DID YOU?

Did you buy a wall type heater from Sears and Roebuck Co. back in the past 10 years, or so? They were called SURBURBAN and were made for Sears by the Samuel Stamping and Enameling Co. of Chattanooga, Tenn.

If, by chance you did buy one of the stoves, they have been declared unsafe by the company and will be replaced, according to reports.

Local fire marshal Dan Glass says if you should think you have one of the unsafe stoves, to call him and he will inspect it and find out for sure.

Sears identifies the model as its "Gas Fired Baseboard Thru-Wall Heater."

WASHINGTON, D. C.— On February 21, a sub-group of the Committee on Armed Services of the House of Representatives released for publicity a part of a Report compiled on our National Defense Posture.

The study lasted six months and involved in-depth views of United States commitments, manpower, assets and planning, with emphasis on Vietnam.

For some reason, probably because of its warlike attitude, the Eastern press did not give it very much publicity. Because of its sensitive nature, its entire detail was not publicly revealed. In general, however, the following points are important for public knowledge.

1. At present, the U.S. has no timetable for winning the war in Vietnam.

2. The enemy cannot be defeated within any acceptable time frame so long as we continue to fight a primarily defensive war. Our slow rate of military progress has encouraged North Vietnam to reject our efforts to bring about peace negotiations.

3. Only if our military is permitted to make maximum use of our assets can the war in Vietnam be brought to a speedy and successful conclusion.

4. The theory of gradual escalation in the use of power violates accepted and proven (Continued on Back Page)

Newspapers, county farm agents, chambers of commerce, trade associations and many other Texas individuals and organizations contributed information for the new edition.

Economic pages devoted to the 23 Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas, the larger cities in which 80 per cent of all Texans live.

Enlarged information on Texas agriculture, including a history of the state's cotton industry.

Election returns, by counties, for two Democratic primaries and the general election of 1966 for the principal contested races.

Text of the Texas Constitution, including 20 amendments approved in 1965 and 1966. Twenty amendments on which Texans are voting in 1967 and 1968 are summarized.

New districts for Texas Senators and Representatives are listed and shown on maps.

Lists include state, municipal and county officials, state board and commissions, state-wide civic and business organizations and many others.

A calendar with phases of the moon, and chapters on weather geology, plant and animal life, minerals, banking and commerce, service industries and many other topics are found in the 704 pages of the 1968-'69 edition.

Moore said that the descriptions and economic information on all 254 counties are among the most popular features of the publication and expressed appreciation to the thousands of Texans who participated in compiling of the information.

NEW LEGISLATION TO HELP STERLING COUNTY FAMILIES OBTAIN HOUSING

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration is better equipped to handle the housing credit needs of low and moderate income Sterling County families as a result of legislation recently signed into law, according to Patrick F. Sullivan, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor. Sullivan said the Demonstration Cities and Metropolitan Development Act, signed last month by President Johnson, makes it possible for a broader range of Sterling County families to qualify for housing loan authorities of the Farmers Home Administration.

The new legislation Sullivan continued, makes more mortgage credit available to low and moderate income families in Sterling County by increasing the level of activity of the Agency's rural housing loan program.

Here are some of the other changes in the rural housing loan program administered by the Farmers Home Administration:

—Many Sterling County who had to go the long route of planning, contracting and building a house can now buy newly constructed buildings. Before the new legislation, these families could only purchase previously occupied buildings.

military concepts. The application of this theory in Vietnam has produced only minimal gains, and has given the enemy time to increase his own efforts correspondingly.

5. Because of the extent of our commitment in Vietnam, we are, in truth engaged in a battle for the preservation of the future of the United States. We cannot afford to lose it while courting world opinion.

6. Contrary to the views so often voiced by benighted disciples of defeat and appeasement, the battle in Vietnam is not between the greatest nation in the world and a small, underdeveloped country. Rather, it is a struggle with the United States on one side and Communist China and Russia on the other. It should be recognized and clearly understood that while the enemy we are fighting is the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong, they are merely the conduit for the aggression of China and Russia.

7. Our military forces should be permitted to take the offensive—on land and sea and in the air—with a definite timetable for the earliest possible successful conclusion of the war. This would require an immediate review of our present force levels and, undoubtedly, partial mobilization.

8. The enemy should be denied access to all war materiel and supporting supplies. If necessary to achieve this end, all routes, whether by land, sea or air, should be closed or destroyed.

9. For the successful conduct of the war, the enemy should be given no sanctuary or respite.

10. The Subcommittee recognizes the essentiality of civilian control of the military, as prescribed by the Constitution. However, in the Vietnam conflict, constraints have been imposed on the military in operational matters to such an extent that they have degraded our field command structure and militated against the immediate and positive action, or reaction, required by the swiftly moving events of war.

11. In spite of the foregoing, the morale and performance of our military forces are superb. Never in the history of this country has the United States fielded troops so well supplied logistically.

12. Certain. Defense Department policies have hindered the development of new and improved weapon systems and curtailed the production of presently needed equipment, with the result that our military posture and the condition of our assets have been degraded.

13. The honoring of our commitments in Vietnam has severely strained our worldwide military manpower and equipment assets.

14. If we are to meet all probable contingency challenges, the U.S. must promptly undertake to increase its military assets.

15. U.S. intelligence concerning enemy plans and movements is seriously deficient. As a result, major policies for the conduct of the war appear to have been formulated more on the basis of intuition than on fact.

The development of the above comes from a wide range of expert opinion. Like everything else, it is human judgment, but it is as solid information as can be obtained and, therefore, official Washington should face up to hard, cold realities.
