Speaker Of House Pays Rotary Visit

Texas Speaker of the House, Bill Clayton, was guest speaker at the Muleshoe Rotary Club on April 27.

In his address, Clayton told the group that on Monday night at approximately midnight, the Governor, Lt. Governor and himself had conjoined to call a special session of the house to make a decision on the property tax code suit, that if it won, could cost Texans a billion dollars in ad valorem taxes in an initial effort to collect back taxes the first year. An additional $400,000 per year would be collectable thereafter if the law suit is won by the parties filing.

Clayton explained that there are 17 institutions of higher learning that are asking for this money for special funding for constructions. While the attempt will be made to wipe this back tax out, provisions will be made on a certain basis for these universities and colleges to apply for building funds upon need. The proposed constitutional amendment to repeal the property tax will go on the November ballot.

The Speaker also touched on his reasons for not running for re-election. Clayton said that in spite of the farming situation now, he feels that the time has come for him to return to the land and the people for awhile. He did indicate, however, that sometime in the future, he might possibly seek public office again. With mention of the "New Federalism" program, Clayton stated that many

Twenty-One Candidates Will Vie For Offices

A total of twenty-one candidates have filed on both Republican and Democratic Ballots for Bailey County and District elected offices. If, according to the Secretary of State's statistics, only two out of every three eligible voters are registered, Bailey County has a total of 1835 eligible voters who are not registered in Saturday's May 1 Primaries. Records now indicate that there are a total of 3671 registered voters in Bailey County.

Two of the most widely contested races are those of Commissioner Posts of Precinct 2 and 4. With the retirement of Loyd Stephens, Commissioner of Precinct 2, that race has drawn five candidates on the Democratic ballot. The following men have filed: Glen Dalton Harris, Roy Whitt, Don Seales, William Carl Patterson and Charles Glover.

Rudolph Moraw is the incumbent Commissioner of Precinct 4. He will seek re-election to this office. Moraw is opposed by three candidates on the Democratic ticket. They are: Frankie Dee Fine, Dale Middlebrooks and Pete Hurtado.

District Judge Jack Young will be running unopposed for election in the newly created 287th Judicial District for Bailey and Parmer Counties.

Kappa Kappa Iota Enjoys Game Night

The Iota Conclave of Kappa Kappa Iota met on Thursday, April 15, in the home of Mrs. Pat Black with Mrs. Jamey Thrasher as co-hostess.

After a brief introduction of Kappa Iota for the new members, the hostesses served a meal of spaghetti and all the accompaniments. The only problem was, that each guest had to check the items she wanted for three courses from a code list and the resulting menu, of course, was at times quite funny. A few guests had skimpy courses until they got the next thing on their individual menu.

After the meal, the guests proceeded to the next game of the evening. Earlier, each one had given an unknown fact about themselves to the hostesses and a list was ready for guessing. Each one tried to figure out each item of interest and match it to the correct person.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Rev. and Mrs. Wallace H. Kirby of Hereford announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jan, to Mike Hoover, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Hoover of Seagraves. Miss Kirby graduated from Perryton High School and Hoover graduated from Seagraves High School. Both are candidates for graduation in May from McMurry College in Abilene. The wedding is planned for June 12 at St. Paul United Methodist Church in Abilene. Relatives in the Muleshoe area are grandparents, Mrs. Roxie Hoover and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Atchison. Uncles and aunts are Mr. and Mrs. Reaford Wenner and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Shafer.

A spokesman for the group said, "It was quite interesting to see who had been an instructor in airplane mechanics and who had smoked the bark of cedar posts."

The last game of the evening was a guessing contest of baby pictures of those present. Prizes were awarded to those winners of the games.

Those attending were Mrs. Esther Marie Dillman, Mrs. Lucy Faye Smith, Mrs. Jean Allison, Mrs. Lanell Skaggs, Mrs. Bobbie Johnson, Miss Virginia Bowers, Mrs. Phyllis Woods, Mrs. Izetta Shain, Mrs. Mabel Wolfe, Mrs. Dorine Harbin, Mrs. Joyeline Costen, Mrs. Johannah Wrinkle and the hostesses.

New members present were Mrs. Carol Horne, Mrs. Mollie Degge, and Mrs. Nonette Robinson.

There are still people who hunt the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Piano Playing Guild Auditions Scheduled

The National Piano Playing Guild auditions will be held in Muleshoe Friday and Saturday, April 30 and May 1, according to Elaine Damron, Muleshoe Guild Chairman.

Pupils of Terri Hahn, Mildred Womack of Earth and Elaine Damron will be playing in the Muleshoe Center, to be held in the parlor of the First United Methodist Church.

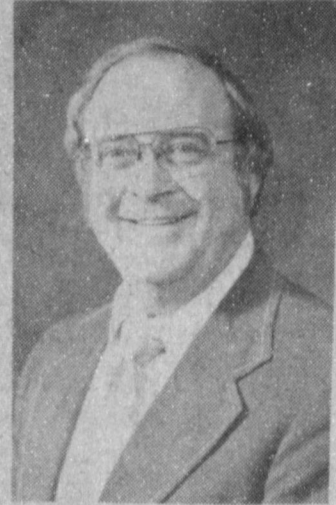

"This is only one of 700 such centers throughout the United States, where young pianists will be judged," says Mrs. Damron.

This group of pianists will strive for "Pledge," "Local," "District," or "State," "National," or "International," honors, according to the number of standard classic, romantic or modern pieces chosen from the Masters of Pianoforte Literature each student can creditably perform for the judge.

The judge for this years auditions in Muleshoe will be Harold Dean Carson, who maintains studios in Olton and Amarillo. He is a private teacher, a composer and a church musician.

Carson's degree is from Wayland Baptist College, with further study from Frances Clark, Louise Goss, Richard Chronister and David Krachenbuehl. He also studied with Lorene McClintock at the New York School for Music Study in Princeton, N. J., where he became a certified teacher of the McClintock Piano Course.

He has published pieces for choir and piano. He also wrote and arranged the music for the Child Evangelism Fellowship held in Switzerland in the summer of 1976 and 1977.

Carson has served as adjudicator for various sonatina and hymn playing festivals and Federated Music Clubs, as well as for the National Guild of Piano Playing Auditions. Currently, he is the Minister of Music at Paramount Community Church in Amarillo.

Some Fat Not Fault Of Food

Have you ever wondered why some people can eat anything and not gain an ounce while others eat almost nothing and gain weight?

Some researchers now say that heavy individuals may actually have a predisposing factor that causes obesity, says Dr. Cass Ryan-Crowe, a food and nutrition specialist.

She explains that lower levels of an enzyme, adenosine triphosphatase (ATPase) were found in obese subjects. ATPase is necessary for pumping sodium and potassium across cell membranes.

"This exchange process accounts for 30 to 40 percent of the body's total energy needs. Lower levels of this enzyme may mean that overweight people use less energy or calories for this process, so they store the surplus as fat," she says.

Ryan-Crowe is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

Sewing, Care For Linen, Linen-Like Fabrics

Crisp, lively and refreshing -- that's how you will portray this spring in an extraordinary, hand-sewn linen outfit.

To achieve the look, use special sewing and care techniques on linen and linen-like fabrics, says Becky Saunders, a clothing specialist.

Linen looks may be made of flax fiber with polyester or rayon or all synthetic. Linen-look fabrics have the same tight weave and nubby qualities as 100 percent linen, she notes.

Saunders is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

Consider these guidelines when preparing and sewing linen or linen-like fabrics:

PRE-CUTTING -- Before you begin to cut, dampen or steam-iron the fabric to press out wrinkles and center fold. For washables always launder before sewing.

THREADS, NEEDLES -- For linen and linen-like fabrics, use medium-size sharp needles -- sizes 11-14 -- and mercerized cotton, silk or cotton-covered polyester thread.

Coarser fabrics, such as butcher or crash linens used for sportswear, sew best with heavier weight thread.

Use medium-fine sharp needles -- size 11 -- and medium-weight threads for finer handkerchief linens used to make blouses or dresses.

To find the best size needle and thread, always make a test seam first.

SEAMS, HEMS -- Depending on the garment design, flat-felled, welt or plain seams are often used on suit-weight fabrics.

For fabrics that ravel, finish seams and hems in bound, overcast, pinked or Hong Kong bound stitches.

French, lapped and plain seams are suitable for handkerchief linens. Raveling seams can be self-bound, edge-stitched, pinked or clean-finished.

CARE -- When caring for linens, wash fabric following care-label instructions.

Linens do wash well, but an intricate pattern with many tucks or pleats may be easier to dry clean.

Avoid chlorine bleaches on linen treated for crease resistance.

In addition, don't hang linen to dry or leave it in strong sunlight.

Iron -- don't press -- linen while it's slightly damp using the iron on "high" or "linen" setting.

Who Is Poor?

A major new study, which had been long awaited, shows that if the government counted the true value of food stamps, housing assistance and medical care, the number of Americans officially classified as poor would be reduced by as much as forty percent.

This is the finding of a New Census Bureau study, which indicates formulas used by federal bureaucrats for identifying poverty in the U.S. have been exaggerating the extent of poverty.

The increased number of people classified as poor, and entitled to help, tends to increase the size of the bureaucracy administering federal aid, of course--so the process feeds on itself, in a sense.

Just as the number of unemployed, calculated regularly by federal bureaucrats, is widely suspect--as being exaggerated by illogical parameters, so too, now, is the number classified as poor suspect. The official poverty line, raised each year, is now nearing $10,000 for an urban family of four.

The Census Bureau study shows that if the market value of government benefits to recipients were taken into account, then in 1979 instead of 23.6 million people being classified as poor, only 13.6 million would have been so classified. That is a staggering difference and the cost of federal outlays--based on the official number entitled to help--would have been drastically reduced.

Both the official poverty and unemployed classifications should be hereafter based on realistic formulas. This alone would reduce the budget deficit by tens of billions and do much toward lowering interest rates and stimulating new growth in the economy.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN -- Finally, something is being done to safeguard our state against an unprecedented water shortage. The Texas Water Development Board has begun a ten-phase program to amend the 1968 Texas Water Plan.

This thorough program, which is scheduled to be completed by January 1983, will include public input, review and planning, policy establishment, public review, forums and hearings, and, in the final phase, printing and distribution of the amended water plan.

Our current Texas Water Plan was adopted by the Water Development Board in 1969 and has not been amended. It is now necessary to change the plan because Texas' water needs have changed drastically in the past ten years.

Available estimates claim that Texas will place even greater demands on its ground and surface water resources for the next 20 years primarily due to a rapidly expanding population and capital investment growth. Already local governments are unable to keep pace with the need for building new water supply and treatment facilities. Rural communities are facing water shortages for agricultural purposes.

Many organizations are lending a hand in this important program including the Governor's Task Force on Water Resource Use and Conservation, the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council, the Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, and the Texas Municipal League.

There are many water-related issues and concerns which must be addressed: water resources management and population and economic growth, water laws, water quality management, flood protection, water conservation, water importation, research of new technology, state role in water resources financing, and others.

Undoubtedly, more state funds must be made available for water concerns. Data collected from 1981 reveals that Texas will need a total of $51.7 billion for water resources in the next 25 years. Local governments cannot meet this funding challenge alone. Texas statutes require that a water plan must be prepared with "a regard to the public interest of the entire state." Therefore, public input has been and will continue to be encouraged. Thirteen public hearings have been held around the state.

If you would like to submit statements by mail, please send them to: Texas Department of Water Resources, Attention: Bobby Whitefield; Post Office Box 13087; Capitol Station; Austin, Texas 78711. If you would like to submit your comments by phone, call (512)475-0223 between 10:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Comments are requested by April 30, 1982.

I urge you to make a contribution to this important process of amending the Texas Water Plan.

Bell-Like It Is

Former Attorney General Griffin Bell, of the Carter Administration, is writing his memoirs. From what has leaked out about the book, it seems likely to be fine reading.

Not one of the young whiz-kids from the Carter political inner circle which ruled the White House, Bell was a respected, experienced lawyer of stable reputation when he came to Washington as head of the Justice Department.

He represented the moderate constituency that had been decisive in electing Carter in 1976. But Bell found in Washington that the young crowd around Carter was so obsessed with getting their meat ticket reelected, they "kowtowed" to every single-interest group, to hold its loyalty for 1980.

He also found that today's eager-beaver presidential candidate, Walter Mondale, hurt Carter's presidency. Mondale represented the very liberal wing of the party, which traditionally has done so much to spend the nation into bankruptcy and expand the federal bureaucracy.

All in all, political kowtowing to every group and every single interest kept Mr. Carter from having a coherent, consistent policy and doomed him in the 1980 campaign, according to Bell. The message is clear: presidents can't be all things to all people.

SIMPLE ELEGANCE
Governor Bill Clements and his wife, Rita, deserve an expression of appreciation from the people of Texas for their great effort and personal sacrifice to renovate the Governors House to make it sound structurally and to reclaim the simple elegance of the 125 years ago era in which it was built.

spent most of his term as Governor living in an apartment away from the mansion which was no small sacrifice. They made the decision and plans for the renovation and gave leadership to the financing thereof when they initially moved to Austin and realized the condition of the mansion. They have spent endless hours of dreaming about, planning and working on this renovation.

Before he ran for Governor, Bill Clements had all the honors, prestige, business success and finances a man would reasonably need to satisfy his ego. He is not a politician by inclination, yet he has had the courage to spend his effort and money running for public office against seemingly unsurmountable odds. I am confident this personal sacrifice was not made primarily for his political party, but was made because he believes in what he is doing and loves Texas and its people.

All of us Texans, whether or not we support you as Governor, Bill Clements, feel you and Mrs. Clements are entitled to a "thank you" for the time and effort you have exerted on behalf of our great State.

Scouts To Hold Diamond Camporee

Seventy-five years ago the first scout camp was held on Brownsea Island in Poole Harbor England.

Lord Baden-Powell ran the camp for 22 boys and started the Boy Scout movement which came to America three years later in 1910.

A "Footsteps of Founders" camporee with 800 scouts and leaders will be held April 30 - May 2 in Lubbock's Comanche Canyon to celebrate the 75th Anniversary of world scouting. Entry to Comanche Canyon is east on Kent Street located just north of Lubbock State School.

Many of the activities and contests conducted in Baden-Powell's Camp will be reenacted in the 1982 camp. Each Patrol of 5 to 8 scouts will enter it's patrol flag in a contest. Recognition will be given for most original flags in design. There will be 3 prizes for the entire Camporee.

There will also be a contest for the most original scout staff. A scout staff is a stick about 6' long and 1" in diameter. The staves have been used by scouts as an aid in biking, in first aid, and scoutcraft. Many staves are marked with measurements so they may be used as a ruler. Also some scouts mark various points on the staff as a fulcrum point so the staff may be used to measure weights.

Problem solving events will be featured during Saturday's program. The events which are designed for fun will test the scouts preparedness in knots, first aid, teamwork, tracking, signaling, fire building, axmanship and compass.

The public is invited to the big campfire on Saturday night. The campfire will include a dramatization of Baden-Powell's first campout in addition to the recognition and awards.

Jack Baker of Lubbock heads up a Camporee Committee of 40 scouters from the South Plains area. The South Plains Council consists of 20 counties and is supported by 12 United Ways.

Engineer studies recycling water from electric power plants

COLLEGE STATION — A Texas A&M University environmental engineer has begun studying the feasibility of recycling water used by lignite-fired electric power plants across the state.

Dr. Bill Batchelor, an associate professor of civil engineering, said the main drawback would be scale formation, which causes a loss of efficiency in heat transfer. Scale is formed when some chemicals present in the water become more concentrated as recycled water evaporates.

At a time when economical water resources are fast reaching a limit in Texas, researchers believe that by the year 2000, more than three-quarters of the state's gross water use will involve recycling (using your own water over and over) or reuse (using someone else's treated wastewater for industrial purposes), said Batchelor.

While the state's demand for municipal and industrial water should double in the next 20 years, the amount of water needed for generating energy is expected to leap by a factor of five or more, he said.

Cotton Industry Using '81 Farm Act Provisions

Several 1981 farm act provisions written by Congress at the recommendation of the cotton industry are now being used to help ease producers through their current difficulties, the chairman of the National Cotton Council's board of directors said today.

Frank M. Mitchener, Jr., a Sumner, Miss., producer, pointed this out in an address in Nashville to Cotton Warehouse Association members at their annual meeting.

For example, he noted: (1) producers have entered almost 6 million bales of this season's crop into the loan program to help hold back some of the excess supply until market demand picks up again; (2) additional supply adjustment is promised as a result of the voluntary 15 percent acreage reduction program announced by Agriculture Secretary John Block; (3) some half a billion dollars in target price deficiency payments have now moved into farmers' hands and should help many obtain enough credit to finance the coming season's production; and (4) every reasonable alternative is being explored to obtain adequate farm credit.

In addition, Mitchener said an aggressive selling program is being launched for cotton. He noted that Cotton Incorporated is now conducting a hard-selling advertising and product development program in the domestic market, while Cotton Council International is making a special effort overseas to increase the impact of its $3.7 million program in the 11 target countries that buy 85 percent of the industry's raw cotton exports. Efforts also are being made to increase export credit for cotton's overseas customers, including appropriations to start up the export credit revolving fund authorized by the 1981 farm act.

Mitchener said adoption by 1983 of the Industry-wide Bale Packaging Committee's recommendation for materials and methods that fully cover the bale could be important to cotton sales efforts and is already drawing an enthusiastic response from mill customers. He told warehousemen a completely covered bale would make it easier for them to provide a cleaner, better package to cotton's textile mill customers. In turn, it would facilitate mills' compliance with the current cotton dust standard which requires them to eliminate manual handling and cleaning of cotton where possible.

Any increased cost involved in complete bale coverage, Mitchener added, would be more than offset by reductions in cleaning time, in fiber damaged or lost, and in contamination of yarns and fabrics.

"These are the kinds of reductions it's going to take to enhance our competitive position in bidding for staple fiber markets at home and abroad.

Regarding the dust standard, the Council official expressed hope that its current review by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration would result in far more reasonable regulations. He said the Council is insisting that the standard should not apply to cotton warehouses and other non-textile areas nor to some textile operations where no significant health risk to workers has been found.

Where need for a standard has been established, the Council maintains workers can be protected through a more reasonable dust exposure level, medical surveillance, and other measures at a fraction of the present standard's cost.

LUBBOCK, Friday, April 23, 1982

Crosby County cotton producer and businessman Tommy Fondren of Lorenzo was elected President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., at the organization's Board meeting in Lubbock April 21.

Fondren succeeds Gary Ivey of Ralls, who as immediate past president automatically becomes Chairman of the Board. Ivey served one year as President of the 25-county producer group.

Elected to the office of PCG Vice President was Gerald Caswell of Brownfield. Caswell, who had completed one year as Secretary-Treasurer, succeeded Myrl Mitchell of Lenora as PCG's number two officer.

Replacing Caswell as Secretary-Treasurer in the election was cotton producer and ginnee Bennie Claunch of Bula, a Bailey County director since 1980. Fondren was elected to the Board from Crosby County in 1978 and Caswell has been a Terry County director since 1977. All were currently serving on the organization's Executive Committee.

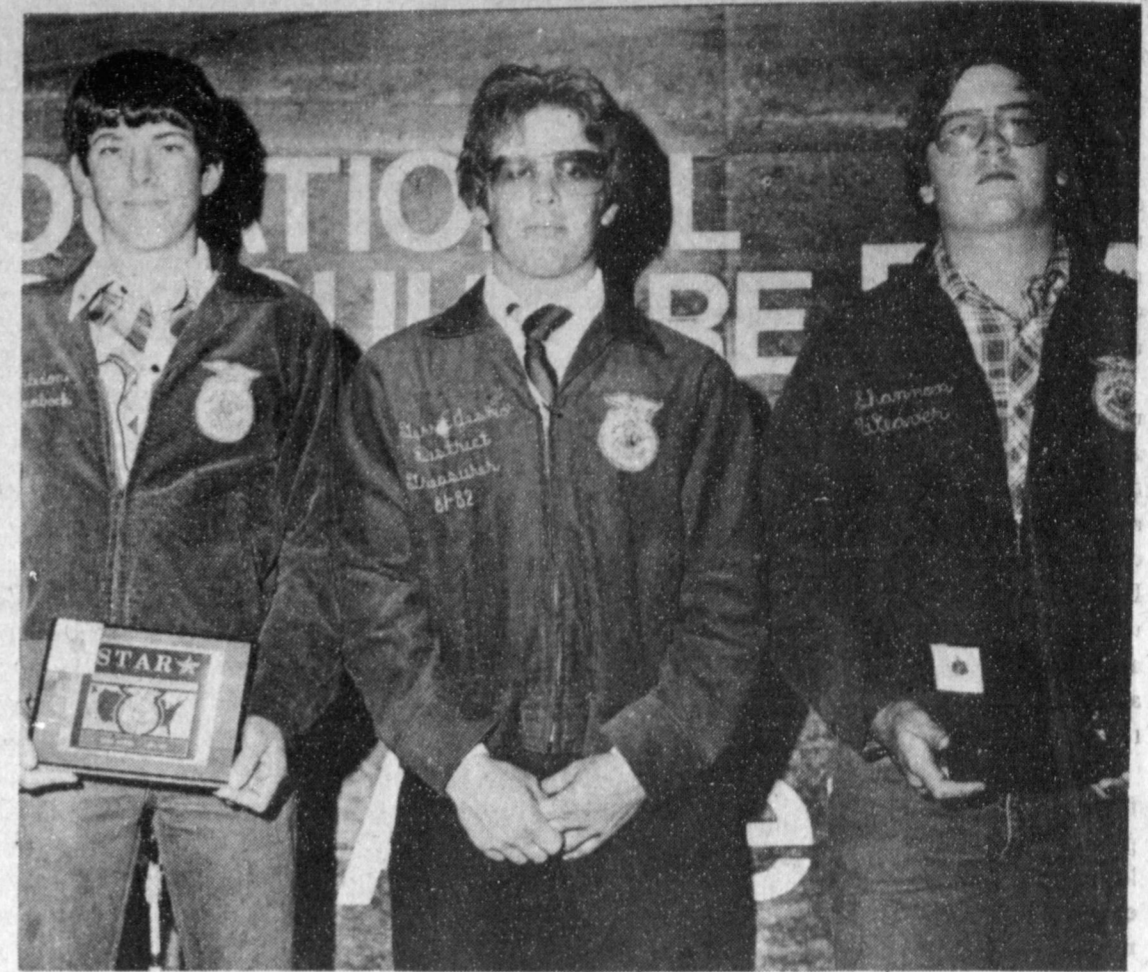

The 50-member PCG Board is made up of two members from each of 25 High Plains counties.

The Board meeting followed PCG's 25th annual meeting, attended by over 200 producers, ginners and other cotton-related businessmen. In addition to reports from then President Ivey and Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, speakers at the annual affair were Earl Sears, Executive Vice President of the National Cotton Council, Memphis, Tenn., and three people experienced in different aspects of High Volume Instrument (HVI) classing of cotton.

In an address titled "Cotton in a Time of Trial" Sears deplored the low current cotton prices, but pointed to declining inflation, near-record total employment and recent strengths in consumer buying power as bright spots in an otherwise dismal outlook for cotton demand in the months ahead.

Speakers on cotton classing were Jesse Moore, Cotton Division Director of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, Washington; Bob Hale, Vice President of Textile Operations, American Cotton Growers, Littlefield, and Jerry Harris, past president of Lamesa Cotton Growers Association, Lamesa. All three appeared to agree with Harris who said "It's not a question of whether we go to instrument classing, it's a question of when." The Lamesa Classing Office used HVI to class all of its receipts from the 1980 and 1981 crops.

Harris emphasized that producer benefits from a switch to HVI were highly dependent on a learning process. He estimated that only about five percent of the producers in Lamesa's territory got higher prices for their 1980 crops as a result of instruments, but that the percentage probably doubled or tripled for the 1981 crop as more producers and ginners adapted varieties, production and ginning practices to the new system.

SPECIAL AWARDS--Shawn Mason, Terry Jesko and Shannon Weaver were awarded the Star Chapter Farmer, the DeKalb award, and Star Greenhand, respectively, at the Lazbuddie FFA Banquet.

Energy-Conscious Lawn Care Possible

Energy-conscious home owners can take steps to reduce the energy demands of lawn care without lowering lawn standards.

"While lawns offer many aesthetic and recreational benefits, these may be offset by energy requirements of lawn care," says Dr. Richard Doble, turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Mowing, watering, fertilizing, controlling of pests and disposing of leaf clippings are all energy-consuming requirements of lawn care. During spring and summer months, watering the lawn and collecting and disposing of grass clippings usually place a heavy burden on cities for these services. Grass clippings account for more than 30 percent of total trash collections in some cities during spring and early summer," notes Doble.

He offers several lawn maintenance practices to help homeowners reduce these energy demands. Reducing fertilizer applications to maintenance levels—2 to 3 pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn per year—will go a long way toward reducing energy demands. (That's 20 pounds of a fertilizer containing 10 percent nitrogen.) Applying only maintenance levels of nitrogen to lawns can reduce mowing requirements, water use, insect and disease problems, and grass clippings.

"Excessive fertilization is the single most important factor contributing to high energy demands for lawn care," contends Doble.

Another lawn care practice to reduce energy demands is returning or composting grass clippings. Using a mulching mower can be beneficial if grass clippings are not composted, says the specialist.

Also, adopting proper watering practices to reduce water use can save energy.

Reducing pesticide use to only essential applications to prevent loss of turf is another energy-saving practice.

Doble advises new homeowners to select and plant adapted, low maintenance turfgrasses to reduce energy demands. Centipedegrass is ideally suited to East Texas while buffalograss is adapted to much of west and north Texas. Both of these grasses have low maintenance requirements, yet provide a satisfactory turf cover for lawns.

In some situations, ground covers such as Asiatic jasmine, English ivy or Liriope can reduce maintenance requirements effectively without sacrificing the benefits of a plant cover. In heavily shaded areas and on steep slopes, use these ground covers in place of grasses, suggests the specialist.

"It is possible to enjoy the luxury of an attractive lawn and landscape," contends Doble, "without excessive energy requirements. In fact, the net energy balance for a lawn can be in favor of energy conservation."

Texas Democratic Farm Caucus Releases Poll

This poll was made by the Texas Democratic Farm Caucus to find out how farmers and ranchers feel about candidates in the Democratic Primary. The Texas Democratic Farm Caucus was formed in 1977 and has been active in the Democratic Party since then.

The Caucus does not endorse candidates but individual members are active in their local communities.

The first poll includes statewide farm organization presidents and state-wide commodities organization presidents. Poll #2 represents farmers who are county and regional leaders with influence in their hometowns.

The Texas Democratic Farm Caucus will release a poll before each primary and general election in the future.

Farmers and ranchers honored during Agriculture Day festivities

AUSTIN — "Agriculture, It's Your Heartbeat, Texas" was the theme for this year's statewide observance of Agriculture Day, March 18.

Speaking at ceremonies on the Capitol steps to mark the observance of this nationwide celebration, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown noted that twenty percent of employed Texans owe their jobs to the two percent of the population who are farmers and ranchers.

"In Texas, cash receipts last year were 8.9 billion, and that generated close to $36 billion," Brown said.

The national celebration was started in 1975 when sudden rises in energy costs forced food prices up. The purpose now is to inform those not in agriculture of the importance of the industry and to solicit support from an increasingly urban population.

"Today's farmer provides food and fiber for 50 people. Sixty years ago one farmer supplied only 10 others with food. This progress is due for the most part to improvements in technology and the willingness of producers to try new methods and crops," Brown said.

As a symbolic honor for producers, Brown presented a certificate to Richard Watson, a dairy farmer from Sulphur Springs, the Star Young Farmer of Texas. In five years Watson and his wife Sandi have developed a successful registered Holstein dairy and breeding operation.

The Young Farmers organization honors county winners who then are participants in state and national competition. They are chosen on the basis of sound financial and cultural practices in farming or ranching and their contribution to the organization and to their community.

Brown also announced Byron Senter as the winner of a bale of cotton, donated by the Lamesa Cotton Growers Association as part of the Agriculture Day celebration. Entrants in the bale of

A&M has largest increase in scholars

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M has the largest net increase in number of National Merit Scholars in the country this year, and its number of new National Merit Scholars is exceeded only by Harvard and Radcliffe combined, reveals an assessment of listings in the annual report of the National Merit Scholarship Corp.

Overall, Texas A&M moved up to 12th among the nation's 3,000 colleges and universities in enrollment of National Merit Scholars, generally considered the brightest young men and women coming out of the nation's high schools.

"We are pleased with our ranking and hope to attract even more of these students to Texas A&M, where our faculty and facilities offer exceptional opportunities," said Dr. Frank E. Vandiver, Texas A&M president.

"Every quality institution in the country is vying for outstanding students, and we are grateful to our alumni and other supporters for assisting us in offering highly competitive scholarships to attract these students," Vandiver added. "They do not come here — or go anywhere else — just because of the value of the scholarship; they come because they can get a quality education, but scholarship considerations are usually a definite consideration."

IRAQ & EGYPTIAN ARMS

Norwegian disk can save lives

A product that saves lives in Norway, the land of the midnight sun, is being introduced in Texas by a former Norwegian businessman.

Jens F. Busch, now retired in Austin, saw the popularity of a small, reflective disk used in Norway by pedestrians. "Refleksbrikke" it is called in Norway. Busch refers to it as the STAR DISC. He feels it can help reduce the numbers of pedestrians killed every year in Texas.

"More than 700 pedestrians were killed in this state in 1980," he says, "and the figures for 1981 are expected to reach the same tragic level."

If Texans would wear the STAR DISC as Norwegians do, the statistics could be significantly cut, Busch feels. Returning from a business career in Norway a few months ago, Busch brought a batch of the disks with him and is introducing them to schools and safety agencies around the state.

The STAR DISC measures 2 1/4 inches across and may be worn from a string around the neck or pinned to any outer garment. It has remarkable reflective powers. Joggers, walkers, and bicyclists can wear the reflectors to increase their visibility at night.

Mirror in London ran a public service campaign and distributed two and one half million disks in a year. Busch hopes some Texas corporations will want to distribute the disks as promotional items.

Research reveals that most pedestrians are killed during hours of darkness.

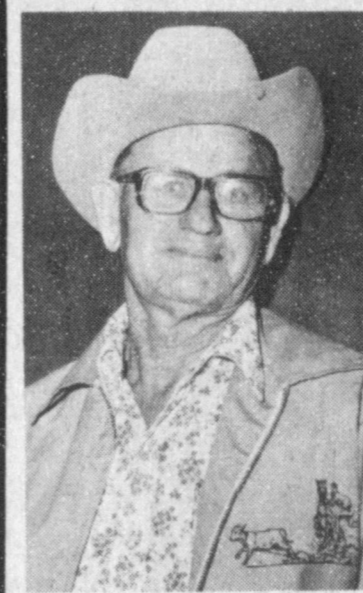

Pedestrians repeatedly have been urged to wear retro-reflective materials on their clothing. These come in various types and shapes, but very few people know where they may be obtained. Most cannot be transferred easily from one piece of clothing to another, and this discourages usage.

Awareness of the importance of being seen in the dark is very strong in Europe. The availability there of retro-reflective disks and the extensive use of them, has saved many lives.

Busch points out there are more than 1 1/2 million kindergarten and elementary school students in the state of Texas. More than one third of all pedestrian accidents causing deaths and injuries involve these youngsters. More than 50 children were killed during the first half of 1981.

Also, Busch comments that 15% of all fatal pedestrian accidents strike down senior citizens.

The add-on heat pump can provide both central cooling and heating. The pump can be used with your existing heating system and can provide all your heating requirements on moderately cold days. The add-on heat pump also saves on your overall heating costs by providing up to two units of heating energy for each unit of electricity it uses. And the pump automatically switches over to your existing heating system whenever it cannot meet your home's complete heating needs.

John Kallas, Consumer Services Representative, Lubbock.

Of the known recoverable energy reserves in the United States, nearly 80% are in the form of coal deposits. This is one reason for Southwestern Public Service Company's decision to switch to coal-fired power plants. Today, more than 40% of the electricity produced by SPS is generated by coal-fueled boilers. At SPS, we expect to produce almost 60% of our customers' electricity with coal by 1985.

Earl Zwickey, Plant Engineer, Tolk Station, Muleshoe.

Microwave ovens use less electricity because they cook faster than conventional ovens. Microwaves cost less to operate than conventional electric ranges and can save on summer air conditioning costs as well, since they use a cool cooking method. Faster cooking helps foods retain their natural flavors, vitamins and minerals.

Connie Moyers, Home Service Advisor, Clovis.

Knowing what electricity is worth is worth knowing. For answers to your questions, call or write your SPS manager.

TDA distributes AMDRO to 88 counties

AUSTIN—Twenty-four of the 88 counties participating in the Texas imported fire ant control program will receive the full amount of the fire ant pesticide AMDRO that they requested during the first phase of the program, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown announced today.

"The participating counties were notified this week of the amount of bait they will receive in this first phase of the program. This is only the first shipment. More bait will be available later for the second phase of the program. We anticipate that 40 counties will be completely satisfied following the second phase of the program," Brown said.

The supplies of AMDRO and MC-96, both approved pesticides, are being prorated to each county due to the overwhelming response for assistance. "The requests for treatment this year far exceed those from previous years. Because of this demand we will not be able to supply the full amount specified by each county, but we will be able to meet part of their needs. Each county is being treated the same," Brown said.

The 88 counties participating in the program have requested over 3.1 million lbs. of AMDRO and over 28,000 quarts of MC-96. Sixty of these 88 counties are in the fire ant program for the first time. The United States Department of Agriculture had originally allocated $900,000 worth of bait to be distributed later by the Texas Department of Agriculture; however, on March 18, USDA official Harvie Ford notified the Department that the amount may be less as a result of the increase in demand from other states. Texas has allocated $1.5 million for the program.

A&M researcher says recycled tires can extend road life

COLLEGE STATION — Half the 240 million automobile tires thrown away in this country each year could be blended with asphalt in road construction and repair, says a transportation expert.

For some pavements, the combination of asphalt and rubber increases the life of pavement sections while allowing thinner pavements, said Dr. Jon Epps, head of the materials and construction division of the Texas Transportation Institute, a part of the Texas A&M University System.

Epps, a civil engineer, said the idea also makes sense from the viewpoints of recycling and use of energy resources.

SCHOLARSHIPS

The Veterans Administration has launched a $4 million scholarship program in an effort to ensure sufficient nursing staff in its health care facilities. Scholarships will go to about 300 qualified nursing students. The scholarships will provide educational benefits on a pay-back-in-service basis.

West Texas plants may be fuel source

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University plant scientists say vast quantities of land in semi-arid regions of West Texas may be used for mass cultivation of plants to provide additional sources of fuel.

After screening more than 2,900 Texas plants for biomass energy potential, the researchers say at least four and perhaps as many as 12 varieties of weeds that grow in the Southwest promise potential as sources of fuel.

"We're primarily looking at crops that could have multiple uses," says Dr. Ron Newton, a researcher with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Texas A&M assessing the kinds of plants that would be best suited for energy conversion.

Among the plants found as good candidates for energy conversion are kochia, Johnson grass, saltbush and mesquite.

If you want to produce fruit without Texas fruit worms or rots, you'll have to use pesticides. Peach fruit must be constantly protected from various insects and diseases during its formative stages.

Actually, the first pesticide application should be before the peach or plum tree even shows signs of life in the spring. This is called the dormant stage spray, and consists of a dormant oil spray for scale and a fixed copper such as Kocide 101 for leaf curl.

The following stage (pink bud stage) is when swollen flower buds show pink or white. This usually happens in late February or March but varies with the variety of tree. At this stage, spray with malathion or diazinon in combination with a fungicide such as captan to discourage the peach twig borer and brown rot fungus.

Then comes the petal fall stage when about 75 percent of the blossom petals have fallen. At this stage apply the same insecticides and fungicides used in the pink bud stage to control stink bugs, lygus bugs, peach twig borer, plum curculio, and brown rot. This spray and the ones which follow are important to keep the worms out of fruit.

City Police Officer On Training

Animal Control Officer Della Snell of the Muleshoe Police Department, recently attended the Texas Department of Health's Certification Course, the first of its kind ever offered by the state. This school was held in the Davis Mountains State Park near Fort Davis, Texas. Upon completion, Ms. Snell received a Basic Certification for animal control officers.

Certification in this area is needed in order to insure humane treatment of animals and to provide the best possible service to the community. The Department instructed students in the legal aspects of animal control, animal identification, capture and restraint, transporting, impoundment, disposition, as well as animal health care.

Students were tested through outdoor practical examination and written exams. Besides learning animal handling procedures, Ms. Snell was instructed in record keeping and public relations.

Chief Irvin stated that he is proud of Ms. Snell's accomplishment in being among the first group of animal control officers to receive the state's Basic Certification.

Municipal, Civil Courts File 74 Cases Last Week

Law enforcement officers have begun "cracking down" on traffic violators in the past week with over twenty-five citations being issued in the City of Muleshoe over Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Since April 20, city police officers have issued thirteen speeding tickets, ten for running stop signs, five for expired stickers and two for exhibition of acceleration. Two more citations were issued for expired plates and one each for violation of city ordinances, theft, illegal license tags, and one for impeding traffic.

In Municipal Court, Judge Linda Huckaby has collected fines on convictions since April 20 for 14 speeding tickets, 3 running stop signs, 2 for exhibition of acceleration, 2 for expired stickers, and one each for the following offenses: disorderly conduct, violation of city ordinance, no liability insurance, no driver's license, and one for failure to yield right of way.

Five cases were filed on April 27 for issuance of bad checks, along with warrants.

Since April 20 Justice of the Peace of Precinct #1, Tana Holmes, has recorded 19 convictions of Class C Misdemeanors, with fines paid. Seven of these were for speeding, five for failure to stop at stop signs and one each for the following offenses: no registration papers, non valid motor vehicle inspection, violation of promise to appear, overweight, operating a motor vehicle without a license, failure to display valid Railroad Commission cab card and one for operating an unauthorized vehicle.

From and including April 20, 38 cases were filed with the Justice of Peace. Of these cases, 18 were for speeding, two for overweight load, two for operating unregistered vehicle, four for non-valid MVI sticker, two for operating a motor vehicle without a license, three for public intoxication, two for defective equipment, one for passing with insufficient clearance, one for improper turn, one for improper loading of vehicle, one for no valid RRC card, and one for cutting across a driveway.

Ag Weather Service May Be Cut-- The Agricultural Weather Service, which has proved a valuable ally of farmers and ranchers in Texas as well as throughout the nation, is about to fall victim to proposed budget cuts. What's at stake is $1.2 million in the budget of the Department of Commerce which oversees the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the parent organization of the AWS unit at Texas A&M University. The AWS advisory program which helps farmers and ranchers plan critical operations is worth some $100 million a year to Texas alone, assuming a conservative 50 percent effectiveness.

We have never been able to figure out the attraction which draws some couples together.

LIBRARY FAMILY OF THE YEAR--Mr. and Mrs. Rex Harris and their two daughters, Kimberly, age 9 and Staci, age 7, were named 'Library Family of the Year' on Saturday at 4 p.m. The award was presented by Mrs. Blanche Johnson of the Muleshoe Study Club, who sponsors the award annually. The Harris' have been residents of Muleshoe for about four years and Mr. Harris is employed at American-Valley, Incorporated. Winner of the Encyclopedia sets were J. H. Reynolds and Mrs. Bob Byrd, both having the highest bids. Ricky Powell was the winner of the Cyclo-Teacher game.

Rural Burglaries Plague County Law Officials

Bailey County Sheriff's office has been plagued again with rural burglaries over the past week. On April 14 the Lloyd Davenport home near Circleback was broken into and approximately $1100 in cash taken along with a microwave oven and a shotgun. Total value of the missing property is approximately $1400.

Also on April 15, Lynda Altman, near the Three Way community, reported her home being burglarized with clothes, household goods and appliances valued at over $1500 being taken.

On April 19, Bob Dodd reported six 50 foot rolls of fire hose being taken from a well house at his home on the Plainview Highway. The hose was valued at approximately $420.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Robert Snow of Baton Rouge, La., on April 22 on a public intoxication charge. He was released after paying a fine of $106. Also arrested for public intoxication was Joe Lee Archer of Mexia. He was fined $106 and released. On April 26, Arthur Esquivel was arrested on a public intoxication charge. He remains in Bailey County jail as of Tuesday afternoon.

City police investigated two fender-benders on April 16 and one on April 17. One on the 16th occurred when an auto driven by Mary Gibson backed into an auto driven by Patricia Purcell Young at the Dairy Queen Drive-In. The second occurred when a 77 Chevrolet pickup belonging to J. R. Carpenter was struck by an unknown vehicle while parked. Traces of light blue paint were found on the Carpenter vehicle. The accident occurring on the 17th involved Sally V. Lunsford and Roland D. Dale. Damage was minor in all three mishaps.

On April 20, John Hawkins of Todd Company, Inc. who are the contractors on the Senior Citizen Housing Complex reported the theft of over $700 in materials from the building site. The theft is thought to have occurred on April 16 during the night.

City police were able to clear up two auto burglaries which were reported earlier in April on April 22, when Lee Edward Murphy and Dennis Leon Murphy, both 18 years of age, were arrested and charged with burglary of motor vehicles. Lee Edward Murphy was released on bond pending further action and Dennis Leon Murphy paid a $106 fine.

Officers solved another mystery on April 21 when two white male juveniles admitted to the burglary of Mrs. Robin Neptune's home at 1426 West Avenue C on April 1. Both juveniles were released to their parents, pending court action.

On April 22, Colleen Agnew reported a theft of tools from a motel room after the tools had been removed from her stalled automobile. The auto had been towed to the Ford Motor Company and upon returning to her motel, complainant found the tools gone. No estimate of value was available.

New Dimensions owner, Joe Pat Wagon, reported to police on the 23rd that a coin operated machine had been burglarized, following the opening of the machine to exchange a soft drink. It was assumed that the burglary occurred following the attendant's opening of the machine.

On April 23, Central Texaco reported the theft of 46 gallons of gas and a 12 volt battery which were taken during the night from Ryder trucks parked at the side of the building. Value was set at $127.86.

Also on April 24, Benito Alarcon, Jr. was arrested at 122 West Avenue C on a disorderly conduct and abusive language charge following a disturbance report. He was placed in jail pending bond.

On April 24, Sgt. Wayne Holmes and Deputy Sheriff Hal Bynum recovered tools which were taken from the city barn in the trunk of a vehicle during a routine search. Driver of the vehicle, Alonso Ontiveros, was arrested on warrant charge of unlawful carrying of weapons. Officers also found a small 25 caliber pistol under the seat of the suspect's auto. He was jailed pending further action.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek has been forced to learn something new about geography.

Dear editor:

I don't know about others but I had managed to make it this far in life without ever having heard of the Falkland Islands.

Such ignorance wasn't something I was losing sleep over, as there must be thousands of islands scattered around in the oceans of the world most people haven't heard of. And if a man is going to be ignorant of something, tiny islands are about as good as anything else.

The reason I am now aware of the Falklands is that the world is too thoroughly televised.

As I understand it, Argentina has been arguing for 150 years that the islands belonged to her, not the British, although England has been in charge of the place. So, after debating for a century and a half, Argentina, with what might be called Congressional speed, decided finally to take over the territory and make everybody there speak Spanish instead of Cockney, not to mention drill for the oil that may lie under the ocean floor nearby.

So the TV networks, tickled pink to get rid of the El Salvador story, which they couldn't make heads or tails of anyway, leaped on the Falkland Islands. A place with only 1,800 people and 600,000 sheep is a lot more photograhical.

It makes a person wonder, if Argentina hadn't charged on to the island, what would the three networks have lead off their evening news shows with that day and for days thereafter. For one thing, I still wouldn't have heard of the place.

At this writing, there's no telling what will happen. Forty-six British ships are steaming toward the Falklands 8,000 miles away and eventually will get there if the mortgage holders don't foreclose and call them back to port. All wars are waged on credit and most nations are already over-extended. People who finance via taxes ships submarines, airplanes and nuclear bombs are reluctant to see their investments risked in combat.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Right To Keep And Bear Arms Supported

In what is probably the most extensive legal research yet made public on the Second Amendment "right to keep and bear arms", the U. S. Senate Judiciary Committee has released a formal report citing "clear proof" based on historical and legal evidence supporting the individual right of Americans to arms ownership.

Prepared by the Judiciary Committee's Subcommittee on the Constitution, chaired by U. S. Sen. Orrin Hatch (R-Utah) the report states: "The conclusion is thus inescapable that the history, concept and wording of the Second Amendment... indicates that what is protected is an individual right of a private citizen to own and carry firearms in a peaceful manner."

Entitled The Right to Keep and Bear Arms, the report contains nearly 200 pages covering 11 centuries of legal development. It not only contains findings on Second Amendment history, but also an analysis of firearms law enforcement, an anthology of legal decisions, articles by constitutional scholars and other studies. From English common law to the British Declaration of Rights in the seventeenth century to the American Bill of Rights a century later, the historical evidence overwhelmingly supports the individual rather than collective interpretation given the Second Amendment.

The report notes that when the term "militia" first came into use around 1588, it was understood as designating the entire body of arms-owning citizens. The Second Amendment, the report states, could not have been intended to protect modern National Guard units since these were never meant by Congress to be the constitutional militia. "That the National Guard is not the militia referred to in the Second Amendment is even clearer today," the report finds. "The modern National Guard was specifically intended to avoid status as the constitutional militia..."

In addressing present firearms law enforcement in this country, the report gives unqualified endorsement to reform of the Gun Control Act of 1968. Reform legislation has been introduced by U. S. Sen. James McClure and U. S. Rep. Harold Volkmer.

"Reform of Federal firearms laws is necessary to protect the most vital rights of American citizens." Such reform "would enhance vital protection of constitutional and civil liberties of those Americans who choose to exercise their Second Amendment right to keep and bear arms," the report noted.

In his preface to the report, Sen. Hatch emphasizes that the evidence is indisputable. "What the Subcommittee on the Constitution uncovered was clear," he said, "and long-lost proof that the Second Amendment to our Constitution was intended as an individual right of the American citizen to keep and carry arms in a peaceful manner, for the protection of himself, his family, and his freedoms."

Information For Veterans

The number of military veterans in civilian life took a downward turn in the last 12 months for the first time in 16 years.

That and other data on veterans and related programs were compiled by the Veterans Administration in "Trend Data 1957-1981."

Prepared by the agency Office of Reports and Statistics, the 52-page book covers 25 years of data on 11 major VA activities such as veteran population, expenditures, loan guarantees and insurance. Highlights:

-- The number of veterans in civilian life has decreased for the first time in 16 years, falling to 30,083,000.

-- Total VA expenditures have almost doubled since 1972, and have increased 298 percent to $25.2 billion in 22 years.

-- Veterans receiving compensation have increased 10 percent to nearly 2.28 million in 25 years.

-- There has been an almost continual increase in the number of outpatient medical-care visits over the past 25 years, from 3.3 million in 1957 to 17.9 million in 1981.

-- Spending by VA for medical programs has increased 615 percent in 22 years, from less than $1 billion to $6.6 billion. But the average number of VA hospital operating beds has fallen from a 1958 peak of 121,201 to a 1981 low of 82,079. The average daily patient census in VA hospitals has dropped from 111,599 in 1958 to 66,376 in 1981, a dip of 41 percent.

--Total employment in the VA has increased 33.6 percent to 232,417 in 25 years. The number of full-time physicians increased 47 percent since 1957 to a total of 6,849.

-- The VA and VA-supported nursing home care average daily census has increased from a low of 324 in 1965 to a high of 22,347 in 1981.
