Controversial Salary Increases Approved

Commissioners Grant 6% Raises

Meeting in regular session on Monday, members of the Bailey County Commissioners Court formally approved a controversial salary increase for all county employees.

Since notice of the proposed salary increases was first presented during the January, 1983 meeting, controversy over the proposed salary increases prompted "Letters to the Editor" protesting the increases "during a time of economic crisis."

County Judge Gordon H. Green, however, said no one appeared at the meeting to personally challenge or protest the proposed raises for the county employees, and it was approved by commissioners.

According to the report during the January meeting, the increases were six percent increases "across the board" for most employees, with a few salaries set out for additional increases.

Salaries for the Bailey County Commissioners were increased from $40,918.88 to $43,864.80 or $913.85 per month for each commissioner, plus a travel allowance of $250 per month for each commissioner.

Salary for the county judge was increased from $18,279.00 to $19,375.68 or a monthly salary of $1,614.64. His assistant-secretary was raised from $9,836.64 to $10,744.64 or a monthly salary of $895.38.

The salary for County Clerk was increased to $15,547.64 from the 1982 figure of $12,981.84, or a new monthly salary of $1,295.72. The same figure also becomes the new monthly salary of the Tax Assessor/Collector.

Also, the salary of the District Clerk was increased from $14,308.68 to $15,167.04 or a monthly salary of $1,263.92, as was Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

PIK Deadline Will Not Be Extended

Farmers have only a few weeks left to sign up for the payment-in-kind program. The sign-up period ends March 11, and will not be extended, according to Rusty Williamson, Bailey County ASCS Executive Director.

"Farmers will not have the opportunity to change their mind and sign up after this deadline. However, those who have already enrolled and those who enroll before March 11 will have the option of withdrawing or changing their enrollment without penalty provided it is done before enrollment ends," Williamson said.

Severe weather conditions may have caused some problems for farmers around the country. However, recurring storms or any other problems will not change the sign-up deadline, he said.

The PIK program is designed to bring supplies more in line with demand to improve the farm economy. It encourages farmers to further reduce 1983 crops of wheat, corn, sorghum, upland cotton and rice from the previously announced acreage reduction and land diversion programs. In return for participating, farmers will receive an amount of the commodity as payment for reducing planted acreage.

All farmers for which a 1983 acreage base and yield has been established for wheat, feed grain upland cotton and rice under the previously announced farm programs are eligible to participate in PIK.

The ASCS official said farmers who would like to see an improvement in the market situation should seriously consider the program and do their part toward reducing the surplus that is hurting the economy.

"We urge farmers to sign up now and not miss the opportunity by waiting or expecting the deadline to be extended. The sign-up period will end at the close of business on March 11 at 5 p.m."

Five Area Telephone Coop Names Two New Directors

The annual meeting of the Five Area Telephone Cooperative was held on February 12, Saturday with a total of 250 guests and members attending the meeting.

Ernest Ramm Chairman of the Nominating Committee gave a report on the nominations for directors of Districts 1 and 3. Those who were nominated included Don Seales, George Wheeler and Edwin Althoff from District 1 and Jack Angeley and W.G. Sanderson from District 3. Since there were no petitions and no nominations from the floor, the election was held, with Don Seales and Jack Angeley being elected to a three year term each.

Following the election of officers, nominations for the 1984 nominating committee were taken with the following persons nominated: District 5: Jack Furguson, Mike Abbe; District 6: Bill Boyles, Dennis Silhan and Jack Fisher; District 7: Ray O'Brian and Ernest Trull.

After nominations, Alton Carpenter Plant Superintendent presented long-time employee Arnold Gross with a plaque for 25 years of service. Gross retired from the Coop on February 1, 1983.

A report by the Five Area Manager, Hubert Kidd stated to members that "Five Area refunded equity and Capital Credits for the years of 1956 through 1977 both amounting to $100,000.00 in 1982." Kidd also went over some of the Coop's long range plans for 1983, explaining changes that would come about due to deregulation.

Bob Jones and Bob Foley conducted a drawing for door prizes. Rain gauges were given by the Cooperative and winners of the Cont. Page 6, Col. 5

Board Decides To Adjust Easter Break

In a regular meeting on February 14 of the Board of Trustees of the Muleshoe Independent School District, the board decided to make up school days lost to inclement weather on the previously scheduled Easter holidays. School will be scheduled for March 28, 29 and 30. School holidays are scheduled for March 31, April 1 and Monday, April 4. The board also approved the 1983-84 school calendar. They also discussed substitute teachers pay for 1983-84 with no action being taken. Adjustments cannot be made until after the Legislature passes a new Education Funding Bill.

Regarding the upcoming school board elections, the Board designated the County Clerk to hold the absentee voting for the election. Absentee voting begins on Monday, March 14 and will end Tuesday, March 29 at 5 p.m. Doyle King was appointed by the Board as election judge and Jesse Leal as assistant judge. Elections will be held in the High School Cafeteria on Saturday, April 2 from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Rotary Views Safety Film During Meet

Colorful, comic, entertaining and most of all, informative, was the "Pro Driving Attitudes" film shown members of the Muleshoe Rotary Club at noon on Tuesday. Bert Sinclair, Safety Officer for the Department of Public Safety, from Lubbock, presented the program. He only spoke briefly telling of the 57,000 wasted lives through vehicle accidents each year.

Officer Sinclair likened the loss of lives to failing to save money that could be accumulating interest, and the impact of the loss in interest.

Former Area Youth Shows Champions

Mitch Black of Dumas, a Moore 4-H and Dumas Future Farmer of America member, scored a double win by showing both the grand and reserve champion steers of the Moore Junior Livestock Show.

Some 215 head of stock, fed up by Moore 4-H and Dumas FFA members, were entered in the event. The show climaxed with a sale Saturday afternoon. All of the grand and reserve champions plus livestock shown by other youth exhibitors, went on the auction block.

The twin trophies win in the calf show by Moore 4-H Dumas FFA livestock exhibitor Black is unprecedented in the 37 year history of the junior stock show.

Both the grand and reserve champion steers were exotic crossbreed calves. The 1,285 pound grand champion was raised as an FFA project while Black fed the 1,110 pound reserve champion as a 4-H project. Black is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Black of Muleshoe.

TRUCKS COLLIDE--About 3:30 p.m. on February 15, two semi-trucks collided on U. S. Highway 70 east and YL road. One of the trucks belonging to the Oles Grain Company was loaded with corn, and the other unidentified truck was loaded with soybeans. Both drivers were taken to West Plains Medical Center for treatment after being released from the wreckage by the Jaws of Life Unit of the Volunteer Fire Department. An accurate account of the accident was not available at press time.

Savers Facing An Unfair Levy

CONGRESS TO IGNORE PROTEST?

Even as millions of wage earners and savers across the land bombard Congress with cards and letters seeking repeal of the law imposing withholding taxes on interest and dividends, certain members of Congress are turning a deaf ear.

Saying that the amount of money Big Brother wants to take "is insignificant," the likes of House Speaker Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill, Jr., and GOP spokesman, Sen. Bob Dole, say they not only don't think the withholding levy should be repealed, but will oppose such action.

That's not surprising. They, along with a passel of other members of the House and Senate have left no doubt that in many instances from the giveaway of the Panama Canal to last year's record tax boosts that they don't really give a damn what the people think!

Somewhere in all the media mush, the recession and President Reagan's own backtracking, the mandate to "turn things around" which was sent to Washington in 1980, seems to have gotten lost. While some changes were made.

Somewhere in all the media mush, the recession and President Reagan's own backtracking, the mandate to "turn things around" which was sent to Washington in 1980, seems to have gotten lost. While some changes were made, the trend of late has been "politics as usual."

THE WITHHOLDING tax, 10 percent of interest and all dividends, will take effect July 1, if not repealed.

The levy will be imposed on all taxable interest and dividend payments on savings accounts, CDs, stocks, corporate bonds, mutual funds (including money market mutual funds), and U. S. Treasury securities, including Series E bonds.

There would be an exemption system which includes a $150 optional minimum below which payers would not be required to withhold.

The withholding setup, which will affect all banks, savings and loans and other such institutions, plus all businesses which pay dividends or payments on bonds, will be a paper nightmare to many such businesses. This is especially so for small banks and savings and loan firms which do not have the expensive and sophisticated computer technology which larger banks and S&Ls have.

LOOKING AHEAD and reacting to complaints from their customers, many banks and savings and loan firms across the U.S. helped launch an all out letter writing protest campaign to Congress.

Seldom have the august halls of the House and Senate been snowed under with so much mail. But, because much of it was inspired by the banks and savings and loan industry, more than one House member and Senator has given it small attention.

However, more than 250 members of Congress, including more than half of the House of Representatives, are either sponsoring or co-sponsoring legislation to repeal the 10 percent withholding plan.

The main reason for passage of the Levy, its sponsors claimed, was to "catch many of those" who do not report such income. This argument seems fallacious, however, when a Treasury study acknowledges that the taxpayer compliance rate on interest and dividend income already is 97 percent with 1099 reporting. Banks and savings institutions already must send in such information on 1099 forms.

As the United States League of Savings Institutions points out, it is interesting that 1099 reporting has not been required on Treasury and U. S. agency obligations, which the USL says would seem to be where any slippage would exist.

THOSE WHO oppose the new levy say, that in addition to creating much paperwork and added personnel expense, which will have to be passed along to bank customers, that the new tax will discourage savings.

And while the tax might not materially affect many small savers - proponents assert it would amount to only a few dollars a year - the point is that by taking the tax, the government is in effect getting huge sums of money interest free long before the saver should be obligated to have to pay.

In other words, savings and dividend income would come under the same heading as wages and salaries as far as withholding is concerned.

It will be interesting to see what happens as regards the massive protest by millions, inspired or not. Congress more and more has moved away from the grassroots and in some ways has become a law unto itself.

Just for the record, those millions out there who may be ignored will have another chance to voice an opinion - in the 1984 elections. The mandate the next time around may be even more resounding.

Farmers Must File Employee IO Information

Farmers, ranchers and others who made payments last year in excess of $600 for services to individuals (other than employees) and partnerships (but not corporations) must file certain information forms. Failure to do so will result in increased penalties under the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act (TEFRA) of 1982.

Several different information forms in the 1099 series are used in filing these returns, says Dr. Ashley Lovell of Stephenville, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Interest payments of $600 or more are reported on Form 1099-INT.

Payments of $600 or more made for rents, royalties, prizes, awards and other payments that are not for services should be made on Form 1099-MISC.

Form 1099-NEC is for reporting payments of $600 or more for fees, commissions, prizes, awards or any other compensation for services paid to persons who are non-employees.

The minimum penalty for failing to file the necessary information returns without reasonable cause has been raised from $10 to $50 per failure to file, points out Lovell.

There is also a $50 minimum penalty per failure to provide a taxpayer identification number (Social Security or employer's identification number) to another person or to include the taxpayer identification number of another on documents such as returns and statements filed with respect to others.

According to Lovell, the Form 1099 series information returns are prepared on a calendar-year basis, with statements due recipients by Jan. 31. Copies of all Form 1099s along with a summary sheet Form 1096 must be filed with the IRS by the last

Since its inception in 1976, over 1,300 Texas nurserymen have taken and passed the certification exam. However, there are only 850 current Texas Certified Nurserymen in the State of Texas, explained May. He said this program has been praised by the American Association of Nurserymen and the Texas Department of Agriculture as contributing to the quality of service and products available to the consumer of nursery goods in Texas, concluded May.

To The Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to Thank R.L. Scott, Commissioner Prec. 1 for working on the road in front of Bob Henderson's home, after the death of his mother, so the family could get in and out. He also tried to work the road for the others living in the same area.

Being in the construction business, we realize and understand that during this unusual weather we have had in the last 2 months, it is impossible to work the roads while they are so wet.

Firefighters

Report

By Wayne Peterson

Small town or big city you've got to get in to do your job. Forcible entry is called, not into your girl friend or ex-wife's house or the local bank, unless its on fire. Upon arrival at a fire building, firefighters may see flames and smoke billowing from windows or roofs. However, basic fire attack strategy calls for the firefighter to advance and locate the seat of the fire rather than automatically apply water at the window or roof and likely push the fire toward unburned areas. Therefore entry into burning buildings is a first step to properly combat the fire. Ideally this entry should be as easy as turning a door knob, but this is not often the case. In those more frequent cases where entry is blocked, the fireman must resort to the use of tools and imaginative forcible entry techniques.

The body of knowledge required to handle such fire-related forcible entry needs continues to grow as construction and security considerations change. The trend throughout the foreseeable future will surely be toward stronger and more numerous locking and blocking mechanisms which are designed to keep out unwanted intruders, but also make the job of the firefighter more difficult. Business and home owners should know this is normal procedure just in case they return to find a door removed after an alarm.

Twenty six firemen attended training Wed. Feb. 9th. J.O. Parker and assistants instructed useful ways and needs in which a knowledge of ropes and knots tying can save lives and transport equipment to heights in emergencies. There was some confusing moments as some firemen had more trouble untying themselves than correct methods of tying knots.

The fire department extends its congratulations and appreciation to the Farm Bureau Federation on its 50th anniversary. They have filled a need and served the community well. Through the fire department they send a local fireman to the State fire training school at A&M each year and they have a policy of contributing to fire departments attending and fighting fires on premises insured by them. Thank you from the Muleshoe Fire department "Farm Bureau." May we all experience no unneeded heat.

BRYAN — A garden center here not only nurtures plants, but also its employees.

The ten employees are participating in a new horticultural therapy program developed at Texas A&M University and supported in part by the Texas Rehabilitation Commission (TRC).

Called Geranium Junction, the business provides responsibilities and the opportunity to be among the public that this group of workers would otherwise have. Each is handicapped with physical, mental or emotional disabilities, including spina bifida, multiple sclerosis, retardation and blindness.

"The program is a new concept. We're one of the first businesses in the state to hire only handicapped individuals," said Trish Barksdale, store manager. "There's a real need for us and other programs like this. I get calls every day from people who ask if there are any job openings."

The new president of the Texas Farm Bureau believes the American farmers and ranchers will survive the current economic crisis facing agriculture because, like himself, they share an optimistic attitude about the future.

Agricultural engineer says new procedure can cut oil imports

COLLEGE STATION — William Aldred, a Texas A&M University agricultural engineer and researcher with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, says he can economically transform an ordinary car or truck engine into an alcohol-burning vehicle.

Aldred believes the result could be significant for hundreds of thousands of farmers who must pay increasing fuel bills to run the engines that drive the pumps that irrigate their cotton and grain fields.

The new technology would reduce farmers' reliance on oil, he said, enabling them to continue producing food and fibers for clothing despite a world oil shortage.

The Veterans Administration and Department of Justice now are two years into their effort in Texas and elsewhere to collect debts owed by veterans who attended school under the GI Bill.

Most of the monies owed the VA stem from educational overpayments while the veteran was in school or from defaulted education loans.

Under VA's program of collecting debts of $1,200 or less, VA District Counsel Offices in Texas so far received more than 22,700 debt cases totaling more than $13,600,000.

In response to VA demand letters, 5,928 Texas veterans already have repaid or agreed to repay a total of more than $3,163,000 in lump sums or through repayment plans.

The District Counsels also have filed suit in state and federal courts on 1,996 cases totaling $1,094,396. The U.S. Attorneys have filed on another 614 VA cases during the last two years.

VA's aim is to collect the debts in instances where the veteran fails to make repayment arrangements. The veteran first is notified by letter of the indebtedness, then advised that about 30 days remain after its receipt to pay the debt in full or make other arrangements for payment before necessary court action is taken.

Debts in excess of $1,200 are referred to the Department of Justice. As a general rule, the department will demand immediate repayment of the debt. The department is also prepared to litigate the matter in court. Both the Department and the District Counsels use various post-judgment remedies such as taking liens on properties, and attaching bank accounts and other liquid assets.

after service as a Navy fighter pilot in World War II.

True could have become a civilian pilot, finished his college education at Texas Technological University which he began prior to the war, or followed in his father's footsteps as a farmer in Hale County on the South Plains.

He chose farming, a business which blossomed for him in the succeeding 37 years.

True produces cotton, grain sorghum, soybeans, wheat on his 960-acre farm near Plainview.

A native of Goree in Knox County, True was one of eight children. The family moved to Hale County in 1933. He graduated from Plainview High School. After returning from World War II, True entered farming. He joined the Texas Farm Bureau in 1952, rising to the ranks of secretary-treasurer, vice president and president of the Hale County Farm Bureau.

True was elected to the TFB Board of Directors in 1975. He served two years as secretary-treasurer and was in his third year as vice president when elected president.

True serves on the Cotton Board, a quasi-government body empowered by Congress to administer the cotton's research and promotion program. He is a member of the boards of directors of Southern Farm Bureau Life and Casualty Insurance Company.

As TFB president, he is president of the Texas Farm Bureau Mutual Insurance Company, Texas Agricultural Marketing and Development Association,

COLLEGE STATION — Twenty-six essays ranging from New Mexico's scientific contributions to the chili pepper, to facts and folklore about farmers' cooperatives, appear in a new book published by the Texas A&M University Press.

Entitled "Southwestern Agriculture: Pre-Columbian to Modern," the book spotlights the long-neglected area of agricultural development in the Southwest. Focusing on Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas, it traces the history of farming from the views of novelists, businessmen, archaeologists, cattlemen, scientists and politicians.

The essays, based on the 1980 Agricultural History Symposium at Texas A&M, include secrets of pre-Columbian agriculture, dilemmas faced by county extension agents, the thriving rice industry, and the struggles of farmer movements, as well as the mushrooming agribusiness.

Financial Aid Workshop Set

South Plains College will host a Financial Aid Workshop Feb. 17 for high school seniors who are planning to attend college this fall and who may be looking for ways to finance their education.

The workshop will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Assistance Center on the third floor of the College Library. Area high school seniors and parents interested in obtaining information about financial aid programs are invited to attend.

"The workshop is designed to let college-bound seniors know what kinds of financial assistance is available to them," said Steve Beck, SPC's director of Student Financial Aid who will be directing the program. Application procedures, eligibility requirements and recent changes in federal financial aid programs will also be discussed.

Beck emphasized that the workshop is open to all interested seniors and parents, regardless of whether or not the student plans to attend SPC this fall.

"It's important that the application process for financial aid be begun as early as possible," Beck said. "This workshop will be a good starting ground for many college-bound students."

The competitiveness of a free enterprise system remains the stimulus for the family farm, True believes. A challenge facing True as he begins office is maintaining Texas Farm Bureau's newly-achieved number one status among state Farm Bureaus with 366,359 member families. TFB reached that plateau in 1982 with a gain of 30,112 member families.

Just as his own farming career has proven highly successful, True believes the future of the family farmer remains promising. True sees the incentive inherent in family farming as a clear advantage over corporate farming operations. Whereas corporate farm employees merely seek a salary, the family farmer

Cloth World Sponsors 4-H Scholarships

Cloth World, Inc. of Amarillo will sponsor four $300 scholarships for the 1983 Texas 4-H Fashion Show.

Cloth World has assisted with the Texas 4-H Fashion Show and has provided awards to the top winners for 10 consecutive years, said H.T. Davison, executive director of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation and a 4-H and youth specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The Texas 4-H Fashion Show is a statewide event for 4-H members who have been involved in the 4-H clothing project. Currently, more than 10,000 4-H members participate each year in the project.

A primary objective of each participant is to earn the opportunity to compete in the Texas 4-H Fashion Show, Davison said. To reach this state event, a member must first make a suitable garment and then compete at the county level and district level. The 4-H'er must be one of the top placing individuals at the district level to compete at the state level.

Dual-Earner Families Report Increased Independence

Around income tax time many couples start counting up the economic benefits of two salaries.

"But lifestyle benefits may be just as important as economics for many," says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The rapid change from single-provider families to dual-earner families in the last decade has been motivated primarily by economic benefits. Both husband and wife now work in about half of all American families.

If present trends continue, the labor force participation of women in 1990 will equal that of men.

In these difficult economic times, the wife's income allows many families to have the necessities, keep up with inflation or maintain a desired standard of living.

A second income may also help educate children and support other family members.

According to Welch, survey data indicates that dual earners feel they gain lifestyle benefits from having two incomes.

Husbands express pride in their wife's capacities as an earner. They indicate less personal pressure for being the sole income provider. Husbands also report feeling freer to make job changes, take job risks or increase their education, says Welch.

The wives in dual-earner families report an increased sense of independence, self-confidence and personal fulfillment. They also describe closer, more sharing relationships with their husbands, she adds.

In spite of the benefits, dual-earner marriages can create problems, warns Welch.

Researchers are now focusing their attention on the impact of dual-employment on marital relationships, child development, household management, and family stress.

"This research in family life education will be needed to help dual-career couples manage their work and family to balance the gains and strains," says Welch.

In other action during the meeting, commissioners voted to retain the services of Ralph Douglass, consulting engineer, to check the conditions of county pavements. The county judge said the major problem seemed to be with nine miles of paved road running from the south end of FM 1731 to SH54.

An additional meeting was named to the county grievance board, but his name was withheld pending his acceptance of the new board position.

Following the consideration of the applications from the Muleshoe State Bank and First National Bank as depository for county monies for the next two years, the application of First National Bank was approved.

Authorized were jail repairs, including a new toilet and some new wiring for the jail.

Commissioners approved the county treasurer's report for January, 1983 and ordered workmen's compensation insurance from Bobo Insurance Agency. They also made various fund transfers during the day.

Local Law Enforcement

Activity Pace Slows

While activity seemed to be sparse for the Muleshoe Police Department according to their report file, the Bailey County Sheriff's office had a relatively busy week last week. On February 11, the Muleshoe Police Department filed a total of nine outstanding bad check warrants issued by Judge Huckaby.

In the Sheriff's department however, local DPS officers arrested Fabian H. Toscano on February 6 on a charge of possession of marijuana. He was released on a $200 bond. DPS officer Fernandez also arrested Oscar Flores on a charge of public intoxication. He was later intoxicated on February 7. Officers arrested Mariano Perez on a charge of driving while intoxicated and possession of marijuana, who was later released on the authority of Judge Green.

On February 10 Victor Langenbeck was arrested by Trooper Fernandez on charges of driving while license suspended, and possession of drug paraphernalia. He was released following payment of $365 fine on the DWLS charge and $106 on the possession. Harvey Waymon Gray was arrested by DPS Officer Lacy Kirk on February 11 on a charge of DWI. He was later released on $500 bond.

RECIPE

By Sarah Anne Sheridan
Pork is a favorite meat in cold weather. It can be prepared in many ways—but should always be served well done.

PORK-BEAN STEW

- 1 lb. dried white kidney beans or navy beans
- 3 cloves
- 1 onion, studded with 3 cloves
- 2 celery stalks
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 T shortening
- 2 lb. boneless pork shoulder, cut into 1-inch cubes
- 1 c chopped onions
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 1 c tomato puree
- 1/4 t pepper

Boil beans with 2 quarts water and 1 tablespoon salt in large pot for 2 minutes. Remove from heat; let stand one hour. Add onion studded with cloves, celery stalks and bay leaf; cover; simmer one hour. In Dutch oven or large heavy kettle, in hot shortening, brown pork and onions. Spoon off any excess fat. Add 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, garlic and 1 1/2 cups water; cover, simmer 40 minutes. Stir in tomato puree and pepper; continue cooking until meat is tender, about 20 minutes more.

Drain beans, recovering onion, celery and bay leaf. Stir beans into pork and simmer about 10 minutes longer, stirring once or twice.
Makes 6 servings.

Casual Discovery
Deliberation--"Is a diplomat supposed to tell the truth?"
"Oh, yes. But he is often permitted to take his time discovering it."

Explained
Two young women were chatting when one noticed something odd and said to the other, "You're wearing your wedding ring on the wrong finger."
"Yes, I know," was the reply, "I married the wrong man."

Sad Case
"Now, what do you do in a case like that?"
"Like what?"
"They tell me to strike and my wife orders me to keep on working."

Hub?
Visitor--I do hope you keep your cows in a pasture.
Milkman--Yes, Madam, of course we keep them in a pasture.
Visitor--I'm so glad to hear that. I have been told that pasteurized milk is much safer.

Grade Changes
In Lamb, Mutton
Carcasses

Recent grade changes for lamb and mutton carcasses will result in several benefits for consumers.

"Consumers will find the grade changes beneficial, not only in relation to price but also palatability and cutability," says Dr. Gary Smith, interim head of the Department of Animal Science at Texas A&M University. Cutability relates to yield while palatability has to do with tenderness, juiciness and flavor.

Feathering (fat between the ribs) is no longer a quality factor in grading. Quality grading is now based on flank fat streaking (fat in and on the flank muscle) in relation to maturity (flank color).

"The decreased emphasis on feathering will decrease over-fattening of lambs during feeding," Smith says. "This means the average lamb should be leaner and thus cost less at the retail market."

With greater emphasis being placed on muscle color, lambs will be moving to market at an earlier age, Smith explains. And young lambs are usually more tender.

"The entire grading system process has been simplified, and factors are being used to more effectively segregate lamb into palatability categories," Smith comments. "This should make lamb from carcasses of a given grade more consistently desirable in flavor, juiciness and tenderness."

The grading changes for lamb and mutton carcasses recently adopted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture are based on a comprehensive study of lamb quality and palatability conducted by Texas Agricultural Experiment Station scientists at Texas A&M in the late 1960s. The study indicated that quality grades could be greatly simplified and improved as predictors of palatability.
