Eight 4-H Clubbers Win in District

Representatives of the Sterling County 4-H Club who participated in the District 7 4-H Club Elimination Contests at San Angelo Saturday did very well. The four teams returned home with two first place banners one second place banner and a third place. First and second place winners in each contest in the senior division of the contest will participate in the State 4-H Club Contests at College Station at the 4-H Club Round Up on June 4, 5, 6. Three of the Sterling teams were senior teams and as such will participate in the state event.

Winning first place in the Soil, Water, and Range Conservation Demonstration contest were Barbara Durham and Rosanne Foster. The subject of their demonstration was titled STOP THIEF!. It concerns erosion on range and as influenced by soil and water conservation measures practiced by the rancher. The other teams in the contest gave demonstrations that were concerned with practices on farm land. These demonstrations must be written locally; all material must be gathered or prepared locally as there is no format furnished. The demonstrations cannot exceed 12 minutes in length. Contestants are scored on their appearance, the introduction of their subject, their presentation including delivery, charts, speech, and coordination of effort, the subject matter itself, the summary of the demonstration, and the achievement and educational value of the subject.

A senior range judging team composed of Larry Stewart, David Foster and James Morgan won first place in that division. They were required to identify forty range plants including grasses, brush, forbs and browse or shrub-like plants for the first part of the contest. The second part consists of a plot of ground which represents a range and can be representative of any size range. They must value the range on three conditions: utilization of forage, the kind of site such as upland, hills, bottomland, or others, and finally range condition, namely, excellent, good fair or poor and name the major climax plant and major invading plant. On this plot they must specify the range management practices necessary to make it a better range.

Placing four plots according to condition and utilization is the third part of the contest. They must check the reasons that make each of the plots better than the others.

The senior grass team composed of Jack Clark, Tommy Foster and Wayland Foster placed second in the district and will compete in June at College Station. They were required to identify 40 grasses and check the characteristics of each. These characteristics are: season of growth, warm or cool season, life span—annual or perennial, origin—native, introduced, invading or climax; finally the grazing value—good, fair, poor or poisonous.

Debbie Reed, Charlotte Foster and Mike Payne made up the junior grass team. They were required to do the same things as did the senior grass team. Their placing in the contest was third. Junior teams are not eligible to compete in the state events.

Ordinarily, the judging teams are made up of four members. The three highest scores are counted as the team; the fourth score is not counted in the finals and the persons making this score is named alternate in the team. Each of the Sterling teams had only three members. Hence, the team members were under something of a handicap since they knew their scores would be the final ones; no one could have an off day, something which usually happens to any team.

Adults who helped get the contestants to San Angelo were Mrs. Worth Durham and Mrs. Ross Foster. Others who arrived in time to be present for the award ceremonies in the SAC auditorium were: Mr. and Mrs. Neal J. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Foster and Worth Durham.

SCHOOL BOARD SETS VOTE MAY 25

Petitions asking for an election allowing the school tax maintenance rate be set at $1.50 per hundred valuation and enough additional to meet bonded indebtedness, has been acted upon by the school trustees. They have set May 25 as the date for such an election here. The board received the petition Tuesday and acted that night.

The school has been running short each year and had to have additional money to operate. A raise in the school tax rate or a raise in valuations was necessary. The board and interested citizens think the raise in the school tax rate is the best route for local taxpayers to take.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Prescribed Diet: Less Government

COMMENTS FROM THE CAPITOL
by Vant Neff

How come justice gets so twisted when the Government dictates labor peace? Take the dock strike. 100,000 men out of work a month. $700 million in cargo and cancelled orders rotted in ports from Maine to Texas. Why did a Presidential Panel settle this national disgrace by awarding longshoremen a 37 cents an hour pay boost while rocking the financially shaky shippers with an extra $28 million in labor costs? How could the Panel ignore shameful featherbedding and the fight for control by union bosses within the ILA? Didn't the Panel know the wage raise was 60% over the Administration "guideline" for pay and price hikes? Doesn't anyone remember the steel price rollback, less than a year ago? Can anyone take the White House seriously when they claim to be impartial to unions and business? Particularly when the President says he is "gratified" by this extravagant, one-sided settlement.

Speaking of the Union's attitude of — everybody else be damned. The New York Herald Tribune quoted Mr. Powers of the ITU, which struck the New York papers as follows, "If those that were struck found that the (settlement) price was too high, they could then make their decisions as to whether or not they could afford to stay in business."

Prior to the actual Cuban crisis the Administration assured us that the Soviet Union had no offensive weapons on the island. Up to the final confrontation, Khrushchev publicly and in his private communication to the President, lied about the kind and quantity of arms and material he had supplied and stored there. Now the Administration urges us to believe that Cuba does not have the means to devastate many important areas by a nuclear Pearl Harbor. But just as Senator Keating and others in Congress warned us long before the build-up in Cuba became critical, so they warn us again. Democratic Cubans point to caves and other places of hiding . . . which conceal weapons. They indicate that the island still crawls with Communist "technicians" and soldiers . . . that Khrushchev has kept less than a part of his promise. We all realize that it is still the Soviet intent to annihilate us.

The Administration has pictures which purport to show that the recent ICBM's have been removed from Cuba. Maybe so. Maybe so. But, there is a hidden trick here. ICBM means Intercontinental Ballistic Missile. With them, Cuba could only hit Africa, Europe, Russia, or the remotest parts of the United States.

IRBM's (Intermediate Range Ballistic Missiles) in Cuba could still plaster a substantial portion of our entire complex. Nobody has given us any assurance as to whether there are still IRBM's in Cuba. We ought to know.

What did Castro want with $53 million worth of drugs and baby food? Cuba only needs about $2 million each year. What about the other $51 million? Fidel can forget trading most of his ransom loot for guns and missiles in strange places. Some of the packages exchanged for the Bay of Pigs prisoners were secretly marked by U.S. drug contributors. This merchandise can be quickly spotted when it floods certain markets and disrupts local economies.

Seems like only yesterday that the Kefauver Committee was berating the drug industry for making pills for profit. But who did the Government turn to when Castro wanted all those medical goods? These same drug manufacturers who had been under the gun up to now. The way the manufacturers pitched in to get the Bay of Pigs prisoners out, shows the coercive power of a Congressional investigation and how it can be used to twist the arm of a whole industry.

A lot of people would like to know the true story of who in the Administration called the contributing drug houses, what promises were made; and how the drug companies were "paid for their contributions"

When two unions agree on a no-raiding clause, it means that they are "dividing up" the markets so they will not compete for the same members. This is called labor statesmanship and supposedly promotes labor peace. When two businessmen agree to sell products — one east of the Mississippi, the other west of the Mississippi — that's called an anti-trust violation. Honestly, can you see any difference between these pacts?

Is everybody fed up with strikes but Congress? Bills curbing unbridled union power are already in the hopper in Washington. The public wants action. Too often people have had no milk for babies, no way to get to work, no papers to read — much, too often. Now Congressman: you had better check with the home folks — it's later than you think!

Social Security Tips

Floyd B. Ellington, social security district manager in San Angelo, offered a few tips today on how to get your first social security check when it is due. If you are nearing retirement, Ellington suggests that you get in touch with your social security office, and take some proof of your age with you. Have a member of his staff examine whatever proof you may have to see if it will be acceptable when you do retire. Should you need better evidence of your date of birth, you will be given information to help you get that additional evidence. If you are within three months of retirement age, the social security office can take your application for benefit now. Go to the social security office and take with you proof of your age and your social security card, of course. Ellington said that even though you are working and are 65 years old, you can apply at any time. Many people think that you have to retire completely to get any benefits. This is not true, Ellington said. Over fifty million people have worked long enough under social security to qualify for cash disability benefits if they become disabled. This means that they have social security credits for five years (20 quarters) out of the past ten years, Floyd B. Ellington, district manager of the San Angelo Social Security office said. In the case of a severe disability, the worker and his dependents may be eligible for monthly cash social security disability benefits if he meets this work requirement. It is not necessary to be completely helpless to qualify for social security disability benefits. These benefits are payable to those who suffer

GENERAL TELEPHONE TOWNS ON THE MOVE

Bonham Initiative Saves mill Payroll

When the Bonham Cotton Mill announced it would close its doors finally in early 1962, that North Texas city stood to lose a 61-year old industry with a $14,000 weekly payroll.

Bonham's vigorous enterprise in the face of crisis is another reason we say big things are happening in General Telephone towns.

Aggressive citizens of the 7357 population community arose to the emergency. Today, little more than a year later, Red River Textile Mill, Inc., is not only continuing the operation of its predecessor, but is talking plans for an eventual major expansion.

These towns are on the move. Community improvements are under way, local resources are being developed, new businesses, new industries are coming in. If your town seeks additional information about expansion perhaps we can help. Just write our Community Development Department, Box 1001, San Angelo, Texas.

ATTEND WEDDING IN LUBBOCK LAST WEEK

Attending the wedding of James R. Ray and Miss Susan Murfee in Lubbock Thursday of last week were Mrs. Nan Davis, Edna and Ollema Davis, and Mrs. Joe Emery and son, Jodie. Jodie was in the wedding party. Mr. Ray, a resident of Abilene, formerly lived in Sterling. The bride is a Lubbock girl. They will reside in Washington, D. C. where James is assistant to Congressman George Mahon.

James is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Emery.

John Brock brought in the end of a pecan limb the other day with the worm stage of the pecan nut casebearer in it. At this time of the year, the worm eats in the tender tip ends of the branches before changing states of life.

After feeding in the tip end, the worm goes into its next stage and emerges as a moth. This moth then lays the eggs on the tiny nuts and the damage to the crop begins after they hatch.

On the basis of this, we will probably begin having eggs in the early part of May. Last year the first eggs were found on the nuts on May 21 but they may be earlier this year. The weather during the next few weeks will have a lot to do with the time they emerge and begin laying the eggs.

It is useless to try to do any spraying at this time. The worm is in the tips and can't be reached. After it changes into the moth stage, it no longer feeds.

There are a few changes in the spray recommendations this year. Malathion, toxaphene, nicotine sulfate, the new insecticide Sevin, parathion, Guthion, and Thiodan are recommended. DDT is no longer recommended. More directions as to sprays will be given later but the recommended ones are named in event you want to secure your insecticide and be ready to fight them when the time comes.

Representatives of the screw-worm eradication program were in Sterling County on Wednesday morning checking on the worm situation. Bill Hightower and D.A. Alley were here. Alley is a brother Gene Alley.

They were making a swing through the state checking on the situation along the rivers and creeks. Both men work in Mission headquarters of the program. There is a possibility of the river and creek areas receiving special treatment from the program and the two were making the swing to do some observing and fly trapping.

The screwworm case confirmed in Irion county he Saturday before Easter brought quick results from the program officials. Within a short time after it was confirmed, flies were being dropped in the area. This has been the method of operation thus far this year. Areas where a case is confirmed are termed "hot spots" and receive quick drops of sterile flies immediately and then for once a week. This will be continued just as long as possible in order to wipe out the flies in an area. Many of the cases are being found in animals moved into an area, especially this far west and north.

Reports were received on Wednesday of this week that two more samples sent in were not screwworms. These samples came from the George McEntire ranch and the N.H. Reed and Son Ranch.

Another sample was sent in by Stan Horwood from the Hilltop ranch but no report has been received on it yet.

North Concho River Soil Conservation

Dr Roy E. Glass a retired San Angelo dentist, won the "Outstanding Conservation Rancher" award presented by the Supervisors of the North Concho River Soil Conservation District. George M. Skeete, chairman of the board of supervisors, presented the award at the Lions Club Luncheon on April 24. Skeete then presented a slide show entitled "A Lesson in Range Management from Mexico," which was recorded by Dr. Huss of Texas A&M College.

Dr Glass has been a cooper-ator with the North Concho River Soil Conservation District since March of 1960. He immediately went into a Great Plains Conservation Program Contract to carry out a complete conservation program on his 5051 acre ranch located 15 miles west of Sterling City on the Garden City Highway. Dr Glass has spent most of his time improving his farms and ranches since his retirement.

Glass has almost completed his conservation plan since 1960. He has successfully reseeded 298 acres of rangeland which was badly infested with brush and grass cover was scarce. Now these areas have a good portion of sideoats grama, plains bristlegass and green sprangletop in the plant community. This reseeded was done in the stump-holes and disturbed areas while treedozing mesquite and other noxious brush. Glass has treedozed a total of 1669 acres of noxious brush since 1960.

In addition to the treedozing, Dr. Glass has aerial sprayed 1772 acres of mesquite. "Reducing the mesquite competition really helps the grass," says Glass.

Prickley pear and other types of cactus were taking a large portion of the available moisture on the Glass ranch until 1382 acres of the thickest prickley pear were grubbed and piled.

Two pastures on the ranch were cross fenced so as to separate the hill country from the deep-soil country. "Making large pastures smaller eliminates the uneven grazing to a large extent," says Glass. "Cross-fencing also permits more frequent and timely deferments for each pasture.

Four new livestock watering facilities have been installed so that livestock will not need to travel over one mile to water. Three new livestock water wells have been drilled to furnish water for the watering facilities.

The right of ranchmen to protect their livestock against the depredations of the Golden Eagle will be determined by the Secretary of Interior between now and next Fall when the Eagles will be returning to the southwest for another winter season. He will decide whether airplanes may be used in defense against this menace.

It will be recalled that the Secretary in January announced he would not allow the use of planes. After our protest, he sent some Specialists to Texas to study the problem. Several public hearings were held, and the evidence was overwhelming to the effect that eagles are a deadly menace and that they can be coped with only by the use of planes.

Now, for some reason, we are informed that the Secretary has another task force conducting another study of the same thing. In addition, it is reported that the Audubon Society has its own investigation going on, ostensibly to try to counteract or contradict the record that has been made. He Audubon people refused to send an observer out to attend the hearings conducted by the first task force. The bird lovers and bleeding hearts still insist that a golden eagle could not possibly harm a nice little lamb. They know it's that way because they read it in a book one time.

Incidentally, here's a chance for some enterprising amateur photographer, with enough patience, to make a hundred dollars: Margaret Louise Hill, with Texas Ornithological Society, 4200 Shoal Creek Blvd., Austin, wrote me recently and said "For six years the Texas Ornithological Society has offered a reward of $100 for photographic proof of these birds in the act of killing domestic livestock and game animals."

In my answer I told Miss Hill she would probably also be safe in offering a reward for a picture of a rattlesnake striking a child, but that would not prove rattlers do not bite children.

I would not be surprised to see some one come up with a picture of the eagle at work. Attacks by the birds on lambs, kids, small game have been observed by literally hundreds of people. In fact, that forms their chief source of livelihood in southwest Texas during the winter months.

Wheat Referendum Vote May 21

The marketing quota referendum for the 1964 wheat crop will be held Tuesday, May 21, from 7:00 a.m.-7 p.m. The polling place for Sterling County will be in the local ASCS office. All eligible voters are urged to make their wishes known on this issue, as this is the time for wheat growers to decide whether or not they want marketing quotas to be effective for the 1964 wheat crop. To be effective, it must be approved by a two to one majority of those voting.

The program being voted on provides the following features for the coming year:

1. Farm allotments equal to about 90% of the 1963 allotment on the average - a national allotment of 49.5 million acres.
2. A national marketing quota of 1.2 billion bushels.
3. Payment for diversion from wheat to conservation uses as a result of complying with the 1964 wheat allotment.
4. An opportunity for each wheat grower to voluntarily reduce below his allotment and devote the acreage to conservation. This acreage will also be eligible for diversion payments.
5. A two price arrangement whereby most of each growers wheat would be eligible for a price support at $2.00 a bushel and the balance at $1.30 a bushel on a national average basis.

One of a series of reports by this newspaper and the Print Advertising Association on the advantages of print media.

Don't you read before you buy?

Most people generally do. Not only do they read; they cut out and show ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples. When people see an advertisement in print, they can compare designs... features... and prices of nationally known products and services. (And people do compare before they buy.) Advertising in print is a handy thing. You can always check back; the message is still there even if your attention is distracted. When you add it up, print advertising—the kind you read in this newspaper—makes sense. And because it measures up to the buying habits of most consumers, print makes sales.
