W. R. Brooks Elected Sterling County Judge

Brooks 191; Carr 173; Hamilton Carries Sterling County

W. R. (Bill) BROOKS

W. R. (Bill) Brooks won the Sterling County Judge's race in the Democratic Run-off election here last Saturday. Brooks' votes totaled 191 to 173 for T. E. (Gene) Carr. Brooks got 164 votes in the main and only box for voters that day (held at the courthouse) to 157 for Carr. In the absentee box, Brooks had 27 votes to Carr's 16.

Senior Voters Go For Hamilton

In the only state race, Judge Robert W. Hamilton got 280 votes for the Supreme Court spot to 39 for his opponent, J. Edwin Smith. In the state as a whole, Hamilton defeated Smith for the court place.

The votes were canvassed by the executive committee Tuesday afternoon and the returns certified to by Democratic chairman Jack Douthit. The winners of the Democratic primaries in Texas amount to election, usually. The nominees will all be listed on the ballot in November under the Democratic line-up.

To the Voters of Sterling County:

I want to thank each and every one of you for the support accorded me in the run-off election last Saturday. I will certainly do my utmost to be worthy of the trust which you have bestowed upon me.

Once again I feel called upon to commend Gene for the very sportsman like way in which he conducted his campaign, as well as his supporters for their loyalty to him.

I hereby pledge myself again to impartiality, competence and courtesy, to one and all alike, in fulfilling the duties and responsibilities of the office and honor which you, by your vote, have bestowed upon me.

I want to thank you again from the bottom of my heart and to solicit your continued support in the forthcoming general election and throughout the ensuing term of office as your County Judge.

Sincerely,
W. R. (Bill) BROOKS

Eldorado Stallion Is Top in Horse Show

Rains failed to dampen the horse show and roping here last Saturday. The clouds broke as the horse show got underway and the remainder of the day was pleasant for the affair, sponsored by the Sterling Rodeo Association.

About 40 horses were entered in the horse show. Grand champion stallion was King Koy, an 18-month old double grandson of old King P-234, shown by Jess Koy of Eldorado, and his foreman, Bob Scurlock. It was the young stallion's first time to show. He is by King A and out of Hannae Princess.

Reserve champion stallion was 3-year-old Bee Play, owned by Billy Galbreath of Sonora. By Band Play and out of Bunny B., the stallion was earlier champion at Fort Stockton.

Grand champion mare was Golden Reed, a 3-year-old shown by Edwin Martin Jr. of Odessa—for the first time. Martin, a civil engineer, is a member of an old Odessa ranch family. The mare is by Trick Reed and out of Brown Duchess.

Reserve champion mare was exhibited by Wayne Smith, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Smith of Sterling City. She was 6-year-old Miss Julie, a Joe Davidson mare.

Bay Muggins Cox, owned by Bud Cox of Ozona, won a double victory in the performance classes. He was named first in both the reining horse and the roping horse class.

Wade Winston of Snyder was the judge of the horse show.

Plan Loaded With Luxury Aimed to Keep Costs Low

A house that comes as close to offering luxury living at low cost as any ever designed is shown in this plan by architect Rudolph A. Matern, of Jamaica, N.Y.

It is compact and can be built on a small lot, yet it has such features for graceful living as two complete lavatories in addition to a complete bathroom, two porches, a 28-foot living-dining area, fireplace, separate entrance foyer, breakfast nook, and combination den-bedroom.

Outside, the house has that "solid citizen" look that makes a home welcome in any neighborhood. To enhance this appearance Matern designed a low, hip-style roof with a wide overhang. The deep green blend of asphalt shingles specified by the architect helps maintain the long low look, yet gives the house the distinction of more exterior color.

Louver shutters of ponderosa pine flank windows and the entrance door. They add more outside color and help make the house seem bigger by accentuating the horizontal line. Painted in a color to harmonize with the roof, the shutters help unify the entire structure. These are stock pine shutters, available from building material dealers.

Comfort and convenience are stressed in the interior design. The large kitchen, for example is centered between the covered porch and a convenient lavatory that doubles as a "mud room" for children and pets.

Summer comfort has been provided for with a specification of thick mineral wool insulation in walls and ceiling. If the owners want central air conditioning, a 6-inch thickness of mineral wool would be installed in the ceiling, plus at least 3 inches in walls.

This extra insulation would, in effect, cost nothing, since the thick mineral wool makes it possible to install smaller cooling equipment. In addition, savings would be realized annually in the operation of both cooling and heating equipment.

Other features of the house include a walk-in closet that can double as a dressing room, a storage closet in the garage, and entrances to the basement from inside and outside.

Additional information, blueprints, and specifications can be obtained from Rudolph A. Matern, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica, L.I., N.Y. Refer to Plan No. 9418.

(Benge's Cosden Station)

The Sterling County Game Management Association barbecue and annual meeting held last Friday night was attended by about 65 members and visitors. Two regular visitors, however, were absent. Dorsey Hardeman, state senator for this district, and O. C. Fisher, congressman, were both absent. For a number of years they both have been regular visitors at the meetings. This year however Fisher was in Washington as Congress did not adjourn until Saturday night and Hardeman was in Boerne in a court case and did not return to San Angelo until Saturday, according to a letter I received Sunday. He expressed regret at missing the meeting.

Other visitors present were Ben Walker, safety patrolman from Abilene district of the State Highway Patrol and Glenn Crooks, game warden for this area who resides in Robert Lee. Walker put on the pistol shooting exhibition and did a very good job.

Officers elected for the coming year were Clinton Hodges, president; Dayton Barrett, vice-president; Neal J. Reed, treasurer. These three will appoint two other men to serve on the board of directors.

Another visitor present was E.J. Hughes from Brownwood. Hughes was formerly work unit conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service here but is now with the Brownwood unit.

Why are wool prices so low?

This question is uppermost in the minds of many wool producers, for prices received in March, 1958 were 21 percent lower than in Mar. 1957, and in June, 1958, were 32 percent lower than June, 1957.

John G. McHaney, economist with the Extension Service, says that the lower level of prices has been caused by a decrease in demand for woolen goods both in the U.S. and world. In January of this year the rate of mill used wool was 35 percent lower than a year ago and 45 percent below the decline which began in the summer of 1956.

All fiber use was down during early 1958 but the biggest decline was in the use of wool. Suit cuttings for men dropped 23% in 12 months; the biggest drop was in the suits containing more than 50% wool. Mill activity has dropped because of the uncertainty of prospective consumer demand and the economic activity decline.

What does the future hold? Increased production is likely since there is a three percent increase of sheep and lambs, and ranges are in good condition over most of the country. Prices will likely average less but the incentive program still exists. Mill activity could increase because they are liquidating their stocks. The seriousness of the world situation could change both demand and price.

Don't forget the Farmers' Gas Tax Refund claim. Your claim is due in the District Director of Internal Revenue office in Dallas by September 30. This is for all gas used on the farm or ranch between July 1, 1957 and June 30, 1958. If you have lost your blank or did not receive one from the Department of Internal Revenue, you can get one in the county agent's office. Also, there is a helpful pamphlet available to help you in filling out your claim.

Congratulations to the committee that worked so hard to raise the money for the fire department to equip the trucks to fight fires in Sterling City and on ranches around the county. Jeff Davis worked the ranch territory and Seth Bailey and Roland Lowe the town area. The committee raised just a few dollars short of $3000 for the fire fighting apparatus. The recent showers will green up the weeds and grass and probably give somewhat of a reprieve from the threat of fires for a short time. But the horse is in the stable and the door locked as far as the equipment goes.

Mrs. Leah Wyckoff left last Friday for San Francisco to meet her daughter (Paula Sue) and her family. They have been stationed in Japan for the past three years in the Air Forces, and to be stationed in Abilene soon.

Thick Insulation for Cooling May Cost Not a Red Cent

If you are planning to build a house with air conditioning, or to install a cooling system in an existing house, properly-installed insulation may not cost you a cent, says Andrew C. Lang, author of books about the home.

"It's a fact," says Lang, "that mineral wool insulation in thick enough amounts so efficiently keeps heat outside in summer that it's possible to install a smaller, lower-cost cooling system than you'd need without insulation or with just a little of it."

Often, Lang points out, the money you can save on a smaller central air conditioning system is at least as much as the complete cost of the insulation.

Adequate insulation also reduces the cost of operating the system. It can save as much as 40 percent annually on heating-fuel bills.

"The cash saving isn't the only value of insulation," Lang adds. "You get a bonus in comfort, since mineral wool keeps room temperatures at a more even level all year 'round and cuts chill drafts in winter."

Some "do's" and "don'ts" recommended by Lang for an air-conditioned house are:

Do insist on thick insulation. Recommendations for mineral wool are at least 6 inches in the ceiling, a minimum of 3 inches in walls, and 2 inches in floors over areas such as crawl spaces, attached garages, and porches.

Do insist on proper installation. A qualified contractor has the know-how and equipment to do the job right.

Do deal with a qualified air conditioning contractor who has a good reputation. His skill in installation is just as important as the brand of equipment he sells.

Don't forget the importance of shade and orientation of the house on its site. Trees, high fences, and awnings on the east and west sides of the house will help keep the house cool. If you're building a house, insist on wide overhangs on the south. Place the house on the lot so that broad sides face north and south, and large window areas are away from the late afternoon sun.

Workman carefully fits section of 6-inch mineral wool batt into place between two adjacent batts to give full, gap-free protection in the ceiling of this house being insulated for air conditioning. This goes along with the advice of home building authority Andrew C. Lang, who says: "Insist on proper installation of insulation to get full value from air conditioning."

Light Colors on Roof Mean More Comfort

Greater summer comfort is one reason for a rapid increase in popularity of white and light pastel shades of asphalt shingles.

These light colors reflect much of the sun's heat, causing it to bounce away instead of being absorbed into the house.

Asphalt shingles get their color from rock granules embedded in the surface of the asphalt impregnated felt. These tough granules protect the oils in the asphalt and provide a rugged surface that defies harsh weather throughout the year.

Miss Wool Pageant Set For August 29 in San Angelo's Coliseum

San Angelo—A lucky young lady from one of the United States' 13 western wool producing states will be honored with all the royalty the wool kingdom has to offer August 29 in San Angelo.

Finalists in the Miss Wool Pageant will be entertained for a week in San Angelo. Arriving August 25, they will begin a round of public appearances, parties and fittings for the $5,000 all-wool wardrobe to be modeled by them at the pageant and awarded the new wool queen.

Other gifts planned for "Miss Wool" include an overseas trip by air and use of a new automobile for the year. She will vacation two weeks in New York and travel extensively as official representative of the wool industry.

In addition to music and entertainment by Dennis Day, the coronation pageant will feature the 50 Golden Debs. Dallas Drill team; a 48 voice choir and full orchestra. Several professional specialty groups are also slated during the 2½-hour show.

ADVANCEMENT of survey work on the Colorado River and its tributaries was assured last week when approval was obtained of $50,000 to continue that project. Last year $15,000 was appropriated and the work begun.

This survey, which I have been urging for several years, includes a study of the flood records and economic factors related to floods, and covers all tributaries of the Colorado.

Under Federal law, no flood control projects are considered in Congress unless and until the Corps of Engineers makes such surveys and finds that a dam at a given site is economically feasible. The Corps of Engineers has reported that it will probably require an additional two years to complete the survey and economic studies.

Earlier this year a bill which I introduced was incorporated into the omnibus bill covering new authorizations for flood control and planning. This would allow the Engineers to proceed with a flood control study of the turbulent San Felipe which runs through Del Rio. The bill was also approved by the Senate and has been assigned by the President.

THE FARM BILL, approved in the closing days, will assure Texas cotton farmers more acreage next year and a choice on two programs. The same bill includes a three-year extension of the wool act. The latter is financed exclusively from revenue derived from tariff duties on imported wool.

The second session of the 85th Congress is winding up. It has made a fairly constructive record. This session has faced up to the demands of this space and missile age, and has legislated extensively on those subjects.

I have an idea the country would be better off if this Congress had adjourned at least two weeks earlier. There has been a lot of wild spending measures considered and some of them have been enacted. We were able to hold the line against a good many however.

THIS IS THE LAST of the weekly newsletters for this year. My thanks go to the newspapers and to all my friends. And best wishes to all of you for the rest of the year.

Air Conditioning Needs Insulation For Efficiency

Air conditioning, like heating, works more efficiently in a weather-tight house, says the Journal of Home-building, official publication of the National Association of Home Builders.

Walls, ceilings, and floors, the magazine points out, should be insulated in an air-conditioned house "at least to the same extent required for heating."

Current recommendations for mineral wool insulation in air-conditioned houses are a thickness of 6 inches in ceilings, at least 3 inches in walls, and 2 inches in floors except over basements.

The Journal, citing a study of central air conditioning for homes made at the University of Illinois, said it was found that a 2-ton cooling unit would be required for their research house when it was thickly insulated. The same house without insulation would need a 5- or 6-ton unit.

"By spending $240 on insulation," the magazine says, referring to the university study, "builders can save $700 to $900 on air conditioning equipment and can offer home buyers a reduction of up to 67 percent in operating costs."
