J. K. MARTIN COUNTY JUDGE

J. K. (Jake) Martin, who had polled 75 votes in the preference poll for county judge here was named Sterling County Judge last week by the Commissioners Court after Dub Fincher declined the spot. Fincher, deputy sheriff, had received 78 votes to Martin's 75, but after deliberating when the "votes" were counted, he declined and the commissioners named the second man in the race, and he qualified for the spot.

Fincher said he had considered withdrawing from the race previously, and felt that he should stay on as deputy in the sheriff's, tax assessor-collector's office.

The judge's job was made vacant by the resignation of W. R. Brooks, who resigned to become postmaster here. A number of men had applied for the spot, and the commissioners asked the people to help decide.

The winner has to run for the job next year in the reelection.

"Votes" or preferences were tallied out by the commissioners as follows:

W. G. Fincher	78
J. K. Martin	75
Tom Asbill	38
A. C. Lively	16
Dan Collier	4
TOTAL	211

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank all the persons who "voted" in the preference poll for County Judge --for their interest in county affairs and the people running for the office. I appreciate everyone's interest and actions in the race. All the candidates were congenial and agreeable.

I will do my best as Sterling County Judge, and with your help and undersanding, I think we can do a satisfactory job.

Sincerely,
J. K. MARTIN

THANKS

I want to thank all who supported me in the recent "election" for County Judge. Everything you did is really appreciated.

Tom Asbill

LIONS CLUB

J. K. Martin, new county judge, was a new member, and John Davis of Odessa was a guest when the Lions Club met at noon Wednesday for the regular luncheon. The prize went to Wayne Posey.

President Jim Davis told of plans for the Old Settlers Reunion here July 8. He also stressed that a new member drive for the club would get underway soon.

The club voted to send a contribution for a dinner honoring retiring District President Harvey Palmer.

Dismissals since Thursday morning of last week include: Mrs. Zelma Neal

According to Oil Facts, published by the American Petroleum Institute, Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall told that operators in the county "if we are anywhere near right about our estimates of future requirements," the United States will consume 78 billion barrels of oil and 283 trillion cubic feet of natural gas in the next 14 years. He pointed out that this could exceed the total amount of petroleum hydrocarbons used in this country since the birth of the industry in 1959.

Vickie Potts went to Fort Worth on June 20 to visit her brothers, Pat and Bob. She flew down and will return with Pat by car this weekend.

MISS ANN BRAZZIL

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Brazzil of Midland have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ann Bennett Brazzil, to James Alfred Chapelle of San Angelo.

Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Chapple of Rocksprings. The couple plans an October 7 wedding in the Church of Christ in Midland.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Abilene Christian College where she was a member of GATA social club. She has been teaching in Central High School in San Angelo. Her fiancé, currently employed by Ethicon in San Angelo, is also a graduate of Abilene Christian College, where he was a member of Trojans social club.

Oil Stimulates Economy in Sterling

More than $5.8 million a year of economic stimulation for Sterling County flows from its oil and gas wells each year, an annual study by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association showed today.

"As one of the 206 producing counties in Texas, Sterling County's economy is sensitive to fluctuations in the oil industry generally," commented W. A. Landreth, Fort Worth, Association president. "Long range, the demand for oil looks strong and current production rates continue to provide Texas a major source of its income. On the other hand, Texas operators are beset by competition from other oil producing areas, government ceilings on natural gas prices, heavy tax payments, and a price for crude oil that is insufficient to encourage the amount of exploratory drilling that is needed to find future reserves."

Based on latest U. S. Bureau of Mines production figures, Sterling County in 1965 produced 1.9 million barrels of crude oil, valued at $5.8 million and 136.0 million cubic feet of natural gas valued at $17,600, and ranks 120th among Texas counties in production.

A major distribution of income from sale of oil and gas went to county landowners in royalty payments totaling more than $722,062.

In 1966, a year that saw drilling in Texas fall lowest since 1947, oil and gas operators drilled 78 wells in Sterling County. Of these 17 were wildcats seeking new fields. The Association estimated that operators in the county spent more than $6.1 million in drilling last year, of which $1.5 million was lost in dry holes.

Sharing heavily in the county's production each year is the State Treasury, which received $266,141 in production taxes in 1965 paid by the production and royalty owners. Crude oil production paid $264,909 and natural gas production $1,232.

RAINS HERE

Good, though spotted, rains hit Sterling County Sunday afternoon, Monday afternoon, and Tuesday. The fall ranged from negligible to over two inches overall --and was most welcome.

The fall here in town was up to over two inches in the east part, and the Riley King ranch got over two inches Monday afternoon.

The fall was lighter to the southwest and southeast parts of the county, but all was welcome and needed.

Direct Dialing Here Soon

On September 10, customers in Sterling City and 13 other General Telephone towns will become the first to have a new long distance service called EDDD, according to R. R. McCullough, district manager. The facilities which make it possible for approximately 40,000 customers in Sterling City, Big Lake, Bronte, Carlsbad, Christoval, Eden, Eldorado, Mertzon, Miles, Ozona, Robert Lee, Rowena, San Angelo, and Sonora to dial person to person as well as station to station calls will be located in the office at 14 West Twohigh, San Angelo.

Cost of the project making the new service available will be over $1,200,000.

Plans for a project of this magnitude must be laid well in advance, McCullough stated. During the past three years, new central office buildings have been built in Carlsbad, Christoval, Eldorado and Sonora. New central office equipment has been placed in these buildings. Additional long distance circuits have been added between San Angelo and the area towns that will have access to the EDDD network. All customers in the exchanges involved now have seven digit telephone numbers except Sterling City. Sterling City customers will be assigned seven digit numbers at the time of the EDDD conversion.

Expanded Direct Distance Dialing (EDDD) is different from the conventional Direct Distance Dialing (DDD) in that it allows customers to dial person to person, collect, credit card or special calls as well as station to station calls.

Here's how EDDD works: On September 10, two new numbers --112 and 110-- will become a part of the telephone long distance routine. Dialing one of these two numbers first connects you with equipment which permits you to dial your call. To dial a station to station call, you simply dial the access code--112, then the area code of the town you are calling--then the 7-digit number you are calling. To dial a person to person or special call you dial the access code--110, then the area code of the town you are calling--then the 7-digit number you are calling.

McCullough noted that instructions for EDDD service will be in front of the new telephone directory which customers will receive in September. In addition, an EDDD instruction booklet will be mailed to all customers at the time of the conversion outlining how to use this convenient, modern telephone service. The company also has speaking teams to explain this new service which will appear before civic clubs and other groups upon request to McCullough's office.

McCullough indicated that the overall conversion to Expanded Direct Distance Dialing which will involve 14 exchanges and 40,000 telephones between now and the cutover on September 10 is the largest

A Sterling Settlers Round-up will be held here in the City Park, Saturday, July 8. Beginning with a barbecue dinner at 1 p.m., the affair will end with a dance that night on the slab at the park.

On the menu will be barbecue, beans, pickles, onions, salads, bread and tea and coffee. Thirty goats and one beef will be needed, it was said. Persons who will donate goats or a beef for the barbecue are asked to take them to William Foster's cold storage and butchering place on Thursday. (Killed and dressed if possible, please.)

In the afternoon, plans for entertainment, such as singing, a combo band, a little league ball game, and the like, are being discussed. If you will enter a talent act, see Riley King or Ross Foster.

That night a screen will be hung at the park and movies and slides of the Diamond Jubilee will be shown to those interested. All persons who made good movies or slides of the Jubilee last August are asked to bring them for showing.

Mrs. Tom Asbill has made scrapbooks and has pictures of the Jubilee, which will be on display that day at the park.

Mrs. Worth Allen and Mrs. Riley King head the food committee and will want salads brought by local women to help fill out the menu.

If you are not called on for a salad, please make a donation for paper goods (cups, plates, napkins, etc.) at Brock's Grocery or Bobbie's Drive-In.

A dance will be held that night at dark, and cost will be $1.00 per person, said Ewing McEntire, chairman.

General chairman Jim Davis, said some extra barbecue pits would be needed, and asked all who would bring theirs to the park in time for the barbecuing. Also more tables (picnic) and chairs will be needed. So, if you can, bring yours.

No invitations will be mailed out by the committee, but it is asked that everyone invite their relatives or former residents in personal letters, said Davis.

The one-day affair will not be as elaborate as the Diamond Jubilee of last year, but the get-together of old settlers and friends is well-worth having a reunion for, said chairman Davis.

Social Security Tips

$102,576.00 in social security benefits was paid to residents of Sterling County last year.

At the end of 1966, 131 men, women and children were receiving benefits at a monthly rate of $8,548.00. Ted F. Moellering, social security district manager in San Angelo, reported today. "115 were older people," he said, "receiving benefits as retired workers, the wives and husbands of retired workers and as the surviving widows or aged dependent parents of workers who have died."

But social security is not just for older people, Moellering pointed out. 12 young widows and children in Sterling County were receiving monthly benefits amounting to $782 at the end of December. 4 disabled workers and dependents were receiving benefits at a monthly rate of $351.00. Practically every young family in Sterling County has survivors protection under social security that can be worth $75,000 or more, and equally valuable disability insurance protection.

"The average worker," he said, "can be expected to collect more than the value of his social security tax contributions just in the benefits payable to him and his wife in retirement." If he does not live to retirement, his family stands to collect far more than the contributions he has paid; and the same will be true if he should become totally disabled for work before 65.

Monthly payments to the family of a worker who dies, leaving 2 or more children, can range from $66 to $368 a month, depending on the worker's average earnings under social security.

"Social security survivors benefits," Moellering said, can be paid to the family of a young man who has worked and paid social security contributions for as little as a year and a half during the three years before his death.

Benefits to the mother and children continue until the youngest child reaches 18, or indefinitely, if the child has a disability which began before his 18th birthday and makes it impossible for him to work and become self-supporting. Under a change in the law enacted in 1965, a child's benefits can be continued up until age 22 if he or she continues in school.

Under the schedule of taxes in the present social security law even the group of young workers who will start work in 1974, after the maximum tax rates for old-age, survivors, and disability insurance go into effect, will pay only about 80 to 85 percent of the value of their total potential benefits. The matching contributions paid by their employers will account for the other 15 to 30 percent.

Over a working lifetime of 45 years, ending with his retirement at 65 in the year 2019, a young worker who earned the top amount covered by social security in every year would contribute a total of $10,318 toward his retirement protection. Adding interest, compounded at 3-4 percent, the value of the worker's contributions at age 65 would be $26,412. The value of the benefits payable to him and his wife in retirement, assuming average life expectancy would be $32,853, 20 percent more than the value of his total social security contributions.

"These calculations," Moellering said, "are based on an assumption that the law will not be changed at all during the young worker's lifetime. It can be expected that there will continue to be changes in the law to improve benefits—as there have been in the past."

As pointed out in testimony before the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives in hearings on changes in the law now being considered, the financing of the social security system allows for increases in the benefit level as earnings rise in the future without any change in the contribution rate.

Behind the 8-Ball

By the editor.

We've about decided to let the daily papers have all the scoops from now on. A little weekly is not geared to handle big late news flashes. Like last Thursday afternoon, for instance. We saw the 'votes' counted for the county judge here, saw the commissioners court name the top man as judge and then we rushed over and printed the story in the paper at the last minute. Then we had to back up—but the paper was printed and practically ready for the mail.

Anyway, Jake Martin is the county judge, Dub Fincher is still deputy sheriff, and Tom Asbill is still justice of the peace. We, and the commissioners court had a busy day last Thursday.

8-BALL

The rains have hit around here—even if they have been somewhat spotted. The rains ranged up to better than two inches here Sunday afternoon and Monday afternoon. They will mean a greening up of the countryside now. We were ready.

8-BALL

In August of last year, the Green Oaks Inn of Ft. Worth ran an ad in the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram with a coupon for a drawing for a free week end at the Inn—for a family deal. I, happily, won one of the deals, which was to be a room, some meals, some tickets to Casa Manana and Six Flags, etc. It was not possible for me (or us) to go until last week end. I called the reservation manager and, lo and behold, the reservations manager had gone over to the Western Hills, and too, the general manager had transferred away. So, I was almost up salt creek, but the reservations manager, said she had checked with the new manager and he said they would still honor it.

And since last week was our 26th wedding anniversary, we packed a little bag and took off for the Green Oaks.

It is a large motel with 300 rooms (and-or suites) and is just off Interstate 20 going into Fort Worth. We got the Shakespeare Suite and then settled down for a restful sort of a weekend. We ate all our meals in the Henry VIII dining room and enjoyed the good food, the good room and the pleasant surroundings.

Perhaps we could have had some more free items that had been mentioned in the sweepstakes drawing last August—but I was afraid I might push my luck too far if I asked for too much. So, I didn't.

(I'm sorta milquetoasty at times).

It is a motel one can brag about, and is worth stopping at any time. We bumped into Elmer Kelton, editor of the Sheep & Goat Raisers Magazine there Sunday morning at breakfast. (He and his wife were returning from a writers convention at Fort Smith, Arkansas.) He said it was one (or the nicest) places to stop anywhere.

I agree with him.

8-BALL

Quite a few honeymooners cars were parked around the Green Oaks Inn. Some were well-painted by "friends" of the couple. Some read Don't Forget the Pill, Hitched for Maternity, etc. It is probably a favorite for honeymooners.

8-BALL

After we wine and dine old Kosygin, hear him speak at the U.N. and all that, then he takes off for Cuba to shoot the breeze with Castro and Co. And probably talk about future plans that bode no good for us.

I just hope little Israel gets treated fairly around the conference table, and is not dealt a low blow. After all, she did the war against the Arabs.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

By Omar Burleson, Member of Congress, 17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 4th represents a moment in history too well known to bear mention. To call attention, however, to certain phenomena in relation to its origin and its ultimate achievement—the Declaration of Independence—may enhance the day's meaning.

The document was written in English. Of course, everyone is aware of this fact, but the thought has just occurred at this particular time as we approach Independence Day.

"Why," we can ask ourselves. "Why English?" Why was it not written in French, Spanish, Dutch or Portuguese instead? All of these were ahead of the British.

The Portuguese had been entrenched on the Continent over a century before John Smith was born. France had its territories for decades before Plymouth Rock was even given its name. Spain, by then owned practically all of Central and South America, plus all of Texas and large areas around it. The Dutch were sipping cocoa in New Amsterdam long before the English changed the drink to tea and the name to New York. With all that competition, how did this Country ever wind up in the English speaking column at all?

History suggests a number of reasons. The English, for example, were the only ones to bring their wives with them. Some other settlers did too, but it was the exception rather than the rule. Most of the original Latin-speaking residents were prisoners sent to the new Devils Island to satisfy their particular monarch's lust for power and gold. They mingled with the natives and produced a kind of nameless society and impermanent family unit. They were never really their own masters. It was the free English mother, who demanded for her children the schools the churches and a sense of order, that did so much to stabilize this land.

Maybe there are other good explanations, but the one that touches us most is the realization that, of all the nations which to conquer this Continent, England was the only one that carried out its colonization. It carried it out, not by kingly edict under the direct supervision of the Crown of England, but essentially civilian groups who pooled their assets to create the trading companies that privately finance their own development. Free men -- risking their own capital in a venture for profit. That was the beginning.

Under this particular system came a different breed of individual with a different set of concepts of how he wanted to live. This was the hearty, fearless, rugged individualist of days gone by. The inevitable by-product of this characterization was the emergence of a sense of ownership and the development of responsible government under Constitutional Law. When the chips were down, these were the forces that won the final victory.

These were the people who won the final victory on the night of July 4, 1776. It was the night when a young patriot named Francis Scott Key, while a prisoner of the British on a ship in Chesapeake Bay, wrote on a piece of scrap paper "by the dawn's early light,"

For Social Security

Does the average worker get his money's worth for his social security contributions?

The answer is "Yes", according to Ted F. Moellering, social security district manager. Young workers can be sure, too, that the social security benefits payable to them and their dependents in the future will be substantially increased by the time they qualify for payment.

"The social security program is financed in such a way that benefits can be more than kept up to date with rising prices--without an increase in contribution rates," Moellering said. Because the social security tax is a percentage of payroll, income to the program rises more than benefit obligations as wage levels go up, he explained.

In an expanding economy, rising wages produce more income for the social security system and make it possible to increase benefits more than enough to offset any increases from time-to-time in the ceiling on the amount of earnings that is subject to the tax (and which counts toward the individual's future benefit payments).

"But even without considering the likely future improvements in benefit levels," Moellering said, "the average young worker will get retirement, survivors, and disability insurance protection under social security worth 20 to 25 percent more than he will pay in social security tax contributions over a 40-45 year working lifetime--even if you count accumulated interest on those contributions."

At the upper extreme--the young man who starts work in 1973 or later, when the maximum contribution rate for old-age, survivors, and disability insurance goes into effect, and who has earnings at or above the maximum annual amount subject to the social security tax, will no more than just about pay for the value of his protection.

People already at work, Moellering noted, get more protection for their tax contributions than those who will be going to work under social security in the future.

Under social security, as under practically all private pension plans, he pointed out, the employer's contribution is not earmarked for the benefit of a particular employee. A major part of the employer contribution under private pension plans, as under social security, is used to meet the cost of "past service credits" for older workers.

When he saw the Stars and Stripes above the Harbor of Baltimore City.

To remember and appreciate these incidents of our heritage, and to recognize the system of a free government under Constitutional Law, is to exercise our patriotism. The system which gave us these things and established our Nation was a philosophy which could no be beat then. It still can't.

Daniel Webster described this new government as "a more glorious edifice than Greece or Rome ever knew."

BAD BUSINESS

Those who see no relationship between profits and jobs may find it illuminating to read the "obituary" of an enterprise that was forced to close its doors permanently because of strikes and wage demands. This particular enterprise was the New York World Journal Tribune--formerly three papers. The closure of the publication was a genec of the unions."

A statement on behalf of the owners said, "In the first six months of our operation we had a total of 55 harassing disputes of which 18 resulted in actual work stoppages." The statement also disclosed that the paper has been losing $700,000 a month and that the owners had contributed more than $10 million to keep it a-live. About $8 million in severance pay was paid to the paper's 2,500 employees--2,500 employees whose jobs no longer exist because their employer could no longer operate his publication at a profit.

The security of all of us depends upon profits. When profits go, jobs go. The two are inseparable. Those who damn the profit motive and profits are working to destroy the means by which we live.

Social Security

Why should a man with a wife and young children concern himself with anything that seems as far away as social security?

A new booklet, "Social Security Information for Young Families," specifically designed to answer this question is now available, social security district manager, Ted F. Moellering announced today.

"Social security is not just a retirement program, and it is not just for old people," Moellering said. This new booklet gives the young worker important information about the survivors and disability protection that he and his family have now.

Nine out of ten families in Sterling City have social security survivor protection which can amount to over $75,000 in benefits if the breadwinner should die, Moellering pointed out.

Disability insurance is the other social security program of particular importance to the young worker. After just five years of work under social security, the worker and his family are eligible to receive monthly benefit payments if he should become severely disabled and the condition is expected to last a year or longer.

Moellering said "Social Security Information for Young Families" explains in detail survivors and disability protection, what it can mean to a family, and how to make an application should it become necessary. Also included is information on how to check your social security account and the financing of social security.

Copies of this pamphlet may be obtained free of charge from the social security office at 3000 West Harris in San Angelo, Texas.
