More Oil Play Over Sterling County

Two wildcats and two confirmers were slated in Sterling County and a field gained a confirmer.

Shaheen & Son, Abilene, will drill a 6,700-foot Wolfcamp wildcat in Sterling, 10 miles northwest of Sterling City, four miles south-southeast of the triple M (multipay Wolfcamp) field and 8 1/2 miles northeast of the Credo (multipay Wolfcamp) field. It is the No. 1-94 Nick and John Reed. Location is 1,300 feet from the north and east lines of 94-2-H&TC.

Texaco will drill the No. 2 S. McEntire, a 2,400-foot San Andres wildcat, in Sterling, 7 miles west of Sterling City, 4 miles west of its No. 1 McEntire, active wildcat and one mile east of 2,081-foot Glorieta production in the Parochial-Bade, East (Glorieta and Seven Rivers) field. Location is 660 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the west lines of 6-T-T&P.

The No. 1 McEntire was waiting on cement after setting 4 1/2-inch casing at 8,847 feet, the total depth. It recovered oil and gas-cut mud, mud and salt water on a drillstem test at 8,789-837 feet. No description was given on cores cut at 2,038-87 feet and 2,087-137 feet, possibly Glorieta. Missing Plane Found Crashed in Sterling

PILOT IS DEAD

Franklin Jones, 45, of Grants Pass, Oregon, was dead at the crash scene of his private plane here when found Tuesday morning. A CAP spotter located the wreckage, and local officials, newsmen, CAP investigators, and Mooney Aircraft officials probed the wreckage after location was made.

The plane crashed last Saturday morning on a flight from San Angelo to Albuquerque, N. M. The dead man and his two business partners had been to Kerrville to pick up three Mooney planes to ferry them to Grants Pass, where they were opening up a dealership.

First at the scene after notification of the find were local sheriff Jim Cantrell, Tom Asbill, Justice of the Peace, and Dayton Barrett, who ranches close to the T. Wayne Harris ranch—where the airplane was found.

And, there might even be one or two more that were overlooked. If so, let us know.

Play Miles Here Next Friday

The Sterling City Eagles eked out a 2-0 win over the Loraine Bulldogs here last Friday night in an eleven-man non-conference game. The game was strictly a defensive one—from both teams. The Eagles made four first downs to two for the visitors.

Both teams fumbled three times each, and the Eagles lost the ball twice to the Bulldogs, while the visitors lost the ball three times. The two teams stayed with power play tries through the line—with but few exceptions. One pass of Loraine's was intercepted by Randy Peel.

Sterling's two point safety came in the second quarter when Johnny Copeland covered a bulldog ball in their end zone.

Ronnie Finley, a junior back field man, was easily the standout player for the Bulldogs.

PLAY MILES HERE NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

The Eagles play the Miles Bulldogs here at 8 p.m. next Friday. Miles normally plays six-man ball, but will play eight-man with the Eagles. In last year's game with Miles at Miles, six-man ball was played.

DISABLED MAY BENEFIT FROM SOCIAL SECURITY

Some 3000 Texans who may be eligible for disability benefits under the new Social Security provisions, have not yet applied for them according to Floyd B. Ellington, district manager of the San Angelo Social Security office.

Under recent liberalizations of the law, persons with nonpermanent disability may now qualify for benefits. Ellington said that under the previous law a person was eligible only if he had a severe disability that was expected to last a long and indefinite time. Now benefits can be paid if the severe disability has lasted or is expected to last as long as 12 months by his doctors. There are also more liberal requirements for certain persons who are blind.

SCIENCE SKETCHES

FLEA CIRCUSES are decreasing in number because of modern man's concern for cleanliness.
 Peter Mathes, the director of a West Germany flea circus, says,
 "Modern living conditions, and especially sleeping facilities, are simply unbearable for fleas."

"DEATH RAYS" may soon be helping farmers get rid of insect pests, reports the Department of Agriculture. Exposing grain and feed to radiofrequency electric fields makes them deadly to insects.

A LOW-refrigeration duty cycle is a key feature of a new plastic-shelled bulk carbon dioxide storage unit produced by Cardox, Chicago. The unit is expected to have wide application in soft drink bottling, environmental testing, chemical manufacturing, meat and food processing and rubber manufacturing.

COUNTY
by

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

Early this week, several infestations of the walnut caterpillar showed up on pecan trees in and around Sterling City. The walnut caterpillars had been prevalent earlier this summer but the wet weather is to their liking and they have returned.

The young caterpillars, or worms, are reddish brown with narrow yellowish lines extend the length of the body. The full grown caterpillar is almost black with two grayish lines on the back and two on the side. Most of them will have soft, gray hairs distributed over the body.

These caterpillars do not encase themselves in webs, thus you will not find webs on the trees. You will find evidences of the worms though in that they will move back to the trunk of the tree periodically and molt, or shed their skin. These skins can be found in clusters near the trunk or in crotches of the tree.

The walnut caterpillar feeds on the leaves of the tree. They feed in clusters or bunches and will devour all the leaves on the end of a branch, then move back to the trunk to molt, or move to another branch to feed. This generation, the second one, complete development on the tree, then will crawl down the trunk to the ground where they will burrow in and spend the winter.

If these pests are severe enough, spraying will control them. Malathion, DDT, Toxaphane, or Sevin will control them. If there are just a few small clusters, the limb-end can be cut off and burned.

Word was received this week that the Pesticide Regulation Division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture has cleared Disyston, a systemic insecticide, for use on pecans. This clearance was made for the southwestern and south-central states only.

Disyston promises excellent results for the control of the honey-dew producing aphids. It has been under investigation for some time and the results from a once-a-year treatment at the Pecan Investigation Station of the USDA at Brownwood are good. However the clearance comes too late for application this year in that it must be used at least 80 days prior to harvest of nuts. The clearance established a clearance of 75-100 (.75) parts per million and a rate of application of three pounds per acre.

The material, in a pellet form, is applied in six foot bands on either side of the trees, worked into the soil to a depth of two to three inches, and watered if at all possible. It should be applied only one time per year, preferably in the early spring. Tests were conducted applying the material in early June and results were good all summer.

D. D. (Levi) Garrett, local rancher and horse trainer, put on a trained horse act at the Abilene Fair last week. For many years Levi has had performing horse acts at the Abilene show; and at one stretch he showed six years straight running. Texas' ranges entered September in the best condition in six years, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Rains after the middle of August pushed conditions upward, according to the report, and all of the state with the exception of the Lower Rio Grande Valley has the green appearance of spring.

The reporting service places September range conditions at 85 percent. This is nine percent better than August and nine percent better than the conditions a year ago. The five year average is 75 points, so this is ten percent better than the average. Since the beginning of September, many areas received even more rain and conditions will be even better for the livestock producer.
