April 2 Is Cancer Crusade Sunday

Cancer Crusade Sunday will be observed in churches throughout Texas April 2, when ministers and congregations join in recognition of the 1967 campaign against the nation's second largest killer.

The month of April, by Proclamation Cancer Control Month, marks the highlight of volunteer activities in every community in Texas. Over 75,000 ACS workers will be visiting their neighbors this month to distribute life-saving information on cancer's warning signals and to gather support for the Society's three-fold program of education, service and research.

The churches of Texas have agreed to join the Crusade on an individual basis by using the specially-prepared Church Bulletin folder during their Sunday service. On the folder is a beautiful illustration of the Cross and the Society's Sword of Hope with the legend: "A Christian Concern for Cancer... a concern to protect yourself and your family through a regular physical examination... a concern that all of mankind should be spared this disease, the ultimate goal of the Crusade Against Cancer."

Recognition of cancer's warning signals has been named as the key factor in early diagnosis and successful treatment of this disease. More than 1,400,000 Americans now living are cured of cancer; Texans on the march against cancer are determined to make this number much greater every year.

Cancer Sunday is a traditional observance in America and is endorsed by Ministerial Alliances in most cities in Texas.

Nick is to leave after graduation from high school. He will go to San Diego, California on June 15 to take 8 weeks of training; then he will take paratrooper training and then go to Panama for jungle training. Nick was born in Sterling City and lived here until his family moved to Iowa.

NEW LEGISLATION TO HELP STERLING COUNTY FAMILIES OBTAIN HOUSING

The U. S. Departments of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration is better equipped to handle the housing credit needs of low and moderate income Sterling County families as a result of legislation recently signed into law, according to Patrick F. Sullivan, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor.

Sullivan said the Demonstration Cities and Metropolitan Development Act, signed last month by President Johnson, makes it possible for a broader range of Sterling County families to qualify for housing loan authorities of the Farmers Home Administration.

The new legislation Sullivan continued, makes more mortgage credit available to low and moderate income families in Sterling County by increasing the level of activity of the Agency's rural housing loan program.

Here are some of the other changes in the rural housing loan program administered by the Farmers Home Administration:

—Many Sterling County who had to go the long route of planning, contracting and building a house can now buy newly constructed buildings. Before the new legislation, these families could only purchase previously occupied buildings.

—Qualified low-income families can now obtain housing credit from Farmers Home Administration on the basis of a cosigner. Previously, only those rural persons 62 years and older qualified for this assistance.

—The new legislation increases from $1,000 to $1,500 the maximum amount of assistance the agency can make for emergency repairs or improvements to owner-occupied rural housing or farm service buildings. This credit is not designed to upgrade a building but only to remove hazards to the health and the safety of the family and the community.

—Rural families on the verge of losing their homes through foreclosure may save their homes if a sound basis can be developed by the Farmers Home Administration to refinance their debts.

—Financial assistance can be given to construct rental housing for low and moderate income rural families of all age groups. Previously, rental housing financed by FHA had to be occupied by rural people 62 years and older.

Protect Your Children Against Measles, Says The AMA

CHICAGO—Now is the time to have your children immunized against measles if they have not already received this protection, says the American Medical Association.

Many parents are surprised to learn how dangerous this common childhood disease really is.

An estimated 250 American children died from measles in 1966. More than 150 suffered measles encephalitis, sometimes called sleeping sickness, or brain fever. Encephalitis frequently leaves children with permanent disabilities, including mental retardation, deafness, and blindness.

Future tragedies can be prevented, because safe and effective measles vaccines are now available. In the past four years, these vaccines have helped cut the measles death rate in half.

It's possible that measles could be eradicated in the near future if more parents protected their children with immunization.

The AMA recommends that every infant be vaccinated when he is about one year old. All children over this age who have not been vaccinated and who have not had measles, should be immunized now.

It is especially important that children in nurseries, kindergartens, and the first two grades of elementary school receive measles immunization. These youngsters have the highest risk of infection.

Measles immunization is safe, inexpensive, and easily performed. See your doctor for his recommendations.

If enough children are protected by immunization, measles will disappear. It's time to get rid of this familiar, but often dangerous, and sometimes deadly childhood disease.

SCIENCE SKETCHES

HOT PEPPERS might keep you from having a heart attack according to Robert M. Grodner of Louisiana State University. He says that there seems to be a correlation between the low rate of circulatory ailments among the Indians of the Southwest and their large diet of hot peppers.

WATER is wet, but adding carbon dioxide to it makes it even wetter. Irrigation water treated with CO₂ penetrates faster and deeper, making more water available to deep-rooted plants, says Cardox, Chicago. More important, it neutralizes alkalinity and prevents the formation of harmful limestone deposits in pumping equipment.

HOME fire drills are important, says the American Medical Association. More than 2,000 children die annually in home fires. The most important command to impress children is "Escape immediately!" Parents should also map out, with the children helping, two separate escape routes from each room.

Six Flags to Open on April 29

Six Flags Over Texas will begin its 1967 season on Saturday, April 29. The announcement came from Angus G. Wynne, Jr., President of Great Southwest Corporation, owner-operator of the famed 115-acre, historical home entertainment park located midway between Dallas and Fort Worth. During the Spring, Six Flags Over Texas will be open on Fridays from 5:00 p.m. to 11 p.m. and on Saturday and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Starting May 26 and continuing through Labor Day, the Park will be open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Following Labor Day and until the season closes October 29, Six Flags will operate on Saturdays and Sundays only from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The Run-A-Way Mine Train ride, key project in the $1 million expansion of the Boom Town Section of the Park which was begun last season, has been completed over the winter months. The ride, one of the most exciting ever developed, was introduced to visitors on a limited basis near the end of last season, while work continued on the project.

An attendance milestone will also be reached during the forthcoming season, as Six Flags anticipates welcoming its ten-millionth visitor sometime during the month of August. The Park, which opened in 1961 has already counted over 8.5 million visitors.

THE "UNMENTIONABLE" DISEASES

The diseases that nobody wants to talk about are among the very ones that can blind, cripple, or even kill. The American Medical Association says venereal diseases are this nation's most urgent communicable disease problem. There's little wonder: VD is infecting 1,100,000 Americans a year—about 3,000 a day, or almost two a minute.

And yet, despite the penicillin cure that has been known for more than 20 years, VD continues as a problem, continues to bring tragedy to countless families. Venereal disease is passed by intimate personal contact. That, of course, is why it is so reluctantly mentioned.

If VD is to be conquered, however, it must be by a straight-forward approach. The AMA and medical societies throughout the country are encouraging people to (1) avoid exposure to VD, (2) seek prompt examination and necessary treatment, and (3) report to their doctor, sincerely and completely, their possible contacts with the disease.

Only by this lawful method can VD be eliminated. And only then can conscientious people stop talking about it.

A woman's body. Architecturally, quite interesting. To a man. But not to the woman who owns one. Most women tend to ignore their own bodies.

Do you? Do you check your body, particularly your breasts, every month, for any lump or thickening? You should. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere could be a warning signal of cancer. And cancer is easier to cure when it's detected early.

Sophia Loren knows the seven warning signals of cancer. So should you:

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. A sore that does not heal.
4. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
5. Hoarseness or cough.
6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
7. Change in a wart or mole.

If a signal lasts longer than two weeks, see your doctor without delay.

It makes sense to know the seven warning signals of cancer.

It makes sense to give to the American Cancer Society

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

By Omar Burleson, Member of Congress, 17th District

Washington, D. C. — In the days just ahead there will be news from Austin about the efforts of the Texas Legislature to change lines of present State Legislative and Congressional Districts.

Whatever is done in the reshuffling of Congressional District lines will never please anyone completely. The Legislature will do the best it can, and it has a tremendously difficult job.

The Federal court in Houston retained jurisdiction over this matter when the Legislature redistricted two years ago, and now demands that the job be completed to meet the Supreme Court's decision on "One Man-One Vote."

Two years ago the State Legislature acted responsibly and met the requirement in the best possible way. They came as near to establishing Congressional Districts to provide equal population as was possible at the time. Of course, exact equality is an absolute impossibility, and the more nearly the Legislature approaches the requirement of the Court, the less community of interest there can be in a Congressional District. Presently, there are some ill arrangements, such as A&M at College Station being in the same District with T.C.U. in Ft. Worth, but, again, it was the best measure the Legislature could pass. When the Legislature acts again, there likely will be even more conflicts, but unless they do, there is a danger of the 23 Members of Congress from Texas running at large. Obviously, this would be chaotic.

At present, our 17th Congressional District is approximately 9.5 percent under the average of 417,000. Other Districts are approximately 11 percent overpopulated, which makes a spread of a little more than 20 percent. It is assumed that the Federal Court will demand a more even apportionment.

On the other hand, the court has refused to indicate to the Legislature just what it expects in this regard. It gave no guidelines other than to say that Districts must contain the same population. Matters are further confused by suggesting that instead of using the official 1960 Decennial Census, which is seems clearly contemplated by the Constitution of the United States, the Legislature may determine the number of people in a District by using any official or unofficial population figures. This indicates that the Legislature must reapportion all representative Districts, both State and Federal, every two years and come up with equal population in each District.

The success of representative government depends heavily on the contacts between the people and their Representative. Unless they know each other there can be no true and meaningful representation. If a County or a part of a County is shifted every two years from one District to another, it becomes completely impossible for the people to get to know the man who represents them as they should and for their Representative to know their problems, as it is his duty to do. The result is not better Government, but less effective representation.

The Supreme Court has indicated that not only must State Senatorial and State Representative and Congressional Districts be equal on the theory

AROUND THE COUNTY

The use of Di-Syston, a systemic insecticide, has been cleared for use in commercial pecan orchards in Texas by the USDA, according to the Extension Entomologist, John G. Thomas. Use of the material on individual trees around the home by the homeowner is discouraged. At the present time, it is recommended that the material be put out by commercial applicators. Two types of the material have been cleared, a 10 percent granular material and a 65.7 percent liquid concentrate.

The Di-Syston is effective against the black pecan aphid and the yellow, or honeydew producing aphids. It is not effective against casebearers, caterpillars, or other foliage feeding insects.

The recommended rate of application of the 10 percent granular material is 20 pounds per acre. It should be applied in six foot bands to the soil on both sides of the tree under the drip area. Fertilizer spreaders or grain drills can be adjusted to do the job. The insecticide should be worked into the upper two or three inches of the soil at distribution time by disking. It should then be irrigated as moisture is the key to proper results; without moisture, it will not go into solution and be absorbed by the trees.

There are two other precautions that must be brought out at this time. The insecticide should be applied between May 1 and May 15. Only one application per year is permitted. This must be done at least 80 days before harvest. The May application, if done properly, will give season-long control.

The liquid concentrate can be sprayed on the ground, worked into the soil, and watered the same as the granules. The same precautions apply to the liquid; use only once a year, and apply at least 80 days before harvest.

Many cattle producers have commented that lice are worse than usual on cattle this year. The fact was more evident during the blood testing of cattle for brucellosis last week. More lice were seen than usual at this time of the year. Feed store and insecticide dealers are reporting more than the usual amount of sales of insecticides.

A number of insecticides are approved for the control of cattle lice. Among them are Co-Ral, Lindane, Delnav, Malathion, Methoxychlor and Sevin. The insecticides are all listed in an Extension Service publication, Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry. The publication lists the recommended treatments, the insecticides and amounts, and the precautions as set up by the Food and Drug Administration. Any one desiring a copy of his leaflet may have it by coming by or calling the county agent.

Pesticide residues in agricultural commodities such as meat, milk, and eggs, and other products are being measured in parts per billion now according to Dr. Jack Price, leader-agricultural chemicals with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. New methods of detection and evaluation have made these measurements possible, says Price. Heretofore, such measurements have been made in parts per million.

These new methods of detecting smaller amounts chemicals make it necessary that everyone be more careful in using these products in spraying cattle or crops. Commodities containing more than the allowable amounts of chemicals are subject to condemnation and seizure. To avoid such incidents as the cranberry incident of several years ago, use only recommended chemicals. Use the recommended amount and no more. If there is a time lapse between application and slaughter or marketing, be sure not to use chemicals in a shorter time. The times given in the leaflets such as the livestock parasite control guide are the ones that apply. Doubling the amount and cutting the time can result in trouble for the user and the industry.

of "One Man-One Vote," but has now indicated that at every level of government, probably to include school districts, every District and Precinct must have an equal number of people.

The theory of such representative government is perfectly good, but as a practical matter, to be exact is impossible.

There is no question that this test should be met to the greatest practical degree, but the demands of the Federal Courts show how unrealistic things become when the Courts attempt to pass upon political matters.

In such a system as we have, if people and their local governments are left to their own devices, they will work out these problems in the most practical way. Theory is one thing, but workable solutions are another. Community of interest in Legislative Districts should be maintained. Grapes, bananas and onions do not mix very well with apples, when we only want apples.

SCIENCE SKETCHES

STORIES about people being sucked down into quicksand are a lot of malarkey according to a Georgia Tech engineer. Natural quicksand is a rare occurrence, he says, and that which seems to appear as foundations are being dug is actually the result of poor excavation procedures. Sand can become quicksand when water is added to it faster than it can drain away.
