DISTRICT COURT NEWS

Edwin Grady Frazier of Odessa received a two-year probationed adult parole for a second offense of DWI here in district court Monday. Judge John F. Sutton gave the man a choice—take a year's term in the pen or a two-year parole sentence. The parole sentence means that if Frazier is ever caught during the two-year's time in a law violation, that he goes on to the pen to serve two years. Frazier chose the two-year parole sentence over the year term. He will have to report to his parole board monthly for the two-year term.

Sam Hollifield's attorney got a postponement of trial for his client, saying that all the witnesses were not able to be at the trial. Hollifield, a San Antonio contractor, has been charged with assault with intent to rape.

A hung jury resulted when Tom Lightsey was tried on charges of sale and removal of mortgaged property.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Huling of San Angelo were awarded $11,825 damages Monday for injuries suffered in a two-car collision August 23, 1951.

The Hulings were plaintiffs in a civil suit against C. C. Morris and Vancroft Mitchell, both formerly of Midland and now of California.

The damages were awarded by Judge Sutton. E. E. (Pat) Murphy of San Angelo was the attorney for the plaintiffs.

STERLING DROPS GAME TO FORSAN; PLAY KNOTT TONIGHT

The Sterling City Eagles dropped a conference game to the Forsan Buffaloes last Friday night, 20-7.

The Buffaloes scored counters by halfback Fowler, who made two before going out with a broken arm. Harold Hicks accounted for the other Buffalo tally.

Earl Blair, Sterling end, scored Sterling's lone counter. He received a pass on Forsan's 15 yard line and ran all the way for a touch down. Marshall Blair accounted for the extra point.

PLAY KNOTT TONIGHT

The Knott Hill Billies invade Sterling tonight for a non-conference game. The Hill Billies are one of the best aggregations that the Eagles will play all year, said coach Dorsey.

Game time is 8 p.m.

MONTHLY F.H.A. MEETING

The Sterling City F.H.A. Chapter met Wednesday afternoon in regular monthly meeting with Mrs. Buddy Sutherland, president, in charge. The girls voted to collect clothing for Girlstown as an F.H.A. project.

Esther Bird was elected as candidate for a district office. The district meeting will be held in Eldorado, November 1. (It was held in Sterling City last year with Patsy Davis, president, in charge.)

After a lengthy business session, the girls tried out for parts in the F.H.A. play, which will be given November 25. The name of the play is "Hillbilly Wedding." Refreshments were served in the homemaking living room and were prepared by the junior high girls.

If you have any dresses, skirts, blouses, sweaters, coats, etc. for girls up to 15 years of age that you would like to donate to Girlstown, just drop them in the box at the post office. The F.H.A. girls will mend and launder those that need it and send them to the girls at Girlstown.

Clean-Up Day Set For Thursday, October 16

Thursday, October 16, has been designated as Clean-Up Day in our town. The citizens are asked to have all their trash picked up and put in handy containers such as boxes or sacks and then have it put out handy for the county trucks to pick up that day.

It will be the last concerted effort to clean up the community this year, due to cold weather coming on. The reason for the clean-up is to help the fly situation and to act as a polio preventative.

The Lions Club is sponsoring the affair, and it is hoped that the entire community will participate in making the clean up a success.

FORT WORTH—No hogs or sheep were unloaded at Fort Worth Monday due to the embargo brought about by the finding of some hogs infected with vesicular exanthema on the yards late last week. It is expected that sheep shipments to the market may be resumed late this week.

The 152,000 cattle and 27,000 calves reported at 12 major markets Monday totaled 12,000 more than a week ago and were 69,000 above the same date a year ago.

Mex., with a load of 932-pound cows at $13; Newt Redmon, Swisher County had 56 cows at 1,027 pounds at $13.50 and 17 head at 1009 pounds at $13. Furd Halsell & Son, Tarrant County, a load at 982 pounds at $13, with odd head at $15.

Good and choice fat calves drew $18 to $26, Cecil Sullivan of Red Oak had some heavy calves at $26 and E.E. McAlister, Eastland County, had some calves at $25 and $26 that weighed over 500 pounds. Plain and medium butcher calves drew $14 to $18, and culls cashed at $10 to $14.

Good choice stocker steer calves sold from $20 to $26 and plainer kinds sold from $15 to $18. Heifer calves sold $1 to $2 under steers. Stocker steer yearlings cashed at $16 to $23, a few lightweights to $24.50. Stocker heifers sold from $21.50 down. Stocker cows were reported from $13 to $18.

Mrs. S. A. Blankenship, Armstrong County, had a truck lot of 605-pound steer yearlings at $23 Monday at Fort Worth.

Our Town Wouldn't Take a "Back Seat"

Well, the "battle of the buses" has been settled! Our town is again friendly with Balesville.

Everything started when buses began going through our town with a big sign on them saying SHOP IN BALESVILLE. The bus line is owned in Balesville and operates over here on a franchise.

Windy Taylor was all for putting up barricades—he kept calling up the police and the bus company. Finally Judge Cunningham invited the Balesville Chamber of Commerce to meet with ours at Andy's Garden Tavern.

Over a good meal and glass of beer we all reached a compromise without any trouble. Those signs now read SHOP HERE IN TOWN. Everyone's happy.

From where I sit, it shows how problems disappear once both sides get together and try to work things out. Naturally we're all a little different. Some like soda pop, for instance, and some like beer. So what? We all have to ride along through life together. Why not make it a pleasant trip?

FREEZER JARS HAVE MANY USES

The Ball Freezer Jar closed airtight by the Ball Dome Lid and Band is useful for either home canning or home freezing, and you will find scores of other uses for it around the house.

First of all, it makes an excellent jar for storing leftovers in the refrigerator. Leftovers are kept from drying out and from giving other foods off flavors; they can be used in soups, casseroles or escalloped dishes days later and no one will think of them as "leftover."

Ball Freezer Jars can be used to refrigerate salad dressings, sandwich fillings and other mixtures made up ahead of time. They are convenient to use for foods when you are going on a picnic. Potato salad, baked beans, etc., can be spooned right out of the jar.

Use Ball Freezer Jars to make custard. Simply pour the custard mixture into the jar and stand it on a metal rack in a pan or kettle of hot water. Cook over low heat, being sure the water does not boil, until the custard reaches the right consistency. When the jar of custard is cooled, place it in the refrigerator.

Unused coffee refrigerated in Ball Freezer Jars retains a much better flavor than the usual "hash" coffee flavor so objectionable to lovers of the brew. Of course these jars are ideal for keeping bread crumbs, beans, rice, cereals, dried fruits and other items which do not need refrigeration but need to be in leak-proof packages.

Members of the house are likely to latch on to Ball Freezer Jars to store away tacks, nuts, bolts, paints, varnishes, putty, fish hooks and flies and other items. You, yourself, may find them useful for storing odd buttons and other small objects which get lost in drawers and are hard to find.

In short, Ball Freezer Jars are useful not only for canning and freezing but as "All-Purpose" jars the year around. Because of their slightly tapered shape, wide mouth and shoulderless sides, they are easy to fill, empty, and wash for reuse. The Ball Dome Cap makes them either canning or freezing jars.

The last Texas—Oklahoma football game I saw was three years ago at the fair. The stands were sold out at the cotton bowl and we had two good press seats on the 50 yard line under the canopy. There was such a mob going in that we could not move except as the crowd willed and it took a long time to get in the cotton bowl. The Texas pep squad was on our left down on the 40 and Oklahoma's pep squad was down on the right 40. As the play was resumed each time one of the other pep squad would stand and so would everybody behind up until it got to us. We had to stand every play.

Galen, a Roman medical scholar of the first century, presented a unique idea of a health Utopia by writing at great length on how a boy born with a perfect physical structure should be raised to maintain that perfect health. Galen was so intent upon physical health, however, that his so-called perfect specimen was to devote himself to no other pastime than the care of his body.

Such preoccupation with health today is considered an unhealthy attitude in itself, but since Galen was a pioneer in the field of physiology he established this hypothetical perfect torso in order to impress upon his readers some of his ideas about the proper care of the body. And his readers were impressed—so impressed that for about 1500 years Galen's theories dominated all medical learning.

Even today much of his medical lore remains impressive, though certainly no one today would be encouraged to live for health alone. Health is an important part of life but not the whole of living.

The predominant note of Galen's writing that does hold sway in modern medicine is the damage to health which excesses can cause. A perfect physical constitution can be damaged by excessiveness, too much of anything, even good things. Today as in Galen's day the first premise in maintaining a healthy body is the practice of moderation.

The too-muches and the too-littles are the deviations from moderation which can change the most perfect physical specimen into a case history in the doctor's book. An awareness of the needs of the body, which can be gained by a minimum of health education, does not mean abnormal preoccupation with thoughts of health.

You don't need to know everything about chemistry and physics in order to drive an automobile, but you do have to learn how to drive it. You have to take time to learn the rudiments of driving, which once learned need little review thereafter. Knowing how to drive the car doesn't make the car run. You have to have a key and you have to be behind the wheel in order to manipulate all the gadgets that keep the car going. You have to know how to stop the car and you have to keep an eye on the traffic in order to avoid mishaps. There are certain safety rules which you not only have to know but you also have to obey.

So it is with health. You may not know what the gasoline does to make the car go but you do know that the car needs gasoline, oil and water. It isn't essential that you know what food, air and water do once they get inside of you, but it is essential that you get them to your insides in the proper amounts. A gas tank will hold only so much gasoline before it spills over; your own "gas tank" spills over in the form of excess weight when you eat too much food. Overweight is just as much an indication of waste as the spilling of gas when the tank overflows.

An automobile that is seldom used requires much less refilling of the gas tank than one that it much in motion. A person who exercises little also requires considerably less "gas" than the active person.

Automobiles are wonderful inventions but become a simple mechanical toy when compared to the complexities and wonders of the human mind and body. If you would make yourself as aware of the needs and uses of your body as you are of those of your automobile, you would have less apprehension and fear when something does go wrong and you have to haul yourself in to the mechanic. Your doctor is versed in detecting sputters where there should be hums, rattles where there should be silence. But like the automobile mechanic, your doctor often feels that if you had just known how to take care of your "car" in the first place, it wouldn't have gotten into such sad shape.
