OUR DOMESTIC COMMUNISTS,

fighting a rear-guard action against an aroused public resentment to their subversive activities, are reported worried no end over anti-Communist legislation pending before Congress.

Two years ago the House passed the Mundt-Nixon bill to tighten control over the Reds, spies, and subversives in general, but it dies in a Senate Committee. Then, recently another measure on the same subject, containing even tighter controls, went through the House with but 20 dissenting votes. But it is being overhauled in the Senate and when passed may run into a Presidential veto. The President, while favoring more stringent controls, has expressed fear the legislation may go too far and interfere with civil liberties.

But these foreign agents are tough and cannot be handled with kid gloves. They pay their allegiance to the Soviet Union. They act as a fifth column and are trained to prey on the gullible, the do-gooders, the parlor pinks and the pseudo liberals.

J. EDGAR HOOVER, the man most feared by the Communists in this country, appeared before a Congressional committee the other day and tagged 12,000 of these people as dangerous. He said the FBI was ready to arrest them in case of war with Russia. In addition the FBI chief said half of these subversives are native born Americans and that all told there are 50,000 Communies who are being watched by his agents.

The big danger, Hoover points out, is the tendency of some people to be lax in their vigilance toward the Communists and to accept them as harmless liberals. Some folks pretend by all that is holy that they detest a Communist, yet go about belittling their danger and scoff at attempts to control them.

Mr. Hoover has said there are 10 of these fellow-travelers for every card carrying Communist in this country. And he says these fellow-travelers are often more dangerous to this country than the actual members because they wrap themselves in cloaks of respectability in local communities and often innocently do the very things the Communies want them to do.

THROUGH INFILTRATION, clever campaigning, subtle propagandizing and the like the Communies have made amazing progress in various fields. Witness the infiltration into labor unions, mostly CIO, that were Communist-dominated, including more than a million members. The rank-and-file were good Americans but the Reds managed to get control. But during the past year most of these unions have been expelled from the CIO, thanks to the help of the Taft-Hartley law.

Another example of Communist success is the Red-dominated American Labor Party in New York—which averages 300,000 to 400,000 votes in nearly every election.

And then, there's the case of a Commie who received 600,000 votes in the recent primary in California. Benradette Doyle was a candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction out there. She made no bones about her CP membership. Indeed, she was Chairman and Educational Director of the San Diego Communist Party, and running as a Democrat she shattered all previous vote-getting records of professed Communists in this country.

THE HOUSE RECENTLY PASSED, with but 15 dissenting votes, another bill, long overdue, which would close another loophole. It would authorize the Attorney General to jail alien subversives who have been ordered deported but are on bond awaiting departure. In many instances after these people have been ordered deported, their native lands have failed to issue the required travel documents for the simple reason that they are more valuable to Stalin in this country, than they would be in Billy Roland Conger went to Abilene for his army physical last week. He said he would be called up in due time.

Russia, Poland etc.

Under present laws these aliens can't be prisoned pending deportation unless they are caught in a criminal act or acts of sabotage, espionage, etc So they run loose on bond. But if this House-approved bill, now pending in the Senate, is enacted, the Attorney-General can have'em locked up pending deportation.

IT'S INTERESTING TO TAKE A LOOK at who some of these birds are. Here are a just a few examples: 1. Peter John Warhol, native of Czechoslovakia. He was kicked out of a labor union for being a CP member. He once said that in case of war with Russia, he would fight against the U.S., and was also quoted as saying the American flyers shot down in Yugoslavia (before the Tito-Stalin split) "got what was coming to them."

2. Isaac Rapoport, native of Russia, former CP leader in the state of Washington and a leading agitator.

3. Sampson Milgrom, also a native of Russia, classified by Matthew Cvetic, FBI undercover agent in the CP, as "one of the top espionage agents in the country." He is now free on $5,000 bond.

4. Beatrice Johnson Siskand, native of Poland, who served as a courier for J. Peters and Gerheart Eisler.

These are just four of over 140 known subversive aliens who have been ordered deported in recent years but are free on bond in the U.S. today.

House Liked for Architectural Lines

Styled with a conservative approach to modern design, this house expresses many of the best qualities of contemporary architecture. Its architectural lines led to its being selected as Plan No. 203 by American Builder magazine, 30 Church St., New York.

Brick, a favorite American material, is used for much of the exterior sidewall area. Stone flanks both sides of the garage door. As another accent, the wide horizontal clapboards in the front gable end are painted white.

American Builder says, "These materials used in conjunction with the 4-12 roof pitch have helped to create a house of extreme good taste and excellent proportions. A two-foot roof projection extends around the entire perimeter of the house, providing shade from the hot summer sun for all the windows."

The bedroom wing is ideally separated from the combination living-dining room. The door leading into the hall of the bedroom wing cannot be seen from the part of the living room where the main furniture grouping normally would be placed.

Sliding doors between the kitchen and the dining room and the kitchen and the side entry are a convenience. Swinging doors that open into a kitchen often interfere with kitchen traffic.

The basement is left entirely open for future development," the magazine says. "The 40-foot width permits the house to be built on a 50-foot lot."

(Detailed building plans of this house are available from American Builder, 30 Church St., New York 7, N. Y. Refer to Plan No. 203.)

North Concho River Soil Conservation News Column

Farmers and ranchers cooperating with the 304 operating soil conservation districts in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas applied major soil conservation practices to 6,100,000 acres in the 1950 fiscal year ending last June 30. That was a 9 per cent increase over the fiscal 1949 year total. The year's work brought the accumulated total of land treated in the four states to 28,997,800 acres.

These figures are given in a report issued by Louis P. Merrill, regional director of the Soil Conservation Service which furnishes districts with technical help in preparing and applying a coordinated soil conservation program. The districts cover 92 per cent of the land area of the four states that make up the Western Gulf region.

In Texas alone, farmers and ranchers cooperating with the 148 operating soil conservation districts applied major conservation practices to 3,947,319 acres in the fiscal year ending last June 30. The year's work brought the accumulated total to 17,713,689 acres. Soil Conservation Districts cover 89 per cent of Texas.

Improvement of range was a practice that received much attention, having a gain of 83 per cent over the 1949 total. There were 2,584,060 acres that received conservation practices in 1950.

In comparison, over the same period of time, farmers and ranchers of the North Concho River Soil Conservation District applied major soil conservation practices to 63,472 acres. This was an increase of 55 per cent or, 23,467 acres more than the previous year, ending on June 1949. In that fiscal year, major soil conservation practices were applied to 35,005 acres by the farmers and ranchers of the soil conservation district.

Claude Collins, Jr., and Ralph Collins, soil conservation district cooperators, have apparently had a success in protecting the ground left barren by pipe line construction on their ranches six miles east of Sterling City.

Blocks were designed and constructed across the right-of-way to prevent the water from following it down the slope. Then over the blocks and right-of-way, a mixture of side oats grama, little bluestem, King Ranch bluestem, western wheat grass, sand love grass, and weeping live grass was seeded and harrowed in. To protect the small seedlings when they came up waste hay was scattered behind the harrow. Monday of this week there were seedlings of side oats grama and love grass up. The hay was retaining moisture and furnishing shade for the young seedlings. The shade furnished by the hay is particularly valuable on the steeper slopes where litter is not so abundant as on the more level country.

BY GREG POOLE

(For Greg Poole, the world of illusion is a delightful place. In his home, or friend's homes, in Flint, Mich., equipped with nothing but his two hands and a coin or cigarette, he'll keep folks guessing.)

To my way of thinking, hobbies can run into pretty heavy dough. After you get a sufficient proficiency in a hobby, you begin putting more and more money into it.

But no sleight-of-hand magician needs more than his hands and the ability to bum a cigarette from some one. Of course, if you want to start investing in props, magic can be even more expensive than most hobbies.

Sleight, however, which is what I am interested in, takes nothing but a bit of practice. With a silk handkerchief, a cigarette and a coin, I can fool an audience for a full half-hour. And the entire show is based on only three or four methods of "palms" or illusions.

I've only been doing sleight for two years, but my hands have become sure enough to make a cigar disappear, unless it's a Harvester Cigar and those I smoke. Nor do I mean I have to employ a trick thumb or hidden container to hide things in. That, to me, is like cheating at solitaire.

When I'm finished with a series of palms, I get a kick out of showing how it's done, and then go ahead and do it again to let the watcher see if he can catch me. Anyone can be a magician. If you practice a cigarette trick, you'll only ruin two or three cigarettes before you master the most difficult palm.

With a silk handkerchief, it's even easier. Like coin and cigarette tricks, handkerchief illusions are done by misleading the eye of the audience. But, while coin-palms can be rather difficult, working with a handkerchief takes very little skill.

If you want to have a hobby that's fun and inexpensive, my suggestion is sleight-of-hand. You can get not only a good start by reading a small book from any magic house but enough of a start to duplicate practically any trick you'll see on a stage.

That's about all there is to it. By the way, got a cigarette, anybody?

Strip Shingle Shipments Hit Record Peak

The unparalleled pace of home construction plus a continued demand for remodeling work boomed shipments of asphalt strip shingles, the most widely used roofing material for houses, to record heights in May and June, according to U. S. Department of Commerce figures.

Shipments of asphalt strip shingles are reported as 3,047,758 squares in May and 3,232,440 in June, the first times the 3,000,000 mark has ever been exceeded. The previous monthly high was 1,828,686 squares in October, 1947. A square of fire-resistant asphalt roofing is enough material to cover 100 square feet of roof area. Shipments are approximately equal to production.

The Department of Commerce also reported that strip shingle shipments for the first six months of 1959 were 13,357,256 squares, a 37 percent jump from the first six months of 1949.

Shipments of asphalt roofings in all categories showed gains in both May and June this year. Besides strip shingles, individual shingles, smooth-surfaced roll roofings and mineral-surfaced roll roofings are included in the government department's reports.

Spacing of upright planks lets small pigs reach the self-feeder and keeps out the sows and larger hogs.

Can't Afford To Haul Corn

Hogs Keep Both Landlord and Tenant Happy By Keeping Up Fertility of Farm and Paying a Premium for the Corn Crop.

Murray Crafton is a tenant farmer at Henderson, Kentucky. His relations with his landlord are most congenial and both are making money by their farming agreement. At corn picking time, the landlord calls in corn buyers and gets their bid for his part of the crop. He then gives Crafton the option of buying at the elevator price, less the cost of hauling.

Crafton's experience shows the hogs pay an extra premium for the corn so he can't afford to haul it.

He is permitted to keep about 15 acres seeded down for hog pasture and for his hog feeding operations.

while 85 acres are planted to corn each year. In this arrangement, the landlord gets full market price for his corn, plus full value of the manure. Crafton not only gets his share of the corn crop, but makes a profit on the landlord's share by converting it into pork.

Restricted to 15 acres for his hog operations, Crafton has found it best to keep only 6 or 7 sows. However he breeds for 2 litters per year and figures on fattening out from 100 to 120 hogs each year. Operating as a tenant, he naturally would not want to invest heavily in equipment, but many owner-operators as well as tenants could profit by his practices. Pasture usage is a central factor in Crafton's operations. His bred sows and fattening hogs are always on pasture after the second week. By using pasture mixture of lespedeza, alfalfa, ladino and red clover, and by clipping it periodically with a mower to encourage more green shoots, Crafton finds he can run 60 hogs at a time on 10 acres. He makes every effort to get the greatest possible use out of his pasture, as he finds that helps hold feed costs down.

Crafton's program of feeding is to give each sow 1 pound of Sow & Pig Chow per day plus 2 ears of corn during the early gestation period, and to increase the amount slowly as gestation progresses. Sows and pigs run to self-feeders of Sow & Pig Chow and grain until weaning, and fattening hogs run to self-feeders of corn and Hog Chow.

Shade is regarded as an essential on this farm, especially for bred sows. Shade is provided under an open low-roof shed.

Ordinarily he avoids having sows farrow during extremely cold weather, and likes an open front house. Built on skids, it is easy to move. When the weather is cold at farrowing time, he tucks burlap sacks over the openings. Guard rails, built as a part of the house, minimize the danger of pigs being crushed by the sows.

To encourage pigs to eat grain at an early age, Crafton uses an unique creep arrangement. He sets a self-feeder under cover in a 10-10-foot shed and spaces upright planks on the front and rear so the smaller pigs can enter but the sows and older pigs cannot. Other self-feeders are provided for the sows and larger hogs.

Essential shade is provided under an open low-roofed shed.

New Use For Old Windmills

I drove past Larson's farm last week and saw him perched on top of his 75-year-old windmill. "Still planning on tearing it down?" I shouted up to him.

"Not on your life," says Curly as he climbs down. "I'm getting myself a television set from Buzz Ellis' and he says this windmill is going to come in mighty handy."

"You see," Curly went on, "I'm going to put my TV antenna right on top of it. Since the windmill is higher than the house, I'll get the best reception around here—but if it wasn't for Buzz and his advice, I'd have scrapped it."

From where I sit, Curly's success as a farmer and his popularity in town is due, in a large part, to his open-mindedness and his willingness to listen to people and their opinions. He'll listen to Buzz Ellis over a malted milk or he and I can talk politics—each with a glass of temperate beer. Yes, Curly's as modern as television itself!

FARM FACTS

Don't Lose Pigs Your Sows Farrow

Pigs lost before weaning rob many hog raisers of their chance to make a profit

Results, both at the Purina Research Farm at Gray Summit, Mo., and on the farms of hundreds of good hog raisers in the South, show heavy pig losses are unnecessary when good management is followed.

At the Research Farm, approximately 75 sows are on a 2-litter-a-year farrowing schedule. They normally wean 8½ to 9 pigs per litter. The good management practices followed so successfully there should result in low pig losses for other hog raisers, too.

First, a clean sow should be put in a clean, properly disinfected pen. Bring her in two or three days before she is due to farrow so she will be quiet and comfortable.

Two, plan to be with the sow when she farrows. Pick up each pig as it comes and wipe the mucus from around its nostrils and mouth. If it is necessary, spank the pig to start it breathing. Don't let pigs chill.

Three, at birth each pig has 8-needle-like teeth. They are useless, irritate the sow's udder and make her restless. Clip them with side nipping pliers and paint gums with iodine to avoid infection.

Four, unless the navel cord sluffed off at proper length, clip it back about one and one-half inches. Dip the stump in an iodine solution to minimize the danger of infection and profit-robbing ruptures.

Five, have guard rails in place. As each pig comes, put it in a basket or crate. It is best not to let any pig suck until farrowing is completed. Then let the pigs nurse every 2 or 3 hours. Keep bedding dry.

Finally, keep the pigs clean and dry and don't let them chill. Where electricity is available, it is easy to make a pig brooder. You need only a light bulb, a bell-shaped reflector, and a box. Be sure to destroy the runts.

There's a Great Day Coming—

Yes, it's a great day when thousands of West Texas youngsters go back to school. Whether they are beginning their first year in kindergarten or their senior year in college, their education is proof of the American heritage of equal opportunity for all.

Our youths of today are intelligent and ambitious. All they need is the full opportunity to develop their ideas freely and market their talents as each sees fit. We must guard that "full opportunity" so that when the "individual initiative and energy" of American youth fathers an idea, they may call upon the American system of free enterprise to make realities of their ideas and ambitions.

It's a Privilege—

Reddy Kilowatt helps students study faster, easier, and better by providing ample light in class rooms and at home. Make certain the eyes of your children are protected from strain . . . check their study-lights now!

"Covering the County"

By Garyl Hoffman, Co. Agent.

The pep squad will perform between halves. The four leaders are Sue Lowe, Darlene McEntire, Elizabeth Hildebrand and Patsy Davis. Members of the pep squad are Barbara Garrett, Melvina Huff, Virginia Hicks, Marion O'Dell, Mary Davis, Charlot Berry, Carol Campbell, Charlene Drennan, Ginger Lane, Janey Brafford, Kay McEntire, Jackie Foster, Shirley Langford, Betty Dunn, Ruby Joyce Mitchell, Madell Benningfield, Bobby McEntire and Celia Ruth Hanson. Sponsors of the pep squad this year are Bill Campbell, Jorene Shinn and Mrs. G. W. Tillerson.

Billy Ralph Bynum won first place for each day and the first place average at the Junior Championship Rodeo at Big Spring last week. His total time was 2:12. One calf was tied in 15 flat and the other in 13.2. Bill also won another belt buckle. He needed this one badly as he only has about a dozen. Bill will have to make himself a belt out of these buckles and wear them all at once. We are proud of Bill for coming home winner.

A field day for all interested ranchmen and others will be held at the Spur Experiment Station October 3. The program begins at 9:30 a.m. and a barbeque dinner will be served for $1.00 per plate by the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Fisher will go over all of his experimental plots on mesquite and give the applications of chemicals used on each. This will be an opportunity to observe for yourself the results that Mr. Fisher has obtained, and then you will know more about what you would like to do in the way of eradication with chemicals.

The next time you spray your cattle for external parasites, it would be a good idea to add rotenone as grubs are beginning to show up on the back of animals. The first grubs were noticed on August 22. This is about thirty days earlier than they usually show up. Normally you should begin spraying with rotenone the first of October and spray four times at three week intervals. Since the grubs have shown up this early it is advisable to spray five times this year instead of four. As you remember, we had heel flies during midwinter last year.

The recommended dosage is 7 1/2 pounds of 5% rotenone per hundred gallons of water. When grubs are extremely thick on the back of animals, two gallons of mixture should be used per animal. At present just a normal spraying would be sufficient. The rotenone can be added to your other spray without any ill effects, and this way you can do two jobs at once. It is also advisable to make a spraying with BHC added to your other spray before winter. This will kill the lice eggs that are on the animals. To really be certain of getting all lice eggs the animal should be sprayed twice with BHC at three-week intervals. By beginning early with the cattle grub control this year, the heel fly population should be rather low next spring.

Mrs. Sue Knight visited her daughter, Mrs. Oscar Heller, Jr., Weimar last week. While there, a tea was given for Mrs. Heller on Thursday night.

OUR DOMESTIC COMMUNISTS, fighting a rear-guard action against an aroused public resentment to their subversive activities, are reported worried no end over anti-Communist legislation pending before Congress. Two years ago the House passed the Mundt-Nixon bill to tighten control over the Reds, spies, and subversives in general, but it dies in a Senate Committee. Then, recently another measure on the same subject, containing even tighter controls, went through the House with but 20 dissenting votes. But it is being overhauled in the Senate and when passed may run into a Presidential veto. The President, while favoring more stringent controls, has expressed fear the legislation may go too far and interfere with civil liberties.

But these foreign agents are tough and cannot be handled with kid gloves. They pay their allegiance to the Soviet Union. They act as a fifth column and are trained to prey on the gullible, the do-gooders, the parlor pinks and the pseudo liberals.

J. EDGAR HOOVER, the man most feared by the Communists in this country, appeared before a Congressional committee the other day and tagged 12,000 of these people as dangerous. He said the FBI was ready to arrest them in case of war with Russia. In addition the FBI chief said half of these subversives are native born Americans and that all told there are 50,000 Commies who are being watched by his agents.

The big danger, Hoover points out, is the tendency of some people to be lax in their vigilance toward the Communists and to accept them as harmless liberals. Some folks pretend by all that is holy that they detest a Communist, yet go about belittling their danger and scoff at attempts to control them. Mr. Hoover has said there are 10 of these fellow-travelers for every card carrying Communist in this country. And he says these fellow-travelers are often more dangerous to this country than the actual members because they wrap themselves in cloaks of respectability in local communities and often innocently do the very things the Communists want them to do.

THROUGH INFILTRATION, clever campaigning, subtle propagandizing and the like the Communies have made amazing progress in various fields. Witness the infiltration into labor unions, mostly CIO, that were Communist-dominated, including more than a million members. The rank-and-file were good Americans but the Reds managed to get control. But during the past year most of these unions have been expelled from the CIO, thanks to the help of the Taft-Hartley law.

Another example of Communist success is the Red-dominated American Labor Party in New York—which averages 300,000 to 400,000 votes in nearly every election. And then, there's the case of a Commie who received 600,000 votes in the recent primary in California. Benradette Doyle was a candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction out there. She made no bones about her CP membership. Indeed, she was Chairman and Educational Director of the San Diego Communist Party, and running as a Democrat she shattered all previous vote-getting records of professed Communists in this country.

THE HOUSE RECENTLY PASSED, with but 15 dissenting votes, another bill, long overdue, which would close another loophole. It would authorize the Attorney General to jail alien subversives who have been ordered deported but are on bond awaiting departure. In many instances after these people have been ordered deported, their native lands have failed to issue the required travel documents for the simple reason that they are more valuable to Stalin in this country, than they would be in Russia, Poland etc.

Under present laws these aliens can't be prisoned pending deportation unless they are caught in a criminal act or acts of sabotage, espionage, etc So they run loose on bond. But if this House-approved bill, now pending in the Senate, is enacted, the Attorney-General can have 'em locked up pending deportation.

IT'S INTERESTING TO TAKE A LOOK at who some of these birds are. Here are a just a few examples: 1. Peter John Warhol, native of Czechoslovakia. He was kicked out of a labor union for being a CP member. He once said that in case of war with Russia, he would fight against the U.S., and was also quoted as saying the American flyers shot down in Yugoslavia (before the Tito-Stalin split) "got what was coming to them."

2. Isaac Rapoport, native of Russia, former CP leader in the state of Washington and a leading agitator.

3. Sampson Milgrom, also a native of Russia, classified by Matthew Cvetec, FBI undercover agent in the CP, as "one of the top espionage agents in the country." He is now free on $5,000 bond.

4. Beatrice Johnson Siskand, native of Poland, who served as a courier for J. Peters and Gerheart Eisler.

These are just four of over 140 known subversive aliens who have been ordered deported in recent years but are free on bond in the U.S. today.
