Shivers Gets 70% Of Votes In Sterling

Brewster Leads Scott

Governor Allan Shivers took 70 per cent of the total Sterling vote in last Saturday's runoff primary election. His vote was 214 to 92 for his opponent, Ralph Yarborough.

Judge Few Brewster of the State Supreme Court was lucky in the Sterling votes, getting 199 votes to 92 for his opponent, Alfred Scott. The votes cast by the boxes in the county were as follows:

Voting Box No.	Shivers	Yarborough	Brewster	Scott
No. 1	137	58	127	56
No. 2	15	7	12	10
No. 3	18	11	13	9

Returns Received Early

The election judges and clerks did a fine job of winning up the counting in a hurry. They all had their count in by 7:05 and the Sterling County complete vote was in to the Texas Election Bureau office by 7:10, said County Chairman Jack Douthit. He expressed his thanks to the election judges and clerks for their fine cooperation in making possible an early return.

There had been more interest in the runoff this year due to the governor's race. Last election year, only 97 people voted in the runoff primary, reported the chairman.

Kindergarten Opened

Mrs. Dayton Barrett's kindergarten was opened Wednesday morning with ten enrolled. Mrs. Barrett has her school this year in the Bill Brooks home.

The students enrolling were Corwin Collins, Don Stuckwisch, Jimmy Cole, Kathy Haralson, Wayland Lee Foster, Collin Douthit, Beverly Brooks, Elaine Price, Allen Smith and Frankie Buffington.

FORT WORTH - Movement of cattle and calves to market at Fort Worth and all around the market circle this week was again seasonal-heavy. The drought continued to pinch larger and larger portions of the Southwest and this condition brought "shipping day" to more and more farms and ranches.

For the most part the packers were singing the blues over the condition of the dressed meat trade and the fact that currently their slaughter is running far behind a year ago at Fort Worth and other Southwestern packing centers.

This gloomy mental attitude was not shared by the buyers of stocker and feeder cattle and calves. Order buyers and dealers at Fort Worth said they could use many more high quality stockers and feeders than they are getting in the runs, and it appeared that feeding of cattle in the 1954-1955 season would be at a heavy rate.

Corn Belt and Western States feeders had a good year last year with estimated profits by the USDA running between $30 to $40 per head. While this was above average, the spread between feeder costs and fat cattle prices has narrowed somewhat this year, the feeders were apparently able to see a favorable margin still.

This served to take thousands of calves and yearlings out of packer channels and into stocker and feeder channels. At Fort Worth Monday, the good and choice quality stocker calves and yearlings drew $15 to $19, a few calves higher, older steers and long aged yearlings drew $18 downward.

Slaughter calves were bid lower and in many cases sold well below last week's high time. Cows were steady to 50 cents lower, most of the more desirable kinds selling pretty near steady and the junkier and excessively grossy kinds taking the dip. Bulls were weak to 50 cents lower and sold fully $1 below two weeks ago. Fat steers and yearlings drew steady prices, with choice fat kinds topped in the $20 to $23 bracket.

Top hogs sold at $21.75 at Fort Worth Monday, a break of 75 cents per hundred under last week's close. This was the lowest point in several weeks.

Packers reported pork sales were lagging and pointed to breaks in wholesale pork prices last week of from $4 to $9 per hundred at some of the Eastern population centers.

Supplies of hogs were increasing seasonally to some extent, but it appeared the pork was running into a combination of hot weather and liberal supplies of other kinds of meat as the principal factors in their downfall.

Packers pointed out that a heavy percentage of the hog requires some time to cure and process and with the Fall season at hand and its increased supplies coming up the long-term view on pork prices was definitely inclining downward barring unforeseen developments.

Despite lowered dressed meat reports from Midwest and the Eastern centers, in the past several days the lamb and sheep held steady at Fort Worth. Some steady support from the stocker and feeder buyers was a prop under the market as was the fact that receipts were rather light. There was steady demand for breeding types of ewes when they had quality and were of suitable ages to go back to the country.

Good and choice fat lambs topped at $18 to $19, and were considered by the trade as quotable to $20 and $21 when they were suitably fat and conditioned. Stocker and feeder lambs were quotable around $12 to $16. Slaughter ewes sold from

DEER, TURKEY AND QUAIL Two More Years Closed Season in County

Game Management Association met at N. H. Reed's ranch on August 20 for the annual meeting of members and guests. A crowd of about 100 persons attended. Out-of-town guests included Marion Badger, Tom Green County Agent; Dorsey Hardeman, State Senator; Jim White, State Game Warden; Henry Burkett, State Game Warden; Arthur Barleman, Assistant County Agent, San Angelo.

On the program was Jack Garrett, Remington Arms representative from Lubbock, who put on a shooting exhibition using both shot guns and rifles. Two films on hunting and fishing in Alaska were shown. The films were courtesy of the Mercury Outboard Motor Company.

The membership voted to extend the closed season here on turkey, deer and quail for two more years. This is to be acted on by the State Legislature in Austin at the next term of the body. If the membership desires at that time to continue the closed season or to open it, it may recommend that to the Legislature for action. The idea behind the move is to increase the dwindling game population in the county.

A barbecue supper was served to members and guests. Cow Roberts did the cooking.

New Officers Elected

New officers were elected for coming year as follows:
Ewing McEntire—President
Tommy Foster—Vice-president

FIRE AT JACK WEEW'S SHOP THURSDAY MORNING

A fire, starting on the roof of Jack Weew's Welding Shop, was put out quickly by early spotters Thursday morning of this week. The fire evidently started on the roof, and spotters from across the street put the blaze under control and then the fire trucks came and wet down the roof.

Damage was light. No damage to speak of was found down stairs of the old two-story building.

New Presbyterian Church Building Plans Are Approved

Definite action has been taken by the building committees of the First Presbyterian Church for the construction of a new building. The architect's plans and specifications have been approved, subject to minor changes in some of the minor details. In the near future, contractors will submit their bids to the general committee (elected by the congregation) and authorized to employ the successful bidder.

Committees on providing an organ, pews, pulpit furniture and art glass windows for the sanctuary are having encouraging success in their work. A number of art glass windows and other furniture will be given as memorials by members and friends. The social hall, Sunday school rooms and kitchen will be equipped with modern furnishings.

The type of architecture for the building will be semi-colonial and faced with ripple stone quarried at Comfort, Texas. The finance committee will set up a campaign to supplement the cash and pledges already on hand to provide a sufficient fund for the completion of the project.

The special committees include: E. L. Bailey, general chairman; Mrs. David Glass, sanctuary furniture; Mrs. Aaron Clark, Sunday School rooms; Mrs. E. L. Bailey, art glass windows; Mrs. Pat Boatler, social hall and kitchen; W. B. Allen, memorials; H. F. Donalson, finance; David Glass is secretary and Hal Knight is treasurer.

Lions See Film Slides Wednesday

Lion Wm. J. Swann showed some colored slide films that was taken on the senior trip to Old Mexico last spring when the Lions Club members met Wednesday noon for the regular weekly luncheon in the community center.

Discussion of how to slow down the through traffic on the school house street, took some time. It is the consensus of opinion that the best deal might be to have the traffic completely stopped or set up a stop light at the school for the traffic.

LABOR DAY HOLIDAY HERE

Let's Make Fudge

By Betty Barclay

TO say that recipes for fudge are as numerous as the sands would be more than slight exaggeration, but you must admit there are a goodly number. If you could total all the recipe variations of this candy favorite, there would probably be almost as many as the number of people who ever said "Let's make fudge." But with all these fudge recipes, there's always a new variety, such as this delightful maple flavored Log Cabin Fudge.

Log Cabin Fudge

1 cup maple blended syrup; 1 cup sugar; dash of salt; 1/2 cup light cream; 1/4 cup broken walnut meats.

Combine syrup, sugar, salt and cream and place over low heat. Bring to boiling point, stirring constantly. Then boil, without stirring, until a small amount of mixture forms a soft ball in cold water (or to a temperature of 236° F.) Remove from heat. Cool to lukewarm (110° F.), without stirring. Then beat until mixture loses its gloss (12 to 15 minutes). Add nuts and turn at once into lightly buttered 8x4x3-inch pan. When cold, cut in squares. Makes 18 large pieces.

IT'S your teen-ager's turn to entertain the "gang" with an evening of dancing and juke-box music on the family record player. If you're the refreshment committee, have plenty of milk and instant cocoa mix on hand for easy-to-mix Chocolate Milks. Get bottles of cold cola beverages so those who want something different, or a bit sophisticated, can mix Chocolate Colas. Or perhaps they'll go for Spicy Chocolate Milks. The fellows enjoy shaking their partners' drinks (although stirring in the glass suffices!) so a couple of shakers might also come in handy.

Cold Chocolate Milk
1 glass cold milk; 2 to 3 heaping teaspoons instant cocoa mix.
Pour milk into a tall glass. Add cocoa mix and stir well. Or shake in shaker. Makes 1 serving.

Chocolate Cola. Use recipe for Cold Chocolate Milk, substituting 1 cup cola-flavored beverage for the milk.

Spicy Chocolate Milk. Use recipe for Cold Chocolate Milk, adding dash of ground cloves and dash of cinnamon to the milk.
