VIGO SNAPS.

Jan. 30.—We are having some beautiful weather this week, and the farmers are turning the soil bottom side up in this part of the village.

The health of our community is not very good, though it is a great deal better than the surrounding communities.

Mr. H. B. Burge returned home last Thursday night from Denison, where he has been to see his sister who is seriously ill. She was improving when Mr. Burge left, but he received a message Friday evening stating that his sister was worse and he left on the night train for Denison.

Several of the Vigo young people went down to Moran Friday and stayed until Sunday evening, and don't you believe Bill Manning went too, Bill, what are you trying to play lists you are young, when you was in the war of 1912.

We are very sorry to say that Mrs. J. C. Ross has been confined to her bed for the past few days.

Miss Dorca and Mr. Altam Street were pleasant visitors in Vigo Sunday. This is nothing unusual for Altam, but a little bit uncommon for Miss Dorca. Come again, we gladly welcome you both.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cauthen visited in Putnam on Sunday last. Miss Oattie McCollum spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Jim Cauthen. Miss Della Lawson visited her sister, Mrs. Eubanks, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Eugene Finley has been quite sick, but is able to be up again. Mr. Hendrix will you come and preach for us on the next fourth Sunday.

Mrs. Tom Wise visited her sister, Mrs. Wylie James, at Cross Plains, last week.

Mrs. Flora Hunter, of Tennessee, arrived last week. Mrs. Hunter came to this country for her health and if the climate agrees with her will stay a year or two. She makes her home at A. A. Jackson's.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Martin visited in Putnam last Sunday.

There is a certain young man working for Mr. C. C. Jackson. I can't think of his name, but his initials are A. W. It is so strange to me that this young man watches the road every morning about 9 o'clock and every evening he watches the road in the opposite direction from 4 o'clock until sundown, if Polly don't come trotting home.

Mr. C. C. Jackson has just about recovered from his trip to Arkansas. He says all went well except he found it so difficult to get plenty of butter milk as he came back home, but when he would fall to get butter milk he would make use of about eighteen hot tamales.

The young people were entertained at the boarding car on the Vigo switch last night. All report a merry time and plenty to eat.

Mr. Manson Lansdown, of Kent county came down on business, last week.

Mr. Omar Wise, who has been out in Kent county two or three months, returned home last Saturday.

Mr. Oscar Lawson will leave for some parts of the west this week. The young men leave, but they will venture back.

JOLY JOE'S PARTNER.

A Fireman's Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman, of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down as I was about to give up. I got a bottle of Electric Bitters and, after taking it, I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by Powell & Powell. Price 50c. Feb.

When children have earache, saturate a piece of cotton with BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT, and place it in the ear. It will stop the pain quickly. Price 25 and 50 cents. For sale by Powell & Powell, Baird and Y. A. Orr, Putnam. Feb.

ENTERTAINED

One of the most unique affairs of the season was given by Mrs. J. C. Gray and Mrs. Cassius at Mrs. Gray's residence on Monday evening.

Invitations had been issued and about 30 found a merry crowd assembled. All formality was thrown aside, and each lady, under assumed names, came in costume. At 9 o'clock Mr. Swafford arrived with his camera, and while the ladies grouped themselves, he called "all ready" and the fact was made known that a flash light photograph was the result.

Pun riddles throughout the evening, potato races and games were indulged in when a beautiful fruit cake, laden with the hot house rarest blooms, was placed upon the stand in the center of the dining hall, and as the strains of lively music were heard coming from the mandolin and guitar by Miss Browning and Mr. Gray a cake walk was announced. The first couple, Mrs. Stans and Mrs. Ida Collier, tripped around the room in various steps, figures including the favors, umbrella, fan, handkerchief, cam and cigarette.

The next couple, Misses Simmons and James, with "Ma Honey, yonse ma tigar lilly" was quite an attraction. The applause for both was uproarious and proved the attraction of the evening. The judges were Misses Beattie, Day and Edith James. The decision for the cake was awarded to the first couple. Refreshments were then served and the cake out.

Upon departing and speaking words of praise to the hostess all roused-off it was one of the most pleasant of evenings, and hoped to soon spend another similar, in the near future.

CHAZY SNAKE CAPTURED.

After an exciting time the Indian Chazy's Made a Prisoner.

Henrietta, I. T. Jan. 25.—Dignitary Marshal Grant Johnson and Dunnie McIntosh of Buffalo, noted for their bravery and daring in hand-to-hand combats captured outlaws, made a dash upon the encampment of Snake Indians Sunday and captured Chitto-Hey's, Chazy Snake. After an exciting escape from the hostile Creek camp they managed to land their prisoner at this place, and he is now held captive under a strong guard of soldiers under the command of Lieut. Dixon. The capture of the central figure of the uprising and the show of force which the troops will make will likely put an end to the threatened outbreak.

Boers Active.
London, Jan. 25.—The war office has received from the commander-in-chief in South Africa a dispatch dated Pretoria, Jan. 25, reporting numerous engagements the following being the most important:
Cunningham was engaged at Middlefontein and Kopperfontein yesterday with Delarey's force. Babington, while moving north from Wenterbury, threatened the enemy's flank, whereupon the Boers retired west. Cunningham's casualties were two officers wounded, four men killed and thirty-seven wounded.
Smith-Dorrien had a successful engagement of six hours while on the march from Wenterbury to Caledonia, where the Boers had lately been concentrating. The enemy were in considerable numbers at the head of the river, but we drove out. Our losses were one officer killed and two officers and thirteen men wounded.

Commercial Convention.
Austin, Tex., Jan. 25.—The convention of commercial organizations met at the Hotel Hamilton in Dallas for the purpose of organizing a national state commercial association.
E. Russell of El Paso was elected temporary chairman and S. A. Fishers of Dallas secretary.
Hon. Tom Richardson of Houston addressed the meeting on the "Organization of Commercial Bodies." Talks were then made by Charles Knight of San Antonio, W. F. Gill of Paris, J. F. Zang of Dallas, Lewis Plunkett of Waco, S. A. Fishers of Dallas, J. W. Higgins of Waco, J. Farley of Dallas, E. H. Jenkins of San Antonio, E. S. Russell of El Paso, G. F. Howser of Dallas.
Permanent organization will be effected at a meeting at Dallas April 9 and 10. A committee will visit the legislature.

Held a Council.
Bristol, I. T., Jan. 25.—Maj. C. W. Lile, "Pawnee Bill," with a posse including Capt. Edmund Harkick of the Creek Light Horsemen, United States Marshal Dan. Hogan and Churchill and Indian Police Koyas, Howell and Sappington, captured the Snake Creek's stamping grounds, six miles south of this place. The Indians were then holding a big feast, and refused to surrender. The posse was determined to confer with them in any manner.
Many of the full-bloods who have been in the habit of wearing Indian regalia. They were most bitter in their denunciation of the marshals who arrested Tim Tiger, the captain of the insurgent light horsemen, who left at dark in charge of United States Marshals Dan and Hogan and posse for Muskogee.

St. Paul's Packed.
London, Jan. 25.—"The Russians in Manchuria," says a correspondent "continues their punitive expedition against the Huns" (Germans) led by the allies under Count Walderssee continue their attack on the Boers.
"A new feature of the Manchuria campaign is the engagement of the celebrated Col. Kholostoff, from the Caucasus, for the work of reconstruction and the destruction of Chinese banditti."

St. Paul's Packed.
Marshall, Tex., Jan. 25.—The negro, Walter Lewis, who took forcible possession of the office of E. W. Campbell, superintendent of the eastern division of the Texas and Pacific railway, is still in jail. It is thought the negro is either crazy or quinine but the referee was committed under the influence of drugs, for in entering Mr. Campbell's office he said he was the attorney for J. C. Jett and private secretary of George Guise.

Observed Track.
Muskogee, I. T., Jan. 25.—Marshal Bennett and his posse, who Commissioner Sanoon left here overland to join the troops at Henrietta.
Marshall Bennett received a telegram saying that members of the Snake band had broken an obstruction across the Frisco track eight miles south of Muskogee and nearly 400 men were engaged and nearly 400 recovered and removed before a train arrived. The deputy marshal at Henrietta was instructed to investigate.

QUEEN VICTORIA, BORN MAY 24, 1819; DIED JANUARY 22, 1901.

EDWARD VII, NEW KING OF ENGLAND.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA, CONSORT OF EDWARD VII.

Died Worth $125,000,000.
Queen Victoria was the first English sovereign who ever had property to leave. All her predecessors upon the throne bequeathed their successors nothing but debts, which parliament was called upon to pay. While the queen permitted the nation thus to settle the liabilities of her uncles, King George IV. and King William IV., she made a point immediately after her accession to pay off in full the very large debts contracted by her father, the duke of Kent. This, the partitioning of her daughters, as well as some of her granddaughters, who have in each case received from her a dowry of $500,000 on marrying, and the settlement on one occasion of some very pressing liabilities of the prince of Wales, may be said to have constituted the only very heavy expenses which the queen had been called upon to meet since she ascended the throne in 1837.

Had Large Private Fortune.
From that time forth she was in receipt of a civil list amounting to close upon $1,000,000 a year. Of this the major portion was assigned to definite heads of royal expenditure. But $200,000 a year was devoted to what is called the queen's private purse and constituted her pocket money, of which no account was ever asked. Besides this she had at her disposal the net revenues of the duchy of Lancaster, which have amounted on an average to $300,000 a year more. From this it will be seen that after having all the way by agreeing to call her "Empress of India." Hence her majesty permitted him a freedom of address never endured from any other of her ministers, except Lord Melbourne.

No sovereign was more successfully managed by a prime minister than was Queen Victoria by Lord Beaconsfield. He recognized fully the traits of the royal saying that ladies must be valued and he pleased the queen by obeying all her little whims. He was the most enough, too, he called John Brown and to place himself in the good graces of that worthy servant.
Gladstone could never forget himself or fall to blast. He did not clearly show, that he had a mind of his own. He always was masterful in his way, and never hesitated on occasion to suggest to the queen that his way was the best—often the only way—to proceed. Hence Gladstone was never a favorite with her majesty.

Insisted on Purty.
To obtain purity in her court was one object which the queen sought with strenuous vigilance. By some means she learned the peccadilloes of all persons likely to come into contact with her, and when justified insisted not a moment, no matter what their power, to exclude them from her favor.
If an author, a painter or a musician made a stir in the world she was as eager to know all about him as any

British owned Cape Colony and two or three other mere footholds. In these three-score years she has acquired in the southern part of the dark continent the territories of Natal, Basutoland, Bechuanaland, Zululand and finally the vast territory administered by the British South Africa company, extending north to Lake Tanganyika. The recent acquisition of the Translittant reader of the popular press. There was not a prominent politician whose relations with his family were not well known to her. Not long ago she refused to sanction the appointment of a very able man, who had been recommended by the general public for an important office. The reason for her refusal was that the appointment would bring the man into personal relations with her, and the result would be uncomfortable for him, because she would not receive his wife. For obvious reasons it was necessary for her to be more charitable regarding the follies of the Prince of Wales.

Victoria's Life in Brief.
Here are a few of the most important events in the late Queen Victoria's life. Born at Kensington Palace May 24, 1819; ascends the throne June 20, 1837; married to Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha Feb. 10, 1840; first daughter, Empress Frederick of Germany, born Nov. 1841; first son, Prince of Wales, born Nov. 9, 1841; the prince of the Prince Consort Dec. 24, 1851; proclaimed empress of India May 1, 1855; celebrates her golden jubilee June 20, 1867; celebrates her diamond jubilee June 20, 1887.

There is now before the Missouri legislature a bill providing for a monument to Thomas H. Benton, Governor Decker, the mayor of St. Louis and three others, to be chosen by the governor will form a commission to have the matter in charge.

expenses of every conceivable character, down to her very charities and servants' wages, defrayed out of the civil list, she had a sum of at least $600,000 each year to dispose of and which she is known to have got rid of. This in itself, when added up, represents a minimum of $65,000,000, and when it is remembered that the revenues of the duchy of Lancaster are all the time increasing, the net revenues for last year being no less than $30,000 or $45,000, as compared with $25,000 or $30,000, ten years ago, and that, moreover, the queen's savings have been most judiciously invested, for the most part in land which has increased almost tenfold in value during the last half century, it is no exaggeration to estimate the present fortune of her majesty from these sources alone as in the neighborhood of $100,000,000.

Princess Consort Left Millions.
The princess consort is known to have left a will bequeathing his entire fortune to the queen, although it was never admitted to probate or officially divulged. During the twenty-three years that intervened between his marriage and his death he had received from the English treasury an annuity of $150,000, besides which he had a private fortune of his own which yielded him about $25,000 a year more. As the queen's husband, he had practically no expenses of any kind to meet, since they were all defrayed, like those of her majesty, out of the assigned portions of the civil list, and it is known that he was able to get out and invest at least $100,000 a year throughout his married life. This amounts net to $2,200,000. The major portion of this was most judiciously invested in land at South Kensington, which was at that time little else than a waste ground, but which today is covered with the most costly and luxurious mansions in London and is worth far more for the square foot than it was forty years ago for the acre. The fortune bequeathed by the prince consort to his widow is estimated to have attained at the present day the minimum value of $2,600,000.

Changes in Empire.
The territorial growth of the British empire during the reign of Queen Victoria has been prodigious. In Asia between 1837 and 1858 the territory of Sindh, the Sikhs, Tanjore, Lower Burma, Nagpur, Sattara, Jhansi and Oude were brought under British dominion. In the latter year all British India was transferred from the British East India company to the crown, and since that date Upper Burma, the Shan states, Beluchistan, Manipur and Chittal have been annexed. Nor must the little but enormously valuable territory of Hongkong be forgotten as one of the acquisitions of the reign.

Passing from Asia to Australasia, even greater changes have occurred. Before 1837 New South Wales and Tasmania in that region and the rest of the great islands were practically unknown land. Since then New Zealand, Victoria, South Australia, Queensland and West Australia have been added to the mighty cluster of British colonies, which now dominate that quarter of the world. Fiji, part of Borneo, and of New Guinea and many smaller island groups are now also to be colored with British red on the world's map.

New Changes in West.
In the western hemisphere there have been few changes in territorial lines. British title to the northwestern territory has been confirmed and the area of British Guiana somewhat enlarged. The development of the Dominion of Canada has, however, been almost equal to the discovery and annexation of a new continent. Finally, in Africa, there has been suspensious progress. Sixty years ago Great Britain owned Cape Colony and two or three other mere footholds. In these three-score years she has acquired in the southern part of the dark continent the territories of Natal, Basutoland, Bechuanaland, Zululand and finally the vast territory administered by the British South Africa company, extending north to Lake Tanganyika.
