County Tax Increase Explained By Judge

In an effort to clear up the county revenue sharing plan proposed and the increase of county taxes, the Journal approached Judge Glen Williams for an explanation. The following was given.

As we have stated before, the 1981 County Budget is working out pretty well as projected and it now appears that we will finish this year in good financial condition. In connection with this, the Commissioner's Court had sincerely hoped to get by another year without any tax increase at all. And we have worked diligently to that end. But we cannot do it. So a notice of an intended tax increase appeared in the latest issue of the local paper.

Basically, that increase is necessary for two reasons, over which the Court does not have control.

1) TERMINATION OF THE REVENUE SHARING PROGRAM:

As you probably know, of fairly recent date, Congress passed a new Revenue Sharing Program under which we would have received slightly over $90,000.00 in 1982. But word from Washington now is that the Program will be terminated, and the County may not receive any Revenue Sharing money at all. It therefore must be replaced by additional tax money, as we had included it in our 1982 Budget.

2) THE CONSTANTLY RISING COST OF OPERATION AND THE NEED TO REPLACE OLD EQUIPMENT

In order to continue a fiscally responsible operation, and to provide the necessary automobiles, road machinery, and other equipment, the County will need a little more money before another year goes by.

To meet these anticipated expenses, and to replace the lost revenue, it has become necessary to increase taxes by raising the total County Rate from .36 cents to .45 cents per $100.00 valuation, based on market values. This should provide about $160,000.00 of new revenue, $90,000.00 of which is to replace the expected loss of the Revenue Sharing funds. Should the Revenue Sharing funds not be lost, then we may be able to create a reserve for emergency purposes.

The increase sounds like a large one, and it is, but viewed as a whole it may not be quite as painful as first appears. And we sin-

There being no public input on either item, the Council recessed the hearings. The Energas increase hearing was recessed until such time as consultants findings are available.

McVicker Pulls Ahead In Contest

Last weeks football contest winner is David McVicker. David missed only 2 games to cop 10 points. These 10 new points added to the 6 points he already had put him in first place overall in the contest with 16 points.

Second place went to Mrs. John Hayes who missed three games, but had less difference in tie-breaker points than did Mary Sweetman who placed 3rd this week.

Following David McVicker in the overall contest are Margrethe Taylor and Marilyn Gettel both with 10 points each for a second place tie. A tie is also present for third place with Jerry Roddam and Mrs. John Hayes both with six points each.

By winning last week's contest, McVicker pulled ahead with a good lead. However, that lead could be broken by this week's contest entries. Many of you still have a good chance to go for the grand prize, so study-up and get those entries in by 5:30 p.m. Friday. Who knows? The next winner could be you.

Professor praises Japanese managers

COLLEGE STATION — Manufacturing firms in this country may improve productivity by studying the Japanese style of management rather than their technology, says a management expert.

Since the end of World War II, the Japanese have been able to build almost anything faster, cheaper and, lately it seems, better than Americans. One reason, suggests Dr. Don Helliogel of Texas A&M University's management department, is the Japanese attention to the human aspects of life in the workplace.

Helliogel said while U.S. managers tend to highly rate aggressiveness, individuality and conflict as measures of achievement, the opposite is found for Japanese managers.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

My husband was an invalid for years and as a result, I was confined to our home. Now I am not complaining as I loved my husband and stayed with him because I wished to do so and he was happier when I was with him.

Now my problem is this. He died a year ago and I was left with his estate which was considerable. I have always wished to travel and during the year I have had several lovely and expensive trips. I understand, through the grapevine, that I am being criticized by some of my friends—who would like to travel but who haven't the money to do so. They talk about these "rich" widows who can't wait to get their husbands in the grave so they can spend his money. My children, who are married, are also critical. I suppose they think that there will not be so much for me to leave when I pass on.

What do you think about this?

Answer: I shouldn't let what such friends (?) say about my travels worry me if I were in your place. They speak of his money but you earned that money as much as he did by rearing his children and devoting your life to making a happy home for him.

Your children should be glad that you now have the opportunity to enjoy some of the pleasures that you missed in the past, when you were doing what you considered to be a wife's duty.

No matter how well a person lives or conducts her life there will always be some people who find fault, so my advice to you is to continue to enjoy the fruits of you and your late husband's labors and pay no attention to your critics.

Louisa.

Counting members previously enrolled and ladies who joined the organization, the Jennyslippers will be starting out with thirty-five charter members.

The next meeting will be on October 22 at 7 p.m. in the Muleshoe State Bank meeting room. It was suggested that quarterly meetings be held in the evening hours to facilitate the meeting of committees as well as regular meetings.

For the October 22 meeting, each member is urged to attend and bring with them a prospective member. Big plans are underway to make this organization an active and productive one. It is not yet too late to be a part of it. For membership applications or information, call any officer or committee chairman. New Financing Company Organized By SPAG

The Caprock Local Development Company held its organizational meeting Thursday, September 3. The twenty-five member company elected nine Directors to represent the South Plains Region. The Directors in turn elected officers and loan committee members. The officers include: from Plainview, Medlin Carpenter, President; from Spur, Eric Swenson, Vice President; from Littlefield, Gloria Jackson, Secretary; and from Morton, Mike Liner, treasurer. These Officers and the remainder of the Directors will make up the loan committee. The remainder of the Directors include: from Lubbock, Bud Aderton; from Pst, Giles Dalby; from Mator, John Russell; from Crosbyton, T.J. Taylor; and from Morton, Glenn Thompson.

The remainder of the membership include: from Anton, Douglas Teague; from Cotton Center, Henry Rieff; from Crosbyton, A.F. Ogle and Benjamin Vera; from Floydada, Gilbert Fawver; from Leveland, Orval Marcom; from Littlefield, Emil Macha; from Lubbock, Theron Cole, Oscar Jones, Pete Lara and Martin Waters; from Mator, Billy Jameson; from McAdoo, H.L. "Bill" Young; from Muleshoe, Ray Scott and James Warren; and from Southland, Sam Ellis.

The Caprock Local Development Company was organized by the South Plains Association of Governments for the purpose of promoting and enhancing the overall economic development of the fifteen county area of Texas Planning Region #2. Its thrust and objectives include, but are not limited to identifying new and existing industries which will be expanding in the area and to coordinate and development sources of financing.

Financing will be available following certification by the Small Business Administration. This certification is expected to take about sixty days. The company expects to be in business for the purpose of issuing loans some time in December. The loan program will be a joint effort between the Caprock Local Development Company - (CLDC) and the local banks. CLDC will only have available 50% of the entire financial package and will only help finance capital investments of land, building and equipment.

The first annual meeting of the Caprock Local Development Company will be held on Tuesday, October 13 at 3:00 p.m. at 1709 26th Street in Lubbock. The entire membership as well as the officers and directors will meet at that time. The purpose of this meeting will be to confirm the officers and directors and to pass a resolution authorizing the executive director, Jerry D. Casstevens to submit the application for certification to the Small Business Administration.

Crop Insurance Called Key To Borrowing

Agricultural lenders in wheat-producing areas are taking a closer look at loan applications and particularly at the borrower's repayment ability, according to Ben A. Jordan, Jr., Regional Director of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. He notes that wheat growers who carry insurance at least equal to their debt obligations are in the strongest position to obtain the credit they need.

"There are a number of reasons why applications for loans are receiving closer scrutiny this year," Jordan says. "One of these is the generally tight credit situation. Another is the combination of increased production costs and high interest rates. The more a farmer must borrow and the higher the interest rate he must pay, the higher the yield he must have in order to be able to repay his loans."

Still another reason is the scheduled expiration of the ASCS disaster payments program which some farmers who had crop losses last year used to repay their current loans. The widespread 1980 drought has also made it more difficult for many farmers to borrow money, particularly those who experienced losses and still have outstanding loans from a year ago or who had to refinance land or equipment. In either case, the result is a strain on loan repayment ability, says Jordan.

"Under the all-risk insurance now being offered for 1982-crop wheat, a farmer can choose insurance coverage that's roughly equal to the amount of money he will need to borrow. Or he can carry insurance that, in most cases, will cover his total investment in the crop."

"One of the attractions of the FCIC insurance program, which is now available in all counties, is that the government pays up to 30 percent in all counties, 30 percent of the premium cost. The net cost is further reduced by claiming the balance of the premium as a farm business tax deduction. In addition, policyholders who have a record of few or small insured losses qualify for discounts," Jordan points out.

Having an insurance policy can make a big difference when it comes time to borrow money, according to the FCIC Regional Director. He notes that most lenders today carefully analyze prospective borrowers' cash flow projections and insurance can eliminate up to three-fourths of the income uncertainty associated with such projections. In fact, if he wishes to do so, a farmer can actually assign his insurance indemnities to the lender as loan collateral.

For more information on this year's wheat insurance program, its benefits and the cost, contact the local FCIC representative or a private insurance agent who is handling FCIC insurance before September 30.

Texas Cattle Feeders Urge Vote For Proposition 5

Texas Cattle Feeders Association President R.L. (Bob) Bliss today urged his fellow Texans to vote for Proposition Five on Nov. 3.

Proposition Five seeks to include livestock and poultry with all other farm products, which are already exempt from property (ad valorem) taxation. It is one of seven propositions on the Nov. 3 ballot.

"Of the seven largest cattle feeding states, Texas is the only state which unconditionally imposes taxes on livestock," Bliss said. "This places Texas beef producers at a price competitive disadvantage with other states. We now have an opportunity to correct this inequity."

"Obviously, where this tax is levied, costs of production are greater than where it is not imposed," he added. "As long as this situation continues, we are increasing the cattle feeders' production costs and making cattle feeding in Texas less attractive than in other states. Some feedyards outside of Texas even advertise their competitive advantage."

Bliss said the constitutional amendment cleared the Texas House of Representatives without a single dissenting vote, indicating their recognition of the

OS Ranch Roping/Art Exhibit October 2-4

They will have the opportunity to watch 36 of the nation's top steer ropers in action Sunday afternoon, 50 of the west's best calf inequity. It is supported by nine Texas farm organizations.

He added that the tax represents only a minute portion of the revenues collected by local taxing authorities-about one-fourth of one percent of revenues, statewide. "But the tax is inequitable," Bliss said, "because of widespread and inconsistent administration."

The big "OS weekend", which is benefit for West Texas Boys Ranch in San Angelo, raised in excess of $275,000 for the boys ranch in its first decade.

Upcoming Deer Season Appears Promising

The upcoming deer season promises to be everything that year's wasn't. Good forage and better than normal weather conditions should result in better quality deer than a year ago and more of them, according to a Texas Agricultural Extension Service wildlife specialist based here.

Hunters can even expect better antlered deer from the improved nutrition which is a major contributing factor to their condition.

Dr. Dwight Guynn explains that last year's drought effectively reduced the deer numbers in overpopulated areas. This year there is more food for each animal which translates into good antler growth for bucks and higher fawn crops for does.

Higher fawn crops generally mean the deer herds are immediately beginning a population increase. Hence, Guynn stresses that landowners and hunters can work toward a larger female harvest this year in order to keep down the increasing deer population where desired.

Failure to harvest more does in the past seasons led to overpopulated conditions in many parts of the state that resulted in large die-offs similar to what happened when the drought hit last year. Historically, deer harvests in the Hill Country have been about 10 percent of the deer population be harvested annually just to compensate for reproduction and keep the population from increasing beyond the food supply.

Guynn, a certified wildlife biologist headquartered at Texas A and M Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Uvalde, says it is getting harder each year to predict the type hunting season that hunters can expect. Weather conditions and food availability are major considerations. With a good acorn crop and lush green forage available, deer will feed mostly at night and bed down during the day, making hunting more difficult.

He says an early frost or scarce food conditions during the season usually cause deer to roam more during the daylight hours to seek food. Deer would then be more visible and available to hunters. They could also be more easily drawn to baited stands.

Guynn reminds landowners that deer census techniques and spotlight can be used to better determine deer populations and evaluate proper harvest levels. More can be learned about these techniques along with aging methods, harvest record systems and harvest recommendations through local county Extension agents or Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife officials.

Deer season opens in most Texas counties at sunrise on November fourteenth. Good hunting.

Scanning Social Security

Today's column covers the changes that have become law in 1981. These changes are extensive and cover a wide range of subjects.

Student Benefits
Beginning August 1981, student benefits are being phased out. Students fall into several classes for eligibility, but student benefits will be lowered every year from now until April 1985, when all student benefits will cease.

Until then, students who have questions about how their specific case will be figured, should read all releases sent to them by Social Security and contact the SSA offices only after they have done all they can to get the facts.

Minimum benefits
As a result of the new law, there is no longer a floor in minimum benefits. At this time, with the minimum floor removed, some persons now applying, may receive no more than a few dollars per month.

This change is effective with November 1981.

Limit on Disability Benefits
The new law provides a cap on disability when a person is receiving Workman's Compensation checks. This provision is applicable until the person is age 65 instead of 62 as it was in the law before 1981.

Survivor Benefits
Surviving mothers and fathers no longer will receive a check because they have a child in their care, once the child reaches age 16.

This provision is effective with applications filed in August 1981 or this month.

For those already receiving, benefits will be paid until 1983 or until the youngest child is age 16 whichever is first.

Benefits Paid First Full Month of Eligibility

Beginning with September 1981, payment can be made only to those who have retired and are retirement age for a full month. This provision precludes payment for the first month of eligibility unless the applicant is retirement age all month long. This means that anyone not age 62 the first day of the month, will not draw a check for the month he becomes age 62 if he becomes that age on the second or later day of the month.

Age 72 Benefits
Once again age 72 is the month in which benefits can be paid regardless of how much a person earns working.

'Helping Hand' Program Becoming Familiar Site

An emblem with a bright orange silhouette of a spread hand displayed in windows is becoming a familiar sight in many cities.

They represent the Helping Hand program inaugurated by some local schools and Parent Teacher Associations with the help of volunteers. General Telephone Company of the Southwest supports the program as one of its community service projects.

Vice President - Public Affairs for GTSW Joe H. Collyns said, "We share the concern of the communities we serve and are always willing to extend a 'helping hand'. Although the program is not fool-proof, it is a positive approach to helping children in need. We feel the program illustrates our interest and social responsibility to all segments of society."

Helping Hand decals and program guidelines are supplied by General Telephone free of charge.

The telephone company initiated the program in August 1980. Currently 176 schools in 53 communities in General Telephone's four-state operating area in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arkansas utilize the program.

"Helping Hand is designed to visually identify homes, businesses or offices willing to serve as a refuge and provide assistance to school children encountering problems as they go to and from school," Collyns said.

Students are told if they are approached or threatened by an unknown person or have problem such as being chased by a dog or becoming lost, they should seek immediate help from the location displaying the Helping Hand symbol.

There are four Helping Hand guidelines that participants follow. The participants learn why a youngster knocked at his/her door, look for a person on the street or in a vehicle who may have frightened the child, call the local police with a report and call the school principal with a report.

Schools and PTA groups interested in the program, or those currently conducting the program who need materials offered by General Telephone, can write to: Charles Watkins, Community Relations Manager, General Telephone Company of the Southwest, P.O. Box 1001, San Angelo, Texas 76901.

Please call the office of your General Telephone Division Manager O.D. Hearn, in Brownfield at 806-637-3516 if you wish to obtain local information about GTSW's support of the Helping Hand program in your community.

Party & Congress

The theory is that members of Congress vote their conscience, after studying all sides of major questions. A number of House Democrats did that in June and July and President Reagan won hard battles to get tax cuts and lower spending, as a result.

The House Democrat caucus met recently, however. In effect, it was said that in the future if conservative Democrats don't toe the line on major-issue votes, they might be stripped of their committee seniority.

This could unseat several committee and subcommittee chairmen. It is an effort by a political party to force its members to vote as the party leadership desires.

This is an undemocratic leverage play by House leaders. It's also a self-serving means for some to obtain subcommittee and committee chairmanships at the expense of others in their own party.

While caucuses have the right to punish party members who vote independently-or as their constituents or conscience dictate, it's a very unwise procedure. It smacks of big-city party-machine methods.

Members of both parties come from diverse states and regions, and can never agree on all major issues. If House Democrats purge 30-called "boll weevils" who vote for Reagan programs, they'll drive some Democrats into the G.O.P., perhaps enough to help Republicans take all committee and subcommittee chairmanships in years to come. Voters resent a party telling their congressman how he must vote.

Children & Discipline

In recent years, much has been heard about the danger in saying "no" to junior, of crushing junior's spirit, of not allowing junior to freely develop and express himself.

A generation or more of mothers and fathers, to a degree, accepted this well-meaning advice-often with practical application.

One result has been that, beginning in the sixties, junior turned out to be disinclined to accept the restraints and "no's" imposed by our society's laws.

This has caused all kinds of problems, for junior (and daughters), and for society. In an over-reaction from the Victorian patriarch, who once maintained discipline in the home, some have abandoned practically all discipline.

Looking back at earlier generations of children, we can see that in spite of discipline, sometimes strong, the system was not bad, and that there is still, today, a very real need for father's or mother's discipline in the home.

This translates positively in later life into business, government and general social behavior--and is a much needed quality today.

WASHINGTON NOTES

CRIMES UP

The number of major crimes in America surged by 9 percent again last year; and only one out of five resulted in an arrest, the FBI reported recently. The rise in the 1980 crime rate was the second substantial increase following three years of relative stability.

SHARK REPELLENT

A small fish found in the Red Sea may be the key to the first effective shark repellent, says a leading shark expert, Dr. Eugene Clark. But sharks are so docile, she adds, so no one really needs it.

DUMPS & EPA

Cleaning up thousands of abandoned toxic waste dumps under the federal superfund law has "the highest priority" at the Environmental Protection Agency, the agency's new chief, Ann Gorsuch, assured Congress recently.

SMOKING MORE

Cigarette advertising hit the $1-billion mark for the first time in 1979-a 20 percent increase over the year before--and it paid off with the sale of more cigarettes than ever before.

MORE BABIES

The southern and western states, their populations swollen by migration, also boast higher fertility rates than other parts of the country, the Census Bureau reported recently.

HONORS HEROES

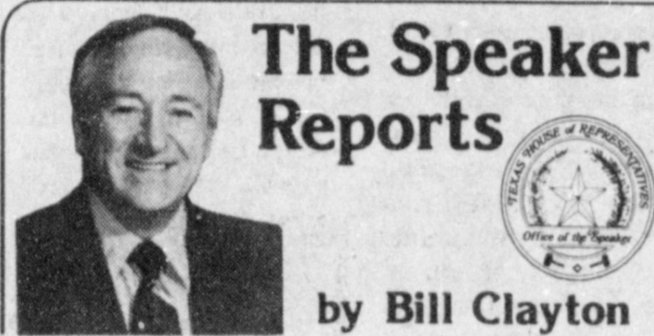

Thirty-six years after 18 American soldiers withstood three brutal German attacks along a snowy Belgian road in World War II, the Army announced it would award the men medals that will make their platoon among the most decorated in the war.

TO HONOR KING

The House endorsed a move to place a bust or statue of Martin Luther King Jr. in the Capitol, making him the first black so honored. The resolution was sent to the Senate.

Paul Volcher, Federal Reserve chairman:

"A lasting resolution of our economic problems generally, and the interest-rate problem in particular, will be found only in success in the battle against inflation."

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN--Committees of the House of Representatives perform many important functions for the legislature. One of these duties is to conduct studies on various subjects during the interim.

When I first became Speaker in 1975 I began the policy of giving each standing House committee a set of charges on areas which I felt deserved research and which might need specific legislation passed during the next session.

The charges have become a guideline for the committees' work during the interim. Most of the committees hold public hearings around the state and publish a report of their findings to the next Legislature. The public hearings give Texans the chance to voice their opinions to the committee.

In addition, each committee is assigned oversight for selected state agencies. This means that they will analyze the requested budgets of these agencies. They can recommend to the House either lower or higher funding for specific programs or items in the budgets based on their research or they can simply add their approval to the budgets requested by the agencies.

Here are some of the important charges I selected to be studied during the interim. Each charge will be studied by a different committee.

Evaluate present rules, regulations, and statutes regarding the parole process. Review differences between our system of dealing with juvenile offenders and our system of dealing with adult offenders and determine if separation of treatment is effective. Examine methods of reducing trial court delay. Investigate the need to simplify jury instructions. Monitor progress of programs designed to give aid to veterans suffering from Agent Orange. Study detrimental effects of formaldehyde use. Develop potential solutions for funding the Crime Victims Compensation Act.

Compare Texas' condominium housing laws and regulations with those of other states. Study Texas Housing Authority's on-going loan programs and financial benefits for homeowners.

Determine if there is a more clear and concise method to inform voters of proposed legislation. Investigate incentive plans to encourage state employees to submit suggestions on ways to improve state government. Study cotton warehousing in Texas. Study requirements for municipal annexation of submerged lands. Secure accurate statistics on availability of redfish and trout. Examine the concepts and practices of the "twin cities" programs. Investigate and determine the need for current federal regulation relating to testing of immigrant students. Study rail safety in Texas. Make a comparative analysis of gasoline taxes in Texas and other states.

These and many more charges will provide the committees with a busy and productive interim. This valuable background work will allow the legislators of the 68th Legislative Session to have up-to-the minute research on many different topics of proposed legislation.

ON DEBT CEILING

The Senate Finance Committee voted recently to raise the federal government's borrowing authority to $1.079 trillion though the increase has been accepted by the House. This will be the first time the federal debt has ever passed the $1 trillion mark.

POOR HARVEST

MOSCOW -- Soviet authorities have quietly re-instituted a system of informal food rationing in Moscow in a precautionary move to prevent food shortages expected as a result of this year's poor harvest.

WEINBERGER'S PLANS

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger has advised President Reagan to base 100 MX missiles among 1,000 shelters in Nevada and to build up to 250 new bombers by 1990 to replace the B-52, defense sources said recently.

THE LITTLE ENGINE

The Smithsonian lifted the world's oldest working locomotive out of its museum showcase for a three-mile ride recently on its 150th anniversary, but the little engine refused to budge when the big moment came. Finally it made the trip two hours late.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The Administration's proposal to sell the Airborne Warning and Control System (AWACS) aircraft to Saudi Arabia has generated much controversy on Capitol Hill and in the news. In fact, amid all this debate, the real issues involved sometimes have been obscured.

Let's look for a moment at the reason President Reagan has proposed selling this aircraft to Saudi Arabia.

Saudi Arabia has a legitimate requirement for an effective air defense capability to protect the Kingdom's oil fields and its territorial integrity. Since 1978, the security situation in the Persian Gulf region has seriously worsened. The revolution in Iran brought the fall of a pillar of Western security in the region. Iran is now unstable and unpredictable, and has developed a foreign policy hostile to both the U.S. and to Saudi Arabia.

The Soviet invasion of Afghanistan has increased the potential of the Soviets to project military power into the Persian Gulf region. Soviet proxy states -- South Yemen and Ethiopia -- also represent a threat to Saudi Arabia.

In this threatening environment, the Saudis need the capability to have early warning of air attacks against the Kingdom, especially against the oil fields, which are extremely important to the entire industrialized world. Ground-based radars can provide only two to four minutes of warning of low-flying aircraft.

The AWACS aircraft, which is essentially a flying radar platform, can provide earlier detection of threatening aircraft. Given the fragility of the oil fields, it is essential that air attacks be intercepted prior to reaching these fields. The AWACS aircraft is being proposed for Saudi Arabia primarily to provide that vital early warning.

In my judgment, this sale would not pose a significant military threat to Israel. The sale to Saudi Arabia of both the AWACS and the enhancement items for Saudi F-15 aircraft will not alter the balance of power in the region. This balance of power is heavily in Israel's favor.

For the foreseeable future, Israel will be capable of defeating any combination of Arab military forces.

It should also be noted that the AWACS aircraft is a defensive system.

If this is the case, why have so many in Congress already expressed opposition to the sale? Unfortunately, there has been substantial misunderstanding of the capabilities of the AWACS aircraft and the sensitivity of its technology. The Administration has just begun to present its reasons for wanting to make the sale.

Members of Congress who currently oppose the Administration's sale package are concerned about a potential threat to Israel and the risks of compromise of U.S. technology. These are issues that should concern Congress. However, I am convinced that when members have seen the facts fully presented, these misunderstandings will be corrected.

Further, I believe that the Congress will sustain the President's sale proposal once the facts have been fully presented. An objective evaluation of these facts shows that the proposed sales are clearly in U.S. national interests.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The Redistricting Board heard public testimony during two days of public hearings last week but no new map is close to being approved.

Apparently, only three members of the board are drawing maps to submit to the whole panel: Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby will plan for the Senate, Speaker Bill Clayton will map for the House, and Comptroller Bob Bullock will counter with alternate maps for each chamber of the Legislature.

At issue again is where the five-member board will be able to legally split counties to comply with the one-man, one-vote constitutional provision. In August, a state district court judge threw out the Legislature's plan for the House of Representatives on the grounds it illegally divided counties.

The Texas Constitution prohibits cutting county lines in redistricting to discourage gerrymandering. However, more recent court decisions allow counties to be split in order to comply with the one-man, one-vote provision which assures all districts must be equal in population.

Last week's testimony was centered mainly on particular districts in Bexar County, Dallas County, El Paso County, Harris County and various rural counties.

Also at issue is whether minority voting strength will be diluted.

Bullock Missing

Comptroller Bullock was missing from the public hearings because he is undergoing alcoholism treatments in California. His aide, Robert Spellings, sat in his place . . . and word from the Comptroller's Office is that Spellings wields the redistricting pencil there.

Bullock plans on being back in time for the hardball action in mid-October, when the board will need to reach a compromise in order to make its Oct. 29 completion deadline.

Mike Martin

Longview State Rep. Mike Martin, charged with lying to a Travis County grand jury about staging his own shotgun wounding, pleaded not guilty last week.

Martin is also being investigated for matters relating to his personal financial statements and his campaign contributions and expenditures reports.

Travis and Gregg county officials will decide who may probe the financial aspect of Martin.

Mutscher Cleared

A former House Speaker, now Washington County Judge Gus Mutscher, was cleared by a grand jury of charges he and other county officials illegally leased school land.

Almost ten years ago, Mutscher was convicted while House Speaker for conspiring to accept bribes allegedly paid in the so-called Sharpstown scandals. Mutscher said last week the recent charges were politically motivated.

Strake vs. Hobby?

Texas Secretary of State George Strake, Jr. is finding plenty of support for his expected candidacy against Hobby . . . and Hobby is apparently not taking it lying down.

While Democrats have speculated that Hobby may not seek another term, Hobby himself has been traveling the state and setting up fundraisers.

Strake is considered an attractive candidate, not only because of competency and personal diplomacy, but because his family ties can compete with Hobby's for political contributions in Houston and other urban areas.

Strake's intent to make the race may be a good reason why State Sen. Bill Meier said last week he will not run for lieutenant governor as expected. Meier, a Democrat lately turned Republican to make that race, will instead work to re-elect Gov. Bill Clements.

Proposed Amendments

As the Nov. 3 election approaches, legislators are beating the boonies for favorite proposed constitutional amendments on the ballot.

A number of farm and ranch groups have joined to support Proposition Five, which exempts livestock and poultry from property taxes.

Oposing them are school board associations whose districts will lose revenues from the exemption.

Field crops are already exempt from taxation, and a new law also exempts farm equipment.

The gain to farmers is estimated between $6 million to $10 million, if the voters approve the proposed amendment.

A spokesman for cattle feeders said some ranchers send livestock to feedlots in other states to avoid the added cost of property taxes.

Property taxes on cattle in feedlots can tack on an extra 75 cents to $4 a head, with an average of $2 a head.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN--Businesses--large and small--are consumers too.

Anyone who runs a business purchases stock, stationary, office equipment, advertising and a variety of other goods and services in order to function.

Most transactions are honest and fair in the commercial marketplace, but like any other, the opportunity for dishonesty and fraud are as real as in the general retail trade.

One practice recently brought to the attention of our attorneys deals with the sale of advertising.

Businesses need to advertise and are constantly being approached by persons selling space in various publications but not all these publications are what they are represented to be, and the most abused claim is that of a much broader circulation than actually exists. In one instance a publication printed only the papers that were given to advertisers. And one publication was represented to be affiliated with a popular festival that draws large numbers of people, when in fact, the publication was not even allowed distribution on the festival grounds. Another Texas publication sold advertising that was never printed, nor could their salesman be found to give a reason for the oversight.

Even though such transactions are the exception and not the rule, business people should be aware of these practices and take a few precautions for their own protection.

(1) Always be sure you know who produces the publication. If they claim to be affiliated with a known institution, business or person, confirm the relationship. (2) Be sure that you are clear on the number of copies to be published and how it will be distributed. If it is to be distributed through various locations, be sure you know where those locations are so you can personally check to see that the publications indeed distributed. (3) Contact your local Better Business Bureau or Attorney General's Office, Consumer Protection Division to see if they have any information.

Crimson Tide Favorite Over Mississippi Rebs

Alabama and Mississippi almost blew out the score board lights last fall as between them they rolled up ninety four points in a basketball type scoring bonanza. The Tide won it fifty nine to thirty five for their twenty seventh win over the Rebels in the thirty two game series. This year the Rebs have had decisive wins over Tu-Lane, South Carolina and Memphis State, and they met Arkansas last Saturday. Alabama is both the host and the favorite, but only by nine points.

And the Tar Heels of North Carolina are continuing to make big noises in Chapel Hill. Coming off a ten and one season last fall plus successive bowl victories over Michigan in nineteen seventy nine and Texas last year, North Carolina will finally hit the road this year after three home games. The Tar Heels meet Georgia Tech in Atlanta. You may have faint memories that the Yellow Jackets engineered a small win over Alabama in their opening game of the season. North Carolina looks too tough for a Georgia Tech upset. So, N.C. by twenty six points.

To say that Brigham Young is a prolific scoring football team is really an understatement. How about these statistics: over the past two seasons, including two bowl games, the Cougars have won twenty three games, lost two, and rolled up a total of one

Texico Romps On Mules

The 8th grade Mules traveled to Texico Thursday, Sept. 24, to take on the Texico Wolverines. At the end of the 4th quarter, the score board showed Texico 28, Muleshoe 6. It all started when Texico returned the kickoff for a touchdown. The 2 point conversion failed, and Texico led 6 to 0. The Mules were forced to punt on their first offensive possession, but recovered when a Texico back fumbled. The Mules capitalized on the recovery and made 6. The Mules kicked off and the Mules defense could not hold Texico, and as a result Texico scored 6 more points. At the end of the half, Texico led 12-6.

The Mules kicked off and Texico drove for another Touchdown. The Mules received and once again were forced to punt. Texico scored for the final time, with the 2 point conversion being good. The Mules tried to score one more time, but were unsuccessful.

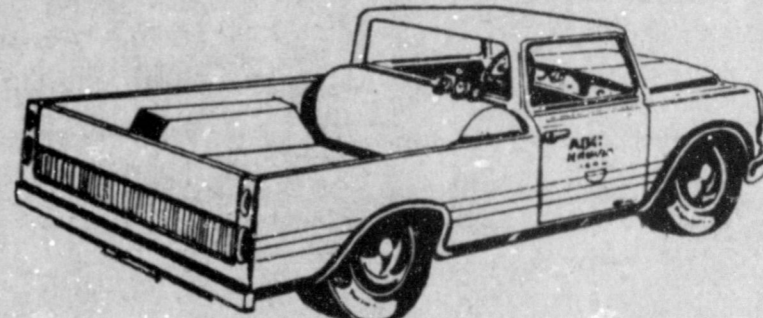

Players receiving stars were David Vela, catching a pass and for running hard on offense, Loy Triana, catching a pass, and Ricky Rasco, a fumble recovery.

MJHS Coaches Comments

The score was 36-0 when the Mules defeated the Springlake Wolverines. We were ready as a team and every play contributed. I feel like that led to the victory. We improved over our last game and are starting to do things well as a team.

Outstanding offensive players are hard to choose, but Ramon Martinez played well, scoring 4 times. Roy Ramos blocked well, and we had good downfield blocking as a team. The defensive played especially well as a team. Every kid played well and did things that it takes to preserve a shutout. I was very pleased with every player we have.

Researchers find lifestyle affects energy consumption

COLLEGE STATION — An energy study conducted by two architectural researchers at Texas A&M University has found that living habits — as much as construction features — account for significant differences in residential energy consumption.

Energy-use data collected over a 13-month period showed that some houses used up to five times as much energy as others of similar size and construction, said Larry Degelman, a professor of architecture and building construction and one of the researchers.

"The largest variability in energy use was unexplained," he said. "This unexplained variance was assumed to be due to lifestyle. Energy use really has a lot more to do with lifestyle than the construction features that we studied."

Public Notice

PROCLAMATION BY THE COUNTY JUDGE OF BAILEY COUNTY TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:

I, Glen Williams, County Judge of Bailey County, do hereby declare the week of October 4-10, 1981 as FIRE PREVENTION WEEK in the Bailey County, for the following reasons:

WHEREAS, FIRE PREVENTION WEEK is observed annually by the United States and Canada each year during the week of Sunday-through-Saturday period that includes October 9. This date is the anniversary of "The Great Chicago Fire of 1871" that killed 250 people and destroyed property totaling $168 million; and,

WHEREAS, this is the 59th consecutive year that the sponsoring National Fire Protection Association is reminding people of the need to practice fire safety—with the theme—"Exit Drills In The Home"; and,

WHEREAS, according to 1978 statistics compiled by the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA), one American home is involved in an accidental fire every minute of the day. Over a 24-hour period, approximately 14 people will die in some 1,700 plus fires in one- and two-family homes across the nation. House fires are only one part of the overall fire picture. For the calendar year 1978, fire departments reported there were some 3 million fires, and property damage was estimated at $4.4 billion. There were 8,783 deaths associated with fires and 32,023 injuries. And 162 firemen were killed fighting fires, while another 106,000 were injured on the job; and,

WHEREAS, the greatest amount of property loss and the greatest number of injuries and deaths are associated with accidental house fires. For example, cigarettes account for 35 percent of all deaths in fires of one- and two-family homes. NFPA lists cigarettes as the cause in five of 18 major sources of fires in homes. In most fires, the association says, cigarettes ignite upholstered furniture in living area and bedding in sleeping quarters; and,

WHEREAS, flammable liquids, primarily gasoline, are responsible for about 10,000 burn injuries treated in hospital emergency rooms. Some are caused by improper storage of these liquids, resulting in fires when the volatile gases from these liquids are ignited by a source many feet away; and,

WHEREAS, beyond fire prevention, prompt fire detection offers the greatest hope for saving lives. Statistics show that the majority of home fires occur between midnight and 8:00 a.m., with many fires burning for upwards of 20 or 30 minutes before detection. NFPA points out that no matter how skilled at fire fighting a fire department may be, firemen are unable to save many victims because they have died before the fire is detected; now, THEREFORE, I urge all citizens of Bailey County to join hands in "Observing" this special period by working together fifty-two weeks a year to fully realize the benefits of FIRE PREVENTION WEEK.

Signed Glen Williams County Judge
