"Howdy, Podner" is the cartoon caption depicting a big fur-coated Alaskan offering a hand to a relatively small pistol-toting Texan with a big hat. It happened on Monday, June 30, when the Senate by a vote of 64 to 20 okayed a House-approved bill making the vast Territory of Alaska the 49th—and the biggest—state in the union.

All Texans in the House but three had voted against the admission at this time. But the majority rules and we can wish the best for the new state.

Admittedly, the new state will depend on Uncle Sam to help finance the new venture in statehood for many years to come. With fewer than 100,000 permanent citizens, including 35,000 natives, and a total voting strength of only 26,000, and a limited revenue source, Alaska will lean heavily upon the taxpayers of other states to pitch in and help pay its bills.

The Congress went overboard in its generosity by giving outright a hundred million acres of land owned by all the American people. Previously when new states have been admitted the Government ceded only up to one section of Federally-owned public land out of each four; but in this instance the giveaway is about one section out of every eighteen.

A NORTHERN LIBERAL Congressman chided southerners for voting against Alaskan statehood, claiming it was done solely because the southerners knew the two new Senators and the new Representative will be liberals—devoted to the free-spending welfare-state concept of government.

FINAL APPROVAL was given last week to my bill to extend the time for handling previously-made Federal emergency livestock loans during the drought. The bill is now at the White House, where approval is expected. This bill gives the Farmers Home Administration an additional two years for extensions and collections and, according to State FHA Administrator Walter McKay, will be very helpful to drought victims, particularly in our section, who made use of this type of loan.

WOOL SCOURING plants, three of them in Texas, will breathe a bit easier as a result of an amendment to the mammoth railroad transportation bill which passed the House last week. An amendment, which I sponsored, will keep scoured and clean wool exempt from ICC rates, thus saving up to $1.50 per hundred weight on transportation costs to Boston and other markets.

The Sterling Alumni Association is celebrating the 50th Anniversary of the Sterling School with the annual banquet and dance Saturday night, July 12. The affair is being held in the Cotillion Room of the Town House Hotel, San Angelo.

Trying to Get Fire Truck

R. P. Brown, Sterling City Fire Chief, is working hard on a deal to buy a fire truck from the San Angelo Fire Department. It is a 500 gallon a minute pumper, which is what is needed to give Sterling a fire insurance reduction. San Angelo has grown beyond that size pumper and has to have 750 gallons or more size truck to get the insurance credits. Chief Brown said the department there seemingly wants our fire department to have the truck, just as a matter of good relations between the two cities.

Eden got one of San Angelo's outgrown trucks once for a small amount of money, and Brown is hoping Sterling can do the same. It will be a big saving to Sterling on the truck, and a real saving on fire insurance rates hereafter.

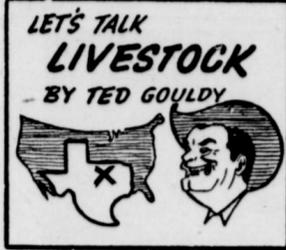

J. S. COLE RESIDENT HERE FOR SIXTY YEARS

On July 10, J. S. Cole had been a resident of Sterling City for 60 years. He said he came here on that date in 1898 to visit with relatives and had been here ever since.

Mr. Cole, now executive-vice president of the First National Bank, served as a deputy in the County Clerk's office for two years. In 1900 he was elected as County Clerk and served until 1910 when the bank was organized and he was the first cashier. He held that post in the bank until he was made executive vice-president.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen and son, Freddie, of Las Vegas, New Mexico, are here visiting the Rufus Fosters.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Johnson visited in Galveston and Texas City over the 4th week-end.

CATTLE OPEN STRONG, SPOTS ARE HIGHER

FORT WORTH—Cattle and calves cleared at fully steady to strong prices at Fort Worth Monday. Receipts were the smallest since early Spring due to storms and heavy rainfall in the territory. Trade was extremely active and most sales indicated some advances in prices as compared with late last week, especially on stocker calves and cattle. Exception to higher prices were plain short-fed steers.

Visitors to the market were in agreement that the rains of the past few days have assured pasture and stock water in most sections of the state until late summer or fall. The rains were deemed certain to increase the demand for stocker cattle in virtually all parts of the Southwest immediately.

Typical of the strong action on stockers was the sale of 77 light-weight steer and heifer calves consigned by W. H. Cooper of Eastland. The calves weighed about 300 pounds and drew $35 per hundred. Their mothers sold at $18.25, with 10 cows at $17.

Good to choice slaughter steers and yearlings cashed at $24 to $27.50, and common and medium offerings cleared at $16 to $24. Fat cows ranged from $18 to $21, and canners and cutters drew $13 to $18. Bulls brought $17 to $22.

Good and choice stocker calves sold from $27 to $35 and stocker and feeder steers and yearlings cashed at $22 to $27. Medium stockers sold around $22 to $25.

HOGS STEADY, TOP $24.50—24.75 MONDAY

Hogs were steady with Thursday's close last week in active trade at Fort Worth Monday. Choice hogs cashed at $24.50 and 24.75. Medium and good hogs cashed at $22 to $24. Sows ranged from $19 to $21.50. Pigs cashed at $18 to $21.

SHEEP AND LAMBS SCARCE, UNEVENLY HIGHER

Sheep and lambs were strong and active at Fort Worth Monday with spots 25 to 50 cents higher. Good and choice yearlings sold from $17 to $19, and cull to medium yearlings sold from $12 to $16. Good to low choice fat lambs drew $21 to $23, and cull to medium lambs brought $14 to $20. Stocker and feeder lambs cashed at $15 to $20. Slaughter ewes cashed at $6.50 to $7.50. Goats were reported at $7.

ELECTRONIC AGE COMES TO LIVESTOCK MARKET

Close contact between livestock buyers and the packing plants has always been a problem which received a great deal of study, since in the delicately balanced scales of supply and demand. Knowledge of surplus or shortage spelled power.

Last cattlemen and marketmen alike were surprised to see Armour & Company cattle and calf men start their rounds on the stockyards at Fort Worth wearing packs on their backs which sprouted red tipped antennae.

The electronic age of communication had come to the Ft. Worth market and while the buyers literally chafed under their burdens, they truly burned over some of the wry kidding they got from competitors.

In the early days the quickest communication possible between plant and buyers was runners. Many top men in the packing business started as fleet-footed runners with written or typed messages.

Later the telegraph era came and runners carried telegrams from Chicago and other points keeping buyers abreast of needs and prices.

Then most of this information switched to telephones and on the yards a man is seldom more than two dozen strides from a telephone and a public address system can tell him to call in a matter of minutes.

Now comes the instantaneous shortwave radio to make contact even quicker.

Under today's highly competitive meat trade where chain stores may contract for millions of pounds of meat, the packer getting that contract may add handsomely to his profits if he can alert his buyers be-

Lions Club Luncheon

The Sterling City Lions Club members met in the community center Wednesday noon for the regular weekly luncheon. Vice-president Alvie Cole acted in the absence of president Fred Igo.

Fire chief R. P. Brown told of going to San Angelo Tuesday and conferring with the San Angelo Fire Chief about buying a good used fire truck that will fill the bill for Sterling City, and eventually help secure a reduction in fire insurance rates. He said that it would be known by next week if we could get the truck.

The mosquito control committee reported that they put diesel oil on the breeding places in town. Pat Boatler furnished the diesel oil, and the committee members, Boatler, M. E. Churchill and Henry Bauer spread the oil on the standing water places in town.

Volunteer Roofers Needed for Job

A group of volunteer carpenters, roofers, professional as well as amateurs, plan to meet at Mrs. W. H. Sparkman's house Monday, July 14 and put on a new roof. Eleven Boys at Scout Camp This Week

Scoutmaster Ancel Reed and assistant Leslie Payne have ten local Boy Scouts at the Buffalo Trail Scout Camp near Ft. Davis this week.

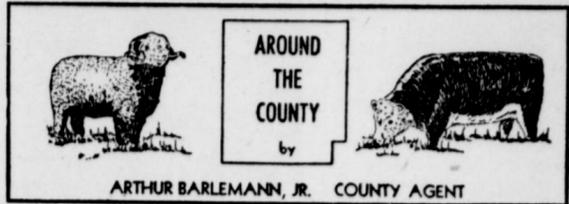

Eight of the boys went Sunday including Billy Blair, Danny Bailey, Mike Williams, Billy Joe Tindall, Troy Murrell, Jerry Payne, Tommy Williams and Jerry Craig.

Tuesday Henry Bauer took three boys out that couldn't make it on Sunday. They were Crisp Williams, Tommy Foster and Billy Bauer.

Mrs. S. M. Bailey's sister-in-law, Mrs. Moss and her two children of Wharton, Texas, are visiting the Baileys here this week. They all went to the Carlsbad Cavern the middle of this week for a trip in the cavern.

fore competitors find out the contracts have been let.

When these instruments were installed at Chicago, it was reported that a commissionman bought a transistor radio receiver, tuned it in on the packer's wave length and for awhile had access to useful information. However, a simple code offset this device.

A three day Beef Cattle Short Course is being planned for all interested beef cattlemen on the campus of A & M College August 11, 12 and 13. The course will be open to anyone interested; final details will be announced later.

Present plans call for discussion of some of the main problems facing cattlemen now. Topics already listed are a carcass contest, artificial insemination of beef cattle, reproductive diseases, contract feeding which is gaining interest in many areas, particularly the mid-west, supplemental feeding, and systematic insecticides for insect control in cattle.

The use of systematic insecticides in cattle for grub control is one which has received a lot of publicity lately. Two products, Dow ET-57 and Bayer 21-199, better known as Co-Ral are the chief insecticides being publicized.

Both are organic phosphorus compounds which control grubs by systematic action or through the system of the animal. ET-57 is a bolus administered to the animal with an ordinary balling gun; Co-Ral is applied in spray form. It is a powder which is mixed with water and applied with any livestock sprayer capable of getting up to 250 pounds of pressure at least. Both the ET-57 and Co-Ral are absorbed in the body fluids of the animal and circulated with those fluids destroying the grubs.

One treatment properly administered will control grubs for one season. Cost will vary with the size of the animal; generally it will run from 40c up to $1.50 per animal for cattle. An animal should require about one-half gallon of the spray to wet them.

There are some precautions of the use of the systematics. They cannot be used within 60 days of slaughter of an animal—traces of the compounds remain in the body of the animal that long. They cannot be used on calves under six weeks of age and on calves from six week to three months, special care must be exercised. Cows heavy in calf should be handled carefully; it may not be used on dairy cows. Treatment should be given during the heel fly season, May 1 to August 1.

At the present time, the Extension Service and Experiment Station is not recommending the use of systematics generally for insect control in cattle. Additional research is needed before it can be determined just how far to go with these chemicals and to properly evaluate them. The rancher should keep these things in mind if he uses these products and handle them carefully, watch the cattle, and call a veterinarian if he notices sick animals in the herd after treatment. It is possible to overdose an animal.

Foster Sims Price has used some Co-Ral on some of his cattle. He sprayed some last week with it, and reports that it cost about 42c per animal to spray. Also, he said that he was able to wet the animals thoroughly with one-half gallon of spray.

This will be something that other ranchers might want to watch. Even though it is not recommended generally yet, the products is on the market and anyone can use it. As long as the users realize that there might possibly be some ill effects from it this early in the history of the product, it can be tried out.

Since it is possible to eradicate grubs by control measures on one ranch, this might be the material that will do it. The heel fly does not move about very much and by controlling grubs on one ranch, you can cut down your losses even if your neighbors don't attempt to control them.

Quick 'N' Easy Sauce

By Betty Barclay

AT THIS time of year, when we're all so busy with holiday activities, there isn't always time to make elaborate desserts. But the simplest cake or pudding becomes a delightful treat when it's topped with this easily-made sauce, rich with the deeply satisfying flavor of unsweetened chocolate.

Chocolate Marshmallow Sauce
1½ squares Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate; ½ cup boiling water; 1 tablespoon butter or margarine; 2 tablespoons corn syrup; 1 tablespoon marshmallow cream; 1 cup sugar; ½ teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon vanilla.

Melt chocolate over hot water. Add ½ cup boiling water, the butter, corn syrup, marshmallow cream, sugar, and salt, stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved and mixture is blended. Place over direct heat and boil 3 minutes. Stir in vanilla. Serve warm on ice cream, cake, or other desserts. Makes 1 cup sauce.

North Concho River Soil Conservation News

Diversion terraces on L.F. Hodges and F. S. Price ranch have been staked out and are under construction. Soil Conservation Service technicians assisted the landowner in planning and design of the diversions. The diversion on L.F. Hodges was designed to correct water spreading system which had begun to erode and wash across a cultivated field. A diversion on F. S. Price was staked to divert excess water around a nirrigated field to a protected outlet.

The rootplowing carried out last year by S. C. Currie between here and Garden City, looks very good this spring. The portion plowed in April and May of 1957 and seeded to Blue Panic and K.R. Bluestem looks the best. The native grasses on the land when the plowing was carried out have increased in number and gained vigor.

Bill Cole rootplowed 100 acres of mesquite land during the middle of May. Bill seeded this land to sorghum alum, blue panic and sideoats grama. The moisture at the time of plowing was very good and has received about an inch and a half of rain since. Sorghum alum, blue panic and sideoats have sprouted. Additional rains are needed to bring the grasses up to a good stand. Brush kill was good. Bill plans to rest the area in order to let the grasses become well established.

Dr. Baxter Greer to Have 50th Anniversary of Ordination on July 13

The congregation of the First Presbyterian Church of Comanche, where Dr. Baxter Greer is minister, is planning to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the Gospel Ministry on Sunday, July 13. A worship service will be conducted at 11 a.m. at which time Dr. Flynn V. Long of Fort Worth will be the speaker. Lunch will be served at the church to all out-of-town guests at noon. An open-house will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Caulley from 3 to 5 p.m.

Dr. Greer was ordained at the Pine Street Presbyterian Church, San Antonio, July 1908. Later he was pastor of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church there for 19 years, and was named "pastor emeritus" of that church in 1947.

He served as pastor of the First Presbyterian and New Hope churches of San Saba before coming to Sterling City as minister of this church and Carlsbad for two years. During the time he was here he led the congregation in the construction and furnishing of the present attractive stone building. Mrs. Greer will share in the honors of the Golden Anniversary celebration, to which all the Sterling friends are invited.

Visitors at Mrs. Ruth Allen's have been Mrs. Guy Dayvault and Mrs. Vera Spalti of Dallas. Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Dayvault and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. McEntire went to the Brady Rodeo celebration on the 4th, and while there visited Mrs. F.R. Wolfe and Mrs. W. N. White. Mrs. Allen's daughter from Ft. Worth, Mrs. J. F. Hambright arrived this week for a visit.
