Local Man Faces Murder Charge In Shooting Here

Officials at press time were still awaiting the results of a Childress pathologist on an autopsy performed on the body of a 46 year old Muleshoe man who was killed in a shooting incident about 10 p.m. on Friday at a residence near the small Y-L Community in Lamb County.

The Sheriff's Office in Muleshoe received a call late Friday regarding the shooting and Deputy Hal Bynum of the Bailey County Sheriff's office was dispatched to the scene to maintain order until the arrival of Lamb County officials. Upon arrival officials found Jerry H. Wyatt, 46 of Muleshoe dead after apparently being shot with a rifle. Wyatt was declared dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Beulah Newton of Earth and an autopsy was ordered to be performed by Ralph Erdman of Childress.

A Muleshoe man, James Mac 'Sonny' Shafer was taken into custody at the scene and later charged by Lamb County officers with murder. Shafer is currently out on $25,000 bond and the case is scheduled to go before the grand jury in Lamb County on Thursday, December 2, according to Curtis Wilkerson, Lamb County District Attorney. Assistant DA Ray Riker is handling the investigation. Reports have indicated that the ensuing shooting stemmed from a domestic quarrel. The slain man was the brother-in-law of Jerry H. Wyatt was born in Childress, Texas and was an Army vet and a member of the Southside Baptist Church in Tell.

Graveside services were held in the Tell Cemetery on Monday, November 29 at 2:30 p.m. with interment in the Tell Cemetery. Services were performed by Rev. Robert Knight, retired Methodist minister from

Gilbreath, Williams Parade Marshalls

The 23rd Annual Muleshoe Christmas Parade is slated to make its way through downtown Muleshoe this Saturday, December 4 at 2:00 pm. The parade will go north up Main Street from the Boy Scout Camp Grounds, then west on Avenue B to First Street and south past the nursing home. As of press time, 28 entries had been confirmed for this year's parade.

The parade marshalls for this year are County Judge Glen Williams and County Clerk Hazel Gilbreath, both of whom are retiring from public office. The parade will include the Muleshoe Mighty M Marching Band, an honor guard and drill team from Cannon Air Force Base, twirlers, antique cars, approximately 6 floats, area dignitaries and of course, Santa Claus. After the parade, Santa will also be available at the Santa Hut just west of the Mule Memorial to visit with area youngsters.

The streets are already decorated for the Christmas season. The street decorations were installed by Southwestern Public Service, the City of Muleshoe and Bailey County Electric Coop. "We really are grateful for the work these people have contributed to decorate our city for the holiday season", according to Chamber Manager John Guiley. In addition to encouraging area residents to come downtown to see the parade, the Chamber Manager also reminds everyone to visit the Arts and Crafts Bazaar at the Civic Center on Friday and Saturday, and to have lunch with the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture (Jennyslippers) on Friday at noon in the Civic Center.

This will be a holiday barbeque buffet and tickets may be purchased from any member or at the door for $4 each. The Jennyslippers will also be serving hot dogs and other goodies all day on Saturday.

He was a farmer by profession, and president of the American Heart Association of Muleshoe and a member of the Pathfinder Sunday School Class at the First Baptist Church in Muleshoe. Scott Calvert Wins Football Contest

Well, football fans, the end of the road has come and Scott Calvert has come up with the largest amount of points on the Journal Contest scoreboard making him the Grand Prize Winner in the 1982 Football Contest. Calvert developed a very comfortable margin of lead last week with a total of 25 points, which was not upset by this week's contest entrants. There were several in the running however, who could have upset the appcalt, but some just didn't bother to fill in an entry blank. Right behind Calvert with 20 points after this week was Kay Griswold with Terry Field and Jerry Gleason also in the running.

Calvert will receive a check in the amount of $100 from the Journal for his efforts; and, we are sure that he will be an entrant in the upcoming Bowl Games, which will feature one prize for one contest only.

Taking first place this week in the contest was a first time winner and first time entrant, Lamar Pollard of Route 2, Littlefield. Pollard missed seven games and was 12 points off in the tie breaker. Second place winner was J. E. McVicker with eight points off and 12 points off in the tie breaker. Mac could have given the winner a run for his money if he had started winning earlier.

Third place was a two way tie this week with Neva Calvert and Kay Griswold dividing the points and money. Both missed nine games and were eight points off in the tiebreakers.

It was a good season and we're sorry that you all couldn't be winners, but that's just the way the old football bounces. Don't forget the Bowl Games contest and be sure you study your lessons and get your entries in on time. Further details will be forthcoming.

Muleshoe Girl Wins National 4-H Vet Science Scholarship

An 18-year old Texas girl, who has assisted during surgery on animals, has been named one of six national winners in the 4-H veterinary science program.

Jacinda Gleason whose home is at 1915 West Avenue F, Muleshoe, received a $1,000 scholarship during the 61st National 4-H Congress in Chicago Nov. 28-Dec. 2.

Selected by the Cooperative Extension Service, winners received their awards from The Upjohn Company, the program sponsor. Awards are arranged by National 4-H Council.

Gleason, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jerry D. Gleason, is a freshman at Texas A & M University, College Station and plans a career in veterinary medicine or as a technician. She is a nine-year 4-H'er.

The Bailey County girl has worked in her father's veterinary clinic and has been responsible for vaccinations, worming and the general health of the family's two Schnauzer dogs and calico cat.

She also used the knowledge she gained to vaccinate her own 4-H calves and swine and those of her brothers.

JACINDA GLEASON

Gleason has conducted tours of her father's clinic for groups of 4-H'ers and has given them a demonstration on how to take a dog and cat's temperature. "Being able to work at the clinic has helped me to get a very close look at the work and varied duties of a veterinarian," she said. "I have learned the names of many of the instruments used in surgery. I have learned how to clean and repack surgery trays and sterilize them." She has assisted during many types of surgery, ranging from tumor removal to bone pinning and caesarean sections. She learned how to prepare animals for surgery by clipping the surgical area and scrubbing with surgical soap. She has also assisted at a number of rabies clinics and has helped to find homes for lost or unwanted pets.

FROSH MULETTES WIN OVER LITTLEFIELD--Muleshoe's girls team put a coat of wax on the Littlefield Freshman here Monday night to the tune of 40-26. High pointer was Mischell Logsdon with 14 points to her credit. Seventh and eighth grade Mullettes lost 38-18 and 25-18 respectively.

Hance Calls Attention To USDA Mistake

U.S. Rep. Ken Hance, D-Texas, today said the Agriculture department had completely overlooked Texas in the formation of the National Agricultural Cost of Production Standards Review Board.

In a letter to Secretary of Agriculture John Block, Hance said he was "extremely disappointed to learn that no Texans" were appointed to the board, which is responsible for advising the Secretary of Agriculture on the methods used by the USDA to estimate the costs of producing major farm commodities and for reviewing parity calculations.

Block named two persons from both California and South Carolina to the 11-member board. Other states represented are Kansas, Missouri, Georgia, Idaho, Ohio, and North Dakota.

"I believe this is a serious omission since Texas is the second largest agriculture producing state in the nation," wrote Hance. "If this board is to represent agricultural cost of production equitably the oversight should be corrected. Allowing two states to have two board members does not allow the broadest possible view of production costs. Recognizing the importance of the advice which the board provides, I feel eight states will not adequately represent the current cost of agricultural production. Since each agriculture producing area has substantially different production costs, the board should represent as many different view points as possible.

"I am concerned that the recommendations of this board will offer a limited prospective of the actual cost of production in agriculture and would appreciate your consideration of my concern as expressed in this letter," continued Hance. "I look forward to hearing from you in this regard at your earliest possible convenience."

Verde Kleingrass To Be Released Soon

Verde Kleingrass, a good forage producer with larger seed, will be released in early 1983 through the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station's Foundation Seed Service at Texas A & M University.

"Verde Kleingrass seed are larger and 20 to 30 percent heavier than seed of Kleingrass 75," said Dr. Ethan C. Holt, professor of forages with the Experiment Station and Texas A & M's Department of Soil and Crop Sciences. "The larger seed size will make the grass more valuable as a feed source for quail and other game birds and will improve seeling vigor and establishment."

Holt noted that forage yields and quality of Verde Kleingrass are about the same as from Kleingrass 75.

"Verde Kleingrass will be registered as a variety under the Plant Variety Protection Law and will be sold only as certified seed," Holt said. "Individuals interested in producing seed will have to become licensed certified seed growers and will require certification inspections by the Texas Department of Agriculture."

Individuals interested in obtaining Verde Kleingrass seed should contact the Foundation Seed Service, Texas A & M University, College Station, Tex. 77843, which will provide information on the time and arrangements for seed sale. Certification procedures will be provided by the Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Capitol Station, Austin, Tex. 78711.

Texas Crude Production In September

Texas crude oil production totaled 70,546,688 barrels in September, according to Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Nugent.

The figure compares with reported August production totaling 73,089,071 barrels and September 1981 production of 72,985,325 barrels.

Texas oil production averaged 2,351,556 barrels daily in September, down from 2,357,486 barrels daily in August and down from 2,432,844 barrels daily in September 1981.

The September allowable totaled 91,590,346 barrels.

The preliminary September summary indicated Texas oil production was 22.8 percent under the allowable for the month.

Through the first nine months of this year, Texas has produced 651,427,343 barrels of oil.

Vegetable oils not recommended as substitute diesel fuel

COLLEGE STATION — A farmer could pour a bottle of plain vegetable oil into his tractor's diesel fuel tank, but a researcher studying the substitute fuel says he wouldn't recommend it. At least not yet.

"There are several reports in the literature that vegetable oil off the grocery shelf has been used successfully as a substitute for diesel oil for short periods of time," said Dr. Cady Engler of the Texas A&M University Food Protein Research and Development Center. "But we don't know what the long-term effect on the engine will be."

Property Taxes For 1981

Total Over $5.75 Billion

An analysis of the 1981 tax year, recently completed by the State Property Tax Board (SPTB), reveals that property taxes totaling over $5.75 billion were levied in Texas by approximately 3,250 local taxing units.

School districts accounted for more than $2.8 billion of the total tax levy, with school taxes up 15.5 percent from 1980. Counties increased taxes almost 23 percent, levying more than $1 billion, while the levy for cities and towns topped $1.2 billion, a 14.4 percent increase. Special taxing districts such as hospitals, utilities, junior colleges, rural fire protection districts and others increased tax levies 13.9 percent to $677 million.

Kenneth Graeber, the State Property Tax Board's executive director, noted that the overall statewide increase in property taxes for 1981 was 16 percent, down slightly from the 19 percent rise in tax levy posted for 1980.

According to Graeber, property taxes levied during 1981 were the primary source of local government revenue for the 1982 fiscal year. They were used by the governing bodies of the various taxing units to provide services of benefit to the community such as public education, fire and police protection, street construction and repair, utilities and health care.

When analyzed on a per capita basis, the SPTB's report showed that 1981 property taxes totaled $335.08 per person. When adjusted to a base year of 1970 for changes in the consumer price index, however, the real property tax levy for 1981 was $143.06, compared to a real levy of $129.71 in 1970.

Graeber pointed out that growth in the overall level of property taxes can be attributed to inflation, which has made services more expensive for local governments to provide, and the accelerating shift of population to Texas which has created a need for expanded and improved community services.

Although the primary source of revenue for local governments, property taxes as a percentage of overall state and local taxes have decreased in every year from 1970 to 1981 except for two years—1975 and 1979. Property taxes accounted for 37 percent of the total state and local tax burden in 1981, down from 43 percent in 1970.

The State Property Tax Board report looked specifically at how the 1981 school tax levy was allocated among the various types of property.

Business real and tangible personal property shouldered 32.3 percent of the school tax burden statewide, followed by single-family residences at 27.4 percent. Owners of oil, gas and other mineral reserves paid 15.3 percent; utilities, 6.4 percent; multi-family residential (such as apartments), 4.1 percent; and banks, 2 percent. Acreage land accounted for 6.6 percent, while other categories had lesser percentages.

Homeowners received substantial school tax relief in 1981, as did owners of agricultural land qualified for productivity valuation. Homestead exemptions granted by school districts removed more than $15 billion from tax rolls, and productivity valuation reduced the value of acreage land by over $18 billion.

In addition to reviewing changes in tax levies, SPTB's annual report discussed the operation during 1981 of county appraisal districts.

County appraisal districts organized under the 1979 Property Tax Code were in the preliminary stages of operation in 1981, with approximately 80 county districts providing valuation services to one or more taxing units. Six of the appraisal districts had provided such services in 1980.

All but 15 of the 254 appraisal districts were providing appraisal services for 1982 to their local taxing units. The remainder delayed implementation until 1983 or 1984 under special provisions in the Property Tax Code.

Concerning the county-wide reappraisals, some 143 districts, or 56 percent, reported that a reappraisal was in progress for 1982. Of the remaining 111 districts, approximately 80 did some form of reappraisal in 1980 or 1981. Others have plans for 1983 or 1984 reappraisals.

In the fall of 1981, appraisal districts statewide adopted 1982 operating budgets totaling $111.4 million, or approximately 1.94 percent of the statewide tax levy of $5.75 billion. The average cost for operation of appraisal districts statewide was $14.30 per real property parcel.

Oil Field Theft Hotline Operational

The Petroleum Industry Security Council (PISC) oil field theft hotline became operational June 1, 1982. Thanks to the cooperation of many publications across the state, people are calling 1-800-OIL-COPS toll free to report oil field thieves. Information received on this hotline is being forwarded directly and immediately to law enforcement officials.

Oil field theft in Texas is costing citizens millions of dollars in higher prices and lost tax revenues. The OIL-COPS hotline, which offers anonymity to its callers and a reward up to $5,000, is an ideal tool to fight this costly crime.

The OIL-COPS hotline program must be made well-known to the public to be effective. If your publication is currently advertising our number we certainly appreciate your cooperation. If you are not, we ask that you consider using the enclosed sheet for ads or filler wherever and whenever possible as a public service. PISC is a non-profit organization formed to support law enforcement efforts to deal with oil field crimes and we need your help.

Sincerely,

Doctors Suggest Various Cold Treatment Remedies

EDITOR'S NOTE:

The recent tragedy involving the apparent introduction of poison into an over-the-counter pain reliever points out that more than ever, consumers should use caution when purchasing over-the-counter drugs. The nation has been alerted to the importance of inspecting drugs for any signs of tampering. We also believe that your readers should know how to carefully select the over-the-counter drugs they use and especially those taken for that pesky ailment--the common cold. We hope you'll find this Consumer Update interesting and informative.

How do you treat a cold? Bundle up next to a roaring fire? Sweat it out by running several miles? Immerse yourself in a tub of homemade chicken soup? Or, do you run out to your local pharmacy and buy all the cold remedies you can find, hoping that one will provide relief?

If you do the latter, you're not alone. In fact, you contribute to a half-billion-dollar-a-year industry...and that figure doesn't include what is spent on aspirin.

A cold is caused by one or more of 120 different viruses and affects your body in many different ways. Viruses are usually short-lived and resist virtually all forms of medication. Most colds run their course in about a week, with or without cold medication--including antibiotics.

To treat a cold, doctors suggest the following:

- * get plenty of sleep
- * drink more fluids than normal
- * eat well-balanced, light meals
- * avoid stress

Using cold remedies sold over the counter may provide temporary relief, but they won't "cure" or even shorten the stay of your unwelcome visitor, physicians say.

If you want temporary relief, Aetna Life & Casualty's staff physicians and pharmacists believe you should be aware of a few things before you purchase cold remedies.

Above all else, remember to read the labels carefully--and completely. Even over-the-counter cold medications interact with other drugs and can cause more serious medical problems. Also make sure that the drugs you purchase and use have not been tampered with. Inspect the package or bottle for any signs of tampering and return any suspect ones to your pharmacist.

There are two common types of cold medications; one includes ingredients that will act on a specific problem, while the other will work on every cold symptom from A to Z.

To help decide which medicine is right for you, first ask yourself some basic questions, like: "Do I have a single complaint or are there a variety of symptoms?" "Is there any skin rash or irritation?" "What type of cough is it--'loose' or 'tight'?" If you aren't sure, consult your doctor. If you are reasonably certain you know the answers, ask your pharmacist for the best medication available over the counter.

Here are a few hints on how various medications work:

Antihistamines help stop a runny nose. When used in spray form, the drug constricts blood vessels which in turn constricts the dripping. Oral antihistamines (tablet and liquid) act the same way. However, they can also restrict blood vessels in other areas of the body. People with high blood pressure, hyperthyroid conditions, diabetes, glaucoma or other eye diseases, should consult a physician before taking any cold medications, especially antihistamines. They may also cause drowsiness, and/or blurred vision.

Decongestants, which are found in a variety of cold medications, act differently than antihistamines--they reduce the stuffed-up feeling that may accompany a cold. They are often mixed with other cold remedies instead of being marketed as a separate product.

Coughing is an annoying aspect of a cold. However, it does serve a function. Coughing is a natural defensive reaction against fluid buildup in the lungs. Therefore, trying to stop a cough is not advised. There are a variety of cough medications on the market designed to do different things for different types of cough...expectorants induce coughing, while antitussive syrups restrain them. Before purchasing a cough remedy, ask your pharmacist which is best for your type of problem.

Last, and certainly not least, is aspirin. Americans take more than 20 billion aspirin tablets a year--a daily consumption rate of more than 20 tons. Although aspirin is the most commonly used drug, it can be harmful unless label directions are followed. Because of its wide use, aspirin leads over-the-counter medications as a cause of adverse reactions leading to hospitalization or other problems such as gastric irritation.

Aspirin is mainly used to reduce the aches and pains that can accompany a cold. It is an anti-inflammatory drug. Thus, it reduces swelling in the joint tissues of the body. Aspirin effectively combats fever as well. However, like a cough, a fever can be an important body reaction to your cold. It is important to treat the cause of the fever, not just the rise in body temperature alone. If a fever persists more than three days while taking aspirin, consult your physician.

Aspirin substitutes, known as acetaminophen also work to reduce fever, but they do not contain the anti-inflammatory ingredient found in aspirin. The lack of this ingredient makes the substitute less irritating to the stomach lining. In some instances of a cold accompanies with an upset stomach, the acetaminophen may be preferred. Regardless of which you choose, doctors strongly recommend taking only the recommended dosage--two tablets every four hours if you're over 12 years old.

To repeat--sleep, get plenty of fluids, eat a balanced diet and avoid stress--they are your best bet in the battle against the common cold. If your symptoms last longer than seven days, consult your physician right away. Always remember to read prescription drug and cold remedy labels carefully.

Creative Woman

By Sheryl Borden

On December 7 and 11, "The Creative Woman" show will feature lots of Christmas decorations to be made at home. Billie Jones, owner of Country Crafts in Clovis will demonstrate how to make bows, how to use a glue gun, making Christmas bells from fans and many more festive decorations. The second part of this program will be featured the following week.

On December 9, Jan Newquist, Home Economist with the Associated Milk Producers, Inc. in Albuquerque will demonstrate uses for yogurt cheese as substitutes for cream, sour cream, cream cheese and cottage cheese. It's a very low-calorie dairy product and is especially good to use in the no-bake pie Ms. Newquist will prepare.

Another topic, imagery, will be discussed by Kennie Hardee, a counselor for Mental Health Resources, Inc. in Clovis and Portales. Imagery is seeing something in your mind and it can be either positive or negative. Ms. Hardee will share with viewers the formula for imagery and also talk about the three deadly emotions that can rob a person of normal self-esteem.

"The Creative Woman" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden for KENW-TV. The show is aired on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 12:30 pm and at 2:00 pm on Saturdays. Viewers can request copies of printed materials offered on the show by calling on KENW-TV's toll-free telephone lines. Seafood Holiday Stuffing Ideas

Three ideas for seafood holiday stuffing are provided by Annette R. Hegen, seafood consumer education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System.

The recipes utilize oysters, blue crab and shrimp. Oysters are a versatile food, Hegen notes. "They can be eaten raw on the half shell, breaded and fried, wrapped in bacon and broiled, combined in a stew or used in a delicious stuffing for your Thanksgiving bird," she says.

Bramble-like all seafood-is a source of protein, vitamins and minerals. Marketed live, cooked in the shell, fresh, frozen or canned, meat from the blue crab provides a "different" stuffing for turkeys, she adds.

"Another stuffing that has the distinctive taste of lobster-and the price of medium-sized shrimp-is rock shrimp. Because rock shrimp live in much colder, deeper waters, the flesh is firmer and sweeter than regular shrimp," Hegen says.

Homemakers may want to enrich holiday menus by experimenting with one of these tasty stuffing recipes.

OYSTER-CORNBREAD STUFFING

- 1-1/2 pints oysters, fresh or frozen
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup margarine or butter
- 3-1/2 cups cornbread cubes or coarse crumbs
- 1/2 cup chicken broth
- 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 1 teaspoon sage
- Thaw and drain oysters.

Saute celery and onion in margarine until tender. Add oysters and cook 3 to 5 minutes or until edges begin to curl. Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Makes approximately 4 cups of stuffing.

BLUE CRAB STUFFING

- 1 pound blue crab meat
- 1-1/2 cups cracker crumbs (any type)
- 3/4 cup chopped celery
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup melted margarine or butter
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- Dash cayenne pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Makes 5 cups stuffing.

TEXAS SHRIMP STUFFING

- 1 pound peeled and deveined Texas shrimp
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup margarine or butter
- 2 cups herb-seasoned stuffing mix
- 1/2 cup chopped macadamia nuts
- 1/4 cup hot milk
- 1 beaten egg
- Cut large shrimp in half.

Cook celery, onion and shrimp in margarine until vegetables are tender. Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Makes 4 cups of stuffing.

For 5-9 pound bird...2 times stuffing recipe

For 10-15 pound bird...3 times stuffing recipe

For 16-20 pound bird...4 times stuffing recipe

For 21-25 pound bird...5 times stuffing recipe

Special Quilt Care Is Needed

With fall at hand and winter on the way, quilts and comforters will be in the limelight as they are taken from storage and put to use.

"Before using a quilt, check its condition, fiber content and age. An heirloom quilt, for example, should not be used on the bed where people will sit or pull on it," explains Dr. Peggy S. Owens, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System.

Start with the least complicated and damaging method when cleaning quilts, Owens advises. Airing will remove any musty smell acquired during storage. To remove dust or surface soil, vacuum with an upholstery tool. Cover the quilt with fiberglass screening-but don't vacuum directly on the quilt.

Stain removal is unwise on older quilts because it weakens the fibers. Dry cleaning solvents remove oily stains but are usually too harsh for older quilting fabrics, the specialist warns.

"Wet cleaning must be done carefully. Do not machine-wash or dry or line hang a quilt. Soak in a bathtub using a very diluted detergent solution. Rinse several times to remove detergent. Then support the weight of the wet quilt to prevent strain on fabric and stitches. Dry on a bed sheet outside," Owens advises.

Repair any damaged areas to prevent further deterioration. Store quilts flat or rolled. To protect from dust and light, use a dust cover of well-washed cotton muslin, percale or new tissue paper. Do not store quilts in plastic, cardboard boxes and unsealed wooden boxes, such as cedar chests.

"Folding a quilt for flat storage causes stress on fabric, stitches and batting placement. Fold as few times as possible, placing tissue paper between folds. Fold off-center and in a different place each time to relieve stress on the fabric. Don't stack heavy quilts on top of each other, and don't hang quilts to store," Owens says.

Quilts-new as well as old-require special care and thoughtful use in order to increase their usability and heirloom quality, she adds.

Cold Weather Is Time For Flu Shots

Arrival of cold weather and the "flu season" call attention to the need for influenza vaccinations for people at greatest risk of serious illness or death from flu and its complications.

Influenza virus infections occur every year in the United States, reminds Dr. Mary Ann Shirer, health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System.

Three dominant strains anticipated during the 1982-83 flu season, Shirer adds, are A/Bangkok, A/Brazil, and B/Singapore. "The antigens in this year's vaccine reduce the likelihood of infection and the severity of disease if a vaccinated individual contracts influenza," she explains.

People considered to be in the "high risk" category are those 65 years of age or more, and people of any age who are chronically ill with heart disease, lung or kidney disorders, diabetes, severe anemia such as sickle cell disease; and conditions that affect the immune (disease fighting) mechanisms such as certain malignancies and immunosuppressive therapy.

Influenza and pneumonia have averaged more than 2,600 deaths per year, according to a report covering the past three years issued by the Texas Department of Health.

Flu vaccine generally is available through the winter months, with November an ideal time for the vaccination, Shirer adds.

State and local health officials will be conducting the immunization programs, and the vaccine will also be available from private physicians. If there are questions relating to the need for vaccine, check with your local physician, advises Shirer.

Snow, Rain Halt Area Cotton Harvesting

Light to moderate snow and rain halted High Plains harvesting at mid-week, according to Mack Bennett, Area Director at USDA's Marketing Services Office in Lubbock.

The over all harvest was near the halfway mark, although some gins reported being almost finished.

Much of this crop is being hauled in trailers with only a small portion going into modules. This time last year, we had wall-to-wall modules, Bennett recalled.

Supplies of cotton on hand have been ample to meet merchants' light to moderate demand. Growers sold 1981-Loan equities at $5 to $25. New-crop lots of mostly grades 42 and better, staples 30-32, mike 35-49 brought 25 points below loan to 100 over. Gins paid growers $65 to $90 per ton for cottonseed.

Lubbock's Marketing Services office classed 65,000 samples during the week ended November 25. This brought the season's total to 210,000 and compares with 293,000 classed by the same date last year.

Predominant grades were grade 42 at 47 percent, grade 32 was 27 percent and grade 52 accounted for 10 percent. About eight percent was reduced one grade because of bark and five percent for grass. Predominant staples were staple 30 at 37 percent, staple 31 amounted to 37 percent and staple 32 was 12 percent for an average of 30.7 thirty-seconds of an inch.

Mike 35-49 was 85 percent, mike 33-34 accounted

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN --- Texas is proud of its modern system of highways, but our pride is literally beginning to have some potholes in it!

Financing the state's highways is sure to be a key issue before the 68th Session of the Texas Legislature convening in January 1983.

The highway crisis, which is national in scope, has been developing over the last ten years due to a number of factors including reduced government spending and decreases in tax revenue earmarked for highway programs.

The primary source of funding for highways is the federal motor fuels tax of 4¢ per gallon and the state motor fuels tax of 5¢ per gallon. Receipts from these taxes have fallen victim to decreased gasoline sales which have resulted from high prices, less demand, and energy conservation efforts. Also, in recent years highway funding has taken a lower priority in the national budget and in our state budget.

Texas, like other states, receives federal funds (primarily from the federal motor fuels tax) to finance roads in the Federal-Aid System. State and local governments must fund the remainder of roads not on the federal system.

Proposed programs of New Federalism will place an even greater burden on Texas and other states by returning to the states responsibilities for funding and managing certain types of roads currently on the federal system. Texas will have to respond to this shift in responsibility by finding innovative ways to finance highway construction.

A number of proposals are being widely discussed. Among these is the proposal to increase the state motor fuels tax which is the lowest of any state in the nation. Each 1¢ increase in the tax is projected to produce approximately $70 million in additional revenue. Another option is to tax gasoline on a percentage basis designed to be responsive to inflation.

A host of other proposals, such as increasing vehicle registration fees, dedicating a portion of the cigarette or beer tax to transportation programs, and increasing appropriations from general revenue, have also been discussed in the past and are sure to resurface in the next session.

The Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation has requested $5.65 billion for the 1984-85 biennium based on their assessment of Texas' highway needs. This is a $2.5 billion increase over the current two-year budget.

Because highways affect the safety and economic well-being of all Texans, we must give our full attention to the pending highway crisis. It will be the responsibility of the Legislature to determine how best to maintain our existing highway system and to expand our system to accommodate Texas' rapidly growing population. And it will be the responsibility of the citizens of Texas to inform the government officials in their area about the condition of their roads and the priorities they would like to see addressed.

ELEVATOR BONDING

AUSTIN -- The recent defaults by two Texas grain elevators has again brought the problem of commodity warehouse bonding to the forefront. However this is not a new issue to us, as the Senate Subcommittee on Agriculture, which we chair, has been studying this subject for well over a year now. The following is a summary of that subcommittee's findings.

Bonding of commodity warehouses, or elevators, refers to the bonds that warehouse operators must buy to back up the commodities they store. The money in these bonds is used to pay off the producers who deposit their products in the warehouse in case of default.

Producers and warehouse operators alike agree that the depositors should have full protection for their stored commodities. This means that the producer, or the owner of the commodity, should receive 100% market value of their stored commodity if the warehouse should go under.

However, as it now stands, at times of peak capacity the bond's value is only 10% or less of the market value of the produce stored. Upon default in this situation, the owners stand to lose 90% of their commodities value.

We heard many suggestions on how to change the current system so as to provide the desired levels of protection. These included installing a 100% bonding requirement and a pooling system like Oklahoma's.

A 100% bonding requirement is agreed upon to be totally unworkable. This would involve the elevators buying enough bonds to equal the market value of the commodities they store. This would easily cripple the system as only a few large warehouses could afford such bonds.

Oklahoma has a system where the warehouses pay a small amount per bushel into a permanent monetary fund. When this fund reaches a level where it can sustain itself, the bonding requirements will be dropped and the depositors will be paid 100% market value for their stored commodities upon default. After visiting Oklahoma and talking to Texas warehouse operators, we have our doubts about such a system. We don't feel that the 99% of Texas warehouses that operate soundly and efficiently would like to pay for the 1% that don't.

At this time we feel that the best method to protect the depositor from possible loss is for the depositor to only deal with honest, reputable warehouse operators. They are not hard to find.

In the last decade there have only been about 10 warehouse defaults in Texas. Considering the poor economic conditions during that same period, we feel that the Texas warehouse operators have an excellent record.

Even though we have not found the solution that will provide the 100% of the market value protection desired without overburdening any one sector, we have not given up trying. We have already started working closely with the Texas Department of Agriculture Commissioner-elect Jim Hightower to find a plan that will be both workable and widely accepted. But until such a plan is formulated, the Subcommittee suggests continuing with the current bonding requirements.

If you have any opinions on elevator bonding, we would like to hear them. Please write Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas, 78711.

Roses Bloom On Israeli Postage

Some of the hundreds of varieties of roses that bloom in profusion in the land of Israel also decorate the country's postage stamps.

Modern Israel prides itself on its cultivation of roses. Horticulturists say there is no variety that won't bloom in Israel. Today they form one of the country's major export crops.

Roses have been known in the Holy Land as far back as anyone can remember. Experts believe that the roses seen by the ancients might be the Rosa Phoenicia, the wild rose with clusters of white blossoms, that still blooms conspicuously today.

No Holiday Time For Law Officials

Local law enforcement agencies have had a relatively quiet week considering the fact that a major holiday was within that time. Statistics have shown that crimes of violence usually increase during and around the times of holidays; however, in Muleshoe and Bailey County, the majority of happenings were the same as what is usually dealt with on a day to day basis.

On November 28, Allsup's reported the theft of gas by a Spanish male who according to witnesses had come into the store and paid $7 for gas, but he took $10 worth of gas, and drove away. A criminal mischief was reported to City Police on November 26 by Rene Fabela who told police that she had loaned her auto to a party and when she tried to flag them down, the party struck her windshield with a rock. Witnesses observed the incident and a complaint has been signed.

Ronnie Garner reported to Muleshoe Police on November 26 a theft by fraud which occurred on October 4, 1982. Apparently a telephone caller had called a mail order agency and placed an order, charging it to Garner's account. When Garner received a statement, they found the discrepancy and immediately notified the store and police that the purchases made had not been made by them.

On November 28 Joe Torres Gonzales was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct by the City Police, after they were dispatched to a reported disturbance on Dallas Street. Gonzales was later released on bond. Gilbert Gomez was arrested by the Police on November 25 on charges of public intoxication and disorderly conduct at the New Dimensions. An officer on patrol observed a fight at the parking lot of the game room and made the arrest. Gomez was placed in the Bailey County Jail pending bond.

Juan Patlan was arrested on November 25 for public intoxication, after the jailer at the Bailey County Sheriff's office and was intoxicated. He was arrested, booked and placed in jail pending bond.

On November 28 Leopoldo Anguiano, Jr. was arrested on charges of public intoxication and disorderly conduct at the New Dimensions following a disturbance there. He was transported to the Bailey County Jail and placed there pending bond. Mario Gomez, Jr. was arrested on November 25 on charges of public intoxication and disorderly conduct after patrolmen were dispatched on a fight call. Gomez was seen approaching another party and making threatening gestures. He was placed in the Bailey County Jail pending bond.

Esmeralda Romo Estrada was arrested on November 28 after city police were advised of the outstanding warrants by authorities. He was apprehended at the Dairy Queen Restaurant. On November 24, Carl Edward Hayes was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated after city officers observed his erratic driving. After stopping him, he was unable to stand and failed a breath test. He was taken to the SO and booked and placed in the County Jail pending bond. Two other men were arrested at the same time on public intoxication charges. They were David Cavazos and Ruben Orozco. They were also placed in jail pending bond.

On November 23 Mary Autrey of 1021 West 3rd Street reported the theft of two rings valued at $700 total. One was a wedding band and the other was an opal. They were reportedly taken from her home. Nattie Lee Whitson also reported a theft on November 22 indicating that entry was gained through a garage door. Items of clothing and some bed clothes were missing, but amounts of value were undetermined. Entry was gained through an open door.

On November 18 Phyllis Payne reported her parked vehicle being backed into by a 1980 Ford, with the auto leaving the scene. The Payne vehicle was parked on the court house parking lot.

Reports from the Bailey County Sheriff's office indicate several bookings and arrests made over the past week with the majority of them being for public intoxication.

On October 20, Pete Vega was arrested by the Muleshoe Police on a charge of issuance of bad checks. He laid out his fine in the county jail. On November 21, Loy Wayne Spears was arrested on a charge of DWI and was released after posting $265 cash bond. Francisco Escalante was arrested on November 21 on a public intoxication charge and was later released to the Border Patrol. Ruben Orozco was arrested on November 21 on a public intoxication charge and was released after posting a $50 cash bond. On November 24, Carl Edward Hayes was arrested on a charge of DWI and was released following the posting of $265 cash bond. Also on November 24, David Cavazos was arrested on public intoxication charges. He laid out his fine in jail. On November 25 Gilbert Gomez and Mario Gomez, Jr. were arrested by the City Police on charges of public intoxication and disorderly conduct. They were released on bond by the city. On November 27, Juan Patlan was arrested on a public intoxication charge and later released on bond.

Brandon Dee Hall was arrested on November 27 by Department of Public Safety officials on charges of possession of marijuana, possession of drug paraphernalia and Driving while intoxicated. He was later released after posting bonds in the amount of $1,000, $200 and $1000 each respectively on the charges. On November 28, Esmeralda Estrada was arrested by the DPS on warrants and a failure to appear warrant.

Freeze Kills Remainder Plains Cotton

A plant killing freeze covered the Texas High Plains Sunday night when temperatures fell to the mid-twenties and high teens. The crop should be ready for harvest in all localities by December 1, according to Mack Bennett, Area Director for USDA's Marketing Services Office at Lubbock.

Harvesting began in late September where harvest-aid-chemicals had been applied in southern counties. An October 20 freeze allowed harvest to begin in northern counties about November 1 but growers in central counties chose to wait for cold weather to take care of defoliation, Bennett said.

Early harvested cotton in small lots of mostly grades 42 and higher, staple 30-32, mike 35-49 brought 75 to 250 points over Commodity Credit Loan Rates. Loan equities of 1981-crop cotton sold around $10 to $25 per bale, depending on loan entry dates. Below grade cotton sold at 27.50 to 42.00 cents per pound. Gins paid growers $60 to $90 per ton for cottonseed.

Lubbock's USDA Marketing Service Office classed 59,000 samples during the week ended November 18 for a season's total of 144,000. This compares with 122,500 classed by the same date last year.

Predominant grades were grade 42 at 49 percent, grade 32 was 29 percent and grade 52 accounted for 11 percent. About nine percent was reduced one grade because of bark and six percent for grass.

Predominant staples were staple 30 at 33 percent, staple 31 was 35 percent and staple 32 amounted to 13 percent for an average of 30.7 thirty seconds of an inch.

Mike 35-49 accounted for 87 percent, 33-34 was six, 30-32 was five and 27-29 amounted to one percent for an average of 40.

Average breaking strength during the week was 24.3 grams per tex.

USDA's Crop Reporting Board predicted the U.S. cotton crop will total 11.9 million 480 pound net weight bales based on conditions November 1. This is 24 percent below the 1981 -crop production.

Groundwater Declines Cited By Water Official

Continuing expected declines in Texas groundwater were pinpointed in discussions at Texas A & M University recently by Tommy R. Knowles of the Texas Department of Water Resources.

For the first time since the devastating drought of the 1950's, pumping of water in the 1980's is exceeding the recharge ability of the state's aquifers, Knowles said.

Current groundwater use is about 10.8 million acre feet a year, while the recharge capability is approximately 5.1 million acre feet. At this rate, the wells will be dry someday in the not-too-distant future, or the water will be unfit for use since some salt is creeping into the water supply at present, he warned.

Knowles added that water usage in the future should be geared to the rate of recharge, and the quality of the water should be monitored.

He listed as largest sources of underground water the seven major aquifers of Texas, which produce large quantities in large areas. These are supplemented, he said, by 17 minor aquifers, which produce large water quantities in small areas.

The major aquifers, he added, include the Ogallala Formation which serves the High Plains, extends into other states, and has an extremely limited recharge; the Trinity Sands Group; Edwards Limestone and Trinity; Edwards-Balcones Fault Zone; Carrizo-Wilcox Sands; Gulf Coast Sands and Alluvial and Bolson Deposits.

Many areas have been experiencing declines in groundwater, Knowles said, calling attention to the need for more comprehensive surface water management. Projections indicate that by the year 2030, groundwater availability will be about 7.6 million acre feet, with more surface water being needed to assure a sufficient amount of water for population and industry growth in Texas, and for agriculture.

Groundwater declines are

Texas A&M dean co-chairs task force on faculty shortage

COLLEGE STATION — Dr. Robert H. Page, dean of engineering at Texas A&M University, will co-chair a national task force created to develop a working plan for solving the nation's engineering faculty shortage problem.

The task force of the American Association of Engineering Societies (AAES) is made up of 16 members, including six from industry.

"The task force has been assembled in response to a request by President Reagan's science advisor Dr. George Kenworth for specific initiatives to be undertaken by the federal government and included in the 1984 federal budget," said Page, head of the nation's largest college of engineering.

The task force is co-chaired by Dr. George Burnett of Iowa State University.

Electronic institute trains students to enter industrial jobs

COLLEGE STATION — Growth of the electronics and microcomputer industries has boosted salary offers to more than $19,000 for graduates of a special training program that takes only 18 months to complete and is open to anyone with a high school diploma.

For the past 19 years, the Texas Engineering Extension Service's Institute of Electronic Science has trained more than 650 students in a comprehensive electronics program that brings graduates an average of three job offers upon completion. More than 20 employers return each year to interview and hire graduates.

Classes are taught at the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center west of Bryan. The program offers a certificate of completion instead of a degree.

"We see this program as an excellent alternative to someone who chooses not to pursue a college degree," said Director P. Wayne Elkins.

With all its possibilities, however, the curriculum is not easy, Elkins stressed. Students attend classes for six hours a day, five days a week and there's lots of homework. They must complete their 16-month term which includes electronics mathematics, digital circuits and microprocessors.

Scenery may be interesting but it's the people that count.

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS ABOUT ALCOHOL

The alcohol beverage industry is doing much to help prevent alcohol abuse, but independent scientific research has shown that moderate use of alcohol can actually bring health benefits to drinkers.

Here are some little known facts about alcohol that may surprise many Americans. Two out of every three adult Americans drink. According to a Gallup poll, there are roughly 102 million Americans who drink more or less regularly.

Alcohol itself is not the cause of alcoholism. If it were, there would be many more alcohol abusers than actually suffer this problem today. Statistics show that the average adult American drinker is remarkably moderate in his habits. According to F.A. Meister, President of the Distilled Spirits Council of the United States, Inc., today's imbibers drink less than his forebears in the 19th century. Moreover, his taste has changed from stronger spirits consumed "neat" to a preference for lower proof spirits, beer and wine and a variety of mixers ranging from fruit juices to cream.

A recent study by Arthur L. Klatsky and his colleagues at the Kaiser-Permanente Medical Center in Oakland, California, offered new evidence that moderate drinking may serve as a deterrent to heart attacks. Klatsky and his colleagues evaluated the medical histories of 120,000 patients and found that moderate alcohol users were 30 percent less likely to have heart attacks than were non-drinking patients or matched controls.

As a personal guide to what makes for healthy, safe and happy drinking,

Dr. Morris Chafetz, former director of the Federal government's anti-alcoholism program, sets up some sensible rules.

- Drink slowly. Sip, don't gulp. Dilute spirits with water and ice.
- Don't drink on an empty stomach. Food slows the flow of alcohol into the bloodstream.
- Drink in a relaxed setting, such as a restaurant or your living room.
- Think of drinking as one part of a pleasant time with other people, not as an end in itself.

It's also important to remember, that if you do drink, don't drive, unless you have been very moderate in your consumption.

SOME TRUTHS ON ADVERTISING

Advertising experts—the International Newspaper Advertising Executives—have come up with some tips on how to organize advertisements efficiently.

There are five major elements to consider: the headline, the illustration, the body copy, the price and the signature, or logo. There are a number of standard advertisement layouts, designed so that one can simply drop in the elements to create a layout. This gives a retailer more time to work on the parts of his or her job which can't be so easily reduced to a system.

For instance in a one-item ad, the headline may be placed on top, with the illustration on the left, copy on the right and the store name at the bottom of the ad. Another possibility would be to place the headline on top with the illustration directly below and the copy directly below that.

Two item ads present special organizational problems. If the two items in the ad are related, use a common headline, one which applies to both items.

If items in an advertisement have something in common, it's a good idea to organize them under a common headline. Sometimes the two items have nothing in common. This may call for each item getting its own headline, illustration and copy, with only the logo being common to both.

Three-item ads are treated similarly. If the three items have something in common, write a common headline and play each item off the headline.

This same principle of orderly division of the available space applies no matter how many items you have in an ad. As long as the items are all related to each other in some way, it is a good idea to organize them under a common headline, such as "The Great Garage Sale," for auto accessories.

PROBLEM SOLVER OF THE MONTH

A Cool Idea For Refrigerator Storage
Dear Susan:
I'm always finding forgotten bits of leftovers in the back of my refrigerator. This is not exactly an economical way to live. How can I keep my eye on what I've got—and remember to use it up?
Francine
Dear Francine:
There are two things you can do. For one thing, it might help you use up your leftovers if you keep a notebook of unusual ingredients, one to a page. Whenever you find a recipe including one of them, put in the book. Then, when you make something with, say, okra, you can look on the okra page of the book to find new ways to use up old vegetables.

Another good idea is to look into a new kind of refrigerator storage system that spins around to show what's stored. The clear containers make leftovers easy to find. It's only four inches high yet it stores over two and a half quarts in six containers. It costs $19.95.
Many people are calling houseware and department stores to see if this Stack & Spin for Refrigerator is in stock. If not, it can be ordered directly from the manufacturer, The Carousel Group, 5-A Myrtle Street, East Norwalk, CT 06855.

Nursing Home Case Unresolved

After days and days in the headlines, unsolved murders fade from our minds. People move on to other things, they stop worrying. They forget about the victims and their loved ones.

Down in Texas City, the alleged murderers of eight nursing home residents have been apprehended. But the case is still unresolved. And, after months and months of news coverage, the case has faded from the memories of most of the public.

Eight elderly residents lost their lives in the Autumn Hills Convalescent Center in Texas City in 1978 and 1979, allegedly as the result of neglect, mistreatment and abuse. The Galveston County grand jury indicted the corporation which owns the nursing home and several of its employees.

The acts and omissions for which the defendants are charged are sickening. They were charged with not keeping the patients clean and comfortable to prevent bedsores, ulcers and lesions; not changing their bed linens or keeping the rooms clean; not providing the patients with toileting and bathing to prevent urine contact and fecal contact with their skin; not sending them to the hospital when they were seriously ill; not even giving them enough to eat. There was such an overwhelming list of abuses and neglect, and such a mountain of supporting evidence, that the indictments totaled 1,200 pages; a 3 1/2 foot pile of documentation.

With the volume of evidence, it seems liek the case should be resolved by now, but it's not. Twenty-three indictments were handed down in March of 1981 (the investigation began in 1980). They were later replaced with 38 other indictments in July of 1981. In July of this year, the court dismissed the case on the grounds that the state law under which the charges were brought were unconstitutional.

Shortly after the case was dismissed, the Galveston County District Attorney, James Hury, was flooded with calls and letters from across the state asking him to carry on with what could be one of the most significant cases for establishing the rights of elderly in nursing homes. He said he would pursue the case.

That was nearly four months ago; the Galveston County D.A.'s office still has not acted. Now, after the case received widespread attention and concern from the public for nearly two years, it's been forgotten by most people.

But not everyone has forgotten. Many people feel that the gross abuse, the tragic neglect that the nursing home inflicted on its residents, which allegedly led to their deaths, must be punished. The abusive nursing homes, and the corporation which own them, must be forced to give quality care. Following through with the Autumn Hills case would bring that force to bear.

The District Attorney could finish this case. The state Legislature could pass stricter nursing home laws. What do you think should happen? Write your state legislator.
