Rains Slow Farm Operations To Standstill

*** Mules Get Ready For Indian Attack

The Muleshoe Mules will spend this week reviewing mistakes and finding ways to improve upon them. Head Coach Windy Williams told the Journal Tuesday that they would find "some good in these mistakes and learn from them."

"The kids gave an all-out effort in the Portales game and both teams played good hard football. This is what high school athletics is all about," Williams stated. "We won everywhere but the scoreboard."

"I can find no lack of effort or ability in the Mules squad. Portales had good size, skill and threw the ball well. Our Mules put a lot of pressure on the Rams, limiting their ground game considerably, said Williams. "While it hurt to lose, we are going to turn this loss into something beneficial for us. We are going to utilize the knowledge we gained and go out to win."

The Mules will be playing the Morton Indians this Friday night at 8 p.m. in Benny Douglas Stadium. This is an encounter which has always proven to be

David Lasater Named Outstanding Young Man

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Men of America Awards Program announced today that David Lasater of Lazbuddie has been selected for inclusion in the 1981 edition of OUTSTANDING YOUNG MEN OF AMERICA.

Mr. Lasater was selected from nominations received from Senators, Congressmen, Governors, Mayors, State Legislators, University and College Presidents and Deans as well as various civic groups, including the United States Jaycees which also endorses the Outstanding Young Men of America program.

In every community there are young men working diligently to make their cities, as well as their country, better places in which to live. These men, having distinguished themselves in one or more fields of endeavor, are outstanding and deserve to be recognized for their achievements. The criteria for selection include a man's voluntary service to community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments and civic and political participation.

Lasater, along with fellow Outstanding Young Men throughout North America will be featured in this prestigious annual awards publication.

Our Board of Advisors and Editors salute all contestants.

Longhorns Suffer 6-0 Loss To Sudan Hornets

Despite the 14-0 loss the Lazbuddie Longhorns suffered at the hands of the Sudan Hornets Friday night, Coach Terry Campbell seemed well pleased with the Longhorns performance, with the exception of some big plays executed by the Hornets that the 'Horns were unable to stop. Campbell stated: "Our kids played well both offensively and defensively. We know that we made some mistakes and that we need to jell a little more as a team. The team needs to be more responsive to each other and learn their responsibilities."

Neither team was able to gain a yard in the air. Sudan led with 312 yards rushing and Lazbuddie rushed for 147 yards. King led the Hornets in rushing with 162 out of the 312 yards gained.

Sudan executed well, according to Campbell, and the Longhorns were just not able to stop their big plays. Lester King drew first blood with a 49 yard run with 2:50 left in the first quarter for the Hornets; then, Quarterback Robert Freeman made a 50 yard race into the end zone on quarterback keeper.

Sudan seemed to have the advantage of size over

Local Grocery Has Bomb Scare

On September 7, the Muleshoe Police were called by Gerald Reid of KM-UL to investigate a bomb threat at Dr. G's Grocery. Reid had received a call that there was a bomb there and was set to go off within an hour. County units, DPS and city police checked the building. The check yielded nothing and the grocery was closed for safety purposes for the next few hours.

September 3, Muleshoe Police investigated a residential theft. On September 4 police arrested 1 illegal alien, and investigated a criminal mischief, involving the slashing of sidewall tires at Robert Green, Inc.

A reported run-away was reported to the police on September 5th, but later located by family. Also reported on the 5th was two public intoxications, one compounded with possession of a control substance and one for no drivers license. A theft was also reported on the 5th.

Theft of tires in two instances were reported on September 6 while September 7 netted a speeding ticket and failure to display license.

Farmers Voice Concern About Cotton, Corn

An onslaught of drenching rains over the past five days, has left Bailey County residents wringing more than their hands. Crops that were already soggy from previous moisture got another dose of the same, slowing down the beginning of corn harvest and leaving cotton fields damp and open to further boll worm attacks.

On the bright side, however, wheat farmers who have already planted their 1982 wheat were mostly joyous, as were the ones who have yet to plant their '82 wheat crop.

One farmer who farms several hundred acres located in the Needmore, Baileyboro area stated that the rain would most likely help the grain sorghum, although it could have come 45 days before now. He also stated that signs of boll worm infestation are still evident and that some

Villalobos Wins First Contest

Journal football contest has yielded Raymond Villalobos as first place winner.

Raymond Villalobos beat out three contenders for first place in the Journal's 1981 Football Contest. Villalobos will receive 10 points for his efforts.

Since the first four contenders only missed the tiebreaker games, they were used to determine the of his cotton looks bad due to the insects and wet conditions.

Since it is common knowledge among farmers that the cold days and cooler nights along with the wet conditions is definitely a hindrance to the growth of the fiber, Bailey cotton producers are keeping their fingers crossed and hoping for dry, warm weather to see out the rest of the year.

North of Muleshoe towards Lazbuddie there were reports of as much as 8 inches in the general area. A Lazbuddie supply employee said that most of the farmers who had been in the store were wishing that the rain would quit. Some farmers have already begun to harvest corn and will be set back a while because of the rains.

Mrs. Ted Millen in the YL Community told the Journal that approximately three inches had been received in that community since last Friday. She also informed that they had measured some eleven inches of moisture since the rain started. Mrs. Millen also stated that "the corn harvest in that area will be in full swing, once the fields dry up" She also predicted a set-back in cotton due to the late rainfall.

Mrs. Eugene Shaw who lives approximately 10 miles west on FM 1760 reported about 6-6½ inches from Friday, with country roads in pretty bad shape. She also stated that the bollworms had been sprayed in that area and fields are being checked again as weather permits.

Down in dryland country towards Stegall and further west, farmers reported over six inches of rain from Friday through Monday. These farmers also expressed concern for the growth of cotton and bollworm attacks. Wheat land in that area will be helped by the moisture.

In the Bula area and west towards Three Way, about 2½ inches was reported overall. Robert Claunch at Claunch Gin stated that some wheat was already planted and will be aided a great deal by the moisture. However, he also expressed concern over the bollworms and advised that they will begin checking fields again

Bailey County Hydrologic Atlas Now Available

Bailey County's Hydrologic Atlas is now available to area irrigators, landowners, and residents of the High Plains Under-ground Water District service area. This atlas is the most detailed and complete ground water mapping investigation ever made in Bailey County. The four maps illustrate (1) the elevation of the land surface; (2) the elevation of the water table in the Ogallala Formation in 1980; (3) the elevation of the base of the Ogallala Formation; and (4) the saturated thickness of the Ogallala in 1980. The maps were developed using twenty foot contour intervals. The data for each map describing this information is printed on a county highway base map at a scale of two miles per inch. Legal descriptions are also illustrated on the maps to assist landowners in proper identification of their property.

SPAG Meeting September 15

In accordance with Article 6152-17, Vernon's Texas Civil Statute as amended by the 61st Legislature, notice is hereby given to all interested persons that the Alcohol Plan Development Sub-Committee of the SOUTH PLAINS ASSOCIATION OF GOVERNMENTS will meet at 7:00 p.m. on September 15, 1981, in the SPAG Conference Room at 1709 26th Street, Lubbock, Texas, for the purpose of discussing the current goals and objectives and determine the continued need and to establish needs of the 1982-86 Alcohol Plan Update.

A tremendous amount of data was used in constructing the maps. Their drafting and production was made possible with support from the Texas Department of Water Resources and required over six-man years of effort by Water District staff geologists and draftsman. These maps should reflect a very accurate picture of the hydrologic conditions as of 1980 for the area of Bailey County served by the Water District.

The text is short, concise, illustrated, and includes an explanation of how to read and interpret contour lines. Points discussed in the text include the older geologic formation in

Scientists join forces to combat agricultural pests

COLLEGE STATION — An army of scientists from 16 universities throughout the country has gone to war against weevils, worms, weeds and diseases in a combined effort to defeat the pests that destroy millions of dollars of American agriculture every year.

Supported by $9 million from the Environmental Protection Agency and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the assault is being directed by Texas A&M University and commanded by Dr. Perry Adkisson, deputy chancellor for agriculture of The Texas A&M University System and Dr. Ray Frisbie, the program's executive manager.

The scientists say they are looking for a combination of controls against insects, weeds and plant diseases that will integrate biological agents, pest resistant plants, better farming practices and less dependence on chemical controls.

"The world food crisis, compounded by the energy crisis and a genuine concern for maintaining a healthy environment, has placed an enormous stress on our agricultural system," Frisbie said.

Annual Staff Organized

Twelve students are enrolled on the annual staff are making plans for the coming year. There are six eighth graders and six in the seventh grade.

Beginning their first year of annual work are seventh graders Darren Albertson, Tracy Long, Lisa Hamilton, Greg Young, Jennifer Thornton & Lauri Kinard. In eighth grade there are Mike Holt, annual editor; Monte Horne, assistant editor; Sherri Stovall, paper editor; Mandy Plank, assistant editor; Michael Precure and Bettie Lobaugh and of course Mrs. Pat Watson, annual staff sponsor. This year the annual staff plans are to have the paper every week all year and cover the football and basketball games. The annual staff is already making plans for the 1981-82 annual. The journalism staff urges the parents to buy their student an annual. The annual will be priced at $7.00 through October 26 and after October 26 it will be $8.00, no annual will be sold after November 26.

If you are wise, laugh. Martial.

Sherri's Spots By

Sherri Bessie

Well, the halls are alive with students again. It seems like yesterday we just got out! It is good to be back, though.

I would like to welcome all the students and teachers to M.J.H.S. I hope they have a great year.

The annuals are now on sale and are $7.00 until October 26, then they go up to $8.00. The last day to purchase your annual is November 16. So buy your annual from any of the annual staff or from Mrs. Pat Watson in room 22.

Football season is just around the corner! The first game is September 10 here. Seventh and eighth graders play Morton, come out and support the Mules.

Have you heard this one?:

"I ain't had no fun all summer," wrote the teacher on the blackboard. Then, she turned to the class and said, "That's a sentence one of you actually wrote on your summer experiences paper. How would you correct it?"

"Was it written by a boy or a girl?" asked a male voice from the back of the room.

"By a boy." "I'd correct it" said the same voice, "by finding a girlfriend."

Scientist conducts herbicide study on campus rooftop

COLLEGE STATION — Early findings from 32 artificial streams built on a Texas A&M University rooftop indicate exposure of stream algae to atrazine, the active ingredient in the herbicide Aatrex, can all but destroy the photosynthesis of the single-celled organisms. Algae are vital in any creek ecosystem because they add dissolved oxygen to the water through photosynthesis, a process that can be destroyed or temporarily blocked by some herbicides, said Texas A&M biologist Dr. Robert Kosinski.

Other preliminary tests suggest that another herbicide known as trifluralin, found in the cotton-farming chemical Trellan, poses few problems for algae, said Kosinski, chief scientist on the unique Environmental Protection Agency-funded project.

It's good to have a slogan, but it is better to perform.

Local PTA Membership Drive Gets Underway

Why not? Why PTA? If you care about kids in general, and your own children in particular, there's no better way to spend your time or money.

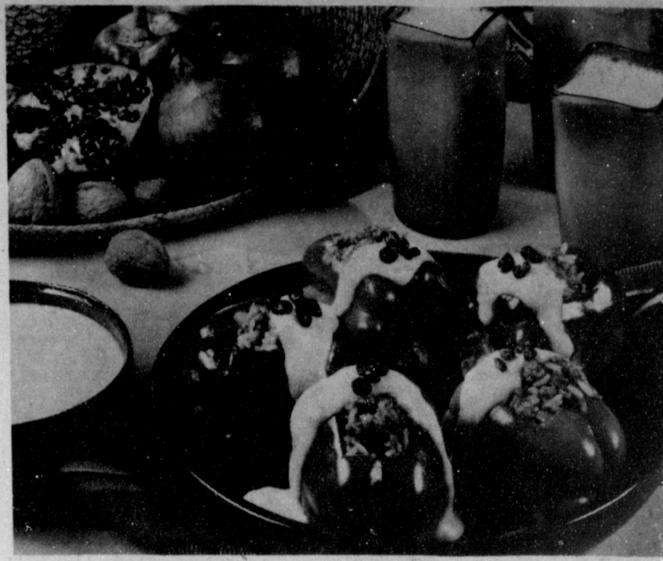

But it won't take much of the latter. For less than a penny a day you can join a team of more than 6 million Americans working for kids. At the local, state and national levels.

Your school's PTA/PTSA will determine local needs and address them. There will be projects and drives to enrich the classroom and improve the learning environment. And programs and workshops to help you help your child.

The Texas PTA will continue to push for improvements in laws and reforms in programs that help children. Last year they fought drug abuse...helped raise the legal drinking age...pushed for a stronger curriculum and more funds for local schools. Meanwhile, they will keep expanding a long list of services and programs for local PTA units.

The National PTA will remain your advocate on the Washington scene. Looking out for children in Congress. And tackling controversial, yet important issues like TV violence, collective bargaining and education for responsible parenthood.

For more than 70 years the PTA team has worked

STUFFED PEPPERS..... Walnuts add texture to the stuffing in these peppers, while cheese sauce and pomegranate seeds furnish color and flavor.

Green Peppers Go Festive

Most people enjoy colorful foods because it's said that "one eats first with his eyes," meaning that attractive foods stimulate the appetite.

But sometimes colorful foods have more significance than just color. Take, for example, Chilies En Nogada, or Peppers in Walnut Sauce. The dish represents the green, white and red colors on the Mexican flag: green peppers, red tomato sauce and pomegranate seeds, white rice and sauce.

This easy version uses dark green peppers stuffed with rice and pork meat: Picadillo (a spice-flavored mixture of ground meat), and topped with cheese sauce, decorated with red pomegranate seeds.

This colorful recipe has interesting taste as well as texture with the finely chopped walnuts mixed with meat, rice, tomato sauce, and typical seasonings (garlic, cinnamon and cloves).

OES Chapter Holds Stated Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinkson, Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron of Muleshoe Chapter No. 792, Order of the Eastern Star, presided at the meeting of the chapter, Tuesday evening, September 1st, in Masonic Hall.

The Bible was opened upon the Altar; Pledge of Allegiance was recited in unison and "God Bless America" was sung.

The Worthy Matron extended a cordial welcome to the 28 officers and members present. She was especially gratified to have a full corps of officers. Routine business was transacted.

band, Wayne, was the Installing Marshal.

Resolutions of Respect were read for Earl Mechem the Father of Mrs. Hinkson and the Grand-Father of Mrs. Glenn Lust. Also, for Billy Paine, the Son of Mrs. Viola Layne and the Brother of Mrs. Phyllis Beavers Smith. Cards and prayers were suggested for those ill and bereaved.

The annual Obligation Night was observed. A circle of all persons was formed around the Altar, and Obligation, led by the Worthy Patron, was repeated in unison.

A study session will be held September 21st, at 8 p.m. in the Hall.

The October meeting, to be held October 6th, will begin at 7:30 p.m. in lieu of 8 p.m.

South Plains Group Performs At FAir

South Plains College entertainers will be "Raisin' a Ruckus" at the 64th annual Panhandle/South Plains Fair in Lubbock.

The College's new road show of the same name will be spotlighted on the outdoor stage at the exposition at 7 p.m. on Sept. 26 and Oct. 3, opening and closing days of the eight-day run, according to general manager Steve L. Lewis.

Admission is free. The 90-minute production, one of several acts booked for the outdoor stage, will feature approximately 50 classic and current country music hits, from Roy Acuff's "Wabash Cannonball" to Mac Davis' "Lubbock, Texas, in My Rearview Mirror."

"We'll feature the Grand Ole Opry and its earliest stars in the first half, plus country music in the movies," noted Helen Roberts, show director and SPC professor of speech and drama.

"In the second half, we'll focus on country music superstars, like Eddie Rabbitt, Barbara Mandrell and Willie Nelson," she said.

The show is fastpaced from beginning to end.

"We open up at top speed and continue throughout the show," said show fiddler Ed Marsh.

"Raisin' a Ruckus" is the fifth country music road show produced by the college at Levelland. SPC began its summer road show tours in 1977-78 with "Texas, Cradle of Giants." Then followed two successful "The Golden Years of Country Music," which also was featured at the fair. The shows were taken to scores of cities around the South Plains area and drew wide acclaim.

Performers in this year's show are John Hartin, director of SPC's country/bluegrass music program, guitar; Tim McCasland, country/bluegrass instructor, steel; Marsh; Dan Hanson, SPC music instructor, synthesizer; Mike Kerr, bass guitar; Jeff Hammond, percussion; Randy Ellis, sound technician; Scott Yartrough, Ira White, Scott Barton, Beth Satterwhite and Kay Stephens, singers and dancers.

A complete schedule of free acts has been set for the outdoor stage each day.

In addition, seven shows are on tap in Fair Park Coliseum, headed by the 10th appearance of Charley Pride on opening day.

Pride will be followed by Mickey Gilley and Johnny Lee, Sept. 28; Don Williams, Sept. 29; Marty Robbins and Little David Wilkins, Sept. 30; Slim Whitman and Boxcar Willie, Oct. 1; Mel Tillis and the Maines Brothers, Oct. 2; Jacky Ward and the Kendalls, Oct. 3. Show times are 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. daily, except for Williams, who will be seen only at 8 p.m.

All seats are reserved and tickets are $6, $7 and $8. Tickets may be purchased at the fair box office, Dunlap's, Luskey's Western Wear, Ed's Wagon Wheel and Hemphill Well, store in South Plains Mall. Mail orders also will be accepted by the fair at P.O. Box 208, Lubbock, Texas 79408. Requests will be processed in the order in which received. They must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

12th Annual Ranch Day Features Cowboy Breakfast

An old-fashioned cowboy breakfast and a "Little Wrangler" program for children will be featured during the 12th annual Ranch Day September 19 at the Ranching Heritage Center of The Museum of Texas Tech University.

Ranch craft demonstrations, wagon and buckboard rides and special western music are among the family activities planned at the 14-acre outdoor exhibit depicting ranching history. Living history lessons will be provided throughout the day by costumed docents in major buildings on the site. The Ranching Heritage Center will be open free to the public at 9 a.m. that Saturday.

With the addition of three structures to the ranching center, visitors will be able to see new chapters in the history of the cowboy and the cattlemen. The Ropes train Depot, the Commissary Building from the Waggoner Ranch and the 6666 Barn are the latest additions to the Ranching Heritage Center. The ground floor rooms of the Barton House also will be open to the public.

Activities such as spinning at the Picket and Sotol House, soap-making at the Box and Strip House and German dancing and puppeteering at the Hedwigs Hill double log cabin will be on display. Longhorn cattle and other livestock will be penned in the corrals of the Reynolds-Gentry Barn. A map of all activities will be available.

A one-hour open house is planned in the Edith McKanna Parlor of the David M. DeVitt and Malliet Ranch Building at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Edith McKanna, Mrs. Elizabeth Connell and other women of the Ranching Heritage Association will greet visitors and serve refreshments in the parlor, which is furnished with pieces from late 19th and early 20th Century ranch days.

Following a flag-raising ceremony by Boy Scout Troop 521 and Girl Scout Troop 364 of Lubbock, the cowboy breakfast will begin at the chuck wagon at 10:30 a.m. Tickets are $6 and may be purchased from the Ranching Heritage Association or at the door. For information call (806) 742-2498.

Music during the breakfast will be provided by Rick Sudduth and The Cowpokes, Crosbyton mu-

Geologist Predicts Water Shortage

Within the next five years, Texans could have a very severe shortage of water, according to a geologist at Texas Christian University.

"The reason for this is the rapid rate of growth and more and more irrigation, which is good," says Dr. Ken Morgan. "We are the bread basket; we produce lots of food. But we're pushing it to the limit."

Morgan says water is not being replenished by rainfall as fast as we're using it. "We probably tend to over-irrigate when we don't need to, and we don't necessarily see that water gets back into the ground at the proper places. We just let it run off and go into places that it really shouldn't," he explains.

"Just like anything else, if we have proper planning and management there would be plenty of water, but we don't set up those kinds of systems. Water is free, essentially. We use all we can and don't worry about it. Those days are gone just like the oil days are gone," he says.

While cities like Fort Worth and Dallas get most of their water from surface water reservoirs, the largest supply of water in Texas is ground water.

Even in the country as a whole, ground water is much more abundant than surface water. The problem, says the TCU geologist, is getting it out of the ground and then managing it properly.

In Fashion

Plaid or solid skirts with blending blouses and sweaters are the makings for several mix-n-match outfits when worn with a blazer.

For casual wear, pinwale corduroy pants with a long sleeve, western-style, plaid shirt is quite attractive. A tie-scarf at the neck adds the special western effect.

In all, 15 county atlases are being published by the Water District for all or those portions of the following counties served by the High Plains Water District: Armstrong, Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Deaf Smith, Floyd, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Parmer, Potter, and Randall.

These atlases are being prepared to help local landowners and operators and other county residents to better understand the fresh water resource available under their towns, cities, farms, and industries. They should be a valuable planning tool to confirm available water resources and for locating future irrigation well sites. The maps are intended for use primarily in providing general information to the public served by the District and are not warranted for use in real estate transactions or other legal matters.

Copies of the atlas are available upon request and at no charge from the High Plains Water District. To request a copy you may either write, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405 or call (806) 762-0181.

Vet trades test tubes for a painter's palette

COLLEGE STATION — Until three years ago, Jim Johnson spent more time with test tubes than with a painter's palette.

Johnson, recently named Texas Artist of the Year, is a graduate of the Texas A&M University College of Veterinary Medicine who in 1978 found himself very dissatisfied in a research job with the federal government.

He decided to chuck the security of a regular paycheck to devote his efforts full-time to a life-long avocation — art.

The decision proved to be the correct one because Johnson has since been named Texas Artist of the Year by the Legislature.

"I grew up in a very work-ethic home and that kind of attitude is 'Well, you've been to school for this length of time so you really should devote your life to veterinary medicine,'" he said.

But his love for art won out.

There are people who don't think it's wrong to beat the government.

FFA Will Display Projects

Projects created by Future Farmers of America will be on display and students will be competing for $2,165 in premiums being offered during the 64th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair here Sept. 26-Oct. 3.

The displays, according to general manager Steve L. Lewis, will consist of finished wood products, livestock and farm equipment, recreational and home convenience projects and general shop products.

Quality of workmanship, accuracy, skills displayed, practicability, design and finished will be considered in the judging, Lewis noted.

Prize money will be distributed to both large and small products in the four categories, ranging from a low of $20 to a maximum of $100.

After the placings, $50 will be given to the best overall large metal project and plaques will go to the winning FFA Chapters.

Best overall winners in small metal projects and finished wood products will receive $40 and plaques also will go to the chapters.

The agricultural mechanics exhibits will be on display in the Agricultural Building throughout the eight-day exposition, Lewis said.

The works by the Vocational Agriculture students have become a popular attraction at the fair in recent year.

In addition, seven shows have been slated for the stage of Fair Park Coliseum, including a record 10th appearance by Charley Pride on Sept. 26.

He'll be followed by Mickey Gilley and Johnny

Lee, Sept. 28; Don Williams, Sept. 29; Marty Robbins and Little David Wilkins, Sept. 30; Slim Whitman and Boxcar Willie, Oct. 1; Mel Tillis and The Maines Brothers, Oct. 2; Jacky Ward and the Kendalls, Oct. 3.

Shows will be presented at 5 p.m. and 8 p.m., except for Williams, who will perform only at 8 p.m. All seats are reserved and tickets are $6, $7 and $8. Tickets are available at the fair office, Dunlap's, Luskey's Western Wear, Ed's Wagon Wheel and Hemphill-Wells' store in South Plains Mall only. Mail order requests also are being accepted at P.O. Box 208, Lubbock, Texas 79408. Orders will be processed in the order in which received and requests must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ag Computer Workshop

Computers are no longer strangers to the agricultural industry. They offer a new dimension in farming and ranching that can help producers obtain more accurate information on which to base management decisions.

To give producers, agricultural leaders and others a better understanding of the role of computers and their actual application, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, will be conducting a special computer workshop Sept. 23-24 at the Civic Center in Lubbock.

The workshop on "Computers in Farm and Ranch Management" is designed to provide an introduction to several different computer systems available today, points out Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist in management with the Extension Service.

"Participants will have an opportunity to get some 'actual' experience by operating several different computer programs," says Hayenga. "Everyone attending should have time to run a computer, using his own farm or ranch data. This will be a true 'hands-on' workshop."

First day of the workshop will feature discussions on various computer systems, their role in agriculture, how to select one, available programs, and farmer experiences with computers.

Four "work" sessions will round out the workshop the next morning. These will deal with micro farm accounting systems, livestock management aids, crop management decision aids, and financial projections and pricing aids.

Speakers and resource personnel during the two-day workshop include Extension economists and several farmers and ranchers who will talk about how they use computers in their operations.

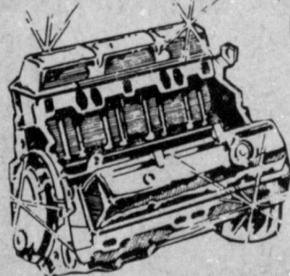

Commercial exhibits will also be on hand.

As an indication of the interest in computers in agriculture, Hayenga notes that an earlier similar workshop in Corpus Christi attracted some 140 individuals from six states.

Registration information is available from any county Extension agent or from Marvin Sartin, Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, Route 3, Box 213AA, Lubbock, Texas

Car Owners, Protect Yourselves!

First of a two-part series.
Do you have "liability insurance" on your car or truck?

If you're in an auto accident and it's your fault, your liability insurance pays for personal injury you caused to the people themselves, and it pays for property damage you caused.

Texas law now requires "compulsory insurance" — that is, under the law, all car owners MUST carry liability insurance, but beyond that, it's also a WISE thing to do, says Lina McCormick, a family resource management specialist.

McCormack is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

What happens if you do not have liability insurance?

Obviously, if you cause damage to persons or property, if they sue you and if you are found responsible, the court probably will order you to pay for the damages. If you have no insurance to pay the bills for you, then the money likely will come "out of your pocket," McCormick explains.

On the other hand, if you fail to prove that you are able to pay for damages you caused, either with the money itself or through a liability insurance policy then you may be subjected to a penalty. This penalty might be a fine of not less than $75 — or it could mean having your driver's license revoked if you are convicted of failure to maintain financial responsibility the specialist adds.

Who is responsible for paying damage claims in automobile accidents?

Almost always the car OWNER is Responsible.

McCormack says, even if someone else was driving the car at the time of an accident.

"It is a universal rule that an automobile OWNER is liable (responsible), right along with the driver, in cases concerning negligent acts of the driver (if he was operating the car with the owner's permission).

That owner-responsibility rule includes the following situations:

1) when the driver is an employee of the owner and acting within the scope of his job duties

2) when the driver is acting as an "agent" of the owner, or when the driver is on an errand or mission for the owner

3) when the owner has entrusted the auto to a known incompetent or reckless driver.

How can car owners lessen chances of being liable and how can they avoid costly lawsuits?

McCormack offers three suggestions:

*Allow only competent and safe drivers to operate the car.

*Maintain the car in highway-worthy condition.

*Have an adequate liability insurance protection policy.

Liability insurance protects the insured individual (the car owner) from the risk of financial disaster resulting from his being found liable for injuries to others due to an accident, McCormack explains.

REAGAN & ARMS SALES

President Reagan, beginning his first foreign policy battle with Congress, notified the lawmakers recently of plans for a controversial $8.5 billion arms sale to Saudi Arabia that includes five super-sophisticated AWACS radar planes.

The great problem of life is whether the game is worth the candle.

When a person buys liability insurance, his insurance company agrees to protect him against accident claims, to defend him in court, and to pay damages to the person suing the car owner, if the car owner is found guilty.

Research park at Texas A&M predicted by Bright

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University System Board of Regents Chairman H. R. Bright envisions a high-technology research park here within 20 years that will rival California's "Silicon Valley."

Bright said the research park here will be a planned by-product of stepped-up research activities by Texas A&M University, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the Texas Engineering Experiment Station and the Texas Transportation Institute.

Research and development expenditures at Texas A&M have increased three-fold within the past decade and now total approximately $80 million annually, placing it among the top 20 universities nationally.

"Stanford and its Silicon Valley area are on the cutting edge of computer research," Bright said. "We want to be on the cutting edge of a wide variety of fields."

The Dallas businessman said research will be emphasized at Texas A&M in concert with efforts to enhance the university's teaching activities.

Bright, noting the overall attractiveness of Texas A&M and its booming Sun Belt location, said opportunities to move here will be made to preeminent faculty members throughout the nation. He indicated specific target areas will be in depressed areas such as Michigan, Wisconsin, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

"We will recruit their outstanding brains, the likes of which you have not seen," Bright emphasized.

Last year Texas A&M began a fund-raising program in the private sector to establish prestigious chairs and named professorships for outstanding faculty members in both teaching and research.

Thus far, 11 chairs have been funded, requiring a minimum donation of $500,000 each. Eight professorships have also been funded at $150,000 each.

Money is the most contemptible of all man-made idols.

Counseling Service Will Be Expanded

The popular Vet Center Counseling Service for Vietnam Era veterans will be expanded by 50 percent, Veterans Administration chief Robert P. Nimmo announced today.

Nimmo, who took the oath of office July 15, as Administrator of Veterans Affairs, said 42 new counseling facilities will be added to the program under terms of the Reagan bipartisan budget resolution.

The 42 new facilities will bring to 133 the number of "store-front" counseling facilities available to Vietnam Era veterans who may be suffering readjustment problems following military service during the Vietnam war.

As he had during his confirmation hearings before the Senate Veterans Affairs Committee July 9, Nimmo stressed the fact

Veterans Q & A

Q—Is there a difference in the rate of Veterans Administration disability compensation paid for wartime and peacetime service?

A—No. The payment is the same for wartime and peacetime service.

Q—My father died in service. I am 18 years old and planning to start college in the fall. Since my mother has remarried, do I lose my Veterans Administration educational entitlement?

A—No. The remarriage of a spouse does not affect the child's educational benefit.

Q—What is the maximum loan amount on a Veterans Administration guaranteed home loan?

A—There is no maximum loan amount established by VA. However, the maximum amount of the guarantee cannot exceed 60% of the loan value of the home, up to a maximum of $27,500.

Q—I was married to a serviceman who died on active duty. I never applied for Veterans Administration benefits because I remarried shortly after his death. I recently divorced my second husband. Am I entitled to any VA benefits on my first husband's service?

A—Yes. Contact the nearest VA office for assistance.

Q—I recently cash surrendered my National Service Life Insurance policy. I now have second thoughts. Can I reinstate my policy?

A—Yes. Make your request in writing to the insurance center within 31 days, and return the government check with your request.

that "while the vast majority of our Vietnam veterans have successfully returned to our working society, a substantial number still suffer various degrees of readjustment difficulty."

It is those veterans, he said, "Whom we will continue to reach out to through this expanded Vet Center Program."

Nimmo said the centers typically have staffs of three to five persons who operate on an informal, person-to-person basis with Vietnam Era Veterans experiencing emotional and other readjustment problems.

"We hope to have all of the new centers in operation within three to four months," Nimmo said. Some are almost ready to begin operations and others will be opened as suitable space can be arranged and personnel recruited.

Since the Vet Center Program began operation early in 1980, approximately 72,000 Vietnam Era veterans have been counseled. Nimmo said VA officials believe the new centers will be much more efficient than the original ones because contacting have been improved.

The expectation, he said, is that the new center teams will be able to provide assistance to approximately 12,000 Vietnam Era veterans in their first year of operation.

The Vet Center Program has a budget of $29,580,000 for Fiscal Year 1982.

New facilities to be opened in Texas will be located in Fort Worth and San Antonio.

Adults who fail to take care of their children are the ones who complain later that the young people have little respect for their elders.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—While the economy in Texas remains strong, inflation and rising costs continue to create problems, particularly for today's consumers.

One recent development involves the rise in activity in sales of second owner mobile homes. You can pick up any newspaper in the State and see numerous ads listing used mobile homes for sale or advertisements soliciting individuals wishing to sell their mobile homes. As the cost of housing increases along with the interest rates necessary to finance new housing, consumers are turning to used mobile homes in greater numbers. As is the case with site-built permanent housing, used mobile homes can be purchased with existing financing at interest rates far below those currently available for new loans. Assuming an existing home loan can be an excellent means of obtaining housing.

However, consumers should proceed with caution when they decide to purchase a used mobile home by assuming the owner's existing loan.

Of major importance is of course the absolute necessity to be sure you are in fact assuming an existing loan and that you will receive title to the mobile home when the transaction is completed. Too often consumers pay good money out only to find that they in fact have no ownership interest in the mobile home they think they bought. Likewise, individuals selling their mobile homes often find out that the sale did not, in fact, release them from liability to their lienholder.

Several simple precautionary measures can be followed that insure you get what you bargained for.

First, if the home which you wish to purchase or sell has an outstanding mortgage, that is the seller still owes money on it, be sure the mortgage company or lienholder is a party to, and approves your transaction. Don't take anybody's word for it. Contact them yourself. All financing agreements require that the mortgage holder or lienholder be notified prior to sale. Unless they are notified, the original owner will still remain liable for all payments and the new owner will not receive title. This is of major importance when a subsequent owner attempts to purchase insurance.

Second, if the individual offering to buy or sell a used mobile home does this for a living, such as a licensed dealer or broker, ask to see his or her surety bond and registration number. State law requires that mobile home dealers and brokers post a security to insure their financial stability and to register with the State as a dealer or broker. If something goes wrong and they don't have a bond and haven't registered, you may be unable to get your money back.

Finally, do not accept oral promises and don't sign anything you don't fully understand. If the document says "Lease with Option to Purchase," you are not buying the home nor are you assuming an ex-

Raising money from private sector is on the upswing

COLLEGE STATION — Raising money from the private sector — an activity given added importance by President Reagan's budget cuts — is now drawing greater emphasis among public universities that have depended on private support for many years.

At Texas A&M University private-giving has increased every year for the last 10-12 years, said Dr. Robert L. Walker, vice president for development. The largest single category of contributions comes from alumni giving in which Texas A&M leads among public institutions.

Notre-Dame Favored Over L.S.U. Tigers

The only thing that would make the L.S.U.-Notre Dame encounter tougher for Irish fledgling coach Garry Faust would be if it were being played in Baton Rouge. The L.S.U. Tigers, coming off a poorer season than usual - they were four-time losers in 1980 - hosted Alabama in their opener last week. Notre Dame had a fine 9-1-1 season, losing to wire services' national champion Georgia 17-10 in the Sugar Bowl in a game where the Irish vastly outplayed the Bulldogs. Notre Dame is favored at home by seven points.

Michigan finally won a Rose Bowl game last New Year's Day after a long frustrating drought for Coach Bo Schrembeckler. They whipped Washington 23-6. The Wolverines start their season on the road, a Big Ten match-up with Wisconsin in Madison. The Badgers were last in the Roses festival back in 1963 where they lost a never-to-be-forgotten wild one to Southern California 42-37. Wisconsin will be down about 23 points versus last year's Big Ten champions.

Two successive losses spoiled undefeated seasons for both Southern Cal and U.C.L.A. in 1980, runners up in their opener, a team they squeaked by last fall, 20-17. Southern Cal is favored by twelve points. Arizona was one of the two teams that upset U.C.L.A. last year and the Bruins open against the Wildcats in Tucson Saturday night. 21 points is the spread favoring U.C.L.A.

Oklahoma edged Florida State in the Orange Bowl last January 18-17, and the Sooners will be at home Saturday against Wyoming to open the 1981 season. The "paper spread," sometimes questionable in season openers, favors Oklahoma by 30 points.

Elsewhere, Baylor is 31 points too strong for Bowling Green, and North Carolina will beat East Carolina by twenty-five.

"Manage" Rather Than "Control" Brush

In dealing with range brush, it's now an issue of management rather than control. Over the years, both brush eradication and complete control methods have fallen by the wayside because they were ineffective, impractical or cost prohibitive. Changing land uses, with rangeland going into farmland, have caused problems regarding the use of traditional herbicides, which damage crops. What, then, is the answer?

"A total system concept using various methods of brush control that complement each other and extend the life of each treatment at lower cost seems to hold promise," points out Dr. Wayne Hanselka of Corpus Christi, range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "In other words, we need to think in terms of an integrated brush management system."

Such a system takes into consideration the use of rangelands as wildlife habitats as well as the fact that rangelands serve as watersheds in many areas, notes Hanselka. "Brush management should be based on the ecological potential of the range and should be aimed at optimizing production, considering all the potential uses," notes the range specialist. "Brush control should be integrated with all other inputs—especially grazing management—to achieve the desired results."

Among considerations in setting up a brush management system are the rancher's management objectives, potential of the rangeland, type and kind of grazing management, available alternatives, proportion of ranch to be treated and economic.

"With the integrated brush management concept, traditional herbicide rates can be reduced in many cases if followed by another treatment. Also, newer herbicides such as picloram and tebuthiuron can work well, and prescribed burning definitely has a place," says Hanselka. Integrated brush management systems have worked well on macartney rose and huisache in the coastal prairie (near Victoria and Sinton) and on whitebrush near Tilden. Also, in-depth studies on running mesquite are under way near Freer.

"Objectives of these studies have been to reduce large, dense stands of brush to encourage the growth of grasses and herbs, to maintain this improved condition, to restore for production, to remove woody plant debris and to suppress any resprouting of brush plants," notes Hanselka.

To accomplish these objectives calls for a sequence of treatments: mechanical or chemical brush control, deferred grazing, prescribed fire, application of pelleted herbicides, and a sound deferred rotation grazing system. "With rising costs of brush control treatments, the rancher must become increasingly skillful in deciding where to put his dollar. A system of integrated brush management appears promising in achieving well-defined range management goals," contends Hanselka.

Brig. Gen. William Louisell, to House subcommittee on drug and alcohol abuse: "It is clear to us that drug and alcohol abuse is a serious problem that impacts on our people and affects readiness."

EDITORIAL

Innocent Losers

In the flood of publicity given the air controllers' strike in recent weeks, the innocent losers, whose fate has not often been acknowledged, are employees of the airlines who have lost their jobs because of the reduced number of flights.

Eastern Airlines recently laid off 3,000. Other airlines have released both flying and ground personnel. These employees didn't violate an oath and didn't break the law—as did striking controllers. They are truly innocent victims.

And their lost jobs, in addition to curtailed air service, are the result of an ill-fated, illegal strike against the nation by controllers, who at least made their own decision to walk off their jobs.

Reagan's Choice

It's becoming increasingly clear President Reagan faces a hard choice if he is to achieve his aim of reducing budget deficits and balancing the budget by 1984. This choice has become necessary because of economic trends.

It now seems likely, if not certain, that the presently-planned defense buildup cannot proceed unchanged if there is to be a balanced budget in Mr. Reagan's first term of office. There is to be more cost-cutting, but the supply-side economics Mr. Reagan's planners are pursuing are not yet productive. Continued high interest rates and a business slowdown, plus high living costs, complicate the picture of the near-future.

The only course open to the president wherein major reductions in projected spending can instantly be achieved is in defense spending. The very sizeable increases projected—the military buildup is massive—allow for some slower scheduling.

Mr. Reagan recognizes this possibility as the only sure source of further, massive reductions in spending, which could be achieved simply by executive order, without a battle in Congress. Whether national security would be compromised or threatened by a slower military buildup, of course, is the major question.

The rearming effort was sold in Congress on the basis that it was of vital and urgent importance to U.S. security. If, on the other hand, meaningless and reliable arms limitation agreements with the Soviet Union can be reached—and talks are scheduled to begin before the end of the year—this might enable the president to reduce defense outlays, or postpone some, without unduly jeopardizing national security.

FOREIGN INVESTMENT

American investments abroad increased 14.3 percent last year, about the same as in the year before, the government reported recently. The Commerce Department said the United States' direct investment position abroad rose $26.7 billion to $213.5 billion at the end of 1980.

CRITICIZED

Labor, civil rights and women activists assailed the Reagan administration's proposed easing of rules covering affirmative action programs of firms doing business with the government. Even the U.S. Chamber of Commerce criticized the rules changes, saying they don't go far enough to relax such requirements.

Charity begins at home.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—During the regular session of the 67th Legislature the House spent a great deal of its time listening to debate on agencies under Sunset review.

Members of the House voted to continue some agencies with certain modifications being made in the manner in which the agencies functioned and to abolish other agencies by transferring their duties and responsibilities to departments already in existence with similar programs. In addition, one agency, the Board of Tuberculosis Nurse Examiners, was completely abolished. The Board and its membership was quite small and had been inactive for some time.

Discussions on two agencies were carried over into the special session. The House voted to continue the Board of Medical Examiners and to make definite changes in the policies spelled out in the Medical Practices Act.

Another agency which was reviewed during the special session was the Board of Examiners in Social Psychotherapy. The bill to continue the Board was not passed and therefore this agency will be one of those abolished by the 67th Legislature.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Labor Day is a time to honor the working men and women who built America and who are charged with maintaining its greatness. Texas should be particularly proud of its workers, for we are building and have set an example envied by the rest of the nation.

Just about every week, the national press carries stories about opportunities in Texas which are attracting people from other parts of the nation. It is true that our climate and resources are important reasons for the attractiveness of Texas to both business and potential employees.

But the climate and the physical resources are only part of the story. The most important reason is the people of Texas and their spirit. The work ethic is alive and well in Texas. Texans always have believed in the worth of hard work, and have understood that the way to build a better life is through work. Employers know they will get a full day's work for a day's pay.

Because of this attitude, Texas has progressed from a small, completely agrarian foreign colony to one of the most prosperous, productive states in the union in less than 150 years. Not much more than a hundred years ago, the vast area of West Texas was dismissed as a barren desert unfit for human habitation. Texans have made those "staked plains" into some of the most productive farm land in the country and brought in industry as well.

Some of the new Texans who have come from other parts of this country to our state have done so simply because they have heard there are jobs available. That in itself indicates an eagerness to work to provide a good life for themselves and their families. Many have come because they are looking for an area in which an individual still can make a difference, where there is an opportunity for a bright, hardworking person to get ahead. Texas is that, too.

Texans have not lowered their sights. They don't believe they have achieved all the greatness that is possible. And because they still see room for growth, room for greater accomplishments, they will continue to recognize opportunities to meet these goals.

My fellow citizens are proud of their state, and proud of their communities. Almost every city in Texas, large or small, has an active program to attract new business to its area. This pride extends to the workplace. People from other states frequently comment on the friendliness and helpfulness of Texans they have encountered on their visits to our state. It's no accident that they often return, sometimes to build businesses to employ Texans.

So let us celebrate Labor Day by reaffirming the values that have made Texas what it is today, and that promise to contribute to even greater things to come.

Resolución Conjunta No. 81 de la Cámara de Representantes autoriza al cuerpo gobernante de un condado, una ciudad, un distrito escolar u otras subdivisiones políticas declarar libre de impuestos una porción del valor de mercado de un hogar de residencia. La porción libre de impuestos puede ser hasta 40% para el periodo 1982-1984; 30% para 1985-1987; y 20% para 1988 y los años siguientes. La cantidad de la exención no puede ser menos de $5,000 a menos que la legislatura por ley general prescriba otras restricciones monetarias de la cantidad de exención. A un adulto elegible se le permite recibir otras exenciones aplicables previstas por la ley. Se hace excepción en caso de que los impuestos por avalúo hayan sido comprometidos previamente por el pago de deudas.

PROPOSICION NO. 7
EN LA BOLETA

La enmienda además dirige a la legislatura que requiera que se les dé a los propietarios una estimación razonable de impuesto sobre su propiedad en ciertas situaciones.

PROPOSICION NO. 9
EN LA BOLETA

Resolución Conjunta No. 117 de la Cámara de Representantes propone una enmienda que autorice a la Junta de Terrenos para Veteranos poner en circulación y vender bonos adicionales en la cantidad de $250,000,000 lo cual aumentaría de $700,000,000 a $950,000,000 la autorización total de circulación de bonos del Fondo de Terrenos para Veteranos. La enmienda aumentaría el interés máximo pagable por el estado por estos bonos de 6% a 10% y permitiría una tarifa una más alta si fuera especificada por la legislatura.

PROPOSICION NO. 10
EN LA BOLETA

La enmienda propuesta aparecerá en la boleta como sigue: "La enmienda constitucional que autoriza la emisión de bonos adicionales para financiar el programa de terrenos para veteranos y que aumenta la tarifa máxima de interés que se permite en los bonos del fondo de terrenos para veteranos."

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The Texas Supreme Court last week upheld a lower court ruling which threw out the redistricting plan for the Texas House of Representatives. Immediately all eyes turned to the Redistricting Board, provided in such emergencies by the Texas Constitution, for clues to how the final redistricting map will be drawn.

That board is composed of five Democrats and no Republicans, not by design of the Democrats, but by the Constitution. Sitting on the board are the Lt. Governor, House Speaker, Attorney General, Comptroller and Land Commissioner. Except for the Speaker, all are statewide elected officials... and all are Democrats.

Republican Governor Bill Clements, who enjoyed a powerful role in the recent regular and special sessions of the Legislature, must now pace the sidelines.

The map is now in the hands of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Speaker Bill Clayton, Atty. Gen. Mark White, Comptroller Bob Bullock and Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong.

The political dynamics behind the drawing of the new redistricting plan is fascinating to politico-watchers. A three-vote bloc will carry any cause on this five-member board, and those who profess to be true Democrats are eager to make up for losses sustained during the regular session.

Die-hard Republicans are claiming that any gains in House seats under the throw-out plan are minimal. Perhaps what is at issue here is how many seats will be drawn which are to be considered toss-ups in the next election, to be won by a competent candidate from either party.

The Bloc—Where? Undeniably, the most conservative official on the Redistricting Board is Clayton, followed by Hobby. Clayton is approaching lame-duck status with every new day, but his seat on the Board gives him prolonged clout that his foes wish he didn't have. Clayton's strength in the House was a team composed of the minority of Republicans and a group of conservative Democrats, mostly from rural areas. He should be rated the official most likely to look after the interest of Republicans.

Hobby is closer to the Democratic party, but not too much closer. Those who regard themselves as true Democrats fault Hobby for not standing up to Clayton and Clements during the past session.

Hobby, a Houston multimillionaire, would probably explain his stances as a protection of the conservative position, and an attempt to treat both parties fairly.

Going into the meetings, Clayton and Hobby appear to constitute two votes in a potential conservative bloc.

Opposing Bloc Two members who might readily oppose any Clayton-Hobby alliance are Bullock and Armstrong. While they risk being labeled the liberal bloc, it is probably more accurate to say the pair is more inclined to protect the Democratic Party.

They constitute a formidable duo: Armstrong is retiring from his office and has little to lose. Bullock has a macho mystique, and not known to shirk from a heavy-duty political fight.

Swing Vote The swing vote could well prove to be Mark White, the man who is also most likely to vote for a judicially fair map. As Attorney General, he should be the most conscientious official in terms of meeting the requirements of the Voting Rights Act.

However, that law was drafted to protect the rights of minority citizens, such as Hispanics and blacks, and not to protect any political parties.

The Lobby Still another group to be considered is the powerful group of special interest lobbyists who frequent Capitol halls. Conservative in ideology and untied to either party, they band together to contribute campaign money to their favorite officials and candidates. How much influence they will have as a group on the five redistricting officials remains to be seen.

Martin Indicted State Rep. Mike Martin, R-Longview, was indicted for aggravated perjury last week by a Travis County grand jury. Jurors suspect Martin lied to them about a July 31 incident in which he was wounded in the elbow by a shotgun blast.

Martin posted $5,000 and pleaded not guilty. A clean-cut looking young man who carried the "creation theory" bill last session, Martin is suspected of staging his own shooting for publicity purposes. The shotgun may have been fired by Martin's cousin, who has told police the shooting was rehearsed, then faked.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek takes a look at inflation this week, sort of.

Dear Editor:
I was listening to an economic expert on TV discussing inflation. "Inflation," he said, "is caused by too many dollars chasing too few goods."
I got to thinking about that. If it's true, how do I go about getting some of those dollars to chase a few of my calves? There are plenty of cattle in this country and they're selling at pre-inflation prices, yet nobody seems to want to sic his surplus dollars on 'em.

Car dealers and home builders with their surpluses are, I suspect, wondering why some of those dollars don't get after them.

One trouble with inflation is that there's not enough of it to go around. A farmer, faced with sky-high prices on everything he buys, can try, you might think, to offset that by raising the price of what he sells. But when he tries nobody pays any attention to him. Somebody else has already hogged all the inflation in that area.

It seems to me we ought to have either less inflation or have what we've got more evenly distributed.

Then there are those who say inflation is caused by too much greed grabbing while the grabbing's good.

Too many dollars chasing too few goods may cause inflation in some areas, but the real problem for a lot of people is that, after they get through paying their bills, they have too few dollars to chase after much of anything.

There's one way to meet this head-on. If you're manufacturing cars for example and find that a lot of people faint when they find out what a new one costs, the thing to do is raise the price still more and concentrate on the people who're going to buy one regardless.

This won't work with farming and ranching. Or school teaching either. Works all right with some Congressmen though. Lots of dollars chasing after them. Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

IT'S THE LAW

AUSTIN - Most of the time, new state laws become effective on September 1, which is 90 days after the end of the Legislative session. Here's a brief summary of some of the laws effective on that date:

1. Drinking age (Sarpalius) - This law requires that everyone be at least 19 years old to buy alcoholic beverages. Even those who were 18 before September 1 must now be 19.

This law does not prohibit 18-year-olds from working in a business that sells alcohol, but they may neither buy alcohol nor have a license to sell alcohol.

2. Wiretapping (Bock) - Allows the Department of Public Safety to tap the phones of those suspected of dealing in dangerous drugs. Also, the DPS may break into a home or office to plant a wiretap or listening device.

Of course, the DPS may exercise this power only under court order.

3. Gasohol information (Sarpalius) - Creates a clearinghouse in the Texas Department of Agriculture for gasohol information.

4. Drug paraphernalia (Evans) - Possession or sale of items intended for use with illegal drugs now is illegal.

5. Crimes against the elderly (J. Gibson) - Increases the penalty for certain crimes committed against senior citizens or children.

6. Generic drugs (Von Dohlen) - Pharmacists now may substitute equivalent generic drugs for brand-name drugs if the generic drugs are cheaper and if the patient and the doctor do not object.

7. Oral confessions (Glasgow) - Prosecutors now may use the oral confessions of criminal defendants in trials if the confession is recorded on film or video tape. Formerly, confessions had to be written.

8. Bingo (Criss) - Communities now may vote on whether to allow charitable institutions to have bingo games for fund raising.

9. Radiation (Traeger) - Sets up strict standards for low-level radiation storage and provides for civil and criminal penalties for their violation.

10. Inheritance tax (Geistweidt) - Substantially reduces the state inheritance tax.

Of course, this is just a sampling of some of the more important bills that became law on September 1. Many others will become law on January 1, and we will devote a column to these at the proper time. As we look at the accomplishments of the last session, and look toward the next, we realize how important the help all of you gave us has been. But we still need to hear from you to plan an effective legislative program. Please write to Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.
