Area Crop Potential Boosted By Moisture

Rainfall Amounts Varied - But General

Thirsty crop lands received a good drink of water late Monday evening. Heavy skies left much needed amounts of rain varying from 1/2 inch to 2 3/4 inches over the general area, with falling drizzle on Tuesday, and more showers expected through Tuesday night.

"This moisture will make a big difference in a lot of the dry land crops which were beginning to become stressed due to the hot, dry days of July. Dry land farmers expressed a good attitude with the hope that this rain will be the first of a few more needed in order to put things in "apple pie order," according to Spencer Tanksley, County Agent.

In the southern part of the county, Bula received approximately 1/2 inch generally, with gingers in that area pressing their thanks for the slow, easy fall of the rain. Needmore received approximately 1/2 inch.

In the Maple-Three Way area, farmers reported around 8/10 inch of rain, which seemed to prove to be fairly general in that portion of the county.

Reports from Muleshoe proper varied from 1 to 1 1/2 inches within the city, with some streets running full for a time.

At Stegall, measurable moisture was about 8/10 and seemed to stabilize around that amount all the way west to the Texas-New Mexico state line.

Baileyboro received a trace of moisture only, with West Camp farmers reporting in the general vicinity of one inch. Water running through the draw area which comes together at FM 1760 and FM 1731, left roads under water for some time.

To the northern part of the county and near the county line, Lazbuddie Farm Supply reported 1 and 2/10 inches of rain. However, Y-L community farmer, W.T. Millen reported a whopping 2 1/4 inches, which according to Millen "fell real easy and nice. We really got some good moisture from this."

Hub community reported 2 3/4 inches, with Clay's Corner registering 1/2 inch. However, reports for north and west of Clay's Corner ranged from 1 1/2 to 2 inches. South of Clay's Corner, on the Jennings farms, 1 1/2 inches were reported.

Most farmers and businessmen who were questioned about the outcome of the crops in the county expressed a good outlook and hope that this will prove to be one of the better crop years we've seen in some time.

Dryland farmers seem to be the most pleased, since this is the first appreciable moisture received since the first part of July. Irrigated farmers will be able to shut off wells for a couple of days in some parts of the county, thus giving a respite for a short while.

Farmers: Take Notice

The Bailey County ASCS office is stressing sign-up for crop certification for Bailey County farmers NO LATER than 5 p.m. August 3.

Farmers who do not comply with this certification program are endangering their 1981 program benefits as well as subjecting themselves to a "late file" penalty fee.

Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Commissioners Meet Friday

Representatives from the Central Plains Mental Health/Mental Retardation Center will meet with the Bailey County Commissioners' Court on Friday, July 31 at 11 a.m.

The Court will also consider passage of final relative to the re-apportionment of the Commissioners, Justice and election precincts of the County and authorize the submission of all related data to the Department of Justice for approval.

The public is cordially invited to attend and be heard, according to County Judge, Glen Williams.

COMMISSIONERS AT WORK.....Commissioners of Bailey County acted as hosts for public meeting on the county re-districting plan, Tuesday, July 28. The plan will be submitted in final stages to the Justice Department for approval. Re-districting must be completed prior to 1982 elections.

Around Muleshoe

Rain in various amounts fell through the night Tuesday and on into the early morning hours in Bailey County. Some amounts to the north and east of Muleshoe ranged from 1/2 to 1 1/4 inches.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gorce and children, Kay Lynn and John Michael, of Goodwell, Oklahoma visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roubinek Saturday.

There will be skating this Friday, 7-10 p.m., in the Bailey County Civic Center. Admission will be $1.00 and the activity is sponsored by the Ag Boosters.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has announced that Johnny Laceywell from his Lubbock Field Office will be at the Bailey County Courthouse in the Commissioner's Courtroom on Tuesday, August 11, 1981 from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Fair Board Urges Business Exhibits

The second annual Bailey County Fair has been scheduled for August 27-29 at the Bailey County Coliseum. Last year was a very successful one, with approximately 750 people in attendance, according to county reports.

Local businesses who put up exhibits last year were pleased with the interest shown by the general public for the commercial booths. Space for this year's fair for commercial exhibits will be available once again at a cost of $15.00 for a 12x12 space, inside the coliseum.

Each business will be responsible for its own exhibit materials and exhibits must be in place and ready by 3 p.m. on Friday, August 28. Business who are unable to place exhibits in the fair this year are encouraged to make donations to help offset expenses of producing the fair. Funds may be sent to the Extension Office in the Courthouse.

The open division of the fair will be open to any person living in Bailey, Lamb or Parmer counties. Agricultural products to be exhibited in the Bailey Co-ounty Fair must have been grown in these counties.

All divisions will be divided into age categories with one being Adults-age 18 and over; Youth-under

22 Attend Sitter Clinic

Your regular babysitter is busy, are you lery of a new sitter? Maybe your regular sitter is fine with the older children but now you have a new baby and you are concerned?

The Bailey County extension office recently held a babysitting clinic to help ease the minds of parents who face these situations or question the reliability of young sitters.

"We had sessions on the roles and responsibility of babysitters. We talked about child development and the different stages of child development," said Linda Mullens, Bailey County extension agent and director of the clinic.

Twenty-two 10-16 year olds who attended the clinic where also instructed in safety and what to do in case of an emergency, pre-and adult divisions, providing there are three or more entries in each category. In the event there is only one exhibitor in a category, judges shall award premiums in accordance with the merits of the exhibit.

Divisions of the fair will be classified into agricultural, home economics, textiles, and fine arts, with different categories in each of these four divisions.

Qualifications and rules for exhibitors are available in the Fair Catalogue or the public may contact the Extension Agents for further information regarding

Wheat Growers Have New Risk Management Choices

"There may be a lot of truth in the old adage that you can't do anything about the weather, but it's no way to run a wheat business. As a result, obtaining protection against financial risks of unfavorable weather has become one of the most important 'survival skills' of farming," says Ben A. Jordan, Jr., Regional Director of USDA's Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

"Fortunately," says Jordan, "recent legislation provides farmers with more and better risk management alternatives than at any previous time."

On the one hand, Congress is cutting back the ASCS disaster payments program that was considered to provide too little help to too few farmers but, at the same time, it has approved a rapid expansion and major improvement of all-risk crop insurance. The legislation also gives the private inurance industry an important role.

Here's a rundown of the kinds of insurance protection available and where it can be obtained:

Federal All-Risk Crop Insurance is available, as of this year, in every wheat producing county in the nation. It can be purchased from FCIC representatives and from private insurance agents and local lenders authorized to sell and service the insurance.

One of the major attractions of the new insurance protection program is that the government pays up to 30 percent of the premium cost. It also offers discounts, which can climb to as high as 50 percent, to policyholders who have few or small insured losses. And, Jordan adds, all premiums paid for crop insurance are a tax-deductible farm business expense.

The FCIC official also points out that wheat growers can now virtually

"write their own policy."

They have three choices of yield guarantees and three choices of the price they wish to be paid for each bushel of loss. The highest yield guarantee is 75 percent of local average yield and the highest price that can be collected for each bushel of loss is $4.50.

Roy Dyer Heart Attack Victim

Long time Muleshoe resident and restaurateur, Roy Dyer, suffered an apparent heart attack and was pronounced dead on arrival at West Plains Medical Center at 4:36 p.m. Tuesday. He was 64 years of age.

Funeral plans were still pending at presstime Wednesday. Dyer and his wife, Hazel were the owners and operators of the Corral Restaurant in Muleshoe for many years.

EITHER TOO OLD OR TOO YOUNG.....This seems to be the sentiment felt by these tots, as the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce sponsored carnival opened Monday night.

Miss Morrison, Burrows United In Marriage

Miss Melinda Sue Morrison became the bride of Alan Brent Burrows in a double ring ceremony at 7 p.m., July 25, in the First Presbyterian Church in Dumas. Rev. Jerry H. Bole, pastor, read the vows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Morrison of Dumas and Mr. and Mrs. Olan Burrows of Muleshoe.

Mrs. Jack Wilson, organist, accompanied Alysa Armstrong and Lee Cranfill, all of Dumas, as they sang wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white organza, silk venise and cluny laces. The gown featured a Victorian neckline with a standup collar of Venice lace and a sheer yoke out-lined with a wide flounce of scalloped cluny lace.

The A-line skirt of organza fell from an empire waistline encircled with Venice lace. A gathered ruffle of cluny lace bordered the skirt, which dipped to form a chapel length train.

Her bridal picture hat was trimmed with a wide ruffle of cluny lace and accented with a fingertip length veil of illusion.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and baby's breath. Tiny strands of pearls was entwined through the bouquet. Yellow satin streamers attached the bouquet to the Bible, that the bride's mother carried at her wedding.

In keeping of the tradition the bride wore a string of pearls, belonging to Mrs. Gene Sherman, a blue garter and a penny minted in 1962 in her shoe.

Miss Marlis Morrison served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Gari Reid and Miss Shelly Stovall, both of Dumas; Miss Kathy Wilson of Clarendon; and Mrs. Edmund Casados of Colorado Springs, Colorado. Miss Tiffany Sherman of Dumas was flower girl.

Best man was Gaylon Strahan of Arkansas. Groomsman were Randy and Dennis Burrows, brothers of the groom of Lubbock; Mike Williams and Danny Bishop of Perryton. Chad Baker, cousin of the bride of Dumas was ring bearer.

Guests were registered by Miss Kelly Reid, and ushered by Bobby Gleason of Midland, brother-in-law of the groom; Mike Lewis of Shamrock; Wade Wilson, Terry Schafer and Clayton, all of Muleshoe. Michelle and Tom Lyons be interested to know that a number of private insurance companies are currently offering the same insurance protection at the same cost but under different names. The policies being sold by private insurers may be called by such names as "multiple-peril" or "comprehensive," but like Federal Crop Insurance, they cover all unavoidable causes of loss.

As in the past, insurance against hail and fire damage is also available from private insurance companies. Wheat farmers in areas where hail is a significant risk may wish to have the maximum possible protection by carrying both all-risk insurance and hail insurance. If there is a loss under both policies, it is possible to collect under both policies.

Another possibility under the new program is to carry private hail insurance plus an all-risk policy that specifically excludes hail damage. When a farmer chooses this option, there is a 15 percent to 30 percent discount in the all-risk insurance premium.

"Of course, insurance isn't the only way a farmer can protect his crop investment," Jordan says. "If he has enough money in savings that he doesn't need in his business and that he can afford to lose, he can be self-insured." Or he can be self-insured if, in the event of a crop loss, he is willing and able to borrow additional money that must eventually be repaid with interest. Neither of these alternatives, however, are as attractive as the year-after-year financial security that's provided by an affordable insurance policy."

Malathion Termed "Safe" Despite Public Uproar

Despite the public uproar in California about use of the insecticide malathion to control Mediterranean fruit flies, the material has a proven track record of being safe and free of health hazards.

"Malathion has been used with us a long time--since the early 1950's--and is one of the most commonly used insecticides by farmers, homeowners and gardeners," points out Dr. Phil Hamman, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Hamman says he has been inundated with telephone calls since the California controversy from people wanting to know about the safety of malathion.

Tests sponsored by the National Cancer Institute have shown malathion to be both non-carcinogenic (not causing cancer) and non-mutagenic (not causing genetic changes).

Springlake Church Scheduled Revival

A revival will be held at the First Baptist Church, Springlake, Texas, August 2 thru August 9.

Evangelist for the revival will be Bro. E.K. Shepherd who has served for the past three years as minister to the Senior Adults at the First Baptist Church in Brownfield, Texas. Bro. Shepherd previously served as pastor at the First Baptist Churches in Wilson, Snyder, and Muleshoe, Texas, and in Montana and Colorado. He attended Wayland Baptist College and Howard Payne College and the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas. He previously preached a revival here in Springlake in the late '50's during Bro. Williams' pastorate.

The song director for the revival will be Duane Harris, who is the Music Director for the First Baptist Church in Springlake and has served in such capacity for the past few years. Duane is the head of the Music Department at Wayland Baptist University in Plainview, Texas, and is director of the International Choir at Wayland.

Sunday services for the revival will begin at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Weekday services will be held at 12 noon, with lunch being served, and 8:30 p.m.

Another major use of malathion is Texas has been for mosquito control programs, points out the entomologist. "Malathion is used almost exclusively to rid urban and suburban areas of disease-carrying mosquitoes," says Hamman. Lubbock Experiment Station Plans September Field Day

Research on potential new money crops, as well as on cotton, and scientific developments to help High Plains farmers cope with weeds, insects and weather will be demonstrated September 8 at the 72nd annual field day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) at Lubbock and Halfway.

The Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center just north of Lubbock International Airport is the host this year, said Dr. Bill Ott, resident director of the station. The annual program alternates between the facilities here and at Halfway, in cooperation with the High Plains Research Foundation.

Five major displays are planned on the tours of the research plots and facilities of the center on FM 1294 at I-27 (Amarillo Hwy.). Dr. Tom Archer, research entomologist at the center and field day chairman, said they will illustrate research being conducted on grapes, cotton, ways of combating drought conditions, weed control and bollworm control.

Also featured on the tour will be tests being conducted at the center on

The entomologist points out that in all of these uses of malathion, there has been no record of problems involving human health.

Of course, Hamman cautions users of malathion as well as other insecticides to follow common-sense precautions for safe and effective results. This means following directions on the product label, avoiding any unnecessary contact with the insecticide, and washing your hands after use. He also suggests scrubbing sprayed fruits or vegetables before cooking or eating.

crop varieties, soil fertility and insect control; stations where research scientists and Extension specialists can answer questions about irrigation and fertilization, and a display of equipment and machinery.

Tours will begin at 1:00 p.m. and end at 5:00 p.m. The field day is a cooperative presentation of TAES, the High Plains Research Foundation, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Agricultural Research Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Professional staffs of these participating agencies will be on hand to answer question and discuss problems with agricultural producers, home owners and gardeners, Archer said.

Windfall Profits Strongly Opposed

Attorney General Mark White said that he is shocked and amazed that the US Department of Justice has filed a strong opposition to Texas' motion to intervene in the lawsuit challenging the constitutionality of the Crude Oil Windfall Profit Tax Act of 1980, styled Independent Petroleum Association of America et al. v. United States of America.

During his campaign for the presidency, President Reagan made numerous promises to bring an end to this unfair tax which principally affects a group of people who cannot afford a reduction in income. Over 650,000 Texans alone rely on their small royalty checks as a supplemental source of income to survive in these inflationary times. Three fourths of those checks amount to less than $200 a month. The windfall profit tax currently is an unfair hardship on these people, many of whom are elderly and retired and who otherwise subsist on social security.

"The Windfall Profit Tax Act adversely affects millions of Americans," White said. "I assumed that the Reagan Administration would take immediate steps to call for the repeal of this onerous law. To my dismay, not only has not attempt been made to abolish the tax, the people affected by this law are now giving up more of their income than at any time since the law was passed. Furthermore, the administration now seeks to prevent my office from directly supporting the lawsuit filed to challenge the tax.

"I strongly support legislation introduced by Senator Lloyd Bentsen (D., Texas) to allow independent oil producers and royalty owners to exempt from the 1980 tax the first 1,000 barrels of daily production. It is an attempt to provide an alternative solution to this problem, and to give some relief to those persons most affected by the tax.

"However, I intend to continue to do everything within my power and the jurisdiction of my office to challenge and prevent this tax. Not only am I compelled to do this with absolutely no help and support from the Reagan Administration, I must do so with their strong opposition. I am extremely disappointed that once again, a campaign promise has been broken to the detriment of the American people."

Every summer trees die in our communities. They die because they just get old or they get hit by lightning or they are attacked by root rot, but in many instances trees die because of the influence of man. This influence is felt every time we build a road, put up a subdivision or in any way alter the tree's environment. Subtle changes such as drainage patterns, water tables, in addition to the more drastic and obvious changes like cutting roots, knocking bark off the tree trunks, suffocating the roots with excess fill dirt all combine to either kill the trees or predispose them to a greater risk of infection from diseases or insect attack.

If this weren't enough, there are other influences that occur after the homes are built - things like putting in sprinkler systems which have severely damaged many of the feeder roots, applying weed and feed fertilizers containing chemicals like atrazine or dicamba, over-watering and even planting a new lawn are problems that continue to plague trees. Often when a large tree becomes ill the homeowner is amazed that this tree is sick. We have a conception that big means strong and tough, but in reality the smaller, more vigorous trees are better able to stand changes in the environment and usually have a better chance of surviving. To begin with, many trees probably should be cut down from the start - if they are close to the sidewalks, street, foundations, or the roots have been cut by trenching, there's a good chance it won't live and it could be very expensive to have removed later. Trees that have had fill dirt placed over the roots in excess of six inches are really in bad shape because by the time damage is noticed, usually the second or third summer, it may be too late to save the tree. Severe pruning and some system to get oxygen back to the original soil level, either by removing the soil or aerating it will be necessary to give these trees even a chance. Since the roots are often damaged by many of these activities pruning the top back to compensate can take a load off the root system.

Biogas program demonstrates how manure saves money

STEPHENVILLE — Manure down on the farm can now mean more than just a mess. It can mean fuel and that means money — money saved and perhaps money earned — and that's good news for both farmers and food-buying urbanites.

A Tarleton State University researcher recently demonstrated how anaerobic digestion of animal waste produces biogas which is 60 percent methane and 40 percent carbon dioxide. Biogas can be used in the same manner as natural gas or it can be used as a fuel for internal combustion engines with minor carburetor modifications.

Dr. Ed Fulton, professor of poultry husbandry at Tarleton, built two anaerobic digestion systems, one the size for a family farm and the other designed for specialized poultry, swine or dairy farming.

Fulton's work is supported by grants from Texas A&M University's Center for Energy and Mineral Resources.

Panhandle Fair Will Feature Horse Show

An open horse show will be one of the featured attractions on opening day of the 64th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair in Lubbock September 26.

Delbert Latham of Albuquerque, N.M., will judge the event that launches the 1981 exposition on its eight-day run.

Advance entries are encouraged, according to Steve L. Lewis, general manager. A $4 entry fee is charged for junior classes, $5 for open and adult classes and $8 for stakes. No entry fee is charged in championships, Lewis said.

Competition will be in 34 separate classes. Championships are scheduled in stock seat equitation, hunt seat equitation and horsemanship over fences.

Silver will be awarded to each class winner and all winners from first through sixth places will awarded rosettes.

Other show officials include Earnest Kiker, superintendent; Alan Day, assistant; Dr. James W. Carpenter and Billie Briggs, co-chairman; and Bobbie Green, secretary.

A record $75,000 in premiums are being offered during the 1981 fair, which will include some new and old faces on the stage of Fair Park Coliseum.

The new faces include Mickey Gilley and Johnny Lee, Sept. 28; Don Williams, Sept. 29; Slim Whitman and Boxcar Willie, Oct. 1; Jacky Ward and the Kendalls, Oct. 3.

Returning stars include Charley Pride, Sept. 26; Marty Robbins and Little David Wilkins, Sept. 30; Mel Tillis and Maines Brothers, Oct. 2.

Williams' show will be an 8 p.m. only performance. Otherwise, shows will be presented at 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. daily.

All seats are reserved and tickets are $6, $7 and $8.

Energy devices don't necessarily increase home value

COLLEGE STATION — While many homeowners might think alternative energy devices such as solar hot water heating systems increase the value of their homes, such equipment may not be considered an asset, even in these days of high utility costs.

That prediction comes from a Texas A&M University who specializes in real estate issues. "In looking at house prices it is not clear whether buyers take into account the prospective energy savings that are associated with solar systems," Dr. Richard Haney said. "To date, nobody knows the answer," he added, "and as far as I can tell, no one has ever gathered enough information to determine what it is."

Some of the reasons why people would rather overlook the economic advantages are aesthetics, roof warranties or the reputation of solar installers.

$198,200 Awarded To TDA For Cattlex Continuation

AUSTIN--A $198,200 federal grant has been awarded to the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) for continuation of the Cattlex project, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

The research has been performed by Texas A & M University team leader Tom Sporleder and Dr. Ernest E. Davis. They will continue to direct the project. TDA has the responsibility of monitoring the grant.

Cattlex, an electronic marketing system for cattle, links approximately 18 terminals in feedlot, auction market, and order-buyer locations throughout the state. The terminals feed one central computer at Texas A&M University, where Sporleder and Davis have been testing the system for about seven months.

"Cattlex is a centralized remote access cash market for feeder cattle," explained Brown. "The advantage is buyers and sellers don't have to travel to traditional sites to complete a sale."

"Both parties enjoy the economic advantage of transacting deals while the cattle remain on pasture. This process reduces shrink, stress and health problems," Brown continued.

"The federal grant is principally for continuing and expanding the two-year project to December 1981," Brown said. "The additional funds will allow more intensive evaluation of the project."

"August, September and October are heavy months for 'feed cattle, and Cattlex was not well known when it first began September 3," Brown continued. "We feel another time around will benefit the evaluation."

Brown noted also that the commercial industry will have a better opportunity to examine the system and possibly begin their own operations.

The funds will also provide for the addition of 10 more terminals to broaden the choices of cattle breeds for buyers. Having the terminals in more locations should help to increase sales.

TDA Fungicide Request Approved For Live Oaks

AUSTIN--The Texas Department of Agriculture's (TDA) request for use of a fungicide on live oak trees in the state has been approved by the Environmental Protection Agency, Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

Arbotech has been previously tested for use in preventive and therapeutic treatment of live oaks to control Live Oak Decline (LOD), Brown noted. "Test reports indicated good activity of the fungicide with adequate control of the disease," Brown said.

"LOD has killed many beautiful trees in some areas of the state over the past several years," Brown continued. "Trees are valuable aesthetic assets adding charm and beauty to any home or business. We feel use of this product will help owners of such trees stricken by the disease in yards, parks and recreational areas."

The fungicide is thiazoledazole with a low order mammalian toxicity, Brown explained. State Special Local Need Labels have been approved for the following products: Merk, reg. 618-88; Dewill Arbotech 20-S, reg. 618-88-4191; Hopkins Arbotech 20-S, reg. 618-88-2393 and Hopkins Arbotech S, reg. 618-89-2393.

"Directions for all products are similar," Brown noted. "The products are diluted in water and injected into the conductive tissue of the tree."

The best timing for effective treatment is during May-June and September-October, Brown said. July-August treatments should not be made. "Users should first be sure of LOD as the disease," Brown emphasized. "If in doubt, contact your local authorities or plant pathologist for positive identification."

In addition, TDA personnel in the local district offices are also available for information, Brown said.

Substantially higher discounts assigned to below-base cotton qualities in the 1981 government loan schedule make it more important than ever that High Plains cotton producers this fall market their crops only after extensive "price shopping."

Loan schedule discounts on low mike and/or lower staples and grades this year may reflect true market values, says Executive Vice President Donald Johnson of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., "but I think it more likely they will not."

Loan schedule premiums and discounts on a given quality are set by using an average of spot market quotations and the previous year's loan schedule. "Some of those quotations come from markets where very little of that quality cotton is traded," Johnson points out, "and those quotations more often than not are far out of line with values established in the markets where that cotton is traded in volume."

Grade and staple discounts on cotton stapling below an inch are quoted only by markets in Montgomery, Ala., Memphis, Tenn., Dallas and Lubbock, Tex. Loan discounts for grade and staple this year were established by a simple August-March average of the quotations from these four markets, ignoring the fact that the Dallas-Lubbock markets traded many times as much short staple cotton as did the other two.

To illustrate how this system distorts loan schedule discounts, Johnson cites the fact that in August of last year, the first month included in the averages, the Montgomery-Memphis average quotation on Strict Low Middling 31/32nd (41-31) cotton was 2,025 points, or 20.25 cents per pound. The Dallas-Lubbock average quotation was less than half that figure at 881 points. For the eight-month August-March period, the Montgomery-Memphis average came to 1,061 points, compared with the Dallas-Lubbock average of 668.

A study of quotations on low micronaire cottons, for which the average of all nine official spot markets is used in computing loan discounts, shows equal or even greater discrepancies.

It is too early to predict the quality of High Plains cotton this year, but the stage of the crop and current growing conditions are consistent with hopes that the lower qualities will make up a relatively small percentage of total production.

"Since there is a fairly constant demand for the lower qualities in both domestic and foreign markets," Johnson reasons, "if we produce a below-average volume of these cottons, loan program discounts are almost certain to be above discounts justified by supply-demand factors."

"Since selling cotton at 'so many points over the loan' is an ingrained practice on the Plains," Johnson continues, "it will be difficult for producers to divorce their sales from this system. But in time it can be done if growers pay close attention to the supply-demand balance that exists for the different qualities each year and shop for a price that takes that balance into account."

Ruby McCamish went out to Franks for a hamburger cook-out Sunday. Sunday morning she went to services at the Trinity Baptist Church. Barbara and Rick visited her in the Nursing Home.

Alma Henley's grandson from Clayton N.M. Jim and his family took her out for lunch Sunday. Celo took her shopping Wednesday. Mrs. Henley is busy making cats and alligators for her great grandchildren.

Ruby Gore went out to Louise's Sunday for a feast of fresh vegetables for dinner. Beck visited her at the Nursing Home along with other family members.

Kate took her mother Mrs. Russ Duncan to get a perm Wednesday morning. You sure look pretty Mrs. Duncan.

The odds against five brothers or sisters of the same family having the same birthday are almost 18 billion to one. That's about four times the entire world's population.

The odds against remembering someone's birthday too late have been greatly reduced thanks to a unique "greeting card" gift box idea from Johnnie Walker Red Scotch.
