Farmers Can Exclude ACP Program Payments

Farmers investing in soil and water conservation now get additional tax incentives.

A recent announcement by Secretary of Agriculture John Block indicates that farmers receiving payments made for conservation practices approved under the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) after September 30, 1979, can exclude them, under certain conditions, from their gross income for federal income tax purposes.

"This will affect landowners who don't qualify for special tax treatment of soil and water conservation an ordinance in which a 9.003 percent increase for electricity was granted to Southwestern Public Service Company. This increase will be effective beginning July 1, 1982 and has been accepted by SPS. The original rate increase request by Southwestern asked for a Texas system-wide increase of $47 million, but after careful study by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission which served as a steering committee, an offer of a rate increase to SPS was given in the amount of $33.7 million. SPS overall rate increase originally asked was for 12.2 percent, rather than the 9.003 which they agreed to.

Bill McMorries stated that the rate increase in actuality was paying for the Talk Station construction.

Local builder, E. T. Ford met with City Council to discuss the passing of an ordinance which would approve the construction of a mobile home park on the northwest corner of the intersection of East Birch and Ithaca Streets in Muleshoe. Council found everything to be in order and granted the ordinance for the mobile home park.

Council members were reminded that work sessions on the budget will begin on Wednesday evening in council chambers.

The City of Muleshoe expected to begin spraying for mosquitoes early Wednesday morning, weather permitting. If not, spraying was to be done Thursday morning, or as soon as possible.

Week Quiet For Law Enforcement

Bailey County Sheriff's Department has had a relatively quiet week over the June 8 to June 15 period, except for incarceration of Muleshoe City Police suspects.

On June 11, City Police were called to the San Francisco Cafe, after a report of a disturbance there. Arrested were Edna Miller on a public intoxication charge and Cecil R. Bates, also charged with public intoxication. A vehicle belonging to one of the suspects was also impounded. The pair were transported to the Bailey County Jail after assistance was called in the form of a female police officer to help transport the reluctant female prisoner. Both parties paid a $75 bond each and were released.

Reports, Plans Occupy School Board Meeting

Two presentations were made to the Board of Trustees of the Muleshoe Independent School District in their regular meeting on June 14. Mrs. Elizabeth Watson made the presentation of the nomination of the Muleshoe School Board for outstanding school board recognition.

This nomination is due in Lubbock by June 30 and the board will be in competition with other boards for this recognition. The first level of competition will be within the regional service center area and then on to the state level. The second presentation was for the in-service plan for the 1982-83 school year. This plan was presented to the board and was approved.

Mrs. Watson also presented the annual update for the Five Year Priority Plan. It was noted that the school attained the stated goals in the five year plan. The report must be submitted annually and should reflect the way in which the Muleshoe Independent School District obtained the stated goals in the plan.

During the consideration of personnel, the resignation of Lucy Posadas, an aide at Mary DeShazo was accepted and the Board employed Tracy Ellis as a kindergarten teacher at Dillman Elementary. Faculty positions that remain open at the present time are a homemaking position in high school, a junior high coach, and an assistant girls basketball coach.

According to Williams, up to 20 percent credit can be allowed on building improvements to 40 year old

A total of eighteen convictions were filed in Municipal Court for the period from June 8 to June 15. Eight of these convictions were for speeding, two for bad checks and one each for the following offenses: driving in turning lane, no liability insurance, no driver's license, exhibition of acceleration, cutting across parking lot to avoid stop, running stop sign, expired sticker and expired license plates.

A total of 53 cases were filed in Municipal Court. While the majority of these cases were for the June 8 to June 15 period, a portion of them were overlapped from the previous week.

Seventeen cases were filed on speeding, five for exhibition of acceleration, seven for expired stickers, four for expired license plates, three for running stop signs, three for public intoxication, two for violation of city ordinance and one each for the following: no motor cycle license, driving without safety, failure to leave information at scene of accident, failure to yield right of way, cutting across parking lot to avoid stop, defective headlights, running red light, driving without headlights, driving in turning lane, violation of driver's license restrictions, disorderly conduct and one for bad checks.

In Justice Court the past week, a total of thirty-five cases were filed. Fifteen of these cases were for speeding violations, four for non valid MVI's, four for operating an unregistered vehicle and one each for the following: expired driver's license, failure to display driver's license, operating a motor vehicle without driver's license, expired license plates, no registration in vehicle, failure to display lease acknowledgement, failure to display lease signs, failure to display hazardous materials placards, driving on wrong side of road, defective stop lamps, no liability insurance and over allowed gross weight.

★★★ Additional Penalty, Interest On Bills

Beginning July 1, taxpayers in the Bailey County Appraisal District who have not paid their 1981 taxes will find an "additional" penalty and interest of 15 percent added on to current penalties and interest charges on unpaid 1981 taxes.

This additional 15 percent was provided for in House Bill 30, which was enacted in the 67th Legislature's revision of the State Property Tax Code by laws amending Sections 33-01, 3307 and 3348A.

This additional penalty and interest of 15 percent will be used to pay attorney fees in the tax collection process. In some cases where an attorney is not hired, however, the 15 percent will be used to defray expenses incurred in handling these delinquent statements for the various entities in the Bailey County Appraisal District. The Bailey County Appraisal District is made up of five entities, being the Three Way Independent School District, the City of Muleshoe, The Muleshoe Independent School District, Bailey County and High Plains Underground Water Conservation District #1.

"For the first time, property owners who pay their due taxes at a reasonable time will not be 'footing the bill' for delinquent taxpayers," says Dale Jones, Chief Appraiser for the Bailey County Appraisal District. The additional 15 percent P&I will be charged only to delinquent taxpayers, not up-to-date ones.

"The law is intended to penalize the delinquent, rather than the prompt taxpayers," Jones elaborated. "One might say that it (the additional penalty) is used as a tool to obtain or retain the attention of a delinquent taxpayer, because non payment of taxes is a serious business," Jones stated.

A current year's taxes become delinquent, actually on February 1, and penalties and interest begin accruing on those unpaid taxes at that time at the following rates: In February, penalties and interest would be seven percent; in March, nine percent; in April 11 percent; in May 13 percent; in June 15 percent and in July 18 percent. Then, beginning July 1, an additional 15 percent of total tax, interest and penalties is added on to the delinquent bill. "Thus, a taxpayer's delinquent bill can spiral quickly. Both penalties and interest have been increased to compete with interest rates and inflation rates," said the Chief Appraiser.

According to Jones, the District can work about five months in efforts to collect these delinquent taxes without the incurring of the additional penalty of 15 percent. After that length of time, it becomes feasible to handle the non pay's on a different tack.

Advice from Chief Appraiser Jones to taxpayers in the Bailey County Appraisal District would be "If you have not yet paid your 1981 taxes, you can pay them between now and July 1 without incurring the additional 15 percent in penalties and interest; if not paid by then, the extra P&I will become automatic."

Commissioners Give Nod For New Power Generator

Bailey County Commissioners Court gave the 'go-ahead' Tuesday to a request by local civil defense coordinator, Cleve Bland, for a new auxiliary power generator to be installed at the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center. The request in part, stemmed from the failure of the old generator during the storms that swept Bailey County last Thursday evening. Several hundred people took shelter in the Law Enforcement Center during the storms; and, after local electricity was interrupted, officials attempted to start the auxiliary generator, with it failing to start. A sheriff's deputy stated that the old generator was an Army surplus one, which had just about seen the end of its usefulness. Parts to repair the older generator have become increasingly hard to find.

Other than providing the means for Civil Defense communications, the County's auxiliary generator is maintained for the jail and law enforcement center's power. In order to stay eligible for the jail certification standards, this standby power must be made available.

The new 50-kilowatt generator will be purchased at a total cost of $16,250 and will be installed in the Law Enforcement Center. Bland also made a request for a two way radio for the civil defense vehicle. Commissioners okayed the purchase of a General Electric four channel radio at an installation cost of $1225 and specified that it be installed in the Bland vehicle for Civil defense use purposes.

Sylvia Clark, Director of Economic Development with SPAG met with the Commissioners Court in regard to a housing finance corporation. The Court accepted a resolution from SPAG and agreed to participate in the South Plains Housing Finance Corporation.

LINGERING SNOW--Last Thursday's hail storm in the Bovina-Oklahoma Lane communities left piles of hailstones still visible past mid-day the following day. Farmers and residents of the area were severely hit by the hail that was estimated by some to have lasted two hours. This photo was taken at the Oklahoma Lane Community Center. Broken windows also were visible which were a result of the heavy hail and wind.

NEW FIVE AREA PHONE BUILDING--Construction is nearing completion on the new office building for the Five Area Telephone Cooperative, Inc. The building is located near the Bailey County Coliseum and is expected to be occupied in the near future as final touches are added.

Roy Clark Returning To South Plains Fair

Roy Clark, co-star of television's long-running "Hee Haw," will be returning to the Panhandle South Plains Fair here this year after an absence of 10 years.

Clark will be featured on stage in Fair Park Coliseum at 5:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Oct. 2, the final day of the eight-day run, according to general manager Steve L. Lewis.

He'll be sharing the stage with Rodney Lay and "The Wild West," Fanci and Jimmy Henley, 16-year-old former national banjo champion from Hobbs, N. M.

Clark, who first started playing a cigar box with a ukelele neck on it when he was a child, has been named entertainer of the year by both the Country Music Association and the Academy of Country Music.

The first country music artist inducted into the Las Vegas Entertainers Hall of Fame, he is an accomplished guitarist, singer and comedian.

At 18, Clark was offered a tryout with the then St. Louis Browns, but had to decline because he couldn't afford to pay his own fare to training camp. However, he is still an avid baseball fan and is a co-owner of the Tulsa Drillers, a minor league team.

Clark has numerous television credits in addition to "Hee Haw," including stints on foreign shows in the Bahamas, Great Britain, France and the Soviet Union.

He also has made personal appearances in England, Belgium, Russia, the Bahamas and Switzerland.

One of the first country music stars to sell out shows at Carnegie Hall and Madison Square Garden, Clark pilots a nine-seat 1979 model Mitsubishi propjet to his personal appearances. He also owns a Stearman biplane and a Piper Tri-Pace.

Henley, who has played in Lubbock before, was the National Bluegrass Banjo Champion in Hugo, Okla., in 1972 at the age of 7.

Two years later, he entered the World Banjo Championship stakes in Memphis, Tenn., and after eliminating 59 professional and amateur players, was crowned the winner. He became the youngest champion in history. He also plays guitar, mandolin and ukelele.

He also makes frequent appearances on "Hee Haw" along with his father, James, a former high school teacher. The Henleys currently reside in Broken Bow, Okla.

It is the fifth of seven stage shows to be announced for the 65th annual exposition.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor: Being a Congressman isn't easy.

For example, how do you explain to the voters back home that you voted for a $19,000 tax break for yourself without knowing about it?

Sombody around midnight—Congressman claim they don't know who it was—slipped a rider on a bill designed to aid coal miners with black lung disease. The aid bill passed overwhelmingly, but next morning Congressmen discovered they'd passed the rider too, giving them $19,000 apiece in tax deductions. It was like a dream come true. That created the soul-searching problem of explaining their carelessness to the voters back home, few of whom ever have the opportunity of being so careless.

But that's just half the problem a Congressman faces. The other half is: Should I take the tax break?

Here I am, a Congressman tells himself, the beneficiary of a bill I'm opposed to, didn't know I was voting for, but $19,000 is $19,000, even in these inflationary times. Should I take it?

With a problem like that, no wonder Congress can't take time to pass a budget. First things first.

Now as to how many Congressmen will take the money, how many will refuse...that's a matter hard to get at. Some, who must have had at least one eye open when the bill was passed, are taking only two-thirds of the money, thus leaving one-third of yourself intact. Others are taking all of it, betting voters will forget about it before the next election.

Some are refusing all of it, although there's a loophole available if they want to use it: they can turn it down on this year's income tax report, then next year amend that report and take it retroactively. Others won't say whether they're taking the money or not, saying a tax return is confidential and is un-American to be asking a Congressman such an impertinent question.

You may think I'm poking fun at Congress, but look at it this way. We've got to ease the cruel affects of inflation. Right? And we've got to start somewhere. Right? So, if you're a Congressman, why not start with yourself?

Yours Faithfully,
/s/ J.A.

MR. AND MRS. KELLY WAYNE GAZAWAY
[nee Debra Ann Stevens]

Miss Stevens, Gazaway United In Marriage

Miss Debra Ann Stevens of Muleshoe and Kelly Wayne Gazaway of Chanute, Kansas were united in marriage on Saturday, May 22 in the Joseph A. Hill Chapel on the West Texas State University Campus in Canyon. Jack D. Young, Judge of the 287th judicial district, performed the double ring ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens of Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Gazaway of Chanute, Kansas.

The couple stood between two tiered candelabras decorated with lemon leaves as they recited their vows, facing the guests. Baskets of silk flowers in spring colors, fashioned by the bride, flanked the candelabras.

Vocal selections were provided by Ken Foster and Jenine Foster, both of Muleshoe. They were accompanied by Miss Tina Landers on the piano. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal floor length wedding gown of sheerganza and re-embroidered Chantilly lace over bridal taffeta designed with Queen Anne neckline, empire waist, long bishop sleeves and full skirt.

Inserts of the lace, enhanced with tiny seed pearls and sequins, complemented the neckline, bodice, sleeves and skirt, and the full back of the gown ended in a sweeping Chapel length train. Her veil of imported illusion, with border of matching lace, fell from a lace coif. The bride carried a cascading bridal bouquet of white silk roses, and baby's breath, in spring colors.

The bride carried out the traditions by wearing an antique necklace, belonging to her maternal grandmother as something old, something new was her bridal gown, something borrowed was her bridal veil, which belonged to her sister in law, Mrs. David Stevens of Canyon. The traditions were completed with the blue garter and pennies minted in the year of their births, which she wore in her shoes.

Upon entering the Chapel, the bride presented her mother a long stemmed white rose and presented the groom's mother a matching rose as the couple left.

Mrs. Kanetha Foster of Muleshoe served as matron of honor, other attendants were Ginger Gazaway, sister of the groom of Chanute, Kansas and Brenda Stevens, sister of the bride of Muleshoe.

by Annette Minyard of Canyon, as they entered the Chapel foyer.

Gary Gazaway, brother of the groom, of Woodville, served as best man. The groomsmen were David Carey, nephew of the groom, of Caney, Kansas and Randall Stevens, brother of the bride, of Muleshoe.

Ushers were James Stevens, cousin of the bride, of Muleshoe and Danny Daniels of Caney, Kansas.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in Cousins Hall on the West Texas State University campus. Mrs. Pam Atwood and Dana Brewer, both of Muleshoe served at the reception table.

Following a wedding trip to Dallas the couple will be making their home in Canyon where the groom will work on his graduate degree in speech and the bride will complete her degree in speech pathology.

On the morning of the wedding, the groom's parents honored the couple with a luncheon at the Railroad Crossing Restaurant in Canyon.

Remember, you can enjoy reading along with all other Summer Activities!

FACTS & FIGURES

Very few motorcycle accidents happen from the rear. Nearly two-thirds of them occur right in front of the rider. And, another 32 percent of the accidents involve the rider being hit from the side. Only seven percent of the accidents studied involved a rider being hit from behind.

The Motorcycle Safety Foundation warns that strong gusty winds can be a hazard for motorcyclists. A rider can actually be moved across a whole lane of traffic if not prepared to handle the sudden wind. Motorists should be aware of this fact when they are crossing stretches of exposed roadway along with motorcyclists.

A second feature of the year's Conference will be the opportunity for singles to select two seminars from a total of 20 designed to meet a special interest or need. Topics for these seminars vary from self-help experiences, such as stress reduction exercises and learning assertiveness, to financial helps and developing new creative interests. The Conference this year is sponsored by BREAK-THRU, The First United Methodist Church, and The First Christian Church. purposes as depreciation or according to the new accelerated cost recovery system. To take soil and water conservation expenses as current deductions, the taxpayer must cultivate, operate or manage a farm for profit, either as an owner or tenant notes Hayenga. For an owner receiving farm rental, the rent must be based on farm production.

"Someone receiving cash rent not based on production does not qualify unless he participates materially in the farm's operation or management," says the economist.

Also, the total deduction of capital expenditures for soil and water conservation in any tax year is limited to 25 percent of the gross income for farming during that year.

In the past ACP payments received as incentive for soil and water conservation practices were included in income but were offset by the allowable deductions for these expenditures up to the 25 percent limitation, if the farmer qualified.

"Now, landowners need to include only those payments that are for expenses they can deduct in the current tax year," Hayenga explains.

Farmers receiving ACP payments for expenses exceeding 25 percent of their gross farm income can now exclude them from their income.

Also, those individuals who don't qualify as farmers and are not allowed to report these expenses as current deductions can exclude ACP payments from their income.

However, before such payments can be excluded, certain other conditions must be met, says the economist. For example, the IRS must find that the payments do not substantially increase annual income from the property involved. And no deduction, depreciation or investment credit may be claimed for any expenditure made with excluded ACP payments.

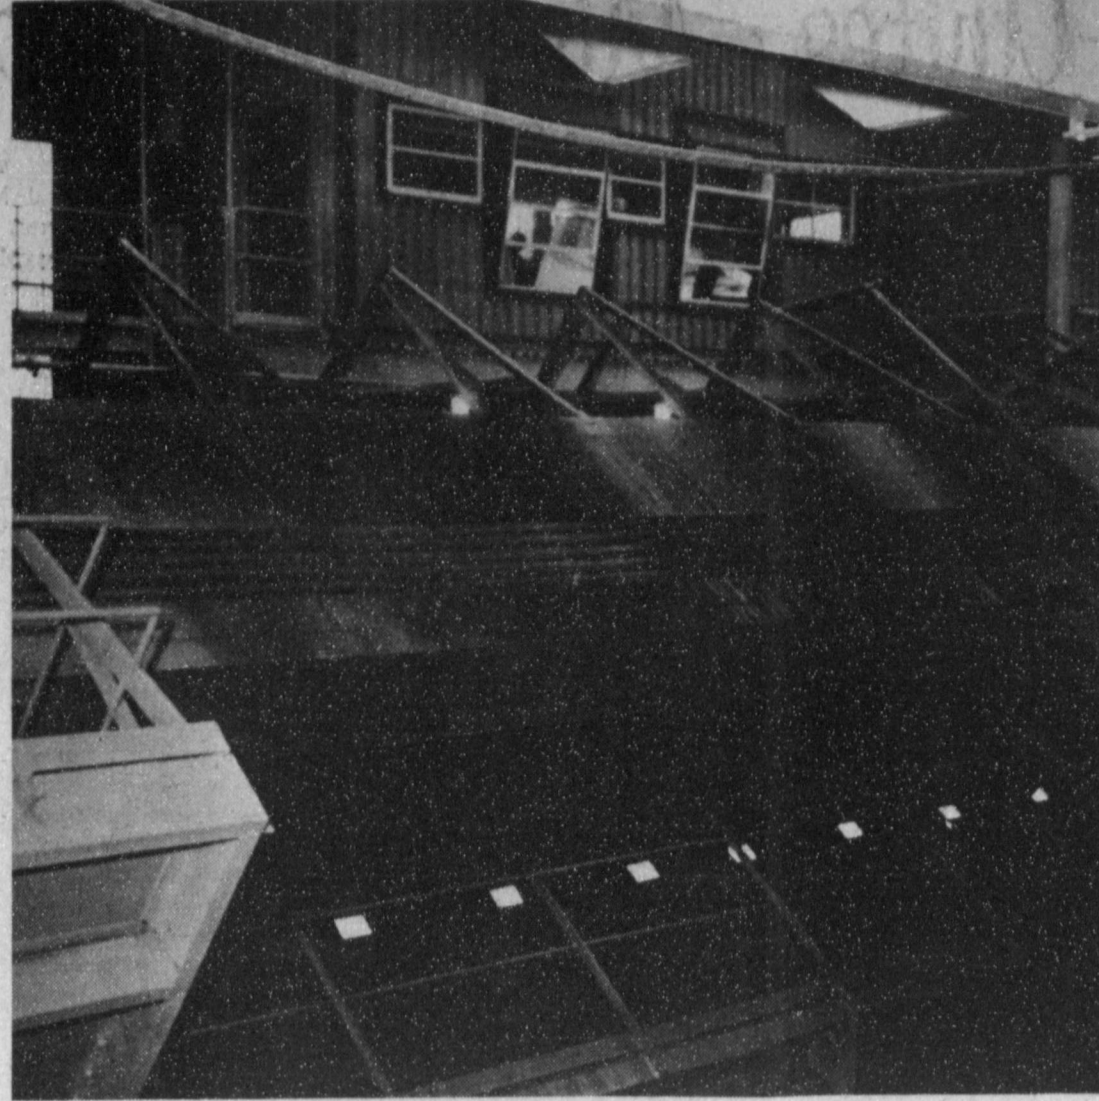

"A landowner who disposes of property that was acquired, improved or otherwise modified with money excluded from income under these rules must treat all or part of any gain from the disposition as ordinary income," adds Hayenga.

The decision to exclude all or part of any ACP payments from gross income must be made no later than the tax filing date including extensions.

Since these tax regulations are rather complex, Hayenga advises farmers and landowners to seek advice from a tax consultant.

Bids were opened for the construction of the restroom facilities at the football field and for remodeling of a classroom for office space. No action was taken on these bids.

School bus routes for the 1982-83 school year were approved.

The superintendent's report of school activities included the awarding of certificates to three school board members who attended a leadership conference in Austin. Members were Gordon Wilson, R. D. registrations as of March 31, 1982.

At the national level, there is a 93 percent compliance with registration for all age groups - men born in 1960, 61, 62, 63, and the first three months of 1964.

Montana leads the nation with a compliance rate of 97.5 percent. At the median level are states like Texas and Indiana both at 91 percent. California has the lowest compliance rate in the nation at 83.4 percent. Other examples - New York 86 percent, Ohio, 95 percent, Illinois, 88 percent and Florida, 94 percent.

By law, young men are required to register with Selective Service as they reach their 18th birthday - either 30 days before or after it. The registration requirement applies to all men born in 1960 or later years. Failure to register is a felony, carrying a maximum penalty of $10,000 and/or five years in prison.

Later this month, Selective Service will cross-reference the computer tapes containing the names of men who have registered against Social Security files to identify those who have not registered. Those failing to register will be reported to the Justice Department for possible prosecution.

Know, Understand Colic In Horses

One of the biggest problems facing horse producers is colic, and understanding the disease and what conditions to look for can aid in its treatment and prevention.

Colic was a major item of discussion at the recent Horse Short Course at Texas A&M University.

"Colic is abdominal pain or pain within the body, and true colic is due to conditions arising in the stomach or intestines," explained Dr. Leon Scrutchfield, associate professor in large animal medicine and surgery in Texas A&M's College of Veterinary Medicine.

He identified three types of colic as spasmodic, flatulent and obstructive.

Spasmodic colic is due to spastic contractions of the intestinal muscles. Flatulent (gas or wind) colic is from gas tension of the gastrointestinal tract. And obstructive colic results from impaction of the small intestine or intestinal tract, said the veterinarian.

"Equine colic is actually a very complex subject which can involve any portion of the gastrointestinal tract from the stomach to the anus with a multitude of conditions," Scrutchfield noted.

As long as the peristaltic waves and contractions of the intestinal tract move along in a controlled and even manner, colic won't occur, he said. Nearly any colic is accompanied by alternations in intestinal motility.

"Internal parasitism plays an important role in the development of gastrointestinal disturbances leading to colic, as do dietary mismanagement and feeding practices," Scrutchfield said. "Dental problems that cause improper chewing of food also cause colic."

Scrutchfield said that knowing what causes colic is not always enough.

"Sometimes colic, even fatal colic, occurs in horses that appear to be free of internal parasitism and are on an excellent dietary and feeding program," Scrutchfield explained.

Good feed management includes feeding horses some roughage and only top quality feed, he said.

"Horses should be fed according to the amount of work they do and by their weight to insure they are not over-fed," Scrutchfield emphasized. "Also, be sure the horse has adequate exercise and plenty of clean, fresh water."

Area Students Make Dean's Honor Roll

More than 2,200 students at Texas Tech University qualified for the deans' honor rolls in the university's six colleges during the 1982 spring semester.

Students making the honor roll included the following from Muleshoe: Randall O. Burrows; Donald G. Killough; Christine Isaac, Mark E. Northcutt, Wendy G. Stancell, Richard L. Sudduth, and Tommy L. Wheeler. Students from Enochs included Maria L. Snitker, Route 1.

To qualify for a dean's honor roll, a student must have a grade point average of 3.5 or more on a 4.0 scale and must have taken 12 hours or more of classes.

Texas Tech has an enrollment of almost 23,000 students in six colleges: Agricultural Sciences, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Engineering and Home Economics.

AG WEATHER ADVISORY

Skies have cleared and temperatures have warmed. For the week, maximum and minimum temperatures were approximately 1-2 degrees above normal.

As skies clear, temperatures warm, and leaf area begins to increase, cotton consumptive use will begin to go up drastically. For the past week, consumptive use in dryland cotton has averaged less than 0.1 inch per day and slightly above 0.1 inch per day for irrigated corn.

At Muleshoe the heat unit accumulation to date is 213 and the normal is 147.

In the next three weeks at Muleshoe there is an 18, 62, 80 percent chance of getting three, one, or 0.4 inches or more of precipitation, respectively. The mean for three weeks is 1.8 inches and the maximum is 8.7 inches.

Doubling Ceremony Unites Miss May, Carter

Miss Marilyn Merle May became the bride of Scott Anthony Carter on Saturday, June 5, at 7 p.m. in the First United Church of Sudan. Rev. Kerry Hurst officiated the double ring ceremony.

The front of the church was centered with a brass rainbow candelabra, entwined with yellow silk roses flanked with two brass heart candelabras also decorated with yellow silk roses. The altar rail was decorated with votive candles and greenery. Yellow satin ribbons marked the pews.

Dyanne Humphreys provided organ music as the guests arrived. Tatia Newsom, accompanied by Laura Powell on the flute, and Sandra Nix on the piano, sang "If" and "The Rose."

lance lace adorned the train creating a scalloped effect. Venise lace motifs were sprinkled throughout the train.

To complete her ensemble, the bride chose a white silk illusion veil which was caught to a Venise lace Juliet capulet. The double layered Cathedral length veil was edged in Venise lace forget-me-nots. Clusters of forget-me-nots were sprinkled thruout the bottom portion of the veiling. She carried a cascading bouquet of white silk roses, lilies, baby's breath, and stephanotis.

In her shoes, the bride wore pennies minted in the years of their births. As something old, the bride wore the wedding ring of her maternal great grandmother. For something new, she carried a lace covered Bible, a gift from her parents. A strand of pearls given to the bride's mother on her wedding day by the bride's father, was worn for something borrowed. Something blue was her garter.

Serving as maid of honor was Melissa McFadden of Olton. Bridesmaids were Michelle Ballew, Mary May a cousin of the bride, and Gloria Martinez, all of Sudan.

The attendants wore full length pastel yellow dresses of chiffon over taffeta. A draped bodice and peplum of chiffon was caught at the waist with yellow and blue satin streamers.

Anissa Wright, niece of the groom, served as flower girl. She wore a formal length yellow chiffon dress and carried a white basket of rose petals.

Serving as best man was Eddie McCurry. Grooms-men were Ronnie Milligan, Jeff Birkelbach and Stan Jackson, all of Littlefield. They wore silver tuxedos with ascot ties. The groom wore a white tuxedo.

Ryan Netherland of Sudan, served as ring bearer. He wore a silver tuxedo identical to the groomsman and carried a white satin and lace pillow made by the bride's grandmother.

Ushers were Mike May, brother of the bride and Raegan May, cousin of the bride. Guests were registered by Bernadette May, cousin of the bride. The registration table was covered with a cloth of white lace and accented with a globed candle surrounded by an arrangement of silk flowers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. May wore a formal length gown of peach chiffon over taffeta. The groom's mother wore a long dress of mint green chiffon, crepe and Belgium lace.

After the vows, Marlana Rothen of Lubbock, cousin of the bride, accompanied by the organist, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

As the couple lit the unity candle, Tatia Newsom, accompanied by the flute and piano, sang "You Light Up My Life."

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth. The cake was three-tiered and supported above a fountain of blue water. It was decorated in white and adorned with yellow roses. The centerpiece for the table was a white nine candle votive candelabra decorated with yellow silk roses. Lisa Bishop and Lee Anne Ellison served the guests. Anissa Wright passed out the rice bags.

Among the out of town guests attending were Mrs. Nan Preston of Farwell, Mr. and Mrs. Don Preston and Brent, Miss Melita May, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Rothen, Kenrick and Miles, Mrs. Maybelle Latimer and

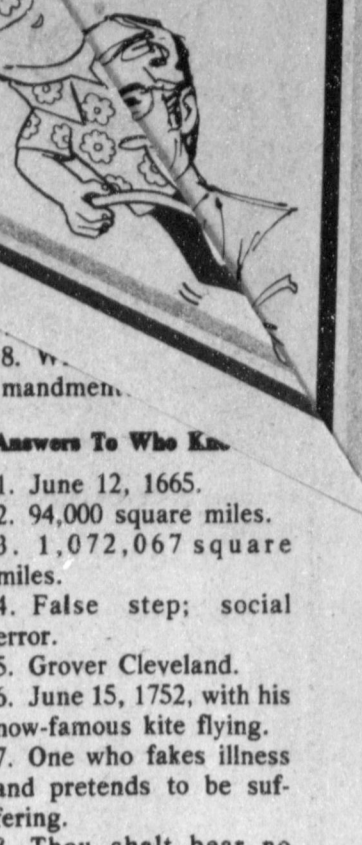

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Latimer, all of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Marlos May and Jason of Dimmitt; Mr. and Mrs. Brian May of San Angelo; Mrs. Cy Hall of Levelland; James F. Carter of College Station; Mr. and Mrs. Don Carter and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Carter, all of Amherst; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bennett and children of McKinney; Mike Carter, Les Lichte, Heard, Mrs. ... all of Littlefield.

The evening before the wedding, the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Carter, hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Sagebrush Inn in Littlefield.

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M. and El Paso, the couple will reside in Littlefield. The groom is a farmer in the Littlefield area and the bride is a student at Texas Tech University.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a poly organza gown designed by Mi Deb of New York. The moulded bodice featured a Queen Anne neckline defined in silk Venise lace and pearl beading. The back was enhanced by a sheer Point'd esprit accented by Venise lace motifs. A single row of silk Venise lace encircled the waistline. The Bishop sleeves were gathered to a wide cuff, which was edged in a single row of Venise lace.

The empire waistline fell to a chiffon skirt which was accented by a pick-up front outlined in Venise lace trim. A single row of Ve-corn, the specialist says.

For example, boil green beans 10 minutes and creamed corn 15 minutes.

Foods most often involved in botulism poisoning (often called food poisoning) are corn, spinach, green beans, peppers and asparagus, she notes.

Heat, during boiling will destroy the clostridium botulism toxin which may have formed if canning failed, Sweeten notes.

Vegetables should be able to withstand this heat treatment without the loss of quality, she adds.

As of today, the USDA doesn't recommend that home-canned vegetables be placed in the microwave for safety precautions as explained above, according to Milton Baldauf, Home Economics and Human Nutrition Unit, Extension Service Washington, D. C./

It is difficult to know when the entire mass of the product has reached its boiling point in the microwave oven in order to begin timing.

Amount and density of food, type, size and shape of container used, whether the container absorbs microwaves or not and the location of cold spots in the oven will all be variables when trying to determine timing of the microwave, Sweeten notes.

Such variables make it impossible to recommend a time period to cook vegetables and destroy any toxins present, the specialist points out.

Hence, you should avoid heating your home-canned foods by this unproven method, Sweeten encourages.

Proper Storing Important For Home Canned Foods

The tasty flavor of "Mom's" home-canned fruits and vegetables could be spoiled by improper storing and preparation techniques, warns Mary K. Sweeten, a food and nutrition specialist.

Recommended storage time for home-canned vegetables is up to one year in a cool, dry cupboard, she says.

Areas with extreme heat such as garages or attics should be avoided, the specialist adds.

Sweeten is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

Never taste or eat canned foods that have evidence of spoilage -- it may be your last meal, Sweeten warns.

Prior to using canned foods, check lids to see that they are concave and that no bulges are present, she suggests.

In addition, if any off odors or colors are evident, throw the product out, the specialist continues.

Never serve spoiled products to your pets either, as it could be just as dangerous to them as yourself, Sweeten warns.

As an extra safety precaution, the USDA recommends that all home-canned low-acid products (vegetables except tomatoes) be boiled for 10-15 minutes over an electric or gas stove-top burner before serving, she points out.

A product such as green beans containing liquid wouldn't need to boil as long as a thicker food like cream style or creamed

Paying Off Loan Early May Not Save Much

Before you sign an installment loan contract -- or decide to pay off such a loan early to save most of the finance charges (interest), understand the contract fully, advises Beverly Rhoades, a consumer information specialist.

Even if you're told the loan can be "paid in full" at any time without prepayment penalty, the interest dollars you save with an early payoff can amount to fewer than you might think she says.

Rhoades is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

READ CONTRACT

Most importantly read the entire contract carefully.

It may spell out exactly the amount of finance charges (interest) will be refunded in case of early loan pay off.

On the other hand, your contract may contain terminology you don't understand. If this is the case, ask your loan officer for an explanation. It he or she cannot adequately explain the words or phrases, get a satisfactory explanation before you sign the agreement.

UNDERSTAND THE 'RULE OF 78'

Look for words such as "the sum of the periodic balances."

If your contract says this is the method your refund will be figured by, it means the refund will be computed by a formula commonly referred to as the "Rule of 78" Rhoades says.

This formula, provided in

Kim Wilson & Lonnie Adrian At Adrian Photography

'Quality' is the key word for Adrian Photography. Lonnie Adrian, owner-operator of the photography studio in Muleshoe, is a native of Dodd, a small community northwest of Earth, but didn't get interested in photography until he became a U. S. Navy photographer.

While he was in the Navy, Adrian was a photographer, and gained what has become a lifetime career. In the Navy, he attended a Basic Photography course, as well as a camera repair course.

Leaving the Navy after four years, he attended South Plains College and then West Texas State University, where he 'took all the photography classes they offered.' Then he worked for a photographer in Plainview for three and a half years before purchasing the local photography studio and moving his color lab from Earth to Muleshoe.

As he prepared for his career, he attended a Professional Photographers Association school at the PPA College in Winona, Indiana, and completed three classes. His wife, Hellen, also completed one class in Photographic Art.

On a continuing basis, Adrian attends seminars and workshops, in order to keep current on the latest techniques in photography.

He says he really has no favorite subjects for photography, enjoying portraits, outdoor and animal photography.

In January, 1981, he and his wife, Hellen, moved to Muleshoe to operate Adrian Photography, located at 218 West Second St. Currently he does school pictures for both the Junior High and High School and also does the Springlake-Earth school pictures. He does some oil well and oil rig pictures, and does photography for a geophysicist.

His awards have included Best Print of Show in both 1977 and 1978, and Best Print of the Year for the South Plains Professional Photographers for 1977 and 1978. He is a member of the South Plains Professional Photographers, the Texas Professional Photographers Association, a Registered Professional Photographer in Texas, a member of the Southwest Professional Photographers Association and of the Professional Photographers of America.

Adrian said his long range aim is to continue with the quality prints he is turning out and to enlarge his studio. He and his wife, Hellen, are joined in the local operation by Kim Wilson and Joanie Branscum.

Nell Stanley At Baker Furniture

Baker Furniture, who went into operation in Plainview 17 years ago, started branching out through the area and arrived in Muleshoe six months ago. Locating at 106 E. Avenue B, the store owners said they offer 'beautiful, quality furniture at an affordable price.'

Maintaining that everyone can afford nice furniture, the store features living room, den, dining room and bedroom furniture, along with tables and lamps.

Although they handle no appliances, one of the operators, Joe Baker, said they offer instant credit, with a credit limit of $1500, total financing, with only a 10 percent add on for interest, free delivery and a one year guarantee on anything they sell off the floor.

The store in Muleshoe is open five days a week from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., although store manager Nell Stanley said she would stay at the store until 7 p.m. if anyone wanted to come in after working hours to look at furniture. She said she is available at the store on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, and all day on Saturday. For appointments to see furniture in the evening, she can be called at 272-4000.

Mrs. Stanley recently became manager of the store, after the former store manager moved from Muleshoe with her husband and family. Mrs. Stanley's husband is the supervisor of Sherley-Anderson Grain Co. at Lazbuddie.

Joe Baker said the fact that Baker Furniture Company buys for five stores helps them make purchases that can keep prices lower for the buyer and commented, "Our aim is to help everybody be able to have nice furniture at a price anyone can afford."

VA Home Loan Program Takes On New Look

The Veterans Administration's home-loan guarantee program is taking on a new look with graduated payment mortgages and buy downs.

In recognition of today's very tight and expensive mortgage money market, VA has introduced two programs to help veterans qualify for home ownership.

First is the graduated payment mortgage loan program. The new plan enables a veteran to gradually increase monthly payments over the initial five year period of the loan. It is designed to help those who are able to make a substantial down payment but who initially are unable to make the normally high monthly payment on such a loan.

The second program permits sellers to help the veteran home purchaser through interest buy downs. For example, the willing seller/builder may pay a lump sum amount into an escrow account. Payments from that account go to the holder of the mortgage each month for a period from three to five years. Those payments supplement the payments by the veteran and enable the veteran to purchase a home he or she otherwise couldn't afford.

Veterans Q & A

Q-- I have applied for a GI home loan at every bank in town and have been turned down. I thought the Veterans Administration guaranteed every veteran a loan.

A-- The guaranteed home loan is a guarantee by the VA to the lender that if you default on your loan the VA will pay the lender 60 percent of the loan, not to exceed $27,500. The veteran, however, must be a good credit risk and be reasonably able to repay the loan.

Q-- I have been receiving VA widow's pension since my husband died two years ago. I have recently become eligible for Social Security. Will that affect my widow's pension?

A-- Yes. The amount of your widow's pension is determined by all your other income, including Social Security. You should report any change in income to the VA immediately to avoid an overpayment. It is advisable to furnish the VA a copy of the letter awarding you Social Security so your benefits can be adjusted properly.

Q-- I am a World War II veteran and am now 65 years of age. Do I automatically qualify for a VA pension?

A-- No. You meet the age and wartime service requirements. However, you must also meet the income and net worth requirements.

States To Keep A Percent Of Overpayments

States will now be able to keep 25 percent of the money they recover from people who've received too many food stamps, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Mary C. Jarratt said today.

"This is designed to encourage states to recover money that's been overissued because of mistakes recipients make when filing for food stamps," Jarratt said.

It is estimated by the Department that this change, which was authorized by the Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1981, allows states to keep about $1 million this fiscal year because of their efforts to collect overpayments made because of these mistakes, which are termed "non-fraud recipient errors."

Since January 1980, states have had a similar financial incentive to recover money overissued to food stamp clients who committed fraud against the program. States already are keeping 50 percent of the money they recover from food stamp recipients who have received food stamps fraudulently.

Disease-causing Bacteria Present On "Harmless" Sugar Ants

By Robert L. Hancy
JAES Science Writer

The tiny sugar ant, thought by many to be harmless because it's so small and doesn't bite or sting, may be a carrier of highly-infectious diseases, according to scientists at Texas A&M University.

During the past two years Texas hospitals have been checked for infestations of these ants by Dr. T. A. Granovsky and H. N. Howell, Jr. of the Urban Entomology Research Project, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and Dr. D. N. McMurray and L. W. Martin of the Department of Medical Microbiology and Immunology, College of Medicine, Texas A&M University.

Of the 57 hospitals visited in 29 major and minor Texas cities, nearly 25 percent were found by these researchers to have active ant infestations.

In some areas the infestation rate was more intense with up to 65 percent of the hospitals being infested. Some of these infestations have been active for 15 to 20 years, the researchers found.

The pharaoh or sugar ant, Monomorium Pharaonis (L.), was introduced into the U.S. from Europe more than 100 years ago, according to Granovsky.

Since then it has steadily expanded its range westward and now is thought to infest homes, commercial centers, food establishments and hospitals throughout the country. "This ant is much more than a nuisance pest," McMurray says. "It is also believed to be a vector of highly infectious diseases."

"It is believed that many unexplained staphylococcus and some other hospital-acquired infections occurring from time to time, are associated with the ant."

"In Europe, these ants have been found to be carriers of numerous pathogenic and/or opportunistic bacteria. They were also the important 'link' in the spread of a swine pneumonia in a veterinary research unit."

The Texas A&M researchers have found numerous types of pathogenic and/or opportunistic bacteria that are carried by the pharaoh ant.

Ants collected were commonly found in intensive care units, nurseries, pharmacies, patient rooms and administrative areas.

Morning Joggers

Those aren't early morning joggers whizzing by you on the footpaths these days.

They are lawyers running a footrace to the court house to take advantage of a loophole in the antitrust laws—which can mean a bonanza of millions and millions of dollars in quick settlement fees from firms named in price-fixing complaints under antitrust law.

What is so ridiculous about it all is that in many instances the defendants in suits are not even guilty of price fixing!

The windfall fees for lawyers stem from cases decided around the turn of the century, which are making a mockery of justice in cases before the courts today.

Existing law makes each firm named a defendant in a private case with a claim of price-fixing potentially liable for treble damages, based upon total nationwide sales of an entire industry. Every company faces this threat, regardless of its market share. A single company with a one percent market share can be exposed to damage claims in the hundreds of millions of dollars based upon 100 percent of industry-wide sales.

So what happens? Some firms settle up pronto, pay their penalties early on, and get out paying far less than the damages that plaintiffs claim on the basis of their sales. And they leave the entire unpaid treble damages liability to those who remain under prosecution—and in many cases, who are innocent of wrongdoing.

Sounds wild, and it is.

Now, Chairman Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.), Senate Minority Leader Robert Byrd (D-W.Va.), and a large bipartisan majority of the Senate Judiciary Committee seek to remedy this gross miscarriage of justice with the Antitrust Equal Enforcement Act. It would close the loophole, bring some fairness into antitrust suits and relieve many businesses of the threat of serious financial damage through huge price-fixing claims based not only on their own sales but on the sales of the entire industry. The offending businesses would not get off the hook, but they would be assured equity in trying or settling their case (they would pay only their share of the damages).

The proposed law would also be applicable to cases still pending before the courts—if the court in a given case determines that it would be inequitable not to apply it. Plaintiff class-action lawyers, who profit from the current law, of course, are screaming "foul!"

"Don't change the rules in the middle of the game," they say.

Game indeed! Also what's so outrageous about letting the court determine what is fair and just?

It's time to stop the footrace to the court house by quick fix lawyers. Let's leave the footpaths to the joggers.

These pests are a nuisance, in addition to being a disease hazard, and patients, hospital administrators, doctors, nurses, and other staff are anxious to be rid of them.

Although the ants are sometimes tolerated by hospital patients and hospital personnel, they frequently go unnoticed because of their small size (12 ants = 1 inch).

True control, Granovsky says, required elimination of the entire colony, not just the foraging ants.

Chemical residual sprays do not usually work for three reasons: 1) sprays normally only kill foragers and the residual is not carried back to the colony; 2) typically, the numerous queens and over 90 percent of the worker ants in a colony do not forage and therefore never come in contact with the spray residue; and 3) ant colonies will usually split up if insecticide is sprayed near their colony.

Therefore, the Texas A&M researchers are concentrating their control studies on chemical baits and the integration of other tactics to control individual ant colonies within a 21 to 28 day period.

In addition to chemical sprays, current control practices may utilize an insect growth regulator, (a compound which keeps the insect from developing into an adult), but this material may require up to 20 weeks, with no guarantee of success.

Research at A&M seeks to identify baits that will control whole colonies within 4 weeks. The researchers have worked in direct cooperation with two Texas hospitals and their pest control specialists.

One bait, found to be very attractive to foraging ants, indicated ants were active on five of the six floors in one hospital.

In addition to continuation of the pharaoh ant rearing and control efforts, the A&M researchers have proposed research to evaluate this ant as a disease vector to stressed animals.

Researchers at the U.S. Army Burn Center at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas, have developed a burn model which the A&M researchers propose to use in evaluating the pharaoh ant as a disease transmitter.

It is vital that we gain control of this silent and almost unseen menace that threatens everyone's health.

Successful Sanding

Success in sanding furniture

You can make rusty lawn furniture look rejuvenated by removing the old paint and scratches and applying a new paint coat. By using the right sandpaper, you can also keep your shop and garden tools looking—and working—their best.

You'll find a metal sanding job goes easier if you fold the abrasive sheet over the end of a chisel edge when sanding those difficult to reach areas. Always sand in the direction of the long dimension.

Here's another helpful hint: use special metal sanding cloth sheets that can be readily torn into strips for easier deburring, sanding and polishing of holes and other difficult-to-sand areas.

Choose a sandpaper that's right for the job, such as Norton Metal Sanding Sheets, a rust removal, metal polishing emery cloth. It removes light rust, paint and scale from metal furniture, and also cleans your shop and garden tools.

For unexpected jobs on both metal and wood surfaces, it's a good idea to have a general purpose sandpaper readily available. A sandpaper such as Norton All Purpose Sanding paper can help you get a wide variety of jobs done right.

Take advantage of care labels attached to clothing—they've been required by law since July, 1972, and following them will add to the life and beauty of garments, says Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Iron Deficiency Is The No. 1 Nutritional Deficiency Disease

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Iron deficiency ranks as the top nutritional-deficiency disease in both humans and plants, in terms of the numbers affected, according to Dr. George Bates, biochemist at Texas A&M University.

Up to 700 million people of the world are estimated to have some degree of iron deficiency; it is secondary only to protein/calorie malnutrition in the world-wide severity of its effects.

Latest estimates are that 20 percent of women in their child-bearing years exhibit some degree of iron deficiency; this ranges from iron depletion to actual anemia, according to Bates.

Like many elements, iron is essential to good health; among other things, iron is essential to hemoglobin production in red blood cells.

Bates' blood chemistry work is gaining attention both in the U.S. and abroad. Some of his recent research for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in the Department of Biochemistry and Biophysics at A&M has examined the chemical reactions that influence food iron availability during digestion.

By extracting iron from foods under conditions that simulate digestion, the scientist and his research team can study in the test tube the processes that occur in the intestine.

Several scientific teams, including Bates' own, are doing research based on the discovery that it is the digestive chemistry of the whole meal combination that determines the iron availability of the meal and not simply an average of the individual components.

For example, tea, which contains tannic acid, inhibits the absorption of iron from a meal, whereas orange juice and other citrus products, which contain vitamin C, enhance iron absorption.

The bioavailability of iron from foods is receiving increasing attention; advertisements in national magazines suggest serving apple juice along with rice to improve the iron availability of baby foods, and dietary guidelines from extension specialists take vitamin C content of meals into account, along with iron content.

Bates began this line of research in 1975 while in Mexico City presenting a course on iron metabolism and nutrition. A chance meeting with some members of the Mexican National Nutrition Institute led to discussions of how iron uptake studies in children might be aided by parallel chemical studies of food iron.

The results of the chemical research closely paralleled the studies with children and emphasized the value of the new technique.

In a recently published study, the Bates' group focused on iron availability from pinto beans since this is a staple component of the Mexican diet, as well as a popular food item in Texas.

"We observed that it is both the citric acid and vitamin C (ascorbic acid) of orange juice that increase iron availability from the beans," Bates observed.
