THE AMERICAN WAY

Bribing People With Their Own Money!

AROUND THE COUNTY

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

Great Plains Conservation Program eligible practices, cost share rates, and contracts will be explained at a meeting in the Sterling County courthouse next Tuesday evening, October 20, at 7:30 p. m. All ranch and farm operators in Sterling County are invited to attend and learn more about the program. Personnel of the various agricultural agencies in the county will be on the program to explain provisions of it and answer questions regarding the program.

Catalogs for two more spring stock shows have been received. This week, catalogs for the San Antonio show and the San Angelo show were received.

Dates for the San Antonio show are February 12 through 21, both dates inclusive. Rules for the show are the same as last year with only minor changes having been made. One of the changes made regards sale animals. Eleven of the major stock shows this year have joined today in an effort to halt the buying of prize fatstock at one show for the purpose of showing it at another show. This year all fat lambs, barrows and steers will have a hole the size of a dime punched in the ear if they sell through the auction sale. Thus, permanent marking will halt the buying of such stock for purpose of showing at a later show.

The San Angelo show dates have been set as March 9 through 13. Only major change in the San Angelo show is the dropping of the Junior Breeder-Owner Rambouillet show. Present plans are for the completion of a new sheep barn and judging arena in time for the San Angelo show. Construction is to be started in time for completion well before the 1960 show.

October 1 indications were for a 26 million pound pecan crop in Texas; this included 20.8 million pounds of natives and 5.2 million pounds of improved varieties. Texas is second only to Georgia in the production in the United States. Estimated Georgia production for this year is 37 million pounds.

The estimate for the Texas crop was made before the heavy rains of the October 1 through 4 period. Downpours and flooding on many of the rivers and creeks in the heart of the pecan producing area ruined much of the crop in those areas; in some areas in the hill country the entire crop was lost to the flood.

Summer and winter months are good times to control mesquite using kerosene or diesel oil. During the coming winter months when work is slack might be a good time to eradicate some of the mesquite which is using water that might otherwise be used to grow grass.

Recommendations call for the application of kerosene to mesquite during a dry time. Kerosene should be applied to tree at the ground line completely encircling the trunk. Large trees will require as much as a quart of kerosene to do a good job.

Another control method that can be used during the winter months is the trunk treatment or frill method using 2,4,5-T in oil. Use 1 pound of 2,4,5-T in 10 gallons of diesel or kerosene. Diesel is cheaper than kerosene as a carrier being oiler, gives better results. Large trees should be frilled with an ax or hatchet before spraying the trunk for about 18 inches above the ground line.

Wimodausis Club Has Federation Program Wednesday

The Wimodausis Club met October 14 in the community center clubroom for a program on federation. The club president, Miss Ethel Foster, presided.

Nine club members were present. Mrs. T. F. Foster and Mrs. Herbert Cope were hostesses and candy was served.

Mrs. Harvey Glass reminded members that October 15 was poetry day. Mrs. Roy Morgan gave the federation counselor report.

Each member of the club was urged to bring a gift for a small child to the next meeting. The gifts will be sent to Greece. Miss Foster gave $35 to help a girl in Greece with a month's college expenses. The Wimodausis Club will get credit for the gift.

Miss Foster, who had attended the State Board Meeting in Abilene, the District Board Meeting in Brady, the G.F.W.C. Board Meeting in Washington and the Asian Conference in Manila, gave reports of all the meetings. She told that in the State Board Meeting in Abilene that the board voted to divide the state into 16 districts instead of 8. This will make San Angelo the largest city in district 6, which will be made up of 21 counties and 56 clubs. Llano and Gillespie Counties were added to the 6th district. Mitchell, Nolan, Callahan, Taylor, Jones and Fisher Counties were placed in a newly formed district.

Mrs. Harvey Glass and Mrs. Roy Foster reported on the district meeting at Brady.

Mrs. Herbert Cope, a former Spanish teacher, is conducting a Spanish conversational course for club members.

From Behind The 8-Ball

Well, the State Fair is as big as ever and perhaps a bit bigger. It seems to get bigger each year.

We left Sterling City last Friday afternoon as soon as possible after school let out. We drove to Abilene and made a short stop to say hello to my mother and then took off for Fort Worth. There we spent the night with the big day ahead of us at the Fair.

We drove into the Fair grounds at 9:30 a.m. Saturday and parked the car close by the Fair Park auditorium. The fee for parking in the Fair grounds is $1 per car—and is well worth it. You can leave extra shoes, etc. for a quick change if your feet get tired.

We drove over on Highway 90 from the east edge of Ft. Worth and took the straight route to the Fair Grounds—not the route through town.

As I was parking the car—and locking it up, the kids disappeared and we next saw them taking off on the Monorail that begins its run down near the auditorium building.

We hadn't given the kids any instructions but they were to try and meet Danny Bailey in front of Big Tex at 10 a.m. so I met the kids there and laid out the days schedule. We met at noon for eating, at 2:15 for the auditorium show and at 7:30 to start back home. Between meetings the whole group would scatter like a bunch of quail—to see what they themselves wanted to see. This is the best way to see the fair with a large group. The children wanted to see things that the grownups cared nothing for and vice versa.

Congressman Fisher Talks To Lions Wednesday

Congressman O. C. Fisher talked on actions of the recent session of Congress at the Lions Club luncheon on Wednesday here.

Arthur Barlemann told of the scheduled turkey shoot that the club was sponsoring Sunday afternoon at the caliche pit 2 miles west of town.

Mrs. Mildred Emery was a guest at the luncheon. Fisher told the Lions that the Congress cut 1½ billion from the budget requests but "back-door" spending by the various federal agencies may obviate this savings.

He told of the tremendous national debt that now took $8½ billion dollars yearly to just pay the interest. The long-time Congressman touched on the steel strike. He said it would take years for the strikers to even break out even on the loss of wages even if they got everything they were striking for at this time—and he said that was unlikely.

Fisher was pretty sure that President Eisenhower would invoke the Taft-Hartley law to make the strikers work on the 80-day cooling off period. He explained the Taft-Hartley workings. He had been on the labor sub-committee that helped formulate the Taft-Hartley law.

Mr. Fisher told of the new labor law passed this year by Congress, really mostly to deal with abuses of high officials in labor unions. He said the first bills were very weak, but the Landrum-Griffin bill had some teeth in it.

Fisher said he personally thought that industry-wide strikes put too much power in the hands of a few men. He thought each company should bargain separately with its individual union members.

Hodges' Rambouillets Do Well at State Fair

L.F. and Clinton Hodges, local Rambouillet sheep breeders made a good showing with the sheep at the Pan American Livestock Exposition at the State Fair in Dallas this week.

Mr. Hodges had the reserve champion ewe, with Lamar Itz of Harper taking the top spot.

Fred also had the 4th place yearling ram, and the 5th and 6th place ram lambs. Clinton had the 7th and 8th place ram lambs.

In the pen of three ram lambs, Fred had the third place, and in the yearling ewe class he took third and 7th places.

Fred had the second place in the pen of 3 yearling ewes. In the ewe lamb class Fred dominated the class taking 1st, 2nd and 7th places. He also took first in the pen of 3 ewe lambs and 3rd in the exhibitors' Flock class.

Good Rains Here Tuesday

Good rains fell in Sterling Tuesday of this week. Especially were they good coming on the heels of the heavier rains of last week. Only .70 of an inch fell here in town Tuesday, but surrounding ranches received from an inch to two an done half. East, south and west had better falls than the city heading and all parts of the county received rains.

Roy Martin suffered a heart attack Monday noon of this week and was hospitalized in a serious condition. He has improved some and is not as critical as he was at first.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Foster returned home from a stay at their daughter's in Las Vegas, N. M. the first of this week.

It is planned to have classes for pistols, rifles and shotguns. Also some classes will likely be held for junior age groups, if enough persons want such, it was said.

Turkeys and hams will be given as prizes. The club members invite everyone out for a good time Sunday afternoon at the "turkey shoot."

Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Watkins of Melvin visited Mrs. Jack Reeves here Thursday.

It's a mighty comfortable feeling to have a cookie jar filled to the brim, ready to yield its toothsome contents to satisfy between-meals appetite or to add interest to a simple fruit dessert. And if they're these nut filled chocolate cookies with a snowy drift of confectioner's sugar atop each, you'll be proud, too, to serve them to guests with afternoon tea or coffee, or as a late-evening snack.

he and I went through the Museum of Natural History (it has a group of stuffed antelope from Sterling County), the aquarium, the Museum of Science and Health, the livestock barns and a Nikko exhibit (from Japan). I could tell he was chomping at the bit to get off on his own so we parted company.

The distaff side had a bum eye all patched up and she only saw half the fair—due to seeing with only one eye. We had seven in our party; two little neices and Evelyn's sister. That size crowd would not see much if they all stayed together. So the split ups were necessary. The kids took in what they most wanted and so did the older ones.

I had decided against tickets for the Texas—Oklahoma football game, because each time I go, Oklahoma wins. So I gave Texas a break this year and sho—enough, they beat Big Red.

I had press passes for the auditorium show, and they could have been downstairs near the orchestra pit, but due to the extras in our crowd, we all went to the balcony. The seats that had to be bought were cheaper up there and just as good—we thought.

The McGuire Sisters were the stars and were good. The girls had worked up a real presentation. The other acts in the show include Spanish ballet, Manhattan Rockettes, a comedy team of three and a dance act that was good.

The opening line was that they were sorry that all you people couldn't get seats for the football game, but that they'd try to make it up to us. And they did. At the half they announced the score at 13—12 in favor of Texas.

The ladies in the party ate dinner in a cafe in one of the exhibit buildings, but the kids and I bought boxed lunches of Youngblood's chicken and ate on the grass by the lagoon.

For supper I suggested hamburgers or sandwiches and that seemed plenty. Some eating or drinking had been going on all through our strolls around anyway.

I walked about ten or more miles, according to my feet (even in my comfortable everyday shoes) and the kids probably doubled that. I'd see Collin go by me now and then in a lope, trying not to overlook anything that the fair offered.

The danged midway attracts kids like a magnet. The rides, the gaming stands and the side shows are made to appeal to them it seems.

I watched the free act on the Magnolia outdoor high-wire stage that afternoon, but we were leaving as it came on that night at 7:30. The automobile building was full of new cars, both foreign and domestic. The crowd in there was terrific. The general exhibits buildings were crowded with people all time. The cotton bowl filled up that afternoon and the crowd was almost more than the grounds could handle. They are having record crowds this year.

There is a sameness to the fair year after year, and yet it always appeals. The kids enjoy it as I used to when I was a kid. It's always a bang to go again.

Each year we say, well, it just doesn't have anything to offer, so let's don't plan on going.

But generally we go. It gives us a chance to get out of town for weekend. We stop and see relatives along the way, and it is in a sense a part of growing up for the kids. And it's something they can look back on with fond memories as they grow older. I can still remember a lot of my earlier trips there.

An ever since I got out of school I've had a press pass and privileges—and that is a big help, folks.
