Son To the Leslie Davises

A son, named Robert Leslie, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Davis, formerly of Sterling City. The Davises now live in Winnsboro, La.

This is the first child of the Davises and it weighed eight pounds and five ounces.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Davis of Colorado City and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. White of San Angelo.

School Trustee Election April 7

There will be a school board trustee election here Saturday, April 7. The two members whose terms are expiring are Reynolds Foster and John Copeland, Jr.

The two whose terms are expiring have filed with the county judge to get their name printed on the ballots.

Other members of the board are David Glass, Chesley McDonald, R. T. Foster, Jr. Finis Westbrook and Roy Morgan.

Wimodausis Club Meeting

The Wimodausis Club met in the home of Mrs. Foster Conger Wednesday afternoon for their home life program.

Mrs. Fowler McEntire opened the program with a prayer for "Safe Driving."

Mrs. Rufus Foster presented the topic, "The Family" stressing the values received from the family life in the home that are never forgotten.

Mrs. W.N. Reed closed the program with the beautiful poems "Tomorrow" by Fred Toothaker and "As You Go Through Life" by Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Mrs. Lester Foster and Mrs. Foster Conger were hostesses.

BOYS RANCH ROUND-UP BEING PLANNED

Plans for the 1962 West Texas Boys Ranch Livestock and Grain Roundup will be launched April 7 at a ranch meeting, according to Alpine ranchman Bill Merwether, general chairman.

Attending the luncheon and business meeting will be Area Foreman, Wagon Bosses and committeemen, representatives of West Texas suction rings, and families. A special program for the ladies will be presented by Mrs. Fred Ball, Mrs. Dorman Chapman, and Mrs. Morris Craig.

The roundup will run from June to November, allowing ranchmen and farmers to sort out stock and agricultural products as they work. The stock and products will be sold through West Texas auction rings at no charge.

In case of fire dial 8-4771.

The apportionment ruling by the Supreme Court, overruling a series of prior decisions, has created both confusion and consternation. Just how it will be implemented and how far-reaching it will be, remains to be seen.

The case originated in Tennessee when a group of urban citizens filed a suit in federal court, attacking the State's apportionment of legislative districts, and contending that they were being deprived of fair and equal representation at the Statehouse.

The Supreme Court decided such apportionment laws may be reviewed by federal courts to determine if such representation is fair and equitable.

But the 6-2 ruling drew a vigorous dissent from Justice Frankfurter who contended this issue was local in nature, was political in substance, and under our doctrine of separation of power between the three branches of government the judiciary has no legitimate jurisdiction.

Wide speculation is already being expressed of how the court could enforce any finding of improper apportionment. If the State of Tennessee should refuse to redistrict, can the Supreme Court later hold the Tennessee legislature in contempt? Or, can the Supreme Court enjoin the holding of state elections under a condition which the Court may decide denies equal representation to some areas? If so, then what would happen?

Other questions are being asked. Would this ruling apply to apportionment that relates to Congressional districts? Presumably it would. And would it apply to State laws relating to apportionment of judicial districts? And indeed will it apply to apportionment of County Commissioner precincts?

Many observers see in this decision a bold and dangerous expansion of judicial power, far beyond that ever contemplated in the Constitution. One writer with whom I agree says the Constitution "is being altered not by Congress and the people—the only constitutional way—for its alternation—but rather by a momentary majority of a court which seems fatally determined to change the whole social and political fabric of this country—on its own writ and mandate."

Certainly the question of whether it is desirable to change lop-sided apportionment situations is relatively unimportant. The essence of the action relates to the property of the Supreme Court expanding its power beyond the dreams of the founding fathers. Just where is the line to be drawn?

Miss Wool Caravan Here Tuesday

San Angelo had a Miss Wool Caravan on parade over West Texas Tuesday, and the caravan of Misses Wool from several states and San Angelo boosters stopped here for over an hour.

The girls made short talks to the crowd and balloons advertising the Miss Wool Pageant were distributed.

Later the crowd went into Zettler's Restaurant for a coffee break. Swarms of school children filled the place and got autographs of the girls.

An old cow knocked Temp Foster down last weekend and stepped on him—softening him up somewhat.

Good Rains Fall

Mayor-Councilmen Reelected Tuesday

Mayor Lee Reed and Roland Lowe and Foster S. Price, city Councilmen, were reelected at the city election here Tuesday.

Reed received 43 votes and Stan Horwod got 1 for mayor. Lowe and Price got 42 votes each. Other write-ins were Earl Bailey 1, Horace F. Donalson 1, and Harvey Glass got one. There were no names printed on the ballot, so all names were written in.

Other members of the city council include Harvey Glass, Hugh Harzke and Fred Hodges.

L. C. McDonald Talks To Lions Club

L. C. McDonald, local rancher and member of the Sterling City school board, spoke to the Lions Club and guests at the luncheon meeting Wednesday noon in the community center. He spoke on our public schools today. He pointed out that our schools should give youngsters four things: The knowledge necessary to earn a living; respect for the rights of others; appreciation of moral and spiritual values; and an outlook on life to enjoy it while earning or making a living.

A number of guests were at the luncheon, four from Midland, being Roy Minear, C. A. Churchill, Duke Jimerson and Edwin L. Stevens; also Durwood Ball of Uvalde and the guest speaker, McDonald.

Jimerson and Minear told members of the qualifications of Doc Ellis of Midland for district president.

The prize went to Ross Foster. President Arthur Barlemann said the fire trucks were now housed in the new fire house just south of the courthouse on the square.

Good rains were general over most of the state Wednesday. The rains were the first of any consequence here.

From 70 to 80 inches was gauged here in town and the fall varied from a quarter up to more than an inch in some favored spots.

Areas south and west of San Angelo got the heaviest rains, in some cases amounting to two inches. All areas reported some rain.

After midnight Thursday a light shower dropped .10 of an inch here in town and rain began again after day-break Friday. It is hoped that the rains will continue.

No rain had fallen here in Sterling this year—that is no rain of a decent amount. A snowfall in March gave the ranges some moisture.

A veterinarian from Iran, formerly Persia, who is interested in research on sheep and wool visited in Sterling County last Thursday. Parviz Emampoor of Teheran, the capital of Iran, was here with Jim Gray, Extension Sheep specialist, and Bob Rankin of Abilene, looking at Debouillet sheep raised by R. T. Foster, R. T. Foster, Jr., and Foster Sims Price.

Mr. Emampoor has been in the United States three months and will return to Iran early in May. He said that he was enjoying the visit to this country very much but was getting anxious to return to his wife and daughters.

The fact that Americans did not eat much mutton or lamb was of concern to Mr. Emampoor. In his country, it is the chief meat of all people. Most of the sheep are killed when they are about two years old at which time they are fat enough. Very little beef is eaten there; only the very poor people eat beef and then it is the aged dairy cattle that have outlived their usefulness as milk producers. It is a poor quality meat prepared with water and vegetables and is similar to soup in this country.

Nor could Emampoor understand the wide spread in the price of lamb on the hoof and in the meat market. Needless to say, that question is of some concern to many people over here also.

The sheep raised in Iran are mostly of the fat-tailed variety. A few Merinos are raised for wool but the number is small and the quality low. He said he had been impressed with the wool he had seen since visiting in Texas. He had attended the sheep and wool show at Junction the first part of the week and had been through several warehouses, the Sonora Experiment Station, the McGregor Station, and A & M College.

He said that parts of Texas compared with his country they too had areas of high rainfall much like East Texas, some was like Central Texas, some was hot, dry, arid desert land, and some very cold.

Even though in the U.S. for only three months, he handled the English language very well; he had not taken English in school but had studied French and Latin. He laughingly observed that most Americans did not seem to have a preference as to whether their children were boys or girls even though it seemed to cost much more to raise a girl. Iranians prefer boys even though it is a little cheaper to raise a girl.

It was a pleasure to spend the day with the group in the country. Mr. Emampoor was interested in ranch operations and was quite interesting to talk to in comparing methods used in this country and his country.

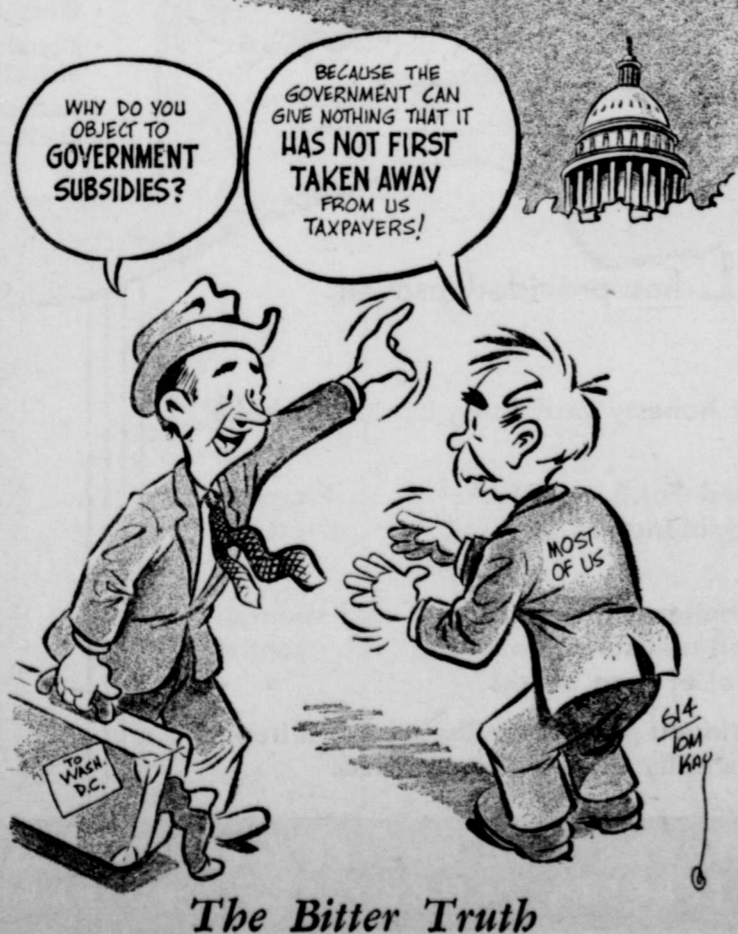

Texas ranked second in the fifty states exporting agricultural commodities to the world market in the 1960-1961 fiscal year. California was first. The recent U. S. Department of Agriculture study showed that Texas ranchers and farmers supplied the export market with products worth $447 million.

The principal exports were cotton, grain, sorghums, rice, wheat and livestock. Two million bales of cotton, 46 million bushels of grain sorghum, 39 million bushels of wheat, 6.4 million hundredweights of rice, and an unspecified poundage of meat, wool, and mohair were shipped from the state.

The main commodities entering the state are non-competitive items such as coffee, tea, spices, bananas, and cocoa. Although competing products do enter the state, the state's share of the exports is more than three times its share of the competing imports.

Eddie Braswell, local manager of the ASCS office, says that the closing date for the sign-up in the 1962 Feed Grain Program has been extended to include April 16. The deadline was extended in view of difficulties confronting producers because of the unusually bad weather and pending changes in legislation affecting the summer fallow area.

THE AMERICAN WAY

The Bitter Truth

JAMES MORGAN'S PAPER THAT WON FIRST IN READY WRITING

James Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morgan, won a first place ribbon with his ready writing paper on "The Class I Like Best and Why". The paper or theme is here-with printed. James is an eighth grade student in the Sterling School.

Math is my favorite class. Not only does it provide interesting and intriguing problems to solve but except for vocational subjects it is the most useful thing taught in school. Math is an important part of our daily life. Not a day passes that we do not use math several times.

Math is challenging. A difficult math problem is the most intriguing puzzle to be found. When I see a hard math problem I immediately have an urge to solve it. Man always has had a desire to find the unknown. After solving a difficult problem I have a feeling of satisfaction nothing else gives me.

Math is fun. A good math contest to see who can solve the most problems or to see who can solve a problem more quickly is one of my favorite games. Everyone takes pride in being able to find the answer to a perplexing problem.

Math is used not only in math class but in every other class as well. When was the Declaration of Independence signed? How many men were in Napoleon's army? How many Presidents of the United States have there been? How many words in the theme? How much hydrogen in the formula? Math is the key to the other subjects. A person who does not have a good knowledge of math is lost, especially in the higher grades.

If we didn't have math we wouldn't know anything which is so essential to us like what day is it, what year is it, what time is it, when does the train leave?

If there was no math man wouldn't have evolved from the stone age. He would not have had any feeling of earliness or lateness or urgency. He would have been contented to let things go on as they were. There would have been no such thing as time.

Everyone uses math. Big business couldn't get along without it. No one would know what prices to charge, how many catalogues to send out, how many customers are being reached, how much to spend for advertising. The rancher uses math, probably more than any other person. He has to know how many cattle a section will support, what the market price for cattle is, how many cubic feet of water the tank will hold, how much feed to give the cattle.

Excepting people, math is the most important thing in government. The budget of the state or country has to be figured, also how much to spend on foreign aid, defense, welfare. What should the tax rate

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

The North Concho River Soil Conservation District Board of supervisors met in regular meeting on April 2. A film The Earth Is the Lord's was shown for the supervisors and local ministers. Sherman Conner, John Gibbs and Hubert Travis attended. Supervisors Albert Brokaw, George Skeete, Neal J. Reed and Robert Heyden were present.

The supervisors took orders from ministers for soil stewardship materials to be used during the observance May 27—June 3. Supervisors also reviewed a proposed Great Plains Conservation Program contract on Troy Reese farm in the St. Lawrence community.

Claude Collins is treedoing mesquite and cedar on his lower ranch in Sterling County.

Roy Glass has completed treedoing and reseeded approximately 300 acres.

George Skeete has completed basal spraying of 404 acres of small mesquite on low stony hill sites on his ranch.

Bill Humble is contouring a 45 acre field to reduce water loss and erosion.

Mrs. Lelah Bird is now constructing a cross fence which is a part of her Great Plains Program plan.

be is a most important question. Taxes have to be figured, refunds made, and money placed in the right places. All this requires an enormous amount of figuring and math work.

Math is essential to every project of man. Math is the key to locked doors. With the help of math man will continue to progress as he has done in past ages. Only God is more closely related with man than math.

Social Security

Many people may be losing social security benefits according to Floyd B Ellington, Manager of the San Angelo Social Security Office, because of failure to file an application for payment.

Most of them are aware of the $1200 yearly earnings restriction for social security beneficiaries, but may not realize that they are eligible for some benefits even if their earnings are more than $1200 per year.

An employee can receive a check for any month that his earnings are $100 or less regardless of his total earnings for the year. A self-employed person can receive a check for any month he does not render substantial services in the operation of his business, regardless of his net profit for the year.

Anyone who earns over $100 in every month, and over $1200 in the year as well, may still be eligible for some payments. Each two dollars earned between $1200 and $1700 a year, costs only one dollar in social security benefits; over $1700, each additional dollar reduces benefits one dollar.

Ellington said that anyone who has reached retirement age should inquire at his nearest social security office. He may be losing benefits by not applying now.

Christian Science Radio Programs

A new radio series designed to highlight the essential vitality of Bible teachings was announced to day by the Christian Science church. Starting April 8 more than 700 stations will broadcast the weekly 15-minute series called "The Bible Speaks to You." The programs describe how prayer can meet familiar problems confronting people in all walks of life. They feature well-loved selections from the Bible, read against a background of organ music. Informal discussion brings out the practical application of these teachings. The new series replaces the series "How Christian Heals" which has been on the air every week since Sept. 1953. Will B. Davis, manager of the Committees on Publication, is in charge of the project. The series can be heard over KGKL 960 San Angelo at 8:15 a.m. Sundays.

Navy Now Accepting Three Year Enlistments
 The Navy will accept volunteers for the first year term enlistment and will permit certain young men to reenlist for two or three years in an experimental program. Vice Admiral William R. Smedberg, III, Chief of Naval Personnel announced today.

The experimental program has been placed in operation, Admiral Smedberg said, to meet the increased readiness posture of the Navy and the Nation. It will remain in effect until June 30th, 1962. The three year enlistment program is open to men who have had no prior military training. Under the reenlistment program, eligible personnel who have been released from active duty may reenlist with an option of up to 30 days advance leave. Formerly, broken service men reenlisted for four or six years with no advanced leave authorized. Admiral Smedberg said this new experimental program would afford young men of the country an opportunity to train and serve patriotically while learning of Navy life with only a three year commitment.

The experimental program will in no way effect the Navy's current stay in school policy, young men will continue to be encouraged to stay in school.

OLD AGE BENEFITS ARE CHANGED

One of the recent changes in the Social Security Act is important to all persons who work between the ages of 62 and 72, according to Floyd B. Ellington, Manager of the San Angelo social security office. "This change concerns the 'earnings test' the amount one may earn and still receive some payments," he said. "Earned income of $1200 or less in a year has no effect on the benefits. Now, however, only $1 in benefits is withheld for each dollar earned in excess of that amount," he continued. "This means that in some cases where a man and wife are both of retirement age, he can earn as much as $3,000 a year and still receive some old age retirement age, he can earn as much as $3,000 a year and still receive some old age insurance. Where there are three or more beneficiaries in one worker's family, it is possible for him to earn as much as $4,000 and receive some family payments for the same year.

After age 72, there is no retirement test, Mr. Ellington believes that there are many workers in the District between age 62 and 72 who should apply for the benefits to avoid any possible loss. Claims may be filed with the Social Security Administration office at San Angelo, Texas.

Some Benefits for Workers Who Continue to Work After Retirement Age

Just the other day, a local man read an article saying all working people 65 or over who have not applied for their social security benefits should check into it. Well, he thought he was making too much money to collect his old-age insurance benefits. He's earning about $2200.00 a year as a maintenance man.

He is glad he followed the advice in that article because he found that some social security benefits will be payable to him for 1961, even though he continues to work. You see, a worker doesn't have to retire completely in order to get benefits. Under a law passed just last summer, a worker earning over $1200 a year has only $1 in benefits withheld for each $2 he earns between $1200 and $1700. Then, for each $1 he earns over $1700, an additional $1 is withheld.
