REED-JOHNSON WEDDING READ LAST SATURDAY

Single ring nuptials were read for Miss Trinabeth Reed and Dean Henry Johnson in the First Baptist Church here at 7:30 o'clock last Saturday evening. The Rev. C. B. Stovall, former pastor, now of Stephenville, read the service.

The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Reed, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory satin, with insets of deep ivory Chantilly lace, sheathed in ivory nylon tulle. A tiny fence of seed pearls and rhinestones outlined the oval neckline. defined the long glove sleeves, and finished the deep points of lace that formed a rounded train of nylon tulle. Her short veil was of matching lace and tulle and the ensemble was by Joel of Murray Hamburger. She carried a bouquet of philaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Parker, Hemphill; Mrs. I. W. Terry, Westbrook; Miss Paula Sue Wycokoff, San Angelo; Mrs. Neal J. Reed, sister-in-law of the bride of Sterling City; and Mrs. Robert Minica, San Angelo. Their gowns were of frost green taffeta under full skirts of swirling net. The Chantilly lace bodices were fitted and had Peter Pan collars and short sleeves. Their bouquets were of bronze chrysanthemums.

Miss Forrestine Boyd of Houston, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and Richard Johnson of Rupert, Idaho, nephew of the bride groom, was ring bearer.

Candlelighters were Mims Carl Reed, Billy Joe Swann, Don Reed McDonald, all of Sterling City.

The bridegroom's brother, O. W. Johnson of Rupert, Idaho, was best man. Ushers were L. L. Johnson of Sparks, Idaho, brother of the bridegroom; Neal J. Reed, Sterling City, brother of the bride; and Robert Minica of San Angelo. W. E. Chaney of Garden City was groomsman.

Archway at the church was banked with bronze chrysanthemums, and pom poms, and draped with white satin. Flanking the archway were candelabras holding daffodil yellow candles decorated with huckleberry. Pews were marked with daffodil yellow candles, bronze chrysanthemums, and bronze satin ribbon. Other church decorations carried out the fall color scheme with bronze chrysanthemums and pom poms.

Mrs. Anna Lee Johnson, organist, furnished prenuptial music and accompanied Pfc. Thomas R. (Dick) Olsen, soloist, as he sang "Through the Years," and the "Lord's Prayer." "Clare De Lune" was played softly during the ceremony. Traditional wedding marches from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn also were played by the organist.

A reception was held at the ranch home of the bride's parents. The serving table was decorated with tall white tapers and showers of stephanotis. Mrs. John F. Boyd of Houston, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. David P. Wallace, Jr., of Dallas, cousin of the bride, served the three-tiered wedding cake which centered a reflector surrounded with stephanotis and net.

Serving punch was Mrs. O. W. Johnson, Rupert, Idaho, and Mrs. L. L. Johnson, Sparks, Idaho, sisters-in-law of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Martin C. Reed and Mrs. T. A. Revell registered guests.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Sun Valley, Idaho, the bride was wearing a Ben Reig suit of sand dune sheer wool. She wore a Hattie Carnegie hat of green. Other accessories were brown.

The couple will live at 2431 Guadalupe, San Angelo, when they return from the wedding trip.

Mrs. Johnson is a graduate of Sterling City High School and attended Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., and the University of Texas, where she was a member of Omega Psi and Zeta Tau Alpha.

The bridegroom, a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Johnson of Rupert, Idaho, is a graduate of Rupert, High School and attended Idaho State College where he was a member of Intercollegiate Knights and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Boyd, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fogerson, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gabandi, Rupert, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jones, Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clark, Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs.

Blood Donors Needed

RED CROSS TO COLLECT BLOOD DONATIONS IN SAN ANGELO NOV. 15 AND 16

A Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in San Angelo November 15 and 16 to collect blood for the armed forces.

Pledges for blood may be made now, by filling out a card and giving it to Miss Sue Nelson, Sterling County Chairman. Cards may be had at the News-Record.

A thorough medical history is taken by a physician or a registered nurse employed by the American Red Cross just before the blood donation.

The situation is not only urgent but it is desperate. Any person of either sex and any race, between the ages of 21 and 59 years inclusive may be a blood donor. Persons 18 to 21 are acceptable with written permission from parent or guardian.

Each citizen has the same responsibility for providing blood that the manufacturers of arms and ammunition have for providing that type of equipment for our fighting men. When we fail to secure the needed blood we have failed just as much as though we had walked off the job of making ammunition.

It is no greater or less in any community. All communities regardless of size are represented on the battlefield and hospitals in the Far East by men from these home towns. Many of them have undergone the punishment of enemy fire and are in need of greater quantities of blood.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hildebrand returned last week from Columbia, Mo., where they visited their daughter, Elizabeth, a freshman student in Stephens College.

WIMODSAUIS CLUB

Observes American Art Week

American Art Week was observed by the Wimodausis Club October 25, when the members met at the community center with Mrs. Minta Phillips as hostess. Twenty members attended, and Mrs. Foster Conger was elected a new member.

Reports were made that the piano at the community center had been repaired and tuned, and that members are participating in the "Care for Korea" used clothing drive. Mrs. H. L. Hildebrand was elected delegate to the TFWC State Convention to be held in Denton, November 13-15.

Announcement was made of a food sale to be held Saturday morning, November 10 at the Palace Theater.

Mrs. J. C. Reed talked on "What's New in Architecture."

Mrs. W. N. Reed conducted the members to the home of Mrs. W. L. Foster, Jr. and Mrs. H. L. Hildebrand.

Since landscaping was being done around Mrs. Foster's new home of Colorado red stone and redwood, topped with a shake shingle roof, club members entered by the side gate enhanced with iron grill work which opened onto the loggia. Upon entering the den, members were conducted through the house by Mrs. T. F. Foster, who described the hangings, wall paper, and floor coverings throughout.

The reception hall walls were done in Chinese tea chest paper, printed in a variation of green over burgundy with a trace of white and shot with gold. The ceiling, covered in decorator's canvas, matches the wood cornice and woodwork which are painted Williamsburg green. The handprinted silk and satin Chinese muslin used in the drapes is repeated in the love seat. The floor coverings through most of the house are washed Wilton carpets. Those in the reception hall, dining room and living room are Williamsburg green with matching woodwork.

The living room walls are covered with hand-woven Chinese grasscloth in Williamsburg green and the ceiling in decorator's canvas is painted in tones to blend with the woodwork and the colonial mantel. The hearth and facing of the mantel are done in Vert Isore marble which has a variation of these same fellowship greens. A baroque mirrored framed mirror hangs above the mantel. The Marie Theresa chandelier of Czechoslovakian crystals furnishes the ceiling light. The draw curtains of hand print silk and satin batik cover the glass area from ceiling to floor which has two sliding doors opening on to the terrace.

The curved two sectional sofa, upholstered in spring snow fabric with down cushions, is finished with a kick pleated skirt all around. The round cocktail table with its teakwood base, tortoise shell top, and gold leaf outer trimming sits in front of the sofa. Two nests of teagwood tables match the cocktail table. An English desk with brown leather top, a breakfast, two chests and chairs complete the furnishings of the room.

The dining room woodwork, ceiling and carpet are the same as those in the living room. The walls are covered in a hand printed English mural "Kew Garden" over a panelled dado. Draw curtains of heavy silk hammered satin of soft green fabric complement the regency mahogany and teakwood furniture, the breakfast and buffet having antique glass doors. The regency chairs, rubbed, black finish with gold rosettes upholstered in Roman stripes, Chinese red and gold are appropriately arranged in the dining room and reception hall.

Walls in the den are done in Pollard oak grain Di-Noc with the ceiling a slightly lighter tone of woodblock. The draw curtains of antique satin Chinese floral semi-modern fabric cover the casement

A Quick Coffee Flavored Treat

By BETTY BARCLAY

The dwindling daylight hours serve to remind us that fall days just aren't long enough. The busy homemaker with a full fall schedule has to resort to time-saving devices in the kitchen. That's why desserts prepared in advance solve the problem of busy-day meals.

Here's a variation of that old favorite, baked custard... flavored a new way with Instant Maxwell House Coffee. Baked Coffee Custard is easy to make—quicker too, because instant coffee mixes right in with your ingredients. There's no need to brew coffee in advance. You'll like the way the easy addition of instant coffee by the spoonful can completely transform a plain custard into a really new and different taste treat.

Make Baked Coffee Custard in your individual custard dishes this morning, let it chill in the refrigerator, then unmold on serving dishes. Garnish with whipped cream and serve it to your family tonight. They'll relish its true coffee flavor.

Baked Coffee Custard

- 3 eggs or 6 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 6 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons Instant Maxwell House Coffee
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 3/4 cups milk, scalded

Combine eggs, sugar, salt, Instant Maxwell House Coffee, and vanilla. Add milk gradually, stirring vigorously. Pour into custard cups. Place in pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 20 minutes, or until done. Chill thoroughly. Unmold on serving dishes, if desired. Serve with plain or whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

windows. The super crochet carpet is in beige brown leaf pattern. One wall in matching color and in the same type of glazed wood work used throughout the house is shelved for books and what-nots.

The den and sun porch are divided by a base cabinet topped with a shadow-box, reaching to the ceiling. The walls and drapes of the sunporch take the same treatment as those in the den. The aquamist, molla furniture, Victorian pattern, is in cast aluminum, its cushions being lemon color. The floor is in red quarry tile. Two doors open on to the patio.

The guest bed room is done in pale gray background with large rose bouquets of yellow and burgundy with leaves of chartreuse green and shaded through two tones of deeper green. Draw curtains from ceiling to floor over all glazed area are done in silk and satin solid deep wine fabric. The bed spreads carry the same color. The carpet is in the dark leaf green shade. Mahogany furniture with Chinese motif is used in this room.

Three other bed rooms are equally as beautiful with bath rooms of tile flooring and corrugated semi-walls, each harmonizing with its particular pass hall.

The walls, carpet, and woodwork of the powder room harmonize with those of the guest room. The antique mirrored and hand decorated, the table chests, bench and antique gold chair make up the furnishings of the powder room.

Upon entering the breakfast room we noticed Chinese wallpaper above the dado, and the ceiling in a plain chartreuse wall paper which picks up the minor colors of the Chinese print. The green curtains are of solid antique satin effect, and the floor is covered with embossed inlaid linoleum in diagonal design.

The kitchen walls and ceiling are decorated with chelsea, and early American stencil paper, with the same design used in the glazed chintz fabric at the windows. The coloring in both make a background of a soft yellow, the same coloring used in the St. Charles cabinets. The floor covering is green block linoleum.

The rear entrance and half bath are done in an early American stencil print thorn apple.

Mrs. Foster's collection of antiques shows that she has done practical as well as artistic collecting through the years. A swinging brass candle holder set with various colored stones from Czecho Slovakia, a brass bird cage used as a planter, a huge handpainted urn she brought from Matamoras, Mexico, a collection of figures depicting a chamber musical group in meissen china, bronze statuettes from Italy, a large deeply carved camphor-wood chest from China, each design having a special meaning in Chinese philosophy, a silver and satin glass perfume and powder container, a brass lamp with four Steuben shades which sits on a solid brass table, and a piano floor lamp of brass with handpainted globe, make up a part of her interesting collection of antiques.

Oil painted pictures are hung in various rooms.

One of the interesting features of the house was the sliding doors.

Club members agreed that every detail in Mrs. Foster's home was a thing of beauty.

In the home of Mrs. H. L. Hildebrand, heirlooms and costumes were exhibited by club members. Mrs. Hildebrand exhibited her grandmother Allen's black embroidered cape 50 years old, a rose pink feather fan 50 years old, owned by Miss Ruby Hildebrand and a basque worn in 1890 by Ruby Hildebrand, a watch 66 years old. The Hildebrand family Bible, black satin skirt and cape worn by Mrs. M. G. Hildebrand in 1860 and handmade certificates of merit given to Mr. H. L. Hildebrand's grandfather in school in 1832.

A sterling silver goblet and pitcher around 200 years old and a handmade wooden bread tray, owned by Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Foster in Kentucky were exhibited by their granddaughter, Mrs. Hildebrand.

Mrs. Sterling Foster brought a horn over a hundred years old used to call fox hounds, once owned by Dr. Foster, and her grandmother Adeline Roberts' vase, which is about 100 years old. A coffee grinder was also on display.

Jewelry worn by Mrs. Elizabeth Foster in 1836, a light blue silk velvet wedding gown worn by Alice Foster in 1912 were displayed.

Mrs. W. N. Reed brought an appliqued quilt 150 years old made by her grandmother, Elizabeth Longshore, and a coverlet 100 years old, also made by her grandmother. Everything was done by hand, including shearing of sheep, making and dyeing the thread and the weaving of the cloth.

A letter, written by Mrs. John Phillips' grandfather, Hugh Simpson, to his wife and children while he was serving in the Civil War, was displayed.

Mrs. Harvey Glass brought a coverlet which was woven by her grandmother, Mrs. John J. English, near Tupelo, Mississippi about 75 years ago. The grandfather and sons sheared the sheep, and washed and bleached the wool. The grandmother carded the wool, made it into thread which was dyed with dye made from roots, bark and berries, and wove it into the material used in the coverlet.

Mrs. Ray Lane gave the take home thought which told of art in nature.

The next club meeting will be on November 7, at the community center.

90% For! 10% Against

Railroad workers are represented by 23 standard unions. By mutual agreement, 20 of these unions—comprising about 1,200,000 men, or more than 90%—are working under wages and rules agreed to by them and the railroads. But leaders of three unions—with only about 130,000 men, or less than 10%—still refuse, after more than a year of negotiations, to accept similar wage and rules agreements. These are even more favorable than the terms recommended by the Emergency Board appointed by the President.

Yes, it certainly seems to be finally about time that the leaders of the three unions stop their delaying tactics—their quibbling. But the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors continue to refuse. They continue a course of dillying and dallying. It is definitely time to

Time to settle...

END THIS QUIBBLING!

On June 15, 1950, an Emergency Board appointed by the President under the terms of the Railway Labor Act—an Act largely fathered by the unions themselves—made its recommendations on certain wage and working conditions ("rules" in railroad language) which had been in dispute between employes and the railroads.

More Than 90% of Employes Accept

Since then, terms equal to or better than the Board recommendations have been accepted by about 1,200,000 railroad employes—more than 90% of the total of all workers. They are represented by 20 of the 23 standard railroad unions.

Less Than 10% Refuse

But three unions—with about 130,000 men, or less than 10% of the total—have refused to accept, even after months of negotiations. These three unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. These are three of the so-called "operating" unions. Already the highest paid men in the industry, their leaders demand still further advantages over other workers.

In all, there are about 270,000 operating employes. But not all of them, by any means, are represented by BLE, BLF&E, or ORC. As a matter of fact, less than half—132,000 to be exact—are in these three unions. More than half—about 140,000—are in other unions, principally the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. What makes the whole situation so hard to understand is that these 140,000 operating employes are working under wages and rules which the leaders of the other 130,000 say they cannot agree to.

What Do the Railroads Offer?

They offer these three unions the same settlement which was contained in a Memorandum of Agreement signed at the White House on December 21, 1950, by four brotherhoods and the railroads. Later these brotherhoods sought to repudiate this agreement. But on May 25, 1951, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen signed a complete agreement carrying out the principles of the Memorandum Agreement of December 21. They have been working under this agreement since May 25.

What About Wages?

Under the terms of the agreement, yard engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving a wage increase of $.34 an hour ($2.72 a day) and road engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving an increase of 19½ cents an hour ($1.56 per day). Large sums of retroactive pay have already accrued and if the agreement is carried out, will be paid promptly.

What About "Cost of Living" Increases?

The White House Agreement includes an "escalator" clause under which wages will be geared to changes in the Government's cost-of-living index. Two such increases—April and July, 1951—have already been paid to the 90% of railroad employes covered by signed agreements.

What About the 40-Hour Week?

The White House Agreement calls for the establishment of the 40-hour week in principle, for employes in yard service. The employes can have it any time after January 1, 1952, provided the manpower situation is such that the railroads can get enough men to perform the work with reasonable regularity at straight time rates. If the parties do not agree on the question of availability of manpower, the White House Agreement provides arbitration by a referee appointed by the President.

What Else Do the Union Leaders Demand?

The continued quibbling of the leaders of the three unions has to do principally with rules changes, which have already been agreed to by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Of these, the principal one seems to be that having to do with so-called "interdivisional service"—runs which take in two or more seniority districts.

The union leaders would bar progress and efficiency in the industry, and better service to the public, by maintaining a situation where they can arbitrarily stop a railroad from establishing such interdivisional runs. The carriers propose that if a railroad wishes to set up an interdivisional run, the railroad and the unions should try to agree on such run and the conditions which should surround its establishment, and if the railroad and the unions can't agree, the matter will be submitted to arbitration.

But the three union leaders still refuse.

Rules Can Be Arbitrated

The railroads have not only offered these three unions the same rules agreed to by the BRT and covered by the White House Agreement, but have even agreed to submit such rules to arbitration.

The Industry Pattern Is Fixed

With the pattern so firmly established in the railroad industry, it seems fair to suggest that the leaders of BLE, BLF&E, and ORC stop their quibbling and take action to make the railroad labor picture 100% complete. Certainly today's economic and international situation calls for a united front. And certainly no good reason has been advanced why these three unions should be preferred over all other railroad employes.

Your Home

By Frances Ainsworth

This has been a busy week at our house—we are prepared for a cozy winter already because we have just installed a new electric heating system called Glassheat in our home.

It's just like heating with the sun—because it produces a radiant healthful heat—and brings the infra red rays into our home. These rays heat objects directly, not like the old system of warming the air first, then objects indirectly. With our new heat we can have more comfort at 65°-68° F. than we did before at 70°-72° F.

It's made of aluminum strips imbedded in solid glass with two electrical connections. These glass panels are placed in the wall, and I was happy to find they are decorative too.

One reason I'm so excited about it is because it is absolutely safe. I don't have to worry about my active children burning their fingers on these panels. And there's no danger of fire.

When we go away for the holidays, we'll return to a warm house... and I won't worry about having the heat on while we are gone, because I know it is safe.

My husband, Sam, is enthused over our new heating system too—because it was so easy and economical to install and because it will never burn out. And especially because it's going to be economical to run.

We're so pleased with our new Glassheat, that I just couldn't wait to tell you the news. I know you'll find it as wonderful as we have.

Chacun & Son Côté...

By BETTY BARCLAY

... as the saying goes in France—across-the-sea. On this side of the ocean we say "Everybody has his own taste." But a family taste test will give a happy vote of approval to this recipe for Frozen Crunch—a delightful new cooler that is as refreshing as a sea breeze itself. It's a mixture of ice cream, nut meats, and the new candy-coated rice cereal that lends itself so well to recipes:

Frozen Crunch

2 tablespoons butter
 ½ cup chopped nut meats
 ¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
 2 cups candy-coated rice cereal, crushed
 Dash of salt

2 teaspoons gelatin
 ¼ cup cold water
 1½ cups hot milk
 ½ cup sugar
 Dash of salt
 1 cup cream, whipped
 1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt butter in skillet over low heat. Add nut meats and brown lightly. Add brown sugar and cook, stirring constantly, until sugar melts and caramelizes slightly. Add cereal and salt; mix well. Cool and crumble.

Combine gelatin and cold water; mix well. Add hot milk and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add sugar and salt and mix well. Chill until slightly thickened. Then fold in whipped cream and vanilla.

Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator, setting control for coldest freezing temperature. When partially frozen, turn into a chilled bowl and beat with rotary egg beater until fluffy and smooth. Fold in ¾ of the cereal mixture. Return to tray and freeze 30 minutes longer; stir. Then sprinkle remaining cereal mixture over the top and freeze until firm. Freezing time: 3 to 4 hours. Makes 1 quart.

You can even European-ize this interesting treat: for Mook Biscuit Tortoni, simply turn the ice cream and cereal mixture into 4- or 6-ounce paper cups. Top them with the remaining cereal mixture and freeze them until firm. This makes 12 to 16 servings.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Guess They Felt Pretty "Sheepish"

My wife and I went to Central City Saturday for the football game and it was a top-notch. But I began to wonder if it was worth the trouble when we got in a traffic jam coming home.

Traffic makes me mighty impatient. When I came to a side road that seemed to point towards the main highway, I turned onto it. This road bumps along for maybe a mile, then fetches up short by the railroad—a dead end.

So, I turned around and darned if there weren't twenty cars behind me! One driver had followed —figuring I knew a short cut—then a whole string of them swung after him, like sheep.

From where I sit, there's no sense in just "following along." Whether it's choosing a road, a movie star, or what beverage to drink at meal time, it's always better to make your own decisions. Personally, I often like a glass of beer with my dinner, but most of all, I like the freedom of making up my own mind about it!
