New Contest good playing shape, and Has 'Good' Beginning

Getting off to a 'good' start, the 1982 version of the Muleshoe Merchants 'Back the Mules' football contest is underway.

In the first contest for this year, Ruth Newell, who only missed five games was the first place winner. She not only wins the first place check for the week, but along with it, 10 points toward the grand

In second place was Raymond Villalobos, who missed six games and was only one point away on the tiebreaker score. He will receive a check for $3 and 6 points toward the final prize.

Marilyn Engelking was the third place winner, receiving a check for $2. along with 4 points toward the grand prize.

Missing five games in the orginal 20 games, but missing out when he missed the tiebreaker game was Larry Free, who will probably be trying again to get into the 'big' winner

Mules-Lobos To Tangle

Well, sports fans, do you suppose the enterprising Muleshoe Mules can get by the "hungry" Lobos this Friday night?

With all the Mules in with the "Want to" spirit, the Mules should find their traditional formidable foes fallen by the wayside following the 8 p.m. game at Levelland.

Last year, the Lobos ended the year on the low end of the totem pole with a record of 0-10, but retired well known football coach Gene Mayfield came out of retirement to take over the of the h Levelland Lobos -- and after coming up dry every time they went to the well last year, the Lobos have already started out this year in the plus column.

When Coach Windy Williams and his staff take the Mules to Levelland this Friday, they will be facing a team that just got a taste of victory last Friday night at Lamesa.

The Lobos downed the Lamesa team by a score of 13-7, very close to the first score for the Mules.

Taking a look at the Levelland roster, we find the team has 22 returning lettermen, and combined with a team that just got a taste of 'victory' the team will probably really be 'up' for the Friday night game.

At the same time, the Mules defeated their first opponent for this year in besting the defending state champions Portales Rams in the season opener last Friday.

Consistency and playing together seemed to be the long suit for the Mules in their opening game. They had the appearance of a team wanting the win, a team who wanted to get the season off to a flying

Appearing before the task force in Austin--Henry, who is mayor protem of Lubbock--presented a state water policy statement development by a statewide panel of mayors and subsequently adopted by the League's board of directors. TML is an organization of 840 city governments that represents municipal officials' interests at the state and federal levels. According to Henry, the TML policy calls for the State Legislation which convenes in January, 1983, to enact an updated Texas Water Plan which balances the competing needs of cities, agruculture, environmental groups and other interests. Features of the League's 6-point proposal include: Adoption of a revised

Last year, local residents donated a total of $2,146 during the telethon. Despite the desperate conditions noted, especially in this farming community with virtually little to no crops, the local residents contributed $2,017 during the telethon.

In order to encourage the people to exhibit and sell at the fair, a large number of booths will be made available to businesses, civic, school, church and private organizations during the three day fair.

It has been scheduled for September 23-25, and will be held in the Bailey County Civic Center and Coliseum.

Another added incentive will be at least five cash drawings during the two show days at the fair. The drawings are scheduled for 4 and 6 p.m. on Friday and 1-3 and 5 p.m. on Saturday. You will have to be present to be eligible to win one of the cash prizes to be given.

Traffic Stop Becomes Other Than 'Routine' and competently, to remove

What started out as a routine Saturday night for Muleshoe City Police Officers Tom Watson and Danny Dickerson turned out to be less than 'routine' around 2 a.m. Sunday.

Working the 4 p.m. to 4 a.m. shift, the officers received a report of a possible 10-55 (drunk driver) shortly before 2 a.m. Sun-

The officers found the suspect vehicle at the intersection of Highway 84 and Highway 214 a short time later. Following a brief, high speed pursuit, the vehicle was pulled over by the officers.

After asking the driver and sole occupant of the car to exit the vehicle, the officers started checking the man. They found the man to have a knife in each back pocket, a switchblade on one side and a four-inch blade buckknife in his other back pocket. They also found pocketknives in his two front pockets.

The officers also found two loaded pistols, an unloaded shotgun on the front seat, a loaded rifle in the back seat, a pair of numchuks -- and a bomb. The bomb was in a briefcase on the backseat of the car. Twenty year old Russell Edward Taylor, of Plains, was taken into custody by Watson and Dickerson and other officers were called from their homes. The officers notified Cannon Air Force Base at Clovis, N. M., who sent a four person bomb demolition squad to Muleshoe.

Around 4 a.m. Sunday. the bomb was "very carefully" removed to the MPD firing range at the east edge of Muleshoe and detonated by the bomb demolition crew from CAFB. The officers said the four EOD personnel worked carefully, the bomb and take it to the firing range for detonation. An officer said this was the second such bomb the

New 'Rules' In Football

Bill Liles, manager of the local Federal Land Bank, who also is a football official, was guest speaker for the Muleshoe Rotary Club on Tuesday.

He spoke on new rules and rule changes in football. According to Liles, the players will now be wearing tear away jerseys, and new rules have been instituted for pass interference. In the future, a judgment call will be made as to whether or not a forward pass was "Catchable" before interference will be called. Accidental face masking will be for less yardage in penalties and the quarterback may legally throw the ball out bounds deliberately. Also, new holding penalties have been added to the rules.

In other action, reports were given on Harmon Elliott, who visited at his home over the weekend. He was returned to a hospital in Lubbock for additional treatment and therapy. Also at home from the hospital is Don Rempe. Jeff Smith reported on the county fair to be held here September 23-25. Paul Poynor gave a report on attendance, and reported that three members made up meetings during the past week.

suspect said he had made. He indicated that he "felt safer" traveling with all the weapons, and the bomb. The man told local police he had been in Clo-Rotary Hears vis, but did not indicate where he was traveling to when he was stopped in Muleshoe.

Taylor was jailed on a charge of carrying a prohibited weapon -- an explosive device. He was released from jail on a $500 bond.

Sgt. Wayne Holmes, who stood by while the EOD crew from Clovis removed and destroyed the bomb, commented that the EOD crew deserved a lot of credit for getting out of bed at 3 a.m. and coming to Muleshoe on the bomb call. The four members of the EOD crew included a female lieutenant, a female legal representative, an E-6 and an E-5.

Police activities from September 1 also include Thomas Vance Carlson reported he was assaulted at the new city park. The call was investigated by Officer John Detten. Officer Detten also investigated the report of a theft from Pay and Save Grocery on the same date. Taken into custody and charged with taking a carton of cigarettes without paying for them was Narciso Olivas Garza.

Martha Atwood was taken into custody by Officers Danny Dickerson and Detten and charged with public intoxication. Also taken into custody on the same date on a publication intoxication charge by the officers was Leo Chavez.

Also on September 1, a duet of theft by checks were reported by Lindsey Jewelry. One of the checks was in the amount of $47.-Cont. on Page 6, Col. 1

368 Enrolled

This year at M.J.H.S. there are 125 people in the 6th grade, in the 7th there are 133 people, and in the 8th there are 110 people. Thirty six either new students or students who attended shoool here before. Mrs. Jennings says this has been the best beginning of school she has ever experienced, that is because we have one of the best group of students and faculty! Mr. Mardis feels that this year we have gotten off to a good start. He feels the kids are eager to get going.

New Teachers Profile

Every year the annual staff interviews all the new teachers at M.J.H.S.

A new face at M.J.H.S. this year is Mrs. Twila Albertson, who teaches Remedial Reading and ESL.

Mrs. Albertson went to school and graduated from Lazbuddie High School, then attended college at S.W.S.U. in Oklahoma.

Mrs. Albertson went to school and graduated from Lazbuddie High School, them attended college at S.W.S.U. in Oklahoma, and also went to N.E.M.S.T.C. in Missouri, where she maa 4th grader. Mrs. Albertson said, "This is my first year to teach Reading and I love it. I am really excited about the kids I have in my classes, I am so proud to be in M.J.H.S. and I especially thank each person on the staff for their kindness and help they gave to me. I am looking forward to a great year." WELCOME, MRS. ALBERTSON, TO MULE-SHOE JR. HIGH SCHOOL.

Another new teacher at Muleshoe Jr. High School is Mrs. Stephanie Barrett. She graduated from Muleshoe High School and graduated from college at Eastern New Mexico University, where she received a B.S. degree in Secondary Education. At M.J.H.S. she teaches 7th grade Math. She chose to teach Math because she has always enjoyed Math and has always wanted to help students learn the subject. Her hobbies are crocheting, painting ceram i c s, cooking and reading. She is married to Robbie Barrett and they have no children.

Another new teacher added to the M.J.H.S. faculty is Mrs. Amy Gilleland, who teaches Early Childhood and Jr. High Resource.

Mrs. Gilleland has two children, Julie age 5 and JoBeth age 3, and her husband is Gary.

Mrs. Gilleland went to Happy High School in Happy, Texas, and went to McMurray College, in Abilene where she majored in English.

All of us at M.J.H. hope you enjoy it here.

Among the new teachers here at MJH is Mrs. Vicki This is her first teaching experience and she is an Skaggs in aide to Mrs. Special Education. Mrs. Brandon and her husband Robert, have a son named Jason, who is 31/2 years old.

She has lived in Muleshoe before, and her hobbies include reading and needlepoint.

Welcome from the Annual Staff!!!

Another new coach at M.J.H.S. is Kent Hargis. Mr. Hargis teaches 6th grade social studies, 8th grade earth science, and 7th and 8th grade athletics. He is also assistant varsity football coach. This is his first year to teach. His first impression of Muleshoe was that the people here are very friendly and they are very helpful to them since they have been here. Mr. Hargis is married, her name is Robin, and they have no children. He graduated from Spearman High School, and went to WTSU where he

For the past few days the annual students have been putting up posters in the halls and trying to get organized to sell annuals. Several students have been trying to get their articles written, which is difficult when they are trying to get organized.

The Jr. High Band is really good this year, and they have over 100 students. The 6th grade band has also had more interest this year. There are over 50 students in the 6th grade band, and the band directors are really impressed. How did you like your long weekend? Most everyone here enjoyed sleeping late, watching tv, and bugging their brothers and sisters. Of course everyone did a little griping about coming back to school on Tuesday but no one really cared. Well, since you correct your many mistakes why not learn from others.

LUBBOCK, Friday, September 3, 1982 Extensive testing at Texas Tech's Textile Research Center has shown that electronic instruments give accurate, repeatable measurements of cotton fiber properties.

However TRC research has found considerable variations in the fiber properties in different parts of whole bales and even in single samples, which has prompted Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, to caution that "cotton producers should not interpret the 'accuracy and repeatability' of instruments to mean that the same results can be expected from multiple instrument testing of a given bale."

The fallacy of such an interpretation was most clearly illustrated by an instrument testing study just concluded at TRC in which two complete bales of cotton were divided into one-quarter pound samples for testing on the Center's high volume instrument (HVI) system. Because of different weights, one bale yielded 1,780 and the other 2,179 samples. Four tests were made on each sample for length, length uniformity, strength and elongation, and two tests were made on each for micronaire and leaf. The results, published in the July issue of TRC's "Textile Topics," show high-to-low differences in measurements of all quality components that will be surprising to most who are unschooled in the finer points of cotton technology.

On the smaller bale, called "short to medium" staple and more representative of High Plains production, length measurements ranged from a high of 1.13 inches down to .88 of an inch, a difference of .25 of an inch. The average of all tests for length came to almost an inch at .998.

Length uniformity ranged from 83 percent down to 72 percent and averaged about 78 percent; micronaire tests gave readings from 4.4 down to 3.8 with an average of 4.1; strength, measured in grams per text, showed from 32 down to 17 and averaged just over 24; leaf content recorded a high of 50, a low of 20 and averaged 40, while fiber elongation measured from 6.2 percent down to 4.3 percent with an average of 4.9.

According to Reva Whitt, head of TRC's materials evaluation labora ories, these wide variations do not stem from instrument inconsistency. Instead, she says, they are the result of actual differences in the make-up of the small number of fibers tested from each sample.

More complete information on test results from both bales may be obtained from TRC or from PCG, Box 3640, Lubbock 79452.

Cheese Rates Rahs In Spreads, Snacks

Armchair experts watch- as a spread or dip. ing the weekly football classic have been known to develop strong cravings for food. It's possible they may even work up quite an appetite as they call a play, rush the quarterback, throw or catch a pass.

The home team, (Mom. that is), can score a few touchdowns of her own if she sets up a hearty snack and/or spread for the would-be-players, coaches and their cronies. It's an occasion for hearty, gutsy foods like cheese with character and flavor, olives, onions, tomatoes, dark rye bread, cheese spread and a bowl of seasoned buttery popcorn and pretzels.

Cheeses good with rye bread and salami are Colby, Caraway or Brick. They make an interesting contrast in shapes, as well. Swiss is also an excellent sandwith cheese while favorite Cheddar and Bleu combine well with dairy sour cream and seasonings

Gulf of Mexico sites studied for sanctuary program

COLLEGE STATION -Seven sites in the Gulf of Mexico are currently being evaluated for possible designation as National Marine Sanctuaries, says Dr. Thomas Bright, a Texas A&M University oceanographer who leads the selection The Marine Sanctuary Program is intended to establish a system of national marine sanc-

Smith said the areas for booths has been enlarged and the more commercial ventures who participate will mean an expanded fair that will draw more and more people to Muleshoe.

"In comparison to past years," commented Tanksley, "we now have a new dimension on a county fair. The County Extension Office and the Muleshoe Rotary Club are trying to expand the fair -- we want to make it bigger, better, with more to see.'

The Extension agent said they are encouraging more commercial businesses to participate, to show their merchandise, and to sell their merchandise.

Other organizations are being encouraged to have various food booths, either inside or outside.

"It takes money to expand the fair for the future years," added Smith. "And this year we hope to get enough participation from our booths to be able to Henry said that formulation of the TML's water policy began immediately after Texas voters defeated Proposition 4 -- the Water Amendment -- at the November 3, 1981, constitutional amendments election.

"It was obvious to city officials," said Henry, that Texas' long-term water problems were not going to go away simply because the voters rejected Proposition 4."

"In our opinion," Henry added, "the voters just didn't like that particular plan; they are well aware of Texas' water problems, and what they want is a comprehensive plan that addresses those problems in a sensible, economical manner."

Henry also added that the basic TML policy had been developed by a special task force comprised of mayors from cities across the state, and that the task force had received input from environmental groups, water finance experts and others during its deliberations. The statement of principles formulated by the task force was subsequently adopted, with minor modifications, by the board of directors of the

ticism of their elected officials, a wariness of entrenched power that they have embodied in the state constitution. They have hisstate officeholders more than a few terms. Now my opponent comes along, having spent nearly ten years in the Lt. Governor's office, one of the top state policy-making offices. Mr. Hobby wants yet another term to make it 14 years in that crucial job. That is unprecedented. Never in Texas' history has any Lt. Governor served that long-or wanted to. His desire, frankly, puzzles me. You would think he would have other goals, other challenges he might want to tackle. As his primary opponent this year said, "If he had anything to get done, you'd think he would have done it by now.'

My opponent will tell you that experience is what counts. I think voters need

Texans have a healthy skep- to look at the experience they have had with him. After ten years, our highways are in bad shape, the quality of education has declined, we still do not have torically refused to keep top a new, statewide water plan and he has refused to tackle the growing crime problem. We can't afford more of that kind of experience.

I have a long-held belief in what I call the citizenpolitician: someone who holds a job, serves his country or state for a reasonable time, then returns to that job and private life. For that reason, the first order of business after I am elected will be to have a constitutional amendment introduced in the legislature limiting the Lt. Governor to two terms-eight years. That is enough time for anyone. Too great a concentration of power for too long is bad. That is a principle of democracy.

Paul Wilbanks and Harry Waddle

Harry and Wilma Waddle moved to Muleshoe in 1951 and he started working for Western Drug. The following year, they purchased the local drugstore and have continued to operate it since that time.

The couple has always believed in supporting the community. They have supported all the civic activities, and especially have been known for their support of youth and youth programs. Mrs. Waddle is a very strong supporter of West Plains Medical Center, and has long been known for her volunteer work at the facility.

They have provided funds for youths to attend college and obtain higher education. Although they have not "Blown their own horn" about supporting local and area vouth, the Waddles are proud of achievements of various youth they have supported.

Paul Wilbanks started working part time at the pharmacy at Western Drug in 1965, then became a full time employee in 1967. Then, in 1972, he purchased an interest

Both he and Harry Waddle are graduates of Southwestern in Weatherford, Okla.

Currently, Paul Wilbanks is a member of the Muleshoe City Council, where he is mayor pro tem. He and his wife Judy, have two daughters, Melissa, a junior at Muleshoe High School, and Shea, who is in the second grade.

Harry and Paul commented, "We appreciate the patronage of our customers for all of these years. We always try to give good service, and plan to continue to give good service to all our customers.'

Although the drugstore is a full-service drug store, complete with drugs, cosmetics and gift items, the pharmacy occupies much of the focal point of the operation.

Harry and Paul handle all types of prescriptions, and are available and willing to fill necessary medical needs at any time. They are always ready to help their customers, and stand ready to come out at any hour to fill their prescription needs.

Again, they thank all their customers for being faithful and pledge continued good, pleasant service.

"Don't ever knock America to me," commented Larry Winkler, when he was asked about his operation of Winkler Meat Co. located on south Main Street in Mule-

"Muleshoe has been good to me," said Winkler. "I left home several years ago and had nothing. I came to Muleshoe in October, 1975 and purchased the meat processing company. After I got here, people like M. D. (Gunstream) and his son, Tommy, have been very good to

"Now, I have my nice business, and a home. I have been able to expand the business, and will still be expanding the business more," he added.

When asked what he attributed his success to, Winkler said, "All I have done is to try to treat people I do business with the way I like to be treated. I have tried to be honest with people, and they come back to me.'

Less than a year after he purchased the locker company, Winkler started expanding, something like 8-10 months after moving here. He has more than doubled the freezer capacity, doubled the cooling capacity, built another processing room, constructed a new office and is still con-

A native of Dickens, Winkler added, "Where else but America can a farm boy, with nothing, start out and begin with his own business, where he wants it, have people trade with him and be so nice to him and make a success

"I am proud to be a resident of Muleshoe, and I am proud to serve the people of this area."

Although Winkler has not taken the time to join civic clubs as he started his steady climb to build his business, he has been active in various functions in and around this city. As one of the Girlstown boosters, Winkler, along with Jeff Smith of Valley Grain, are the organizers of the Mule Days, a benefit for Girlstown. The popular event, although started only a couple of years ago, is expected to become a major event in this city each year.

Leverage Good Indicator Of Financial Soundness

understood the importance of financial leverage in their farming operations. Money borrowed for land, machinery and improvements has allowed them to enlarge and update their operations faster than if they relied solely on retained earning as a source of investment capital.

However, it is equally important for farmers to fully understand the risks associated with leverage, according to an article in the September - October issue of PCA FARMING magazine. PCA FARMING is a publication sent to farmers as a service of the local Production Credit Association.

The article points out that financially leveraged farmers suffer a built in loss anytime their profit margin is less than the interest rate. The higher a farmer is leveraged, the bigger the losses and the faster they mount up. THE PARTY OF THE P

The Sandhills Philosopher

( Editor's Note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm challenges a psychologist this week. ) Dear editor:

According to a prominent psychologist, a cluttered desk is a symptom of a cluttered mind.

I know lots of people who have a cluttered mind and they even have a desk. When I read what that psychologist said I took a look at my desk in the office out here which used to be a smokehouse. Whether your mind is cluttered or uncluttered, you can figure out that a freezer now beats a smokehouse for preserving meat, although unsuitable for an office.

I have had an occasioal visitor who has commented on the state of my desk, but not many because my office, only 8x12 feet, has no guest chair. A chair encoutages visitors to stay longer than they have anything to say.

The occasional visitor though has asked me how I can find anything on that desk. It's simple, I merely reach for it. the system works smoothly unless I need a clipping or some notes more than a decade old. Those take a little longer to find.

The idea that a clean desk is symbolic of a clear-headed, clear-thinking mind runs into trouble when you wonder about the clean desks of the embarrasses and almost broke car manufacturers who, a few years back, couldn't see that smaller cars were becoming more popular than gas-guzzlers. A lot of them with clean desks have car lots cluttered with thousands of un sold cars.

And some of the cleanest desks in Washington are manned by some of the world's worst bungling bureaucrats.

Nonetheless I intend to clean my desk off, and will the minute things on it begin to topple. The floor is no place to file valuable papers.

A farmer can figure his leverage simply by dividing his total debts by his net worth. For example, a farmer may have debts of $300,000 and equity in his land, machinery, crops and livestock of $600,000. Debts of $300,00 divided by a net worth of $600,000 gives him a leverage ratio of 0.5 - to

The magazine notes that there are no hard and fast rules regarding the optimum leverage ratio for farmers. However, the article points out that historically farmers who are leveraged higher that 1-to-1 are more vulnerable to downturns in the farm economy like the one currently being experienced. This is particularly true when high leverage is not accompanied by sound financial management such as accurate record keeping and risk management strategies to protect against crop production failures and unfavorable commodity price swings.

PAC Financing State Legislative Campaigns

The room is plush, the air is quiet. Ten or eleven men are sitting around a large table when the interviewee is shown in. In an atmosphere akin to an executive job interview, the men begin questioning the newcomer on a host of topics--mostly on a range of business topics. Who are these men and what is going on? The interrogators call themselves the "Associated Research Group," but the name is somewhat of a misnomer. These men are the head lobbvists for the wealthiest and most powerful business interests in the state--like the chemical industry, the doctors, savings and loan institutions, automobile dealers, major retail stores and realtors. And these industry associations, through their political action committee (PAC) contributions, put huge amounts of money into financing state legislative campaigns. For the May primary, members of this group spent over $1 million in more than 150 campaigns, according to the Dallas Times-Herald.

The interviewees, state legislative candidates, know who these men are, and know that they each have a substantial sum of money to spend to help finance costly campaigns. These candidates also know (or can guess easily) what these lobbyists' positions are on the questions they are asking, and what they want to hear. Having their lobbyist talk to a candidate before a business PAC decides whether to give money or not to a campaign isn't new. But what is new about this big business coalition is that now all the powerful, moneyed special interest groups are acting together to interview the candidates.

The lobbyisits say that this difference isn't significant. "It's merely a means to get together as a group and save the candidate's time and save our time and sit down and find out about the candidate and find out about the district," the lobbyist for the Texas Restaurant Association, who informally chairs the group, says.

a difference-and a danger. To many, it looks just like the group is interviewing the candidate for a job, a job they want to see done next session.

And they're not being subtle about it. The group is screening candidates who aren't old hands at politics; most of the interviewees are running for the first time. The lobbyists seem to be trying to get these newcomer into a position where they will be indebted to the lobby right from the start. So, since they know there is strength in numbers. they figured they'd just combine their numbers ( and their money) by acting as one huge business PAC conglomerate, some spec-

That speculation appears to be correct. From the pattern of the interviews, there is little doubt that those big businesses were all looking for the same kind of candidate. And that was reflected in the money they put into campaigns. In most instances, all the members of the group who gave in a particular race gave to the same cand-

From the looks of it, it seems that these lobbyists are trying to do everything in their power to assure that the days of the independent politician who votes as he or she feels is right (not as the moneyed special interests want) is over. Thus far, though, they haven't been as successful as they'd like. But they keep trying.

If you'd like more information about who the Associated Research Group members gave to, write the Texas Consumer Association, 500 W. 13th, Austin, Tx. 78701.

Dallas rents increased 17% in the second quarter of 1982. That's right... in just the last three months, rents went up 17%. By the end of the year, average rent will be $415 a month, excluding utilities, (it was only $331 a year ago).

Rent prices are soaring -for a number of different reasons. With inflation, rents have to increase. Taxes, maintenance costs and utilities are climbing ever upward. But adding up all these increases doesn't account for the giant increases in rent.

The high prices on rental places that have just been built is somewhat understandable. Landlords have to pay phenomenally high prices for land, construction and out-of-control interest rates. But that doesn't shed any light on why rents in older places--where most of the middle and lower income people live-are going up at a similar pace. That pace will soon be displacing thousands of renters, if it continues.

One big part of the explanation of why rents are going up in older places is a reason many people find totally--speculation. Many landlords do lots of buying and selling. When a place is sold, the selling landlord makes a profit, but that profit doesn't all come out of the buying landlord's pocket--he or she just jacks up the rent. Sometimes building owners refinance their buildings so they can turn the increased market value into cash. since they have to pay refinancing charges, tenants get higher rents. These real estate investments are pretty good deals for landlords--because the tenants are the ones who are footing most of the bill. With the landlords' speculation, the tenants' living conditions don't go up one wit, just their rents. Another part of the reason rents keep going up is the unbelievable tight rental market. In areas of the state, the occupancy rate is 95%; it's totally a landover time. lord's market. And of course, in that situation, tennants have no choice. With housing prices and interest rates what they are, tenants don't have the option of buying instead of renting -- and landlords,

One solution that Texans are just now beginning to talk about is rent control. Rent control guarantees landlords a "fair return on taking full advantage of that fact.

A recent broadcast sponsored by the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center and The Prudential Insurance Company discussed several options for correcting vision following cataract surgery.

Dr. James Aquavella, professor of ophthalmology at the University of Rochester, reports that drawbacks associated with using heavy spectacles, the traditional postsurgical therapy, have made doctors consider alternatives for the nearly 500,000 men and women who have their clouded lenses surgically removed each year. "Extended wear" contact lenses have proven to be a popular alternative to heavy spectacles. The extended wear lens permits the passage of fluid and oxygen to keep the eye healthy, and offers the prospect of increased convenience for active individuals. The "intra-ocular" lens is usually implanted in the eye at the same time the clouded lens is removed during cataract surgery. Dr. Aquavella cautions that consideration should be given to the added risk factor in the surgery. 'Although the risk is managethe risk associated with the investment" and allows them to pass on all cost increases, but it doesn't let them pass on costs due to. speculation -- costs which don't benefit the tenants, and which the landlords will recover themselves

Other states have had to resort to rent control long ago when the landlords' profits began to grow disproportionately high. But, until recently Texas landlords have been able to balance reasonable profits with providing affordable rental housing. Now, some argue, that balance is shifting. What do you think? # Physical Disorders Brought On By Excessive Heat

COLLEGE STATION ---The human body cools itself in hot environments by circulating blood close to the skin surface to shed heat and by evaporation of sweat.

However, these mechanisms can fail under excessive work in the heat and bring about several physical disorders, says Dr. Gary S. Melson, safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Heat stroke is the most serious of these. It occurs when the human heat-regulating system simply breaks down under stress and sweating stops, robbing the body of its most effective means of shedding excess heat--evaporation of sweat.

A heat stroke victim's skin is hot, dry and usually red or spotted, says Nelson. Body temperature is 105 degrees F., or higher and rising. The person is confused, irritable and may complain of chills. If the person is not taken out of the hot environment at this early stage of heat stroke and cooled rapidly, more severe symptoms such as unconsciousness, delirium, and convulsions may occur, leading to death.

The engineer advises summoning an ambulance immediately plus applying first aid. Remove the worker to a cool area and throughly soak his or her clothes with water. Fan the body vigorously to increase evaporation and cooling. Early recognition and treatment of heat stroke are the only means of preventing permanent brain damage or death.

Physical fitness and heat acclimatization will increase heat tolerance but will not give immumity against heat stroke. Persons suffering from chronic disease, obesity, or alcoholism are susceptible. A person who has a history of heat illness is more prone to get it again, says Nelson.

Another common heat related illness is heat exhaustion. This is caused by either loss of fluid in sweating, loss of salt or by both. A worker with heat exhaustion still sweats but experiences extreme weakness or fatigue, giddiness, nausea, or headache.

In more serious cases of heat exhaustion, the victim may vomit or lose consciousness, says the engineer. The skin is clammy and moist, the complexion is pale or flushed, and the body temperature is normal or slightly higher. The unacclimatized, physically unfit and obese are more prone to heat exhaustion.

In most cases, emergency care is simple. Have the victim rest in a cool place and give plenty of lightly salted liquids. Persons with mild cases of heat exhaustion may recover spontaneously with this treatment. Severe cases may require care for several days, but there are no known permanent effects, notes Nelson. Heat cramps, fainting, and heat rash are other reactions of the body to excessive heat. Heat cramps are painful spasms of working muscles of persons who sweat profusely in heat, drink large quantities of water, but fail to replace salt. Soon, low salt in the muscles causes painful

Heat cramps can affect muscles in the arms, legs, or abdomen, says Nelson, but tired muscles used in working are usually most susceptible. Cramps can occur during or after work hours and may be relieved by drinking one glass of water containing one - half teaspoon of salt.

Someone not used to hot environments who stands erect and immobile in the heat may also simply faint or black out. Blood may pool in enlarged blood vessels near the skin and in the lower part of the body rether than returning to the heart to be pumped to the brain, causing a blackout. Once lying down, the individual should soon recover. Movement to prevent blood pooling should eliminate further fainting.

Heat rash, also known as prickly heat, is likely to occur in hot, humid environments where sweat does not evaporate easily. Sweat not removed may plug sweat ducts, inflaming sweat glands and causing a rash. Extensive or infected prickly heat can be so uncomfortable as to reduce a worker's performance. Nelson suggests resting in a cool place at regular intervals and showering period ically to avoid heat rash.

Economy Sizes May Save You Money

A small amount of planning can add up to big savings in both time and money at the grocery store.

"Before writing a shopping list, think about the store layout," says Dr. Dymple C. Cooksey, food and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Make up a shopping list in the same order as the items are located in the store."

Avoid shopping when you're tired or hungry, Cooksey says. A tired shopper nay get confused and miss the week's best buys. A hungry shopper will be tempted to buy more than Most stores have unit pricing which lists price per ounce or pound. Compare to see which container is a better value. Other foods may spark considerable interest, but you will save money if you follow your list and buy only what you need, Cooksey emphasizes.

"Generic foods and store brands offer a good blend of quality and economy. They are usually equal nutritionally to name brand products, but they may lack their flavor and appearance," Cooksey says.

Always allow time read labels in the store. Nutrition information is provided in two ways. The first gives the amount of protein, carbohydrates and fats as well as calories per serving.

to receive those funds under prior law. The proposed amendment also repeals a section of the Constitution levying an ad valorem tax for a construction fund for 17 state colleges and universities.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

constitutional amendment repealing the state property tax."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 62 as amended by Senate Joint Resolution 10 proposes a constitutional amendment that would eliminate the $80,000,000 ceiling on state welfare aid during any fiscal year. The amendment would set the state welfare spending limit at $160,-

000,000 for the 1982-1983 The amendment further provides that, for each subsequent biennium, the maximum amount spent for state welfare shall not exceed one percent of the state budget.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to provide assistance through the appropriations process to needy persons and to place a ceiling on payments for needy dependent children at one percent of the state PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 8 proposes a constitutional amendment that would exempt machinery and equipment used in the production of farm and ranch products from taxation. No dollar limits would be imposed and the exemption would apply to corporations and partnerships as well as to families and individuals.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment exempting implements of husbandry (agricultural machinery and equipment) from ad valorem taxa-

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 77 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Legislature to set a four year maximum term of office for board members of certain water districts and conservation and reclamation districts. The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide terms not to exceed four years for members of governing boards of certain water districts and conservation and reclamation districts."

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 119 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize Tarrant and Bee counties to hold county-wide elections to abolish the county treasurer's office by majority Should the county treasurer's office be abolished the duties, powers, and functions of that office would be transferred to the county auditor or the successor to the auditor's functions.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The amendment to abolish the office of county treasurer in Tarrant and Bee counties."

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT Senate Joint Resolution

6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would raise the constitutional interest rate limit on state general obligation bonds from 6% to 12%. The new 12% ceiling does not, however, apply to bonds issued the Veterans' Land Board,

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

constitutional amendment increasing the maximum interest rate allowed on state general obligation bonds to a weighted average annual interest rate of $123456789012345678901234 Nearly one out of five replacement passenger car tires sold is a retread. 98 reent of the world's air lines use retreaded tires. So do nearly 100 percent of off-the-road, heavy-duty vehicles. Retreads are used on everything from federal and military vehicles to school buses and race cars.

The cost of a retreaded passenger car tire is 50 to 70 percent of the cost of a new tire. Truck retread savings are greater.

A new passenger car tire requires seven gallons of oil while a retread uses only two and a half gallons. Approximately 70 percent of the cost of a new tire is in the tire body. Retreading permits the continued use of this investment. Retreads are manufactured under the strictest quality controls. For more facts about retreads, write for free brochures to Tire Retread Information Bureau, Box 374, Pebble Beach, CA 93953
