grass Available

Forage and livestock producers clamoring for new grasses for their farms and ranches should consider several with proven track records.

Although forage scientists are working diligently to develop more productive and better quality grasses, there are several popular ones with proven records to most areas of Texas, says Dr. Neal Pratt, forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Kleingrass-75 is a perennial, drought-tolerant grass adapted to at least half of Texas' 254 counties. It is a good quality grass with a deep root system and grows best on calcareous (high in calcium or lime) soils where bermudagrass is less predominant. Kleingrass is drought-tolerant and grows earlier in the spring than Coastal bermudagrass. It has been well received by forage and livestock producers, notes Pratt.

Lovegrass is another drought-tolerant grass adapted primarily to North Texas and the Panhandle. It grows early in the spring and should be used when it is good quality. Lovegrass has good seedling vigor and readily becomes established in sandy soils where bermudagrass is less prevalent.

As far as Coastal bermudagrass is concerned, it is planted on more acres in Texas than any other grass, says Pratt. Coastal is adapted to at least 125

She was born January 13, 1901 in Eric, Oklahoma and moved to Muleshoe in 1935 from Eric. She was a member of the First Baptist Church and Rebecca Lodge.

counties in southern, central and eastern areas of the state. It's a high producer, is drought-tolerant, can be used for pasture or hay, and recovers rapidly after grazing or hay harvest. Coastal is established from sprigs because it produces no viable seed.

Pratt points out that county Extension agents throughout Texas are emphasizing the merits of improved grasses for their county conditions and can relate the success of producers in their respective counties.

MJHS Coaches Comments

It was a little windy over at Springlake-Earth Saturday. We did manage to get the track meet over with and win a couple of trophies without anyone blowing away, so I suppose we had a pretty good day. The 8th grade came in second to Tullia in an eighteen team division. Tullia had a good team, but hopefully we can beat them next week at Dimmitt. Our mile relay remained undefeated as did our bionic runner, Tony Luna, in the 880 and 1320 yard runs.

Our 7th grade went into the final event, the mile relay, trailing by one point (80-79) to a fine Olton team. They had to come from behind in the race to beat Olton and remain undefeated in the mile relay and to also nip Olton 99-96 for 1st place in the meet. Fifteen teams were entered in the 7th division and the victory was #3 for our 7th grade track team. Overall, it was a pretty good job by both groups.

Fund Raising

For Flores Exceeds $1,000

The Spanish Community of Muleshoe raised $1,144.39 on Channel 6 Sunday, March 22, to help pay the hospital expenses of 4 year old Jonathan Flores, son of Mr. and Mrs. Freddy Flores of Muleshoe.

Young Flores was injured critically in a wreck near here on February 20 and spent 19 days in intensive care at the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

The $1,144.39 was all sent directly to the hospital. This was the first all Spanish program broadcast on Channel 6 and the first money raising project also.

Assisting in operating the program were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perez, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Anzaldua, Toney Montez, the Rev. Roque Puentec, the Rev. Paul Pecina, Sandra Martinez, Nina Flores, and Kathy Guzman.

A number of homemade cakes were donated to help raise funds for the hospital expenses.

PSYCHOLOGY

If your little toddler is reluctant to give up his bottle, psychologists suggest putting an ounce of milk in a small glass that he can handle. Just set it on the tray every day or so, hoping he'll drink it. If one sip is all he takes don't even try to give him two. Act as if it doesn't make any difference to you. Coping with a reluctant weaner takes a lot of patience. So, while baby is learning to drink from a glass, you might ease your own tension with a relaxing cup of hot tea.

CARE Packages

Celebrate 35th Year

While ironing in the basement of her home in University Park, Maryland, a homemaker thought up the name for an organization that soon became a household word -- CARE. In 1945 Dr. Lincoln Clark, one of the founders and first staff members, discussed the need for a name with his wife Alice, who suggested Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe which spells CARE. Today, 35 years after the first CARE packages were delivered, the name is the same, but the RE stands for Relief Everywhere.

When President Harry Truman bought 100 CARE packages in 1946, the nationwide publicity helped the organization become known to millions of Americans across the U.S. By the close of the following year, Americans had ordered four million packages valued at $39 million to help needy people in war ravaged Europe. Thirty-five years later, CARE had sent food and other aid, valued at more than $2.5 billion, to needy people in over 80 countries.

In the 1950s German Chancellor Adenauer declared that CARE packages sustained his life in the aftermath of World War II. Born in 1946 to help victims of that war, 35 years later CARE provides aid designed to help desperately needy people throughout the developing world become self-supporting.

In 1961, Sargent Shriver, Peace Corps Director, asked CARE to administer the first Peace Corps project in Colombia and to train the volunteers. The 'community development project proved so successful that CARE developed and administered Peace Corps programs in Sierra Leone, West Pakistan, Guatemala and Turkey. Today, 35 years after CARE was founded, the aid and development organization continues to work cooperatively with the Peace Corps in many countries where both organizations have similar programs.

From its founding in 1946 to provide help to World War II victims in Europe, CARE had delivered almost every type of aid to needy people throughout the world by the early 1960s. The aid included food, clothing, blankets, educational materials, agricultural and vocational tools as well as hospital equipment. A program of medical and health care training was added in 1962 when MEDICO, founded by the late Dr. Thomas A. Dooley and by Dr. Peter D. Comanduras, became a vital service of CARE.

In 1964 CARE introduced the food-for-work concept in a Near Eastern country to pay semi-nomadic tribesmen for their labor on a major road construction project. Today, 35 years after CARE was founded, the organization operates food-for-work construction projects in a number of developing countries enabling nearly nine million workers and dependents to obtain food on a regular basis.

When CARE closed operations in Greece in 1973, after providing aid there for 27 years, the U.S. Ambassador to Greece said to the CARE mission chief in that country, "I am the ambassador of the United States Government. The CARE chief is the ambassador of the American people." CARE cooperates with the U.S. and foreign governments to provide aid to desperately needy people throughout the developing world, but is a private, nongovernmental aid and development organization.

Since its founding in 1946 to send CARE packages to World War II victims in Europe, CARE has grown to an aid and development organization which provided almost $200 million in goods and services to impoverished people throughout the developing world last year.

'Medical Dictatorship' Planned For Texas

A new medical practice act proposed by the Texas Medical Association will turn a "medical Monopoly" into a "medical Dictatorship", according to Gene Mitchell, president of the newly organized Health Freedom Council.

If the proposal becomes law, here's what could happen:

You ask your pharmacist what to do about an upset stomach and he recommends and sells you an over-the-counter remedy. The pharmacist could be sent to prison for practicing medicine without a license.

A grocery clerk suggests you try a new drink, high in Vitamin C, for your cold. The clerk could be sent to prison.

A health food store owner suggests that you should try organically-grown vegetables for your allergies. The health food store owner would wind up in prison.

A chiropractor suggests a change in your diet and sells you some vitamins. The chiropractor could be sent to prison.

A masseur suggests that his services could help ease the pains in your legs. The masseur could be sent to prison.

A nurse who treats your child for cuts and bruises, without the supervision of a medical doctor, could be sent to prison.

Dentists, optometrists and podiatrists who render any health service not defined for their profession by state law--could be sent to prison.

If you employ someone who has been convicted of practicing medicine without a license, either in Texas or elsewhere, you could be sent to prison yourself.

"Presumably, anyone so convicted in Texas might have to leave the state in order to find work," Mitchell adds.

A medical doctor who advertises that his weight-loss program is better than others could be sent to jail. Anyone who violates any provision of the medical practice act, or any rule or regulation of the Board of Medical Examiners -- whether they had ever heard of these laws or rules or not--could wind up in jail.

A medical doctor, or osteopath, who treats a cancer patient with nutritional therapy, or who treats anyone with DMSO or any other substance considered "non-therapeutic" in the opinion of the Board, could lose his medical license.

The list goes on and on.

"These bills would effectively destroy whatever freedom of choice in health care there is left in Texas," says Mitchell. The proposals include Senate Bill 315, sponsored by Sen. John Wilson of LaGrange, Sen. Ike Harris of Dallas, Sen. Bill Meier of Eules, and House Bill 609 sponsored by Rep. Bill Messer of Belton.

What makes it even worse, Mitchell adds, is the unprecedented power the Board would have to enforce these new laws.

The Board would not have to rely on complaints from ordinary citizens but could send its own "secret agents" into the field, posing as customers or patients, to trap unsuspecting health practitioners or providers into violations, Mitchell explains.

Contrary to criminal law, all evidence gathered by the informants would remain secret, even from the accused. Under these circumstances, alleged violators would have a tough time defending themselves, Mitchell says.

In the proposed act, "practicing medicine" is defined to include "anyone who shall diagnose, treat, or offer to treat any disease or disorder, mental or physical, or any physical deformity or injury by any system or method, and to effect cures there of and charge therefor, directly or indirectly, money or other compensation." This definition is "all-encompassing," which means that no new ideas or systems of healing could ever gain a foothold in Texas again, outside the orthodox medical framework.

Lacking any competition, there is no incentive for modern medicine to improve or change its way of business, Mitchell says. "They like it the way it is."

With respect to doctors, under the new law the Board could, on its own authority, haul any physician in for a hearing to suspend or cancel his or her medical license.

The Health Freedom Council is a non-profit, unincorporated association of consumers, physicians, nurses and other health-care providers who have joined forces in an attempt to change Texas law to permit greater freedom of choice and personal responsibility in health care, according to Mitchell.

By terms of the Texas Sunset Act, the Texas laws establishing the Board and regulating the practice of medicine will expire September 1, 1981, unless the legislature extends or amends them. It is this deadline which has caused the Texas Medical Association to sponsor legislation which would not only preserve present powers but would also greatly extend them.

"The TMA lobby is long-established, well-financed and very powerful," says Mitchell. "They have already spent more than $800,000 to influence the passage of this legislation. If they succeed, the trappings of a medical dictatorship will be in place, and the losers will be the health-care consumers of Texas--which means all of us."

Chilly winter nights bring thoughts of warm food and drink. Maybe you're having some friends in, or you are planning a quiet evening in front of the fire. Either way, Cheesy Salmon Fondue is a "must" to turn cold evenings into something warm and wonderful.

Flavorful canned salmon is combined with a tasty blend of Swiss cheese and white wine. A hint of garlic gives a special flavor. Cubes of French bread are used for dipping into the fondue. A glass of chilled white wine adds just the right touch. Conveniently kept on hand, canned salmon can quickly be turned into a variety of tempting entrees, appetizers, salads and sandwiches. The entire contents of the can of salmon including the liquid, tender bones and skin are edible and contribute flavor as well as extra nutrients to the dish being prepared. This choice seafood is an excellent source of complete protein and provides valuable vitamins and minerals in your diet.

Cheesy Salmon Fondue

Cotton Council Behind Reagan

The National Cotton Council today strongly supported the President's economic program and commended actions to reduce excessive regulations that in effect have decreased productive research funds for cotton.

Council President Frank M. Mitchener, Jr., told the Senate Agricultural Appropriations subcommittee that all segments of the cotton industry strongly back efforts to stop runaway inflation.

"We believe a strong agricultural research program which helps increase productivity and hold down costs is not only compatible with that goal but essential to it," he said. While the proposed budget means a continued decline in scientific man-years devoted to cotton research next year, Mitchener expressed hope that needed increases will be provided in the future.

The Sumner, Miss., grower said the explosion of government regulations in recent years has been a primary contributor to a real decline in productive agricultural research because it has necessitated the shifting of resources into non-productive areas. He said Congressional action to eliminate needless and excessive government rule-making would effectively increase productive research without raising current outlays.

Pointing to the cotton dust standard which he described as "overly stringent," Mitchener said many feel it will not fully resolve the byssinosis problem even though it would burden the cotton industry with capital equipment costs in excess of $2 billion.

He noted that a Congressional appropriation of $975,000 to USDA for fiscal 1981 had allowed research to be initiated on washed cotton, a critical phase of an accelerated government industry effort to find a practical solution to the dust problem. Mitchener said the project, underway at USDA's lab in Clemson, S.C., is already producing significant findings that promise to lead to a practical solution.

"Without question, continuing this funding -- as proposed in the fiscal 1982 budget -- will be a prudent investment and will help preserve an important American industry and thousands of American jobs," he added.

In another area, the Council president called for establishment of a revolving fund with CCC money to reinstitute the direct export credit program. Only the initial outlay would show up in the budget, and the revolving fund would grow as interest and principal are repaid. Mitchener said virtually all loans under this program in the past were fully repaid with interest and the government actually made a small profit. "Most overseas customers for U.S. farm exports prefer using this type credit because they are familiar with it and find it far less complicated than the credit guarantee program which supplanted it last year," he added. "With both credit programs working in tandem, USDA could then move aggressively to enable American agriculture to take full advantage of its overseas sales potential." The Council president said this, in turn, would improve the nation's trade balance and help reduce inflation.

who deals with them." Watson also announced that the board of directors of Pioneer Corporation has elected three veteran officials of Pioneer Natural Gas as the senior officers of Energas Company. They are Charles K. Vaughan, president; Vernon Clem, vice president in charge of the West Texas Division of Energas; and Harry Neel, vice president in charge of the Amarillo Division. Vaughan and Neel will be based at the Energas headquarters in Amarillo, and Clem's office will be in Lubbock.

The Energas service area, which is the same as that formerly served by Pioneer Natural Gas, extends from Dalhart in the northern Texas Panhandle to south of Odessa, covering approximately 50,000 square miles. Approximately 275,000 residential, commercial and irrigation customers are served.

The establishment of Energas ends more than a quarter of a century operations under the Pioneer Natural Gas Company name for the utility. Pioneer Natural Gas was formed in 1954, by the consolidation of four gas utilities. Through Pioneer Natural Gas and its predecessor companies, Energas can trace its history to 1906, when Amarillo Gas Company was organized to manufacture and sell gas in Amarillo.

April Deadline Set For Farmers

April deadlines have been set for area farmers seeking to insure their crops under the Federal Crop Insurance program.

Producers in Lamb and Bailey Counties have until April 15 to apply for protection on corn and until April 30 on cotton and grain sorghum. The April 30 deadline also applies to cotton and grain sorghum producers in Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Hockley and Lubbock counties and to grain sorghum producers in Kent, Lynn, Terry and Yoakum counties. In Lubbock County, the deadline for corn is April 24," said Carey Johnson, district director for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

FCIC is an agency of the United States Department of Agriculture. It is designed to protect a producer's crop production expenses from risks like drought, hail, wind, insects and disease.

Information about the FCIC program can be obtained from the FCIC office in Lubbock or from one of the private insurance agents now handling the program.

Loaning Money To Friends, Relatives--A Little Risky

Loaning money to grown children, relatives or friends can be a little risky -- in terms of the money itself or the emotions involved, says Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist.

Mrs. McCormack is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

It isn't so much the money that causes the problem, it's the fact that the loan changes the nature of the relationship, she explains.

Here are the "why's" and the "what you might do's" to reduce the risks:

After the financial transaction, you begin a debtor-creditor relationship in addition to your other relationship of parent-child or friend to friend.

Not every loan transaction turns sour, but enough of them do to make you think twice before entering into such a situation.

With increasing home prices, more people are turning to their relatives for help with the initial down payment.

Increasing medical and energy costs also are making it more difficult for people to manage their money, so they borrow more often from friends or relatives.

You may want to consider these three alternatives if you are asked to become a lender:

1) Look at the loan as a "gift". Never loan money to children, relatives or friends that you can't afford to give outright, with no thought of repayment. If you are paid back, what a marvelous surprise, but, if not, no one has hard feelings or guilty feelings.

2) Approach the situation in a business-like manner. Put the terms in writing. Agree on the amount borrowed, interest to be charged and the terms of repayment. This should be enough proof for the Internal Revenue Service if the debt is defaulted.

3) Co-sign a bank loan for the borrower.

In deciding whether or not to become a lender, also consider the real possibilities that can lead to default.

If the borrower also has had to take out other loans with higher interest rates, yours may be the last one considered on the schedule for repayment.

Also, a friend or relative may become an ex-friend or relative, possibly through divorce or inability to repay thus causing a strained relationship.

And in cases of other financial difficulties for the borrower, the loan may be forgotten altogether.

Finally, remember that borrowing money is a business transaction. It should be treated as such.

Give careful thought to becoming a lender.

Our new name... a Commitment to you

We have been known as Pioneer Natural Gas Company in West Texas for many years... but often confused with many other "Pioneer" companies.

Now we are Energas... a simple, distinctive new name to quickly and easily identify our company and our tradition of supplying efficient gas energy.

Our name has changed, but our commitment to West Texas remains the same. Assured supply and reasonable rates consistent with prompt customer service continue to be around-the-clock responsibilities of the dedicated people who now call themselves Energas.

Over the past ten years, the domestic energy situation has changed significantly. Energy prices today reflect the increased competition for the available supply and the increased cost of finding and producing it.

Energas customers are partners in helping to solve our national energy problems. Wise use of energy is a consumer responsibility; exploration, production and efficient distribution are industry responsibilities.

The business of gas distribution is complex, but the Energas priority is simple... dependable supply and efficient service to 72 communities across a 50,000 square mile region.

Oil Production Up Statewide

Railroad Commission Chairman James E. (Jim) Nugent said here today that Texas oilmen have halted an eight-year decline in Texas oil production.

In a noon speech to area businessmen and oil company officials, Nugent reviewed events of the last two years which have moved the petroleum industry from "a state of stagnation, confusion and malaise" to "optimism bordering on euphoria."

The energy Commissioner called attention to increased drilling activity evidenced by the record-high national rig count and more than 7300 requests for drilling permits received by the Railroad Commission in the first two months of this year. That pace, Nugent noted, is over 180 requests per working day and is 50% higher than just two years ago.

But the really good news, Nugent said, is the stabilization of oil production over the five-month period beginning last September and continuing through January. Production in each of those months was at or around 2 1/2 million barrels per day. January is the latest month for which production figures are available.

Calling the trend "Tentative", Nugent said it came at a time when Texas production had been declining at an average rate of 300,000 barrels per month. Since oil price controls have been lifted, Nugent said the free market once again has a chance.

But, he warned, that chance may be fragile in the face of future supply problems. "It will be up to the industry to prove itself, if the nation is to be kept off the panic button of new controls", the Commissioner concluded.

After all is said and done, you usually find more has been said than done.

Along with making some holes in the bookshelves, the library lost the use of the Bookmobile projector.

The Friends of the Library would like to urge citizens of Muleshoe to help replenish the book supply according to Margaret Hamilton, reporter for the organization. This can be done by donations to the library in the way of memorials, books, or financial donations.

To make donations, call or go by and see Anne Camp at the Library. Donations will be greatly appreciated by everyone who uses the library.
