Pickup/Gravel Truck Accident Fatal Here

A two vehicle accident, six miles north on highway 214, proved fatal to the driver of a super cab pickup while the driver of the gravel truck involved pulled himself from the wreckage and sustained only minor injuries.

Muleshoe resident, Gary

Phillips, driver of the pickup, was pronounced dead by Dr. Bruce Purdy at West Plains Medical Center at 3:22 p.m.

The driver of the Franklin Welding gravel truck, Billy Tosh, explained that he was traveling north when he saw the pickup traveling south swerve into his lane. "I just had time to shut her down and cut the wheels," he said. "I saw him (Phillips) with his head down. He may have been asleep or something." The two vehicles collided head on.

Tosh, who pulled himself from the wreckage, suffered some bumps and bruises. He was very shaken from the incident, but was able to explain to authorities what he thought had happened.

A woman from Lubbock was an eyewitness.

Debris of shattered

windshields, oil, miscellaneous motor parts, and vehicle body wreckage covered the scene and volunteers from the Muleshoe Fire Department and others who stopped helped in cleaning up the highway. Wreckers from Lubbock were called to help remove the vehicles.

State Highway Patrolman, Andy Hernandez, out of Littlefield, investigated the accident.

Funeral services have been set for Phillips for Friday, June 5, at 2 p.m. in the Three Way Baptist Church in Three Way. Officiating will be Terry Hill, pastor of the New Covenant Church in Alamogordo, N.M. Assisting will be Rev. Harold Abney of the Three Way Baptist Church. Services will be under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home in Muleshoe and burial will be in the Springlake Cemetery in Springlake.

Phillips, 29, was born June 20, 1951 in Littlefield and was a member of the Three Way Baptist Church. He was a resident of Muleshoe for four months, moving here from the Stegall community where he had lived all of his life.

Hance Predicts No "Drastic" SS Reduction

US Representative Kent Hance predicted there will be no "drastic" reduction in the near future in benefits under the Social Security System.

The Texas Congressman said he has not endorsed any of the present proposals for changing Social Security, but is committed to ensuring that it remains financially solvent. He said he expects final approval by Congress of a strong, workable plan which will keep the system "sound."

"We will see some changes in the system," he said. "But I do not think we will see increased penalties for early retirement or drastic reductions in benefits as have been proposed. I firmly believe that those individuals who have worked hard and paid into the Social Security System over the years are entitled to the benefits of a sound retirement insurance program which they were promised. Any substantive changes must be fair and must be phased in so that those affected will have time to make the necessary adjustments and plan for the future."

African Hospital Head Plans Visit To Muleshoe

Approximately four years ago, Dr. and Mrs. Gary Albertson made a short-term mission tour to Kenya, East Africa, where Dr. Albertson was associated with the Tenwek Hospital. Many people of this area will recall the visits made by the Albertsons to various civic organizations and churches and the support given in prayers and contributions to this World Gospel Missions outreach. Thirty hospital beds, in addition to money for a whirlpool and x-ray room for the hospital were sent from this area.

Dr. and Mrs. Ernest

Steuery, chief-of-staff at the hospital compound, will be in this area June 6-11 and will be speaking and showing film at the First Assembly of God Church in Muleshoe, Monday, June 8, at 8 p.m. Dr. Steury's main purpose in coming to this area is to share with the people the outcome of their support. He will give up-to-date information on missions in Africa and will be sharing personal testimonies concerning the work there.

Since 1959, Dr. Steury has ministered at Tenwek Hospital which is a 130 bed facility and regular averages 200 percent occupancy. It served a population area of 100,000, the only hospital in a radius of 30-70 miles. The hospital admits about eight thousand patients a year and treats more than forty thousand outpatients. In addition to the work at Tenwek Hospital, Dr. Steury has served as assistant executive secretary of Kenya field.

Dr. Steury, native of Indiana, is a graduate of Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky, and of Indiana University Medical School. He served his internship at

Blue Cross/Blue Shield In Operation Despite Loss

Due to a number of inquiries regarding news reports on the financial condition of Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Texas, William P. Daves, Jr., Chairman of the State Board of Insurance, issued the following statement May 28.

"Information filed with our office in May, 1981, indicates a composite loss of about $45 million in the operations of Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Texas for the calendar year 1980. The loss, amounting to about five percent of the company's $900 million annual premium volume, was confirmed in an audit report issued by a Big Eight certified public accounting firm.

"This agency is reviewing the magnitude of the operational loss and has staff examiners on site at the company headquarters in Dallas. Based on the information filed with our office, we are satisfied as to the solvency of the company. Operation of the company does not appear hazardous to policyholders, certificate holders or the general public.

"Based on the audit report as of December 31, 1980 and on information reviewed to date by SBI staff examiners, we find no evidence of wrongdoing and believe no violation of the Insurance Code or breach of public trust was involved in this operating loss.

"Although Blue Cross/Blue Shield has suffered a large loss; it is able to meet contractual obligations to insureds.

"Our examiners will remain on site at company headquarters as long as necessary to monitor operation of the company."

Aerospace Hazards Rotary Program

Have you ever thought about flying along with the US Thunderbirds? How about floating down in a parachute or being ejected out of an aircraft at 4300 ft.?

If these thoughts have ever crossed your mind then you may not have thought about the many physiological changes and hazards that a pilot faces in his career.

Members of the Muleshoe Rotary Club were alerted to these hazards this week when Captain Ronald C. Bailey, from Reese Air Force Base presented the program.

Bailey explained that most people do not think of flying as alien, but it is, said Bailey, because it kills quickly and effortlessly.

The speaker explained that during the pilot training, the stresses which occur and equipment which is used are emphasized so that the pilots can successfully function and survive.

Several of the hazards Bailey mentioned included special disorientation, ejection seats, parachutes and the bodily changes gases make while the pilot is in the air.

Gases trapped in the body expand ten times in volume when the pilot is in the air. Other hazards include exaggeration of colds, ear and sinus blockage. There is also a problem of evolved gases which occurs when the body decompresses too quickly and air bubbles result in the brain. These bubbles block blood flow and could be fatal when they occur in the brain.

With the use of slides, Bailey explained to the Rotarians that members in the program go through

Golden Spur Awarded

Watt Reynolds Matthews, who represents two of America's most respected ranching families, has been named recipient of the 1981 National Golden Spur Award.

The award is made annually to an individual who has brought distinction to the ranching and livestock industry. The individual must have made significant contributions to the industry in both humanistic and scientific ways.

The award, a gilded OK spur encased in a crystal presentation piece created especially for the occasion by Steuben Glass, will be presented Sept. 18 in Lubbock at a National Golden Spur Award and Prairie Party.

Making the award are the American National CowBelles, the American Quarter Horse, National Cattlemen's, National Wool Growers, Ranching Heritage, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers and the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Associations.

A National Golden Spur Livestock and Money Symposium will precede the presentation and prairie party. Ranch Day at the Ranching Heritage Center of the Museum of Texas Tech University will follow Saturday, Sept. 19. All weekend events are open to the public. Tickets are available through the Ranching Heritage Association.

Matthews manages for his family the Lambshead Ranch and the J.A. Matthews Cattle Co. at Albany, Texas. He is internationally known for his work in historic preservation.

For 123 years, the Matthews and the Reynolds names have been synonymous with the development of the ranching industry in the American West. Together they established or occupied more than 25 ranches, beginning in 1858 when the J.A. Matthews family founded the Stephens County Ranch in Texas. A year later, B.W. Reynolds' family settled on the Cantrell Ranch in Stephens County.

On Christmas Day of 1876 Sallie Reynolds married M.A. Matthews, and her account of the family life in the book, "Interwoven," has been highly acclaimed for its historic accuracy of frontier life. Sallie Reynolds Matthews this year was posthumously inducted into the Cowboy Hall of Fame of Great Westerners.

Watt Matthews' uncles and grandfathers blazed cattle trails to New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Utah, California, Montana and North Dakota, beginning in 1865. They continued driving cattle up the trails as far as the Canadian border to 1902.

Watt Matthews has been a director of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association since 1956. This year he was made an honorary vice president. He served two consecutive terms as director of the American Hereford Association and has been elected to that association's Hall of Fame. He is honorary chairman of the Ranching Heritage Association Board of Overseers and has been a member of that organization since its founding in 1969. He also has served as a director of the Cowboy Hall of Fame.

For 50 years he has been a director of the First National Bank of Albany, and he has been Roundup chairman for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center of Abilene, Texas, for 21 years. He has been president of the famous Fort Griffin Fandangle since 1958. Fandangle Samplers have been presented as far away as Washington and England. The outdoor musical is presented the last two weekends in June on 30 acres of land, with a hillside accomodating 1,600 people nightly. The land is leased for a $1 a year by the J.A. Matthews family.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek tries to tackle a big problem this week.

Dear editor:

As I understand it, the difference between a nuclear power plant and a fireplace is that ashes from the latter can be disposed of wherever it is handy without endangering future generation or blowing onto your neighbor's yard, but with nuclear waste it is a different matter.

You leave that stuff lying around and you may build up a world full of freaks who spend two-thirds of their money preparing to exterminate each other.

On the other hand, since nuclear bombs can't be un-invented and other countries now have them, I'm in favor of us having some too.

But the problem of nuclear waste still hovers over us and nobody has come up with a handy place to put it. It's like the M-X missiles. People argue we need those underground weapons but we need them in some other state, not Texas. You build the system in our state and it'll become the most bomb-worthy spot the Russians have their eye on and their guided missiles aimed at.

I have given this matter considerable thought. And this is no time for petty selfishness. Any of the 50 states has as much right as any other not to want the thing within its borders, and the matter calls for level-headed cooperation.

The answer is simple. We need a 51st state designed solely for storing nuclear waster, the M-X missile system, chemical waste, old pesticide cans, city garbage, etc.

I can hear somebody saying, "Yeah, but where are we going to put that new state?"

That's out of my province. I just think up the main solution and leave the details to others. It's like the Federal budget. Once you point out it needs cutting, it's up to somebody else to find out where. That is where that 51st state could come in handy. We could chop off aid to it.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Auction Sets World Records-Texas Style

The 1981 Western Heritage Sale topped $4 million with one painting alone bringing more than $300,000, to shatter all previous records for a sale and auction of art, cattle, and horses in the US.

With the auctioneer's last cry of "sold," a total of $4,032,400 had changed hands during the extraordinary two-day, black-tie affair at the famed Shamrock Hilton Hotel last weekend. That was nearly double last year's figure of $2,279,575, as bidding reached six figures on livestock as well as art for the first time in the Sale's history.

Art sales totaled $2,539,400 with Clark Hulings' oil painting "Kaleidoscope" bringing the most ever paid -- $310,000 -- for a piece of fine art of the American West by a living artist. The tally for Santa Gertrudis cattle was $621,500, including a new breed record of $125,000 paid for a bull, for an average of $23,903 per animal. The total for Quarter Horses was $871,500, including a top price of $130,000 for a filly, for a record-setting average of $36,312 per horse.

Over 1,200 invited guests and celebrities attended the gala sixth annual extravaganza sponsored by three prominent Texans: former Governor John B. Connally, land developer/rancher Joe Marchman, and civic leader/rancher Louis Pearce, Jr.

Marchman, who coordinates the Sale every year, said the record bids were a tribute to the quality of the uniquely Texan affair. "This is not only the finest art and livestock show in the country, but also in the world, and the prices these people are willing to pay show it," he commented.

"We'll start planning for 1982 next month," he added, "and next year we'll be back at the Shamrock again trying to break all these records."

The Western Heritage Sale originated six years ago as a Bicentennial tribute to the proud spirit that forged the American West. The annual event has become a major factor in the ever-increasing awareness and stature of the region's unique heritage.

According to available estimates -- 1980 Census data is still tied up in the courts -- there are nearly 680,000 women veterans in the U.S., about 2 percent of the veteran population. They are entitled to the same benefits as other veterans.

At last count two years ago, more than 152,000 women veterans had availed themselves of the post-Korean GI Bill, nearly 80 percent of them to attend college. At that time, there were 23,760 women vets receiving compensation payments from the Veterans Administration for service-connected disabilities and 11,782 receiving VA pensions (based on total disability and financial need).

Since VA hospitals may not be able to furnish the care or services required by women veterans, they may be entitled in certain cases for treatment at VA expense in private hospitals. The exception is normal pregnancy, which is not covered by VA benefits.

Some women may be veterans without knowing it. About 25 percent of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps chose to remain civilians when the Women's Army Corps was set up in 1943. However, a few years ago Congress gave the former WAAc veteran status, just like WAAc. To establish their eligibility, they must first apply to the Army for an honorable discharge.

Veterans can get more information and assistance from any American Legion Post or Veterans Administration Office. -- Michael J. Kogutek, National Commander.

Roy Cooper To Compete In Chute Out At Clovis

Roy Cooper, world champion calf roper, will compete in the Pioneer Rodeo Days beginning June 4 in another stop of the 1981 Coors Chute Out Challenge of Champions.

The Adolph Coors Company became a national sponsor of professional rodeo in 1980 and will again this year provide $1 million in bonus prize money to designated rodeo contestants and stock contractors.

The Clovis event is the 15th of 87 rodeos in 19 states over the next seven months that have been designated by the world champions as Coors Chute Out competitions. Coors will put up a total of $357,000 in bonus prize money.

Besides Cooper, other world champions competing in Chute Out Rodeos in 1981 are Bruce Ford of Kersey, Colorado, winner of the world bareback bronc riding title the past two years; Don Gay of Mesquite, Texas, world bull riding champion in the last seven years; Clint Johnson of Spearfish, S.D., in saddle bronc riding; Martha Josey of Karnack, Texas, in barrel racing; Butch Myers of Welda, Kansas, in steer wrestling; and Tee Wooman of Llano, Texas in team roping.

The Coors Chute Out competition works this way:

If a champion is beaten in his initial competition, he immediately writes a $250 check to the cowboy who beats him.

The champion puts up $1,000, challenging all comers to beat him in average for the entire rodeo. If he doesn't win, he pays off immediately. If he wins, he keeps the Coors money.

From Phoenix to San Francisco, each of the world champions will compete in 30 designated Chute Out Rodeos in a Challenge of the Champions.

Each world champion is guaranteed a minimum of $9,000 for competing in designated rodeos. Challengers of the world champions can claim a total of $262,500 by beating the champions. Stock contractors will share $31,500 in Coors bonus money during the season.

During the 1980 inaugural season of Coors Chute Out competitions, the world champions won only 16 times. The challengers claimed victory 159 times--and shared $159,000 in bonus prize money.

GI Bill May Cause Potential Problems

A recent change in GI Bill payment procedures should alleviate potential problems for certain veterans enrolled in summer school.

Originally, students enrolled in summer classes were prohibited from receiving GI Bill benefit payments when the period between school terms exceeded thirty days.

The modified regulation now allows payments where the interval between terms does not exceed one full calendar month. For example, if a school's term ends on August 15, and the fall terms begins on September 28, this interval would exceed the old thirty day limit. Under the new provisions, it would not exceed the full calendar month criteria, and education payments would be made. The veteran must be enrolled in a summer term at least eight weeks long but no payment will be made for any interval between two summer sessions regardless of length.

Traffic Accident Number One Cause Of Youth Death

The leading cause of death among young people in Texas is traffic accidents, according to Colonel Jim Adams, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"DPS statistics show that during 1980, 1,898 people from infancy through age 24 were killed in traffic accidents on Texas streets and highways. This is 43 per cent of the total traffic deaths," Adams said. He pointed out that 4,424 persons were killed last year in Texas traffic accidents. "The real tragedy is that so many of these deaths could be avoided if more people of every age would wear their seat belts," noted Adams.

The Department of Public Safety is urging all motorists to use safety belts during the holidays as well as the rest of the year.

"If people will use them during the holidays and the summertime, we think they'll get into the habit of buckling up everytime they get into a vehicle," said Adams. "Far too many people, both young and old, are simply not using the very device that could mean the difference between life and death, or between serious injuries and no injuries," he said.

Adams continued, "Putting on a seat belt takes only a few seconds. But that 'click' can add years to one's life."

Adams pointed out that when a crash occurs there are really two collisions. "After the initial impact, the driver and passengers are tossed about inside the car and their bodies strike something inside the passenger compartment," he said.

"Therefore, the second collision, or the 'human collision' is the one that causes serious or even fatal injuries," Adams said.

The DPS director pointed out that some people mistakenly believe they can protect themselves during a crash by bracing their arms and legs. "Collisions usually happen too fast to permit this. Even if there was time, the forces involved in a collision are too great to withstand," said Adams.

"Wearing seatbelts is important," he continued, "whether you're driving hundreds of miles for along weekend or just across town. After all, three out of four fatal crashes happen within 25 miles of home and more than half of all injurious auto accidents occur at speeds of less than 40 mph, according to national statistics.

"Children under four years old and weighing less than 40 pounds should ride in a suitable child restraint. All passengers should be encouraged to use seat belts," Adams concluded.

It is very hard not to fool yourself about your car.

Advertising is like fishing. You must use the right bait at the right place and at the right time to expect results.

Workshop To Be Held In Levelland

A workshop in colors for portrait painting begins June 8 at South Plains College in Levelland.

Artist Christain Seidler of Lubbock will instruct the one-week workshop from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. daily through June 12, with a 1-hour lunch break.

"The class is designed to teach the student sound color basics and how to put them into practice in their own work," Seidler explained. "Demonstrations will be given showing how to create depth through the use of color temperature, color intensity, and the class also will explore the different pallettes used by the masters-John Singer Sargent, Velazquez and Rembrandt. We'll attempt to understand how they used their color portraits, still lifes and landscapes," he noted.

Seidler will be available to teach this workshop in area towns if enough interest is shown. The course also will be sponsored by SPC's Continuing Education Division.

Time, permitting, the latter part of the course will involve portrait painting; after this workshop, one will be offered later on portrait painting.

For more information on enrollment, contact SPC's Continuing Education Office at (806) 894-9611, ext. 242.

Onions Give Added Flavor

Oil in onions gives them their flavor--and that's a key in cooking with onions, says Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist.

This oil blends with fats and oils in other foods, so to enhance the onion flavor in stews, for example, heat chopped onion in a little fat for a few minutes. Then add the onion to the other ingredients, she says.

Ms. Haggard is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

TLC In The Kitchen
Preserves Food Freshness

Many homemakers concerned about supplying their families with nutritious foods insist on cooking with fresh ingredients. But the nutrition in the foods they buy, and what they actually serve their families can differ greatly unless a few safeguards are taken, say dietitians at Dairy Council, Inc.

According to the booklet "Conserving Nutrients in Foods," published by the United States Department of Agriculture, some nutrients -- protein, carbohydrates and fat -- are relatively stable. But others -- vitamins and minerals -- are fragile, and can literally be washed down the drain even before cooking begins.

Here are some tips for storing and preparing fresh foods from each of the four food groups -- milk, meat, vegetable-fruit, and bread-cereal.

- * Keep milk group -- milk, cheese, yogurt, ice cream -- cold, covered and away from strong light to preserve flavor and nutrients. Riboflavin, an important nutrient in milk, can be lost by exposure to sunlight or artificial light.
- * Foods in the meat, poultry and fish group lose B vitamins when the juices and drippings are thrown away. Meat juices are lost when meat is sliced or left sitting.
- * The vegetable-fruit group is the most vulnerable to nutrient losses. Bruising of vegetables and fruits can cause loss of vitamins A and C. Trim, peel and slice vegetables only when necessary, and with a sharp knife.
- * Keep berries whole, with caps on, until ready to eat.
- * Keep leafy vegetables -- kale, spinach, broccoli, chard and salad greens -- whole and refrigerated in a vegetable crisper or moisture proof bag until ready to eat.
- * Keep green pear and green lima beans in their pods; if shelled, keep in plastic bag in refrigerator.
- * Overripe tomatoes lose some of their vitamin C.
- * Carrots, sweet potatoes, and potatoes retain nutrients best if kept cool and moist enough to prevent withering.

Five Things To Keep Kids Busy
In Summer

Summer is an excellent time to teach children the fun and importance of physical fitness, suggests a licensed athletic trainer at Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine.

"Kids learn to respect the idea of keeping fit through their parents' examples," said Peggy Weiss of the TCOM Institute for Human Fitness. "Summer is a good time to plan family activities around physical exercises, like swimming, walking, running, biking, tennis, golf or baseball. Substitute a nightly walk for an hour around the TV."

Keep a backpacking trip in mind for a family-oriented vacation, she added, but cautioned that family members should walk up to strenuous hiking gradually by planning short hikes before the vacation.

"Remember that any of the heart-strengthening exercises you do, such as jogging, swimming or aerobic dancing, need to be done nonstop for at least 30 minutes three week to be of any good to you," the TCOM trainer said.

Ms. Weiss also suggests helping kids plan nutritious meals and snacks during the summer. "The American Dietetics Association's 'Family Cookbook' is a good place to go for advice," she said.

"Your need to control the quality of kids' food, not the quantity. If weight is a problem, increase the child's physical activities. Overfat babies and young children are potential overfat adults because fat cells are formed in the early adolescent years.

"Not only will parents be helping their kids with nutrition and exercise, but they will also be helping themselves."

Create Your Future: Dream A Little Daydream

Daydreams can create your future, a family life education specialist says.

And they can create a quiet resting "place" for a short time during the day, so they're useful for two reasons, Dr. Betty Jo Smith adds.

Dr. Smith is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Admitting she's not advocating "dreaming one's life away" as most people were cautioned against during childhood, the specialist contends that daydreams have a definite place in life when used to an individual's advantage. CREATE YOUR FUTURE

Daydreams have a real bearing on the future when a person does a little imagining about it, Dr. Smith says.

For example, daydreaming about upcoming events can provide an individual with the opportunity to imagine the event from a variety of perspectives.

He or she can actually create various scenarios of the event and imagine playing a variety of roles.

Is this healthy? Yes, indeed, the specialist says.

In fact, people who tend to daydream about upcoming events and those who imagine themselves in various roles tend to be better prepared and, therefore, more successful in dealing with the event.

Daydreaming about future events also may give the individual a chance to assess the event in more realistic terms.

And since people become, or do, what they think they will -- be it "good" or "bad" -- daydreaming may help a person perceive the future more realistically and, perhaps, in a more positive manner, Dr. Smith explains.

By having considered all of one's alternative behaviors, an individual can choose what he or she feels is the most appropriate and advantageous behavior, she adds.

This tends to build a person's feeling of self-confidence, and, hence, individuals tend to perform better, the specialist says.

A RESTING 'PLACE' Daydreaming can provide a second useful tool for people's lives as a stress reducer, Dr. Smith says.

That is, if they are short, particularly relaxing daydreams the individual enjoys, they can help.

If that is the case, it may be worth the time to take a few minutes during the day to become fully engrossed in a relaxing daydream, the specialist advises.

People who use this relaxation technique often daydream about being near cool mountain streams or sitting at the kitchen window watching a soft, quiet rain or soaking up the sun and watching the waves roll in along the Gulf, she says.

Whatever or wherever a favorite relaxing "place" might be, daydreams can take a person there in a moment and provide a few minutes of rest in that favorite "place," the specialist says.

"EASE, UP MOM" So, even though we continue to caution against "living in a dream world" or "daydreaming their lives away," daydreams -- in short periods of time -- can be a most useful tool for an individual's health and well-being, Dr. Smith adds.

"I have dandruff! What can I do about it?"
This is a commonly-asked question, since most of us either have experienced or will experience some form of dandruff.
Dandruff is usually defined as a condition of itching and flaking of the scalp. Occasionally these symptoms become quite severe, and there may also be some redness and inflammation -- generally dermatologists term this seborrheic dermatitis.
Treatment: No product will "cure" dandruff. But regular use of a good dandruff shampoo is often sufficient to reduce itching and flaking.
A very effective and widely dermatologist-recommended treatment is a shampoo containing a coal tar extract.
But don't turn up your nose! Not all tar shampoos look and smell like a freshly paved road. One company in particular has developed a process that removes the unpleasant odor and appearance characteristic of most tar shampoos.
This product is Neutrogena T/Gel Shampoo. It is pleasant to use, gentle but effective, and is recommended by dermatologists.

simulated training in a steel box. This box is identical to the one used by the astronauts when testing their suits. In the box we create a vacuum to give the participants an idea of what it is like without oxygen. Bailey stated that one will stay conscious for nine to 12 seconds if the oxygen mask is taken off.

"We try to show them that the equipment works so they will believe in the equipment," he said. The problem of placing faith in the body and not the aircraft and its instruments was explained: "Because of spacial disorientation, the pilot does not really know what is happening and if he listens to his body and not the aircraft, he is in trouble. This is how many deaths occur."

Bailey stated that through this program he could train anyone to fly if they took the time because flying is built around a check list. "When a problem is encountered the pilot should check with his list which has the answers."

In answer to the question of reliability, Bailey stated that the ejection seats were extremely reliable. "If our cars were as reliable as these seats, many of the car repairmen would be out of business. The problem was the pilots wait too long to use the equipment."

Bailey also went into great detail about the parasail training which teaches the students how to fall after a parachute jump, water survival, and parachute drag training.

Rotary guests were Loyd Wescock of Kerrville, Don Perkawich, and Walt Rodie.

A&M Alcohol Plant In Full Operation

When the availability of fuel becomes more important to agricultural producers than the price, Texas A & M engineers will be able to tell them all about an available alternate fuel--ethanol alcohol or ethanol.

The engineers have been running a research and demonstration ethanol production plant for the last five months. It produces 184 proof alcohol from grain through a series of fermentation and distillation processes. It's just a matter of cooking the alcohol up, as Henry O'Neal explains.

"To this point we have used only grain sorghum and corn as the feedstock for making alcohol," O'Neal says. "The general process is to first, grind the grain, put it into a cooker, add water and add enzyme to keep the mixture liquid during the heating process."

"This mash is heated to just below boiling and cooked for about an hour. Then it is colled down to between 95 degrees and 100 degrees F. Another enzyme is added to change the starch to sugar, then yeast is added to begin the fermentation of the sugar."

TAHC Announces Brucellosis Group

A livestock committee has been named for this area to assist in implementation of the Texas brucellosis program. Members are Rich Anderson, Gail; J.E. Birdwell II, Muleshoe; J.E. Birdwell, III, Whiteface; Jim Boyd-stun, Ralls; S.C. Burleson, Quitaque; Royce Collins, Olton; Elhison Tom, Jr., Andrews; Travis Jones, Floydada; Roy Neely, Midland; Bruce Rigler, Plainview; Pinky Sellers, Sweetwater; and William J. Waldrip, Lubbock.

Birdwell II is chairman. The committee is one of 15 throughout Texas. Commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission have named one committee for each of the 15 TAHC areas. This group represents TAHC area 2.

"Selection of these committees is a major step forward in the Texas brucellosis program," John Armstrong, Kingsville, chairman, TAHC, said. "All members are actively engaged in livestock production, and their suggestions and recommendations as to how to improve and implement the Texas Plan for brucellosis control will be invaluable to Commissioners and the entire staff of the TAHC," Armstrong explained.

Brucellosis is a highly contagious disease of livestock. It affects the reproductive organs resulting in abortions, partial loss of milk production, weakend calves, and in some cases sterility in bulls. In humans, brucellosis is known as undulant fever.

and corn both produce 2 1/2 gallons of 184 proof ethanol per bushel. "We will be using the alcohol we produce in a 1000-hour engine test," O'Neal says, "so we can get a feel for any out-of-the-ordinary wear or maintenance that might have to be taken into account if we're going to use this alcohol as a fuel under long-term conditions."

The energy requirements of the plant and environmental and safety aspects of alcohol production are also being studied. Research and demonstration data are available to the public, and tours of the plant can be arranged through your local county Extension agent.

The production plant at Texas A & M is a small-scale model and has less cooking and fermenting capacity than an actual on-farm plant would have. The demonstration model has four cooking tanks, each with a 12 1/2 bushel grain capacity, which gives the plant a 30-gallon per day production rate. Its distillation capacity is 10 gallons per hour.

"There are some residues left which are a good protein source for feeding livestock," O'Neal says. "We are easily recovering 8 pounds or 27 to 28 percent protein per bushel of grain that went into the cooker."

Many products can be fermented to produce ethanol, including wheat, potatoes, sugar cane, sweet sorghum and sugar beets. The engineers plan on testing the production potential of several feedstocks. Thus far, they have found that grain sorghum and corn both produce 2 1/2 gallons of 184 proof ethanol per bushel.

Mixed Doubles Tournament To Be Held In Amarillo

A Lipton Iced Tea Mixed Doubles qualifying tournament will be held at the Tascosa Country Club, June 19-21.

"Mixed doubles teams should take advantage of this unique opportunity to compete in a strictly amateur, national tournament," Dave Nichols said. Details for interested parties are available by contacting Dave Nichols at the Tennis Pro Shop, phone 376-6679.

Amateurs of all abilities may compete in the Lipton Iced Tea Amateur Mixed Doubles Championship, National Tennis Week's popular nationwide tournament. The winners of each qualifying tournament proceed to one of the 128 sectional events from which the winning team advances to one of 32 regional playoffs. The regional winners are flown all expenses paid, each with a guest, to the national finals at the Sawgrass resort in Ponte Vedra, Florida, a competition held simultaneously with the $200,00 ATP men's professional Lipton World of Doubles tournament.

Now in its eighth year, National Tennis Week encourages public participation in the sport. Public and private facilities across Texas will host instructional clinics and a variety of tournaments. Players and spectators may also participate in the new $12,000 consumer sweepstakes.

The President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, state governors and all major tennis associations in the United States support National Tennis Week, which is sponsored by Thomas J. Lipton, Inc. and conducted by GD/T Sports for Tennis magazine.

Low-cost life insurance (up to $10,000) is available for veterans with service connected disabilities. All Veterans Administration regional offices nationwide can provide interested parties with all the important details.

More than 7 million of the 9 million living Vietnam Era veterans have used Veterans Administration benefits. Among them are over 6 million who have used VA educational assistance, and almost 2 million have received hospital care.

YESTERDAY'S COWBOY IS TODAY'S AGRIBUSINESSMAN

Ask today's cattlemen where his "cowboys" reside and he's likely to steer you toward the feed storage shed. While the legend of the cowboy lives on through the rodeo, the men on the range have been replaced by a more sophisticated and educated breed of stockmen who are using feed as a management tool.

"When I was a boy, we used to work our cattle with horses," says Oklahoma stockman Sidney Hobbs. "But now, I can do the entire job myself with a sack of supplement in the back of my pick-up truck."

"Many feed formulations previously designed for added convenience have taken on added significance in today's economy because they help reduce the sky-rocketing costs of labor and transportation," states Dr. Danny Williams, manager of applied beef research for the Ralston Purina Company, which provides many of these "convenience" products.

"Traditionally, feed supplements were fed every day throughout the winter," says Williams. "But rising costs have caused many cattlemen to utilize liquids and self-limiting supplements. These supplements help balance cattle diets without requiring daily feeding. The supplements can be fed through a lick tank or self-feeder for extended periods of time."

Liquid Usage Up
The increasing popularity of liquid supplements is evidenced by a Liquid Feed Symposium report which indicated that annual liquid feed usage has increased to 2.7 million tons.

Dr. T.W. Perry, professor of animal nutrition at Purdue University, believes the two primary reasons for rising liquid supplement usage are cost efficiency and the ability to feed free choice. "Most of the literature I've seen shows that liquid supplements perform as well as dry urea-fortified supplements," he says.

One cattlemen who would agree with Perry is Iowa cowman Ray Brown. "Without proper protein and balanced nutrients," he says, "I couldn't get my genetics to working. I make it a point to feed a well researched quality ration." Brown supplements his grass pasture with an homogenized liquid supplement called Sup-R-Lix, fed from lick tanks.

According to Williams, homogenization is one key to the increasing popularity of this liquid supplement. "Because all the ingredients are equal in size, Sup-R-Lix will not settle out, ensuring that cattle will get the same nutrients any time they go to the lick tank."

For cattlemen who prefer a dry supplement, Accuration can be a real time saver according to Williams. "One of the main reasons many cattlemen have tried Accuration is labor. You don't have to round-up. You don't have to scatter cakes so labor is minimized. And, in many cases, the dealer fills the feeders, further saving the cattlemen time," he explains.

Designed to be fed with a wide variety of roughage sources—range, pasture, cornstalks or stubble—Accuration induces cows to consume roughage first. It differs from most intake limiters in that it does not rely on salt to control intake. This is beneficial because self-feeders don't have to be located near stock water.

While Williams agrees that prepared feeds can be helpful to the hard-working cattlemen, he cautions that they are not substitutes for personal care. "In one respect, the cattle industry hasn't changed one bit. Anyone who's been successful at running livestock really cares about the welfare of his herd. Good feeding programs help, but there is no substitute for sound management."

Farmer's Prices, Costs Increase in April

AUSTIN—A 14 percent increase in April in the Index of Prices that farmers and ranchers receive for their products is not necessarily an accurate profit picture, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

Brown was quick to note that production costs for agriculture had also increased. "Fuel costs alone have gone up 39 percent," Brown said. "Fertilizers are up 23 percent and other expenses like interest rates have also increased. The profit picture for most farmers and ranchers is not good."

According to the April 15 report by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, Upland cotton was at an average of 66.7 cents per pound, up 12 cents from 1980. Wheat decreased 6 cents to $3.84 per bushel and grain sorghum stood at $5.56 per hundredweight (cwt.), virtually unchanged from last year.

The April Livestock and Livestock Products Index remained unchanged from 1980. Lower prices for beef cattle, calves, and lambs were offset by higher prices for hogs, sheep, broilers, eggs, and turkeys.

Beef cattle sold for an average $61.00 cwt., down $2.81 from 1980 and calves dropped $3.80 to $68.70. Hogs were $37.70 per cwt., up $9.90 from last year.

"Although agricultural prices may have increased slightly from 1980," explained Brown, "let's not forget that last year was not a particularly good year for farmers either. In reality, prices have only recently begun to reach an equitable level for our state's producers."

RECORD NUMBERS OF CATTLE BEING FED THIS YEAR

The president of the National Cattlemen's Association foresees record numbers of cattle in feedlots this year which could lead to a consumer market plentiful in beef.

"With large numbers of cattle placed in feedlots in the fall we usually have a seasonal bulge in cattle marketing in the spring," explained J.W. "Bill" Swan. "This year the supply increase has been even greater than expected."

Swan's analysis appears to be supported by USDA figures which show that the January 1 cattle inventory was estimated at 115 million cattle, up three percent from January 1, 1980 and the second year of the current upward swing of the cattle cycle. Projections of future market conditions are based more on the inventory of cattle not in feedlots which the USDA figures estimate was up seven percent over 1980.

"There will be some fluctuations in meat supplies and prices as we move through the year," Swan said. "But total per-capita supplies for the year will be near record levels and, from a consumer standpoint, one of the best supply periods is right now."

EDITORIAL

The English Amendment

Senator S. I. Hayakawa (R-Calif) has introduced in the Senate a proposed amendment to the Constitution which would make English the official language of the U.S. and preclude the federal government or any state from enacting laws which require school instruction in any other language.

The amendment would not stop or discourage the teaching and learning of other languages in schools and colleges. In fact, Senator Hayakawa encourages this. But it would prevent the cultural fragmentation of the nation, which is threatened by politicians bowing to demands of minorities (for votes), by encouraging all Americans to learn English.

The current threat is from some who would exempt Hispanics from this traditional American obligation of citizenship. This is misguided sentiment. Unless American citizens can read and understand the English language they can't fully understand the Constitution, U.S. history or the laws of the land—or even what elected leaders are saying and recommending.

The need for all to learn the language of the land is so apparent, it's hard to believe politicians would argue the other side of the question. Yet the Carter Administration was catering to those seeking this special exemption when turned out of office.

We can see what language differences do in a nation—by glancing at crises in Belgium, Canada and parts of Spain and Italy today. Unless we want similar and disruptive cultural splits in this nation, we must have one accepted language for all, as has been the American way since the republic was founded.

Missing The Point

Although it's likely to make little difference in the emotional squabble over selling AWACS radar-monitoring aircraft to Saudi Arabia, the main point is being missed.

If the U.S. doesn't sell the Saudis these aircraft, they'll buy similar ones from Britain. There, members of Parliament are not as handily manipulated as are most members of Congress by the Israeli lobby.

Second, those who have taken up the convincing-sounding theme that before we sell the Saudis these aircraft, they must demonstrate what they will do for us, also miss the point.

The Saudis are already—and have been doing so for years—shipping us most of our imported oil. And they have helped hold down price increases. If they are alienated, and cut off the oil, this country will experience economic chaos, which will directly affect every American.

The way things are going, that's probably what will happen sooner or later, since we are shipping massive amounts of military equipment, and the latest jets, to Israel, economically and militarily dependent on us, while haggling over every sale to Saudi Arabia. We are even giving much of the aid to Israel in the form of grants. Objections from Arab countries, to this sponsorship, go almost unheard in the media.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Well into the dark hours of last Wednesday night, the Texas House of Representatives finally approved a plan to redistrict House seats.

Some legislators were pleased, some weren't.

A dozen lawmakers found themselves paired in new districts, thus forcing them to campaign against one another next year.

And a Mexican-American legislator, Rep. Paul Moreno of El Paso, took the microphone after the bill finally passed to denounce it as a travesty against his ethnic group. Moreno, a former Dirty Thirty member and long-standing House maverick, threatened the bill with a federal court lawsuit, saying Mexican-American groups will sue to have the bill thrown out as unconstitutional.

All in all, most legislators were pleased with the new borderlines, and there was a general consensus that the bill would hold up in court.

The most dramatic vote involved the pairing of the Legislature's top two gasohol advocates, Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale and Rep. Bill Keese of Somerville. Both members found themselves living in the same Central Texas district, with two new districts to either side of it.

Temporary Win

Kubiak and Keese are not the best of friends, but both are excluded from the inner circle of the House leadership and are generally credited for their independence.

The pair offered an amendment to redraw the Central Texas area and avoid the political annihilation of one of them, and the House voted approval initially. However, when Kubiak moved to nail down the victory, the momentum had already turned and he failed by a handful of votes.

Other interesting pairings include Speaker Bill Clayton of Springlake and Pete Laney of Hale Center; Steve Wolens and Lanell Cofer, both of Dallas; Ron Coleman and Paul Moreno, both of El Paso; and freshman Larry Shaw of Big Spring against Dean of the House Bill Healy.

VOTE & RESIGNATIONS

Two State Department officials resigned recently in protest over the Reagan administration's decision to oppose voluntary international restrictions on the marketing of infant formula in underdeveloped nations.

ON THE ECONOMY

Although revised figures show national economic growth zoomed upward in the first quarter of 1981 at the steepest rate in nearly three years, Reagan administration officials insisted the economy is sluggish at best and in need of the tax cut.

SENATE VOTE

The Senate voted 52 to 43 to eliminate incest and rape as grounds for an abortion under the federal Medicaid program. The measure would allow the government to pay for the operation only if the woman's life is threatened.

Clayton has said he will not seek re-election and is regarded as an unannounced candidate for Land Commissioner. In the House, no one is closer to Clayton than Laney.

Wolens' district was cut into three pieces, leaving the freshman virtually without a home district, but he argued and won for a pairing with Cofer, a black.

Coleman is perhaps the top sidkick in the faction which has generally opposed Clayton during the past eight years. Coleman has said he will probably move to a vacant district to avoid an election clash with Moreno.

Redistricting Tradition

Traditionally, the House and Senate redistrict themselves, and then do not amend the plan for the other chamber. Thus, the House and Senate plans are already assured of making it to the Governor's office for his signature. Should he fail to sign, the task of redistricting will go to a special board, but Clements is expected to sign.

The House and Senate have approved different versions of a congressional redistricting plan, and a compromise plan will be reached in conference committee.

Wiretap Bill

Victory will be sweet for Gov. Bill Clements this week when he signs the newly-approved wiretap bill he fought so hard to achieve.

The bill authorizes the chief judge in each of the state's nine judicial districts to approve wiretaps on suspected drug dealers. Requests for wiretaps must be made by the head of the Department of Public Safety.

The bill was bitterly opposed by civil libertarians who are fearful of abuses to the privacy rights of law-abiding citizens. For the most of the session, the bill remained stalled in a Senate committee, but it was voted out two weeks ago when a two-year sunset clause was attached.

Finally, the House concurred with the amended bill which will bring the wiretap law up for review in 1985, increase penalties for illegal wiretaps, and require a DPS officer to be present when local police assisted with installing the taps.

Opponents still charge that the bill contains provisions that allow police to break into a suspect's home to place the wiretap.

Clements will surely sign the bill as soon as possible, and it may be his most enjoyable afternoon of this hard-fought session.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Texans have a long tradition of pride in their state, and recent government studies confirm our right to be proud.

The state's population grew by some 27 percent in the 10-year period from 1970 to 1980, to a total of 14,228,000 -- compared to an 11 percent average growth rate for the nation as a whole.

The Texas share of the national paycheck grew last year faster than any other state's, placing per capita earnings in 1980 at $55 more than the U.S. average.

These figures prove what we had already observed, that Texas is experiencing rapid growth in both population and prosperity.

A recent study by two Texas A&M University sociologists concluded Texas could surpass New York in its population by 1990. "Texas can now be compared to a giant magnet, drawing increasingly more people from other regions and states," the A&M researchers noted.

These impressive gains are no accident. The quality of life in Texas is good enough to draw people and business from more stagnant areas of the country. And this quality of life has been made possible by the friendly and hardworking people of Texas, along with reasoned and responsive state and local governments.

For example, I have been impressed by the way our governor and state legislature have reacted to cuts in federal programs which feed money into state coffers. While other states have complained loudly, Texas has shown its self-reliant spirit and concern for the national good by making the necessary adjustments at the state level.

The balanced-budget approach of Texas state government has made for a fiscally sound treasury which is able to meet present needs without being hamstrung by past budgetary indiscretions.

The progressive attitude of both state government and that of the cities in Texas has created a business climate second to none. I have been impressed by the approach of Texas cities to seeking new industry, but with an eye to attracting businesses which will allow both city and company to benefit from the new site.

The management-labor climate in Texas also has proved an asset in encouraging industrial expansion and relocation. The growing personal income level for Texans illustrates the benefit to individual workers of Texas' right-to-work approach to organized labor.

Our vast natural resources, and the willingness to use them in a responsible way, also have contributed to our growing prosperity.

In short, Texas has presented a good model to the rest of the nation looking for ways to increase economic activity and employment levels.

The next ten years will provide renewed challenges and opportunities. Providing necessary government services to our growing population without onerous taxation will call for careful planning.

Keeping population levels and employment opportunities increasing at about the same rate also will challenge the ingenuity Texans historically have demonstrated.

But I am confident Texans are more than capable of handling any situation presented to them. Texas will continue to be a land of opportunity for its present and future citizens.

AUSTIN—Deaf students in Texas will have new educational opportunities because of legislation which has been passed by the Texas Legislature.

Legislation that I co-sponsored authorizes independent status for the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf. Federal lands deeded to Howard County Junior College at Big Spring will be used exclusively for the purpose of operating the Institute.

Without adequate preparation, deaf persons and others with hearing impairments may face serious if not insurmountable difficulties in continuing their education beyond the high school level, or in starting a career. Traditional institutions, however, are not well suited to provide the highly specialized type of instruction necessary to prepare these persons on a large scale basis.

Currently, Howard County Junior College operates the post-secondary institute for the deaf on a "program" basis. The federal government is deeding facilities of the abandoned Webb Air Force Base to the college for the purpose of establishing the Institute. It is hoped that through this legislative recognition and support, the Institute will be able to attract additional sources of funding as well as gain widespread public recognition.

There currently are only three schools in our nation that serve the advanced educational needs of deaf students. Those facilities are located in New York, Washington, D.C., and California. I feel that a definite need exists for such an institution in the Southwest.

The legislation is now awaiting the approval and signature of the Governor and will become law 90 days after the signing.

CHEMICAL WEAPONS

A Reagan administration proposal to spend $20 million to produce nerve gas and other chemical weapons was approved by the Senate, apparently clearing the way for final congressional passage.

ON SOCIAL SECURITY

The Reagan administration stoutly defended its proposal to slash Social Security benefits—especially for early retirees. But it conceded in the wake of congressional hostility that it is ready to compromise on any point.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:
 This week I wrote to President Reagan expressing my strong objections to his administration's consideration of an appeal from a judgement of a Federal court overturning the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act (PURPA). The statute in question was declared unconstitutional by Judge Harold Cox in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Mississippi in February, 1981. The statute itself was part of the ill-conceived National Energy Plan, which gives the US Congress authority to require state utility commissions to consider and determine the appropriateness of implementing federal ratemaking standards. During the trial, Mississippi argued that this requirement is an intrusion into a State's right to establish its own rate-making policies, and would place an intolerable burden of time and money on the State and its Public Service Commission by increasing the number and complexity of utility rate hearings.

Judge Cox granted a motion for summary judgement by the State of Mississippi and overturned PURPA on the grounds that is unconstitutionally usurped the power of the State and interfered

Dear Friends:
 We would like to express our appreciation to all the fine people who have helped us after the loss of our large dormitory by fire. We want to thank everyone that has given us clothing, bedding, linen, personal items, and school supplies for our girls. We could not have continued to provide for their needs without your help.

Thank you for sending in the cash contributions that will help us to start a building fund. We must build three cottages to take care of the staff and girls that were in the old building.

Thank each of you who gave your time to come out and help us sort through the items and fit the girls. It is only because of people like you that we will be able to care for our girls at Girlstown.

Sincerely,
 Marshall W. Cooper (S)
 Executive Director

directly in State sovereignty by giving the federal government power to intervene in State regulation of public utilities.

At this time, the US Solicitor General has been asked by the Reagan administration to take an emergency appeal directly to the Supreme Court of the United States. Such review would bypass the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. However, President Reagan campaigned against the National Energy Plan, agreeing that it was punitive legislation aimed at the energy-producing States. I urge you to write or contact President Reagan, asking him to keep his campaign promise on this matter and to withdraw the appeal, thus allowing the recent Federal court ruling to stand. The President promised to reduce federal regulations, to restore the State-Federal relationship, and to get the federal government off the backs of the people. Here is a chance for him to prove that he meant what he said.

Sincerely,

Mark White (S)
 Attorney General
 P.S. Texas, through my office, is helping Mississippi in this fight.
