Misses Kay McEntire, Jacqueline Foster and Mrs. Marian Moore are attending the State F.H.A. meeting in Dallas, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Kay is the voting delegate representing Sterling City and Jacqueline is area historian. She will attend an executive council meeting and area luncheon.

Seth Bailey and Dayton Barrett were on the Federal jury panel in San Angelo the first part of the week.

Leslie Wilkins, who has been employed at the South Texas Lumber Company here, has quit and gone to join the Air Force.

(Note—This weekly newsletter is being written this week by Miss Pat Capps of Brownwood, a secretary in Congressman Fisher's office.)

This about my first experience in newspaper reporting. Congressman Fisher is in Texas this week while the Congress is in recess. Every year during the Easter period the Congress takes a 10 day recess. So Mr. Fisher asked me if I would like to fill-in for him with his weekly column while he is away. So this is my chance.

Perhaps it would be of interest to report to you something of what it is like to work in a Congressman's office in Washington. I like it very much. It being the seat of the government, there is a lot going on all the time. Because Mrs. Fisher did not arrive here until about the middle of January, I was able to use the pass issued for her to listen to the President when he delivered his annual State of the Union message to a joint session of the Congress. It was very impressive, sitting in the gallery and watching the Senators march in, then the diplomats, Supreme Court Justices, and others. The gallery was packed as I understand it always is on occasions like that. Cameras, radio microphones, television machines, etc. are grinding away, as the spotlight is directed at the President, the Speaker and the Vice President.

In the office we are kept very busy. A good many visitors from Texas come in to see us, and that is always a special pleasure to all of us. It gives us a chance to talk with our friends, and many times Mr. Fisher is able to make appointments for them and often accompanies them when they have engagements to talk with various people connected with the government.

Some of our work is routine, but what I think I enjoy most is opening the mail in the mornings. Every letter is different, and they are all very interesting. After the mail is opened it is placed on the Congressman's desk, and then he goes to work answering, obtaining information requested or otherwise trying to help the constituent solve his problem. We get a good many letters from veterans or their families regarding rights, problems and other things. We are able to help out in many of these, send copies of laws, rulings, find out about the status of bills the letters refer to, and check with the Veterans Administration on appeals, etc. We also get a good many letters regarding farm and ranch problems.

Mr. Fisher spends about two hours each day in committee hearings. He is on the Armed Services committee, and has done a lot of work the past year on a sub-committee known as a Procurement Watchdog Committee, of which he is vice-chairman. That committee investigates reports of waste and improper methods of contracting. I think the committee has been able to save the Taxpayers many millions of dollars. It has received a lot of praise in the press here in Washington.

Then, when the House meets, usually at 12 o'clock noon the Congressman attends, where he often takes part in debates on subjects in which he has an interest. That has been particularly true this year when most of the sessions have dealt with appropriations. And, as every one knows, Mr. Fisher is a strong believer in strict economy. He spends quite a bit of time working with other Members in obtaining cuts on unnecessary spending that are proposed.

This spring we sent out lists of Farmers bulletins. The Department of Agriculture has for many years been making these lists available. They are very helpful to many farmers and ranchmen because on many subjects they give the best information that science has discovered. Already we have received about 2,000 requests for these pub-

FOR THE SAFETY OF ALL Caperton To Give Free Safety Check on Cars

The R. T. Caperton Chevrolet Company of Sterling City today announced participation in a nationwide automobile safety program sponsored by the Chevrolet Motor Division.

The program launches for the first time in the automobile industry a continuous routine of car checks in order to eliminate defects that might lead to traffic accidents.

"Indorsed by national safety organizations, we feel this is one of the soundest projects of its kind ever undertaken," said R. T. Caperton. "Over the years it will do much to reduce traffic accident rates in the community."

As explained by Caperton, in the future all passenger cars and trucks entering his establishment for service will be given a free 10-point inspection. This examination will cover the mechanical items frequently involved in accidents—tires, steering, brakes, front headlamps, rear headlamps, horn, body glass, windshield wiper, rear vision mirror and exhaust system. The owner will then be given a report on the condition of these features.

"The program was inspired by findings that virtually one-third of all cars on the highway are below safety standards," said Caperton. "In many cases the owners were not aware of the defects in their cars and in a great majority only a slight adjustment was necessary to correct the fault."

"Whether or not the car owner decides to authorize repairs in my shop or elsewhere, we will at least bring deficiencies to his attention."

H. L. Hildebrand returned home Monday from Sherman where he had gone to see his mother. His mother is recovering from a stroke.

We try to send these lists out every few years, while some of the Members I know of send them each year. Many County Agents, Home Demonstrators and schools make use of them also.

This year the famous cherry blossoms were at their best. Hundreds of thousands of people visited Washington to see them in full bloom along the beautiful tidal basin, near the Jefferson Memorial. Even a cherry blossom Queen was chosen and there was quite a ceremony in connection with it. That is done every year. These blossoms bloom for about three days then fade away rapidly. The city has huge flood lights on the long row of these trees at night when they are in full bloom, and it certainly makes a beautiful sight with the reflection in the water along the edge of which the trees are planted.

Well, I better get back to work now. Mr. Fisher has been sending Newsletters to the papers in his district for years. He tries to keep everyone at home informed on some of the highlights of what is going on at the Capitol. This one may not be very informative, but I've enjoyed telling a few of the things that go on, as a Secretary sees them.

Beneficial rains fell over West Texas last week end and eased the drouth situation temporarily. The rains were general over the entire state and ranged up to as much as four inches in some parts of West Texas. Here in Sterling rainfall was gauged from 1.1 to 3.0 inches. Some watergaps were washed out and the North Concho River got on a rise of about nine feet. Traffic was held up on the highways north and west of here Saturday night as waters covered low places and dms in the road.

Ranchmen, who have been feeding so long (that memory of man runeth not to the contrary) estimate that there will be sheep feed green in two weeks or less and grass for cattle soon afterwards.

The feed bills were staggering, and some feeders were just about ready to call it off and sell their stock. Some of the larger holders were hunting grass for their stock in other points.

Rains continued even this week and the weatherman promises rain for Texas all this week on a long range forecast. Central north and east Texas are getting more rain daily, and are all in good condition now. It will take a lot more yet for Sterling County, the south plains and the areas west of here. But, the cloudy skies and rainy conditions over the state presage more yet to come.

The Lions saw a film "Fishin' for Fun" following the regular luncheon Wednesday at the community center. The film was furnished by the Caperton Chevrolet Company here.

The prize went to L. E. Hall. President Wm. J. Swann appointed a nominating committee to nominate officers the next year. He appointed H. L. Hildebrand, R. T. Caperton and Jack Douthit.

The Cancer Story

Diminishing Coffee Series Helping Raise Funds Here in Sterling

The story of cancer control is one of great promise and progress. Some 8,500 Texans will die of cancer this year. It is a medical fact that probably half of them could be saved by known methods of treatment now available.

Radium, x-ray and surgery are the methods used for treatment. In order to be effectively treated, cancer must be properly and promptly diagnosed. This means that frequent and complete physical check-ups are imperative. Cancer often gives one of the seven danger signals. The seven danger signals are important, and they have been studied and discussed among the women of Sterling County during the DIMINISHING COFFEE series which have been going on here since Monday morning, April 14.

To begin this feature of solicitation among our women here Miss Ethel Foster entertained with a coffee Monday morning at her home, including five ladies, namely, Mrs. Roy Foster, Mrs. H. L. Hildebrand, Mrs. Lester Foster, Mrs. W. N. Reed, and Mrs. Anna Lee Johnson. 320 pieces of literature and materials were distributed among these guests equally, so that the DIMINISHING COFFEE series could continue with each participant receiving materials to be divided on down through the series.

These five guests of Miss Foster in turn entertained four guests each as follows:

Mrs. Roy Foster, hostess, Mrs. E. F. McEntire, Mrs. Ruth Allen, Mrs. Martin Reed, and Mrs. Lura McClellan.

Mrs. W. N. Reed, hostess, Mrs. W. S. Nelson, Mrs. Rufus Foster, Mrs. L. C. McDonald, and Mrs. Chappell Murrell.

Mrs. Anna Lee Johnson, hostess, Mrs. Harry Lawson, Mrs. John Brock, Mrs. Loyd Murrell, and Mrs. Robin Burns.

Mrs. Lester Foster, hostess, Mrs. Lee Augustine, Mrs. William Foster, Mrs. T. S. Foster and Mrs. Suter. (Continued on Page 3)

"Covering the County"

By Fred Campbell, County Agent

Rains last week end brought some relief to our dry county, however, more must fall before grass will make much growth. It seems that most of the county received at least 1 1/4 inches with as much as 3 inches being reported west of town in one place.

Entered in the Range Management Contest this year are 3 first year contestants. They are Esther Bird, Lynn Glass and Bobby Dunn. Second year contestants are Delmar Radde, and Charles Probandt. The contest began officially this year on January 1.

A group of Garden City FFA boys have also entered this contest.

The contest is sponsored by the Board of Supervisors of the North Concho Soil Conservation District.

Now is the time to bud pecans. Budwood is scarce and hard to find this late, but can be ordered from a commercial house.

It will be 7-10 days before it will be time to spray for the pecan nut casebearer or pecan borer. Watch for white greenish small egg on pecan terminals. This is the only time during the year when this insect can be controlled.

Spray with 50% DDT and 6 lbs. of wettable sulphur per 100 gallons of water. Put at least 50 gallons to a producing tree. Spray with lots of pressure.

Next Tuesday night, April 29, is the date of the meeting scheduled on mesquite spraying and the government wool program. Time is 8:00 p.m. at school auditorium. Everyone is invited.

IT DOESN'T TAKE 100 YEARS

Six years ago there was a century blooming in R. P. Brown's front yard. With blooming, the plant dies. Usually there are several tiny baby plants that come up at the base of the dead plant.

There was one at the base of the plant at Brown's, and he dug it up and moved it to another location. Now it's shooting up the blooming stalk, and will be in full bloom soon.

The stalk is about the size of a baseball bat and grows inches every day. Sometimes they reach a height of 30 or more feet.

HEALTH TALKS

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

Through the years the question of whether to rock or not rock the baby has been debated by the public and the medical profession alike. A few years back the picture of a cradle for an infant was so closely allied to old-fashioned notions that it always brought a smile to the lips of the modern generation. Time has turned backward, however, to where now a cradle and a rocking chair are very much in the mode again, and the picture of a mother gently rocking her child as she hums a little song is as up-to-the-minute as the policy of letting the infant work out his own feeding schedule.

These changes in policies have rocked back and forth since mankind first discovered that he could exert some control over the health of his body. Back in 150 A.D. in Rome the question of rocking the baby was a medical topic of the day and Galen, the medical scholar who set up regulations that held sway for 1500 years, took a firm stand in favor of a gently rocking, accompanied by a lullaby. He implied that the rocking gave the internal organs the motion they required and the lullaby seemed to be the motion to sway the mind.

He had bitter opponents for his ideas back in those days. Different ideas about health are as healthy for the study of medicine, keeping it in motion and alive, as the rocking motion of each person is vital to his health.

Motion is recognized today as the keynote of life. All parts of the body, even the tiny cells, are constantly undergoing some activity. There must be motion to retain life.

Like the pendulum of a clock, the organs of the body follow a rocking motion. Every organ is cradled in a sac which sets the limits of its rocking. Without the power to rock or swing, the organ is unable to perform its duty.

"Stasis" is the medical word for lack of motion, whether it be of the bloodstream or the organs of the body. Stasis in your body, like static on your radio, causes discord.

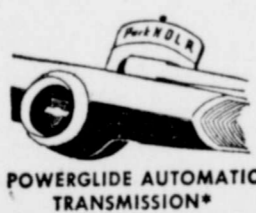

There is a slight pause in the healthy swaying of the parts of the body. When the pendulum of a clock reaches so far to one side as it can go, there is a pause before it swings back. If it gets stuck and fails to swing back, there is a lack of motion similar to that caused by adhesions in the body, when one organ or part of the body grows to another, causing a stickiness that interferes with the swing and sway of motion.

The organs of the body may be considered the works of many different clocks. The bloodstream and fluid channels of the body are the "springs" of your physical clockwork. Before men learned to coil up wire and fix the spring of a clock, clocks were run by drops of water, comparable to the modern clock springs. The water flowed past a regulator into a basin. In the basin was a tall notched stick set in a cork. As the basin filled, the cork rose and the notches on the stick turned the hands around a numbered disk, the clock face.

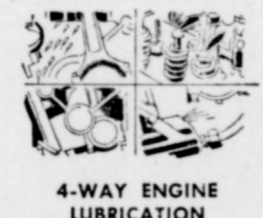

Different organs of the body have different clock mechanisms but they all need that inflow of fluid, the springs of their clockwork, to keep them working.

Exercise keeps the springs feeding the different parts of the body. Too much exercise winds up the springs too tight, making the organs tick too fast. Too little exercise has the effect of letting the clock run down, not giving the vital organs of the body enough drops of water to keep their clocks functioning efficiently.

Clean Up Made Easy

Joy of joys! Now they have eliminated the hard labor of cleaning brushes after the paint job is done. The answer to this homeowner's headache comes in the form of a new paint that washes out of brushes with a simple rinse in soapy water. Spatter spots, too, can be quickly washed away from floors and woodwork.

Unlike the old type paints that react to water, this one, called Wallhide because of its tough, rubber-like finish, can be washed and scrubbed and resists many nasty stains such as grease, crayon, lipstick and even mercurochrome.

Amateurs have no trouble achieving a good-looking job for the rubbery texture makes it easy to apply without leaving streaks or brush marks. Thus, again, American industry comes to the rescue to make an easier job of homemaking.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

Worried about vitamins? Afraid of carbohydrates? Puzzled as to whether or not you and your family get enough protein each day? Avoiding fats and sugars? In spite of the fact that an increasing knowledge of nutrition has been one of the offerings of this scientific age, food crazes have been sweeping this country over the past few years like a plague of locusts. The public is both puzzled and concerned. It is reassuring to know there is no substitute for a well balanced diet, patterned on the basic seven food groups.

By an every day selection of foods from these groups you can be assured of meeting individual needs for vitamins, minerals, protein, fats and carbohydrates. All of these are essential to your physical well being. To have a well balanced diet, with all needed health giving factors, select foods from these following groups. (Servings are given as eating guides.)

Green and yellow vegetables, such as broccoli, green beans and carrots—one large serving daily. These are rich in vitamin A essential to good vision, and iron to build red blood cells.

Oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit—one serving daily. This group also includes raw cabbage and salad greens. These furnish vitamin C, also known as ascorbic acid, necessary for healthy gums and body tissues.

Potatoes and other vegetables and fruits. One potato daily and two or more servings of the others. These are thrifty sources of needed vitamins and minerals.

Milk, and milk products, such as cheeses and ice cream. One pint of milk for adults and more for children, daily. These are especially important for protein and calcium. They build strong bones and teeth.

Meat, poultry, fish and eggs—one serving meat, fish, or poultry daily, at least 4 eggs per week. These are the high protein, muscle building foods, carrying essential minerals.

Bread, flour and cereals. Six slices of enriched, or whole wheat bread, daily, with other grain foods, such as breakfast cereal. Enriched bread furnishes carbohydrates for energy; protein for building muscles; calcium for strong teeth and bones; iron for red blood cells; and the three B vitamins, niacin, thiamine and riboflavin for general good health.

Butter and fortified margarine—two or three tablespoons daily. These are high in vitamin A, essential to good vision, and are good "fuel" foods.

The important point is to include foods from each of these groups every day. Your diet will be balanced—your hunger satisfied—your food fears banished.
